W. A. J. STIRMAN DIES.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for W. A. J. Stirman, 89 years old, who passed away at the home of his son, W. E. Stirman, in this city at an early hour Tuesday morning. The services were conducted at the residence by A. E. Wood, minister of the church of Christ, from Sabinal, who is an old friend of the deceased and the family.

Mr. Stirman, who had been a resident of this city at different intervals for years, was a native of Arkansas, having been born in that state on December 9, 1838. When quite young he came to Texas, and with the exception of 22 years which was spent in South Dakota, he lived in this state the remainder of his life. He had been a member of the Christian Church for a great many years and led a devoted consecrated christian life. He was married to Mrs. Fannie B. Pendgrass, in Smith County, many years ago, and she survives him as well as a daughter, Mrs. W. B. Locke of San Antonio; three sons, W. E. and A. B. Stirman of this city and T. E. Stirman of El Paso; fifteen grand children, fourteen great grand children and one great great grand child.

The Times joins with the many friends of the family in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones in their loss.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE TO BE HELD IN ALPINE SEPTEMBER 3 TO 7

Two hundred teachers are expected to assemble here from nine counties and sixteen towns to attend the Trans-Pecos Teachers Institute which will convene from September 3 to 7. All Sal Ross conveniences will be at the disposal of the teachers while they visit Alpine. The program has been arranged for all of the five days.

J. H. Head is conductor for the institute and Pres. H. W. Morelock is general lecturer and high school instructor. E. L. Henderson will be the intermediate instructor, and Miss Ethel Johnson will be primary instructor. Col. John Perkins and Dr. Irvine are to be special lecturers.

A list of counties and towns represented at the institute are: Brewster County, Alpine, Marathon, Terlingua; Pecos County, Fort Stockton, Buena Vista, Imperial; Presidio County, Marfa, Presidio; Jeff Davis County, Fort Davis, Valentine; Terrell County, Sanderson; Upton County, Rankin; Ward County, Barstow, Grand Falls; Culberson County, Van Horn; Reagan County, Big Lake.—Alpine Avalanche.

REPUBLICANS HOLD COUNTY CONVENTION

The Republican County Convention of Terrell County was held last Saturday at the courthouse.

The following were elected as delegates and alternate delegates from this county to the Republican State Convention which is to be held in Fort Worth, August 14: John Stovell, W. D. Hunter and Henry Gates; alternates, Cecil H. Arvin, R. M. Gatlin and U. S. Goen.

Good Rains Fall.

Sanderson and vicinity has been visited by good rains the past few weeks. However, the rain that fell Saturday afternoon was the biggest and hardest rain that has fallen here in some time. The rain just passed through the town and for 30 minutes of longer it simply poured down and was accompanied by hail and wind. The creek in the south part of town came down on a big rise.

Wednesday a rainfall of between three and four inches fell and caused the creek to again come down. Heavy rains near Longfellow caused several miles of track to be washed out delaying railway traffic. Tourists reaching the city reported heavy rains along the highway causing wash outs. Ranchmen in the northern part of the county reported good rains.

The sun shone Thursday afternoon after a continuous rain since eleven o'clock Wednesday.

AUTO CRASHES INTO STREET CAR; TWO MEN INJURED

Dr. J. L. Cochran, 2017 West Summit Place, was seriously injured and Robert Monday, 1134 West Gramercy, was badly cut about the face and body when the automobile in which they were riding crashed head on into a street car at North Flores Street and West Ashby Saturday night.

The coupe was demolished. The occupants were rushed to P. & S. Hospital and Santa Rosa Infirmary. At the latter Dr. Cochran was found to be unconscious from a bad cut on the head. He remained long in the emergency operating room. There were other cuts about his body and limbs.

They were driving north on Flores Street through San Pedro Park, Cochran at the steering wheel, and had just crossed Ashby Place when their car collided head on with the street car. The street car was being operated by E. A. Jones, according to police.—San Antonio Express.

In a telephone conversation with his parents Sunday Carl Cochran, brother of Dr. J. L. Cochran, who was injured in an auto accident, learned that while Layton received severe body bruises, cuts about the face and limbs and one ear badly cut, he was not as badly hurt as it was first thought. It will be several weeks before he will be able to leave the hospital.

Messages received Monday stated that he was doing nicely.

FALLON ELDER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Robert Fallon Elder, 35, who died late Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Elder, after an illness of several months. The services were held at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Father Kemper. Interment was made in Glen Rest Cemetery.

Deceased was born in Mills County, Texas, on April 2, 1893. For many years he was a well known rancher in Val Verde and Terrell Counties, but when his health began to fail him about two years ago he came to Kerrville to be with his parents and made a host of friends in this section.

Surviving relatives are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Elder; two sisters, Mrs. Louis Brown, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Guy Nations, Sanderson; three brothers, J. H. Elder, Arlington; P. I. Elder, Marysval, and J. D. Elder, Rankin, all of whom were called here during the last illness of their brother.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

Fight at Ball Game.

Extra excitement was furnished Sunday at the ball game between Del Rio and Sanderson, when a free-for-all fight broke out between some of the rooters. It seems like the Del Rio fans got a little excited and let their tempers get the best of them when Sanderson was winning the game. R. S. Wilkinson, a Sanderson rooter, was knocked down several times by Prosser Martin of Del Rio, who took exception to the rooting and remarks made by Sims. This caused others to start in and for a while the fight was the center of attraction.

It is understood that several apologies were made by both sides. Mr. Martin stated that he regretted his part of the affair. Mr. Martin later pleaded guilty to fighting and paid his fine.

Bridge Party.

Lovely indeed was the bridge party given last Wednesday at her home when Mrs. Clyde Mills was hostess to her club. Colors of pink and green were combined most attractively in cut flowers, tallies and refreshments which were served at the close of the games.

Several interesting games of bridge were played on the lovely cool screened porch. Mrs. Savage made high score and Mrs. J. C. Green second high score. The prizes were lovely pottery flower bowls.

Refreshments of green tea and individual cake were served.

There is safety in numbers. The two-dollar bill isn't unlucky in thousand lots

DeCusser Complimented.

C. L. Sims and Mrs. F. D. were hostesses to several at the home of Mrs. C. C. on Tuesday afternoon. They gave a bridge party featuring Mrs. Kurt H. DeCusser of Stroud, Okla., who is visiting here.

Hot games of bridge were played by a large number of the honorees. Mrs. H. DeCusser made high score and won a basketry vase as the card game holder was second high score prize that Mrs. P. F. Robertson, Jr. DeCusser was present and with DeCusser and a dainty lunch was served at the home of Mrs. W. D. Warden. Additional prizes received traveling prize, a box of stationery, a course of sandwiches, salad, iced tea, crackolives, cheese balls and cranberry sauce was served.

Saddle Shop Opens.

Prosser Martin of Del Rio was the first of the week and on Friday opened his saddle shop at the Sanderson Mercantile Co. Ross Blackwelder, expert in his line of work, is in charge. In addition to repairing boots, shoes and the making of saddles, the shop will have a complete line of cow-woods.

Mrs. Kurt H. DeCusser who have been visiting here, left Wednesday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will be with her mother, Mrs. J. W. DeCusser, before returning to their home in Stroud, Okla.

W. T. C. C. MOTORCADE HERE TODAY.

Additional color is being added to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce motorcade, which starts on its journey August 6, this year, in the Cowboy Band of Simmons University, official band of the organization which is being taken along. When the motorcade reaches Sanderson on the afternoon of August 10 for a short stop, it is probable that the band will entertain for a few minutes.

Arrayed in ten gallons hats, chaps and other cowboy regalia, the Cowboy Band attracts attention everywhere it goes—but how about out in West Texas proper where they have the real cowboys? It remains to be seen.

Demons Shut Out Cowboys.

Timely hitting and brilliant base running enabled the Demons to defeat the Del Rio Cowboys, 3 to 0, here Sunday. The Demons showed rare form in their defensive play and as a result Maddox was never in danger in any inning. De la Puente however was in danger practically every inning and only brilliant fielding kept him in the game.

The Demons will likely play one or two week day games this week in preparation for the sixth and tying game with Del Rio Sunday and they are hoping that a large delegation of Sanderson fans will go along to back them.

Mrs. Celesta Mae Morris is taking her vacation from her duties as clerk at the Sanderson Mercantile Co. She visited friends in Marathon this week.

NEW YORK MURDERS CALLED UNUSUAL

This View Is Based on Two-Year Survey.

Albany.—Murder in New York state, in the view of Senator John Knight, chairman of the subcommittee on statistics of the Baumes crime commission, "is a relatively unusual crime."

This view, expressed by Knight in a report of his commission, was taken after two years of investigating by the body into the crime situation in the state.

"To be exact," said the report, "murder constitutes about one-half of 1 per cent of the felonies prosecuted in New York state. The great list of crimes that constitute 96 per cent of the work of the criminal courts pass almost without notice, a few sensational cases capture interest and to a great degree determine the popular conception of justice."

"The general problem of making the United States less lawless," was seen as "bound up in what is done in these prosaic prosecutions, rather than in the Leopold-Loch, Hall-Mills and Snyder-Gray cases in the generation," the report said.

Figures covering the crime record in New York city include 308 cases of murder and manslaughter in 1925; 280 in 1926 and 278 in 1927.

The assault and robbery cases reported were 1,483 for 1925; 1,173 for 1926, and 951 for 1927. Relative to burglary cases, the subcommittee's figures show that while there were 4,193 in 1925, the number diminished in 1926 to 3,373 and climbed again to 3,380 in 1927.

The Baumes laws provide life sentences for those convicted of four felonies.

All-Year School Would Have Tendency to Lower Number of Failures

By WARREN A. ROE, National Education Association.

CHILDREN live day by day. They are not born to suit school terms. They do not cease growth in June or begin in September. Much that we know of child development, both physical and mental, mocks our stated calendar terms and challenges our grades and classes.

As schools pass from irrational to rational living conditions, we shall destroy much of this rigid administrative machinery we have created and replace it by flexible regrading and reclassifying procedures that will bring our regimental regrouping into some sane relationships to our knowledge of individual differences.

Psychologists know the permanent evil results produced in children when partial failure compels pupils over long time periods to repeat work that has lost its interest.

Parents know the unhappy children indifferently performing bare-school work. Taxpayers do not know the tremendous cost of re-educating failure. School financial statements conceal such costs. Country-wide, approximately $200,000 of every $1,000,000 spent on public schools is to re-educate failure.

Changing five or ten-month terms to three months and operating school districts twelve months increases educational opportunity, increases service, produces more successes, reduces overhead, reduces failure and makes education a full-time job.

The health of children and teachers is better, for vacations may be taken during any three months. A real correlation of health and vacation between business, home and school, is made when recreation is not limited to two summer months.

Environment of Home and School Molds All for Better or for Worse

By REV. JOHN HAYNES HOLMES, New York.

The conservative mind is first of all a biological product. It is a part of the process of growing old. As the body hardens so the mind hardens. As we get less and less fluid and flexible in our physical reactions, as we get along in years, so we get less fluid and flexible in our mental reactions.

At the bottom no man can escape the doom of becoming fixed in his ideas and therefore unadaptable to the ever-changing world. But he can escape a closed mind and an intolerant spirit. Even if we find it impossible to accept or even to comprehend new ideas, we can be considerate of them and give them welcome to the freest opportunity to win their way. An open-minded free-spirited conservative is one of the finest sights in all the world.

The conservative mind is an educational product. To a greater extent than we realize we are all the children of our fathers. We are made for better or for worse by the environment of home and school into which we are thrust. Each generation carries over and revives the ideas and habits of the former generation.

This is curiously true, even of some of our radicals. Take Russia, for example, where a whole generation of young people is being trained hard and fast in the ideas of Communism. These young people will grow up to be conservatives of the deepest dye. They will have their orthodoxy as forced upon them by their fathers, even though it chances to consist of ideas commonly called radical.

Future of British Nation Periled by Unwise Course of Government

By DEAN INGE, London, England.

The "bungalow system" of modern life is responsible for small families and threatens the nation's future. The government is taking the cream of the working classes and educating them at the expense of the taxpayers, so that eventually they will be able to take the bread out of the mouths of professional men's sons.

That is not the way to fulfill one's duty toward the next generation. Those classes which are the best are not reproducing their kind. The better class of artisan is also diminishing in numbers.

Mr. Chamberlain, minister for health, stated that during the nine years' existence of this arm of the government remarkable progress has been made.

The general death rate of this country has fallen from 14 per 1,000 to 12.3 per thousand, and infant mortality has dropped from 89 per thousand to 70 per 1,000 in 1927.

High School Student Council Important in the Formation of Citizenship

By R. R. CROMWELL, High School Principal, Peoria, Ill.

The student council is a necessary agent of administration in a large, modern high school. Self-preservation of our democracy demands that the high school stress citizenship above all other objectives, and prominent leaders and leading educators recommend that we try to develop civic responsibility.

A high school should therefore be a laboratory for teaching citizenship, even if it interferes with scholarship, although I have never found that teaching responsibility for citizenship through student co-operative self-government and developing scholarship were necessarily incompatible.

Men With Ideas and Positive Character Needed to Lead the World to Peace

By RAMSAY MACDONALD, Ex-British Prime Minister.

Secretary of State Kellogg's proposal that the nations sign a treaty outlawing war does not include everything. The gesture Mr. Kellogg wants us to take is not a final thing. We have been too giggling—too panicky. We have written too many Oxford university essays on disarmament—those nice essays school boys write in order to get degrees. No foreign office or foreign minister writes essays like that.

A man who is going to lead the world in peace is not going to be a man who sits in his chair—who writes essays and proves by verbal formula where dangers and difficulties lie. The virtue of gestures is that you should not shilly-shally about it.

STREET RECALLS FRENCH NOBLEMAN

New Orleans Financial Center Carondelet's Monument.

New Orleans, La.—Wherever cotton is traded the world over business men are alert to daily development in a New Orleans street which bears the name of a French nobleman famous as a public benefactor.

Carondelet street, where the New Orleans Cotton exchange is located, extends fifty-one squares from Canal street to Robert, west end. The first six blocks from Canal to Poydras street encompass the city's financial district, where the daily turnover runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Midway in these six blocks is the cotton exchange, at Carondelet and Gravier streets. From this building Secretary Henry G. Heister sends out his reports which affect the market wherever the staple is known.

The French nobleman for whom the street is named was christened Francisco Luis Heister de Carondelet, Seigneur d'Haize St. Pierre de Noyelles. Born in Flanders in 1747, he came to Louisiana in 1791 for a six-year stay. During that time he served as governor. Then he went to Peru from Louisiana to serve as viceroy.

Baron Carondelet recognized the advantages that would accrue to New Orleans from construction of a canal linking the Mississippi river with Lake Pontchartrain. Giving much of his personal fortune and lending his slaves for the work, Baron Carondelet was the dynamic force behind the movement for the canal, although a yellow fever scourge prevented the consummation of his plan. Canal street, now ranked as one of the famous thoroughfares of the world, marks the site of the nobleman's undertaking.

For his many benefactions Louisiana welcomed him as governor. New Orleans paid him tribute with Carondelet street, Baroness Carondelet street, now Darbonne street, and Canal street, named for his work.

Plans a Dictionary of Good Grammar

Lincoln, Neb.—To do with grammar what dictionary writers have done with words is the idea behind a book written by Maurice H. Wesen, associate professor of English in the University of Nebraska. He has tried to make correct grammatical usage as easy as correct word usage.

Alphabetizing the stumbling blocks in English, Professor Wesen has taken the most accepted terminology in an effort to effect a standardization of English, which, he says, "can be accomplished only through a long and slow process of elimination and survival."

The material for his latest book, "Crowell's Dictionary of English Grammar," was gathered during 12 years as an instructor of English in Iowa State college and at the University of Nebraska.

He drew the illustrations from every day speech and writing. "Quotations from Shakespeare and Milton often are of little value to the person who seeks to settle in his own mind some doubtful or disputed point of usage with reference to a practical problem of today. For that reason I have emphasized American usage, both in the giving of examples and in the citing of authorities, and have referred only incidentally to English usage for purposes of comparison."

Girl's Purse, Lost From Plane, Found on Roof

Washington.—A pocketbook which was lost by Miss Barbara Pearson of Ashland, Pa., while viewing Washington from an airplane was recently recovered by William Owens, a tinsmith employed in the office of public buildings and public parks of the national capital.

The purse was found on the roof of temporary building No. 5, located at Twentieth and G streets. It was turned over to Inspector Wright, in charge of the public buildings guard force, who said it would be sent to Miss Pearson by registered mail. The pocketbook was identified by a certificate of flight made out in Miss Pearson's name by the Washington airport. It also contained $4.75 in money, a vanity case and two keys.

Takes Out Squeak

New York.—There's such a thing as being altogether too sarcastic about unsatisfactory new shoes. A furniture merchant put his in his show window with placards telling what he thought about them. The shoe dealer obtained an injunction.

Judge Marries 5,000 Couples in 25 Years

Fresno, Calif.—George Washington Smith, who has been a justice of the peace here since 1903, has just set what he believes to be a record as a "marrying justice" in officiating at his 5,000th wedding.

Smith began his career as a marrying justice January 18, 1903, and has kept a record of the ceremonies. His records show that the greatest number of marriages performed in one year was 394, and that 49 was the most in any single month, while the record day brought eight couples to his office.

The Easiest Way is the FAULTLESS way. Nothing to add except boiling water. Every laundress knows that "SOMETHING" must be added to lump starch to make a perfect boiled starch. The United States Department of Agriculture in Farmers Bulletin 1099, "Home Laundering," says—"The following is a good general receipt for making Cooked Starch: 1 to 4 tablespoons starch, according to stiffness desired. 1 cup (1 1/2 pint) cold water. 1/2 teaspoon borax. 1/2 teaspoon paraffin or white fat. 1 quart boiling water. Make a paste of the starch and the cold water; add the borax, the paraffin or fat, and the boiling water. Boil the mixture, stirring it thoroughly, until it is clear, or for about 20 minutes. Remove any scum that forms and strain the starch while hot. But who wants to go to all that trouble? FAULTLESS STARCH is already prepared. Our formula, we believe, will produce better results than the above. We know the materials we use are the purest we can buy. They are carefully blended to bring out the best results in starching. That is why FAULTLESS STARCH uses in more than a million homes, agree that the "Easiest Way" is the FAULTLESS way. One trial will prove it. FAULTLESS STARCH COMPANY, Kansas City, Missouri. FULL LENGTH CAPES FOR FALL; HAT BRIMS AS WORN IN PARIS

IF THERE is ever a wrap which gives service and comfort, not to mention grace and chic, to one's appearance, it is the full-length cape. Ideal to wear with frocks of frail fabric, doesn't crush sleeves and wraps around in a most protecting manner, can be slipped on and off in a jiffy without disturbing a tier or a drape or a bouffant bow in the least. Oh, there's no doubt about it, a full-length cape is a possession to be coveted.

Well, out of the cape vogue which has been and still is so pronounced, has developed a flair for just such a of the latest dipping-to-one-side brims. The first model portrayed is a simple ribbon-trimmed felt, its brim much longer to the right than to the left. Speaking of felts, it seems they refuse to be dethroned. It's a fact, they are going to remain on the scene and repeat their triumphs all over again this fall.

Color trends for felts lean toward the reddish brown range, from the light canna shade through mahogany tones and even down to that old-time favorite—tete de negre, or African brown if you so please to call it. Centain purplish navies are good, too, and there are some lovely old ivory tones new in the realm of felts.

However, we started out to tell about the new long right-side brims which are enrolled among important autumn styles. For a brim to secure its long-sidedness via a series of plaits, is considered the height of smartness. The idea is conveyed in the hat at the top to the right in this picture. The scheme was first launched by the linen-like straws which were so popular this summer, and now felts are adopting this unique method of elongating their brims.

Seems as if the tilted brim is coaxing ribbon trims back into fashion. Ever so many of the advance models have clusters of soft satin loops on the under brim, as you see on the hat below to the left in this group. If midway in the picture could turn her head so as to give a view of the top right side, another cluster of ribbon loops would reveal themselves extending to the very edge of the upper brim.

Another vogue for which Paris continues to show enthusiasm is the ever favorite black-and-white combination. The idea is worked out effectively with black velvet and white felt in the last hat here shown.

DREAM FAIRIES

"It seems," said the Dream fairies, "that there have been many children lately who have been telling each other unkind things they have heard."

"For instance one little girl said to another:

"Oh, Sally, I heard Maude say she thought you were awfully mean and selfish. I told her I didn't think so. I stood up for you. I was your friend."

"Well, the Fairy Queen heard this, too, and she said it made her very angry and unhappy.

"She said it was far worse of the little girl who came and told such a horrid thing than it was of the little girl who had said it.

"She said that people who handed on mean speeches, and repeated them were about as mean as people could be.

"So we must do something about it. And there have been grown-ups lately who have been saying unkind things to children. We must get to work at once."

So the Dreamland King helped the Dream fairies and they tied up dreams to the groupings which let them see how mean they had been and how they had hurt children's feelings, and they tied up dreams for the children who had repeated mean speeches.

And oh, what a lot of good these dreams did.

Every one in Fairyland and Dreamland was delighted about it. For above everything else in this world the Fairy Queen hates unkind speeches and unkind actions.

They took dreams to groupings who had been saying how much children annoyed them and how restless children were.

And they took them dreams showing how they were as children and how much more restless they used to be than these children of whom they complained.

But mostly they took dream packages to all, young and old, who had been saying mean things about people.

They took dreams which showed a trip taken by a mean speech—how it got in this way and that and caused trouble wherever it went.

The Dreamland King was quite tired out after he had finished his work and so were the Dream fairies and so were those who tied up the dream packages.

But they were glad of the work they had been doing and they knew it would do good.

They got Habit to help them, too. Habit had two sides to his nature—one was Bad Habit and the Good Habit.

When he turned one way he was Good Habit and when he turned the other side he was Bad Habit.

Sometimes he turned the Bad Habit side and people got into the way of thinking about each other—really got the bad habit of doing this.

But now he kept his mind on what he was doing and he kept the side of Good Habit turned right.

And the Dreamland King knew he would help so much, too.

As the Dreamland King rested upon his Sleepy Cloud Mountain he said to himself:

"I think we have had a successful evening."

Flattery that is rewarded is inexcusable.

Poets paint with words and painters speak with pencils.

The Dreamland King Was Quite Tired.

The new rule for making jelly jell use PEXEL always this never this

PEXEL will surprise you with its speed and economy in making jelly. Does not change the color or flavor of your jams or jellies

USE any fruit you wish—the one that failed before. Add PEXEL to the juice and bring to boil. Then add sugar. Bring to full boil again. Skim. It's finished. Pour into glasses. You've made the most delicious jelly in all your experience—and it will jell by the time it is cold.

In addition to making jelly jell, PEXEL is economical and saves time. Cuts out the long boil. Makes more jelly because fruit juice, sugar and flavor don't go off into steam. Time and fuel are saved. Countless tests show that PEXEL repays the 30c it costs from one to three times.

PEXEL is different too!
Made entirely from pure fruit. Tasteless, colorless, odorless—absolutely. A powder—not a liquid. Keeps indefinitely. Equally effective with bottled fruit juices or unsweetened canned fruits.

Get PEXEL from your grocer. Only 30c. The recipe booklet in every package gives easy-to-follow directions and accurate tables. The PEXEL Company, Chicago, Ill.

A few examples of how much jelly PEXEL makes:
4 1/2 cups strawberry juice, PEXEL, 8 cups sugar make 11 glasses jelly.
4 1/2 cups raspberry juice, PEXEL, 8 cups sugar make 11 glasses jelly.
6 cups currant juice, PEXEL, 10 cups sugar make 14 glasses of jelly.
4 1/2 cups grape juice, PEXEL, 7 cups sugar make 10 glasses of jelly.
