The little old lady is not a busybody -she is merely looking after one of her investments.

She has some money in the Santa Fe. Maybe it's ten, maybe it's twenty, maybe it's fifty shares of Santa Fe stock.

She is entitled to attend a stockholders' meeting. She can get on her feet and ask our board of directors questions just like the above. She can compliment those gentlemen for their management, or she can bang her umbrella on the table and tell them off.

Alone, her few shares of stock

Santa Fe stockholders, just as those of any railroad, know that American railroads must be permitted to earn at least 6% (many other industries earn more) on their investment in order to maintain sound and progressive operations and to continue to provide shippers and passengers with the finest in rail transportation.

can't do a lot. Alone, she couldn't elect a president of the United States. But stockholders just like her - housewives, teachers, merchants, salesmen, laborers-can tell us how to run the Santa Fe, and they do. (Actually 29,178 Santa Fe stockholders are women, most of them holding only a small number of shares each.)

And that's the beauty of America -the voice of the people is the voice that runs things, whether it's operating a transcontinental railroad or putting a man in the White House.

Isn't it a wonderful country whereso many can own so much? That's. "Free Enterprise."

Hollywood actress Angela Lans-bury wears this shallowbrimmed hat of pale mauve felt, with slanting pointed crown banded with matching ribbon. For festive occasions, it's encir-cled with a tulle-swathed wreath of flowers. For simpler style, the wreath may be re-moved and the peaked beret worn alone.
