

W. E. STIRMAN City Dairy Man

kept in stalls and fed the finest
Alfalfa Hay and Dairy Feed

Phone No. 2 Sanderson, Texas.

LEMONS & HENSHAW, ABSTRACTORS

Terrell County Lands

Land Leased Taxes Paid
Property Returned
Abstracts Examined and Titles Passed Upon by an Efficient and Reliable Attorney.
Office with County Clerk, Sanderson, Texas
Henshaw, Mgr.

Toll Service

now have Long Distance connections
insures you the best of toll service
Call Us For Rates
Trans-Pecos Telephone Co.

SANDERSON MERCANTILE CO.

"The Store of Service and Quality"

DEALERS IN

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Phone No. 40 Prompt delivery

DRYDEN NOTES.

Mrs. W. R. House.
Mrs. Ross Roberts and her family returned from El Paso last week and took in a new Chevrolet.
Mrs. M. H. Goode Sr. spent several days last week in El Paso Monday to be a few days.
Mrs. Bessie left Friday for San Antonio and San Marcos and will spend a few days with her wife and children.
J. A. McMillan preached at the school house Sunday at 3 o'clock. The attendance was rather small.
Mrs. Irene Haley spent several weeks on the Fred ranch.
Mrs. Tropa Fred.
Mrs. McCulloch shopped in Sanderson Monday.
Mrs. Cook was down this last week on a business trip to Sanderson.
Mrs. A. L. White were visitors last Thursday. Mrs. White attended the meeting while there.
W. A. Latimer and Mrs. A. and son, Bill, spent Saturday in Del Rio visiting Mrs. J. Gray.
Mrs. John M. Gray and family returned from church in Sanderson Sunday morning.
Mrs. A. A. Burdwell and Mrs. Lal Rio Friday and came Saturday in a new Durant.
Mrs. John Taylor and family returned from business trip to Sanderson Sunday.
Mrs. Peoples attended Comers' Court at Sanderson Sunday.
Mrs. Barksdale spent Monday at Sanderson.
Mrs. Jess Haley were visitors last Thursday on way to the ranch.
Mrs. Freeman from Juno was visitors last Thursday visit-

P. T. A. Meets.
The October meeting of the P. T. A. was held last Thursday afternoon at the high school auditorium with Mrs. J. H. Lockhausen, the president, presiding. The attendance prize was won by the tenth grade as they had the largest per cent of mothers out. The membership committee reported 116 paid up members. Mrs. Lea, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, made the announcement that a Hallowe'en carnival was to be given on Friday, October 26. The next meeting will be a thrift meeting and a prize will be given to the one who makes a garment over out of old material at the least expense.

Bridge Party.
Mrs. S. C. Bodkin was hostess to the members of the faculty at her home last Saturday afternoon when she entertained with bridge. The living room was tastefully decorated with baskets of fall flowers. The high score prize for the afternoon was made by Miss Lois Swift and Miss Sidney Laurence made second high score. Mrs. Thad Murley drew the cut prize. A salad course was served.

New Office Building
Work has been started by C. M. Breeding, local contractor, on a new and up-to-date office building for Joe Kerr. The office is to be located next door to the Sanderson State Bank and will be of tile and brick. The Spanish design will be carried out and when completed the office will be one of the prettiest as well as the most modern and up to date building to be found between San Antonio and El Paso.

Paramount Hits Again With "Old Ironsides"
As a motion picture spectacle "Old Ironsides" which opens at the Princess Theatre Saturday and Monday, October 12 and 13, will remain supreme for a long time. The intrepid vivacity of the brave New England Yankees who abandoned their homes and families to answer the call to arms against the pirates of Tripoli in 1804 is recorded in a masterly fashion in the photo play. The production, which was directed by James Cruze, is based upon an original story by Laurence Stallings and was suggested and adapted for the screen by Harry Carr and Walter Woods. It is "a great picture" and offers to the public much that is new in screen technique. Pictorially it stands as one of the most beautiful photoplays ever flashed upon the screen. For natural comedy and sincere humaneness it is unsurpassed. Sensation crowds sensation.

The picture is one we recommend unqualifiedly to every person on earth, no matter what their taste in the theatre or in the movies. There is never a dull moment. Following such brilliant direction as James Cruze supplied in "The Covered Wagon," we heartily nominate him as without question one of the greatest directors of all times. And the human note—the heart interest—the love theme stand out in "Old Ironsides" just as they did in "The Covered Wagon."
Esther Ralston, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Charles Farrell and Johnnie Walker all did their bit. None of them could have been improved upon. "Old Ironsides" truly stands as the greatest story of early America and her people that has ever been offered upon the screen.

Doc Turk sold 450 head of goats the past week to Homer Rochelle. The price paid was $8 a head.
Mrs. H. L. Stuckey visited friends in Alpine this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKee have returned from San Antonio where Mr. McKee has been in the Santa Rosa Hospital for the past month under treatment for an infected knee. He is very much improved and hopes soon to be up and about town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Turk were visitors in San Antonio and Uvalde this week.

Sanderson 7, Crane 0.
(By M. P. Lester.)
The Sanderson Red Heads won one of the hardest fought games on the local field Saturday that has ever been played in Sanderson.

Crane kicked off to the Red Heads who returned the ball only 10 yards and were downed on their own 35 yard line. The Red Heads fumbled on the first down and Crane covered the ball. But Crane also fumbled on first down and Sanderson recovered. The next two downs were also fumbled but the Red Heads gained possession of the ball and the butter finger business stopped.
The Red Heads started out with straight football and ripped the Crane line open several times for good gains. Ogle and Bradley showed up fine on their end runs and line plunges until Sanderson placed the ball on Crane's 40-yard line. Then the Red Heads took the air route while the line held like a solid wall. Ogle passed to Laughlin for 20 yards. Bradley hit the line but failed to gain and Ogle again passed to Laughlin for ten yards and Laughlin stepped off the other ten yards for a touchdown and kicked goal for extra point.

The Red Heads scored in the first quarter and there was no more scoring done. Although outweighed the Sanderson eleven kept the ball in the opponent's territory more than three-fourths of the game. Sanderson threatened to score twice during the third and fourth quarter but didn't have the punch to put it over.

Crane reached the 20-yard line only once and at no time threatened to score. The Red Heads always tightened up in time to keep their goal protected and out of danger.
The Red Heads have a good team and plenty of fight and when they develop a better interference they will be hard for any high school to handle.

Auxiliary Meets.
The Woman's Auxiliary to the Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Stuckey. It was a social meeting. Mrs. F. B. Carter, Mrs. B. J. Brannan and Mrs. Stuckey being hostesses. There were 24 members and three visitors present.
The next meeting will be for Bible study at the church on Monday, October 15, at 3 p. m. —Reporter.

Sunday's Fun.
Next Sunday the Sanderson baseball fans will see one of the best games of baseball they have ever seen since the days of the "horse and buggy."
Captain Grigsby feels that luck is going to smile on his Leans Sunday and therefore has challenged the Fats for another struggle. The Fats realize that it will not be an easy victory but promise to have the Leans run down before sundown this time.
Both teams are capturing every ball player possible for it is expected that there will be several good men "pulled"—it is going to be fast and furious.
If you are lean pray for the Leans; if you are fat, root for the Fats. —Contributed.

The Presbyterian Church.
We are a busy people! In fact, we are so busy that we keep the doctors busy trying to keep us away from the undertaker a while longer. Meanwhile, the undertakers are kept busy stowing away the physical wrecks that the doctors are unable to save. And so the busy pace goes on.
Sunday morning, upon the authority of a very busy personage, the pastor of this church will preach a sermon entitled, "The Gospel of Quietness." We invite you to take "time off" and "listen in" on this sermon. The service begins at 11 a. m.
The Sunday school begins at 10 a. m. Both you and your children are needed. Don't play "hooky."
The evening service will be dismissed owing to the Baptist revival.
J. A. McMillan, Minister.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Calvin Stansell and daughter attended the American Legion Convention in San Antonio this week.

Warning to Hunters:
Never shoot an Elk any more than you would a Mason or an Odd Fellow
FULLER PEP

EXPERT TAILORING
It's one thing to read about good clothes and another thing to see them. You can see them here at their best. If you need a suit you will never have a better opportunity to buy better clothes than you'll find here. The values are big and the prices comparatively small.
We are waiting to take your measure and give you superior tailoring.

Empire Cleaners & Dyers
Frank Robertson, Owner & Mgr.

What Accounts Are Profitable

Contrary to general opinion, banks do not make 6 per cent profit on each deposit made in a checking account. A general average of profit is 4 per cent and from all deposits 15 per cent must be deducted as a cash reserve.

In banking circles, it is generally accepted as truth that accounts whose balance falls below $200 are an expense to the bank.

In view of this, our service fee of 50c per month for accounts whose balance falls below $50.00 is just and reasonable.

Sanderson State Bank

Sanderson, Texas

Chicken Supper Success.
The chicken supper given last Friday afternoon at the high school for the benefit of the athletic fund was a success financially. Under the supervision of Miss Cox, the Home Economic teacher, the girls with the help of the mothers of the football boys served the large crowd that came out.

Sport Editor Appointed.
The Times is fortunate in securing Mac Lester as its sport editor. Mr. Lester is a well known athlete and is fond of all kinds of sport. He has had considerable experience in reporting football as well other games and we are sure that our readers will look forward with pleasure to his writing on the various games.

We Carry Everything Handled in A General Store

DRY GOODS The Season's New and Best Styles DRESS GOODS, MEN'S SUITS, HATS, CAPS, BOOTS AND SHOES	GROCERIES We Have Everything That's Good to Eat Canned Vegetables and Fruits, Jellies, Jams, Tees and Coffees,
HARDWARE We Are Headquarters For Hardware, Oil, Paints Stoves, Pipe Fittings, Wire, Nails, Studebaker Wagons	FURNITURE We Have a Nice Line of Chairs, Rockers, Tables, Dressers, Beds, Springs and Mattresses.
LUMBER Anything You Want in Building Material, Sash	Doors, Cement, Limes Brick, Roofing, Fencing.

THE KERR MERC. COMPANY

This monogram on the top of every Cunningham tube is visible proof of in-built integrity and quality.

Liver Powder Appeals Doctors may now prescribe a half-pound of liver a day and feel sure that the patient follows instructions.

NEW BEAUTY FOR YOUR CLOTHES By Mae Martin

Don't envy some other woman her ability to look attractive and stylish on less than you have. Learn her secret! Give new beauty and variety to your dresses by the quick magic of home dyeing and tinting.

Noise Cuts Efficiency Noise is increasing 100 per cent loss of efficiency to the average worker, according to Dr. Hiram Percy Maxim.

The Woman Driver I like to drive with Champion Spark Plugs because I know I'll not be annoyed with engine trouble due to faulty spark plugs.

Champion is the better spark plug because it has an exclusive still-manite insulator specially treated to withstand the much higher temperatures of the modern high-compression engine.

CHAMPION Spark Plugs Toledo, Ohio Dependable for Every Engine

MEDITERRANEAN Cruise on "Transylvania" sailing Jan. 30 Clark's 26th cruise, 60 days, including Madeira, Canary Islands, Casablanca, Rabat, Cape Verde, Spain, Algiers, Malta, Athens, Constantinople, 15 days Palestine and Egypt, Italy, Sicily, Cherbourg, (Paris). Includes hotels, meals, excursions, June 25, 1929, 2000 0000 up

NEW YORK NEEDS NO MAYORS, NOW HAS 12

Locality Bosses Take Their Jobs Seriously.

New York.—Mayor Walker's many visits to other cities have inspired the rather satiric suggestion that the city charter be rewritten to provide New York with two chief executives—one to travel and develop new friends for the city, the other to remain at home and tend to the municipal knitting.

In truth, New York is abundantly equipped with mayors. Even with Mr. Walker away, the town is still blessed with the guidance of a dozen mayors.

Winning the Position. New York takes its "locality mayors" quite seriously, and they take their titular honors with earnestness. Years of effort are sometimes necessary before the post is achieved—years of philanthropy and good fellowship.

One of the most strangely entrenched is Max Dick. The title "Mayor of Allen street" was given by popular acclaim. Along Allen street they bow gratefully before Max Dick, and small wonder. Even when the war sent rents soaring, Dick continued in his tenements his long established schedule of five dollars a room.

Has Record Wardrobe. No little annoyance came into Joe Levy's life when he moved to Riverside drive. As mayor of Second avenue and Duke of Essex street, this picturesque lawyer of the Essex Market court, resplendent in silk hat, cut-away coat, malacca cane, spats, and diamond stickpin, might be seen at an Easter parade on the East side.

Swedish Wild Moose Foe of Match Supply Stockholm.—The Swedish wild moose is threatening the country's match industry by feeding too generously on the aspen trees from which matches are made.

Ring Lost Six Years Harrison, Maine.—Rains and freshets of six years failed to disturb a ring lost on the bank of Crooked river. The girl who lost it in 1922 has recovered the ring at the spot where it disappeared.

Modern Times Demand an Enriched Curriculum for the Country Child

By LESTER R. GRIMM, Illinois Teachers' Association.

FAMED in song and story, the "little red school house" should be definitely relegated to the period of history when mud roads and horse-and-buggy transportation prevailed, the teachers' associations believe, and consolidation of rural schools is a part of the program of the education committee of the association.

The times demand an enriched curriculum for the country child. High school opportunities for country boys and girls must be provided. A study of centralization of rural schools involves socio-economic developments of our complex civilization and the reorganization of our state school system as it keeps pace with modern progress.

As transportation facilities are improved and as the attendance grows less in the one-room schools, it is not likely that the driver of a motor bus will be able to transport the children of two or three schools?

Recent studies made in Illinois show that the percentage of high school failures is far greater among children trained in country schools than among those trained in towns. The rural population must concern itself seriously with the problem of elementary school improvement if the benefits of advanced education are to be realized in any considerable measure.

Blunderers Who Continue to "Carry On" Deserving of High Commendation

By REV. DR. COFFIN, President Union Theological Seminary.

All honor to those who blunder but go on. Take up the marriage question. Suppose love, trust and companionship are gone. Should tolerance be exercised for dignity's sake? In most cases it should.

I am glad that the present generation has lost none of that critical attitude that has been dominant in every new generation. It is better if young people do observe their elders critically and profit by their mistakes.

In the life of Jesus there is a lesson today for that tolerance that is so necessary in modern life, that when Jesus was in the Garden of Gethsemane He asked that He might be relieved of His great burden, but added in His prayer to His father that "Thy will is My will."

Suppose a golden companionship is broken by death. All honor to the man or woman who does not parade his or her grief. Accept the existing circumstances and go on.

Religious Education Offers a Solution of the Problem of Modern Crime

By CHARLES H. TUTTLE, United States Attorney, New York.

True service and true religion are twin sisters, and the supreme aim of both is character. The vast structure of modern society and government rests on the basis of character-honesty, which is not luxury but habit.

Society pays an awful toll for loss of character in its members. A religious education offers a solution to this problem. It bids us look upon the child as a spiritual being to be fitted for life in a moral universe.

Virtue, like other beautiful things, must be cultivated. Weeds grow without cultivation. A religious education, and especially the week-day schools of religious education, hold the hope of the future. To fail here in the face of this opportunity would mean the loss of security and greatness to our nation.

Collaboration of America Vital for the Settlement of World Problems

By HENRI BERENGER, Former French Ambassador.

The United States of America occupies too important a place on the planet in this Twentieth century from all points of view to allow any serious problem to be settled without her. Whether it is a question of Pacific problems or Atlantic relations between China and Japan or between Germany and France, the collaboration of America is necessary.

War between England and the United States is improbable, as the Dominions such as Canada, Australia and New Zealand would be opposed to any such conflict, for they would look at least as much to Washington as to London.

World Has Awakened to the Fact That There Is No Magic in Science

By DR. GERALD L. WENDT, Pennsylvania State College.

There is no magic in science. The public has heard so much about the accomplishments of science, especially the astonishing success which chemists have had in this country since the great war, in introducing new materials and establishing new industries, that the public attitude has entirely changed.

Formerly a professor of chemistry was thought of as an old man, dry as dust, who locked himself in his laboratory and worked with poisons and smokes that were of no interest to anyone else.

He was the old type magician. Nowadays people think of him as a public performer, a magician like Thurston or Houdini, who can pull almost anything out of his bag of tricks without warning.

PALESTINE HIGH IN BIRTH FIGURES

Holy Land Now Leads Even Russia and Egypt.

Jerusalem, Palestine.—According to the latest census returns the holy land stands high on the list of the countries with a large child population.

In 1925 the Palestinian birth rate figure stood at 493 to every 10,000 inhabitants, while Egypt, known for its high birth rate and with a far lower percentage of European population, only registered 428 births for the same year and the same number of inhabitants, and even Russia with its populous families had a birth rate of but 409.

Morevoer, the Palestinian birth rate is over double that of the United States, which stands at 226 per 10,000 of the country's population. But even compared with Italy and Japan, both of which stand with a high birth rate, the holy land retains its lead.

Principally it is the Moslem section of the population that is responsible for this high birth rate, which, in their case, reached the figure of 561 per 10,000 last year, with the Christian and Jewish sections following at a considerable interval with 389 and 351 births respectively to every 10,000.

Inspect Plane, Find Defect While in Air

Washington.—The story of an inspection of a defective airplane in flight by another plane has been reported to the War department from Rockwell field, California.

Lieut. A. C. Strickland, air corps, had taken off from Clover field, Santa Monica, Calif., for Rockwell field, at Coronado. As he took off, Clover field airman noticed something apparently wrong with the landing gear of his plane.

Headquarters at Clover field immediately wired headquarters at Rockwell field about its misgivings, and another plane bearing a sign, "Do not land until O. K'd by me" took the air to meet Strickland.

The landing gear of the plane was inspected from the air, and the inspecting plane landed and then flew up bearing a new sign reading "Left wheel several inches lower than right wheel." With this information to guide him, Lieutenant Strickland made a perfect landing in spite of the defect.

Suitor Borrows Ring; Jury Indicts Him

Boston.—Unable to keep up the payments on an engagement ring, it is alleged, Nathan Rosenthal of Roxbury "borrowed" the ring from his fiancée, Miss Diana Richmond of Malden, and returned it to the seller.

The Middlesex county grand jury indicted Rosenthal for larceny of the ring from Miss Richmond. Rosenthal and Miss Richmond, the authorities allege, became formally engaged and he gave her the ring, said to be worth more than $800. They planned to marry this fall.

It is alleged that on August 26 Rosenthal visited the home of his fiancée and asked for the ring in order that he might have a wedding ring made in the same design. Upon being given the ring, it is charged, he walked out of the house with it.

First Ironclads Were Built in Argentina

Barracas, Argentina.—Iron vessels were being built in a local shipyard even before the battle of the Marston and the Monitor on March 9, 1862, old documents here reveal. A Scotsman here started building river craft from iron several years before the outbreak of the Civil war in the United States, and when the famous battle at Hampton Roads was reported to the outside world this pioneer, Thomas Harkness, offered to build a monitor like that of Ericsson for the Argentine government.

His signifiers at that time, however, were iron lighters for the transport of cattle. One of these, christened Salud Senora, was 95 feet long, 22 feet wide and 5 feet deep, with a carrying capacity of 180 head of live cattle.

Tattooed Will Is Held Not Valid

Paris.—The will of a sailor tattooed on his chest is not a legal document, in the opinion of the French court.

"I leave my all to Suzanne," a seaman had inscribed in pinks and purples on his bosom, and when he died Suzanne tried to collect. The court ruled that the will, to be valid, must be made in duplicate and a copy filed with the law courts.

PYTHON RAISES CAIN IN HELL'S KITCHEN

Zaza's Pet Gets Loose and Stirs Things Up.

New York.—This much is certain—if Mrs. Peter Olson, who is thirty-two, and a snake dancer in three-day vaudeville, takes that reptile back to her apartment, Mrs. Louis Munno, whose husband works nights, moves out. And who wouldn't?

This domestic impasse was arrived at logically, but amid considerable confusion and five stalwart cops, recently while a godly assemblage from Hell's Kitchen, where lots of queer things happen, looked, listened and gaped.

Mrs. Olson, whose dancing name is Alaida Zaza, had made a pet of an eight foot 35 pound brown and white python. Several days ago she went out and after she had returned late at night the python also went out—inexplicably. It may be that Bozo, Mrs. Olson's pet monkey, loosened the door on the snake's cage—but be that as it is, nobody told Mrs. Munno, who lives on the same floor, about it.

Therefore, when a couple of jars crashed to the floor in Mrs. Munno's kitchen she naturally was alarmed. In another room, adjoining the kitchen, slept Joseph, her twelve-year-old son. She cautiously opened the door for a peek, switching on the lights. She blinked once, for there, behind the stove, was a snake poking its head at her and hissing. One blink was enough. Gathering the loose folds of her dressing gown as best she could, Mrs. Munno dashed for the doorway and bounded down three and four steps at a time, emitting a scream per leap. And such screams! Patrolman Edward Welch says she was audible from Times square to the Hudson river.

Into the clammy morning and the arms of Welch dashed the vociferous Mrs. Munno.

"Oh, officer get your gun! There's a terrible snake or something in my apartment!"

Now, Officer Welch had heard those screams. And so he looked at Mrs. Munno with that pained expression with which any cop might be expected to look at any woman who, clad in a thin wrapper and a loud voice, comes dashing into the street at four o'clock in the morning talking excitedly about snakes.

Nevertheless, he went to investigate. As was to be expected the reptile resented this. Welch whacked at the snake with his night stick and the python defended himself as best he could. Welch ordered and executed a perfect one man retreat, while Mrs. Munno looked into the room of Joseph, by some miracle or other still asleep.

Patrolman Welch considered. This was a battle that already called for reinforcements. So he called the West 47th Street station.

"Say," he shouted. "There's a big snake down here. What'll I do?"

"Well," challenged Lieut. Edward Moran sleepily. "We ain't got no snake charmers up here."

"But I ain't got the D. T.'s," Welch insisted. "This here's a real live snake and it's about fifteen feet long. I gotta have some help."

Lieut. Moran dispatched Sergt. Joseph Stanton and four members of the emergency squad with pinch bars and a body sack to subdue the snake. They arrived, with a large contingent of neighbors attracted by the excitement, and set to work.

During the melee somebody stuck a yard stick down the snake's mouth. An eight foot python with 29 inches of stick rasping against its esophagus is nobody's plaything, as five of New York's finest soon found. They located one of the huge pinchers about its neck and another about its body. Now they had it, but what next?

Somebody brought the body sack, normally used to carry corpses. They laid it on the floor in front of the snake. Writhing mightily, the python's head was soon poked inside. Bit by bit they wormed in the rest, yastick and all, and off went Mrs. Olson's python to the police station.

There she claimed it, but her claim was held up until experts from the Bronx zoo could determine its relative harmlessness.

Shark Chases Fishermen for Two Days Off Havana

Havana.—Three excited fishermen drove a small motor boat into the harbor, rushed to the port captain and told him they had been chased for two days by a huge shark. A rifle squad of customs guards was sent out to give battle to the fish. The men said they were fishing for sharks when the big specimen reversed the procedure. They said the sea tiger had tried to overturn their craft and had nearly succeeded several times.

Dog Sorrows for Master He Accidentally Killed

Hillsboro, Ore.—A pet dog is sorrowing for his master here, but he does not realize that he was responsible for the man's death. All he knows is that William Glinder does not come home any more. Mr. Glinder and Mrs. Glinder were out shooting squirrels. The dog came sniffing around the rifle which the man had placed in some bushes, and it exploded, killing Mr. Glinder.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least, five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

Hard and Gnarled

Bishop Bristol said at a dinner in Washington: "Old age mellow some of us, while others it makes hard and gnarled."

"Jethro," an aged woman said to her aged husband, "we've lived together nearly fifty years now. Heigho, it can't last forever. It won't be long before one of us will have to go."

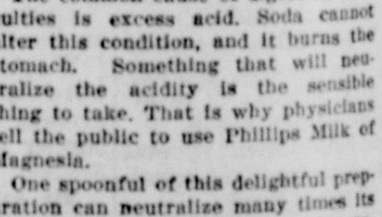

"Don't worry, Hannah," the old man soothed her. "Don't worry; my dear!"

"No," she said. "But I was just thinkin', Jethro, that when it does happen I'd kinder like to live in Miami!"

Everything is

"Daddy, what is due?" asked Bobby. "The rent, the note at the bank and the installment on my car," growled his dad.

The years teach much which the days never know.—Emerson.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take. Any drug store has the genuine, prescription product.

For Flu Colds

SWAMP CHILL FEVER TONIC

The Colfax Bookplate

By AGNES MILLER

SYNOPSIS

On a certain Monday morning Miss Constance Fuller, seller of rare books at Darrow's Bookshop, New York, notices that the first customer is a dignified old gentleman, who saunters into the alcove placarded "Medical Works." Peter Burton, one of the employees, amazes Constance by telling her he paid $119 at auction for an old law book containing a Colfax bookplate. Suddenly a girl's shriek of "Murder!" rings out. The elderly customer is on the floor unconscious, with his right wrist slashed. Just before the shrieking girl falls in a faint, she calls out to Peter: "Keep it! Keep it for me!" Peter's sister, Nancy, began that morning working at Darrow's. Nancy tells Constance of her elopement with Brandon Tower, an elopement which was cut short when Tower attempted to make off with Nancy's suit-case. Constance explains Darrow's card-index system to Captain Ashland, a nephew of Mr. Darrow's. They then find the bookplate to be a forgery. Constance is asked to assist Detective Almy in his investigation of the murder of the elderly gentleman. The girl who fainted, Julia Grosvenor, turns out to be his granddaughter. She can throw no light on the mystery. Constance calls on Julia, who seems relieved when told her cry, "Keep it for me!" was not unheeded.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"I'll go on from the point where you called for help, then," said I. "I saw you enter the shop, but not again until you ran up the aisle. I was talking to Mr. Burton, who travels for us. We heard your scream; then you came rushing down the aisle as Mr. Burton rushed down it. You stopped short. I continued carefully, "then you stumbled—" I glanced away, for the poor girl was paler than ever and beginning to breathe hard—"and you called out, just as you fainted. 'Keep it for me!' Don't you remember that?" She controlled herself, and nodded. "I do now," she said quite frankly, "but you have recalled it. It was completely obliterated from my memory, no doubt by shock. It's a shock to recollect it, too."

"I'm so sorry to upset you."

"Anything better than a gap in your memory. What . . . what did . . . people think I meant?"

She had remembered Peter, then, when she saw him in the shop, and, since Monday, had been conscious that something had happened which might menace her, yet had been quite unable to recollect what! Evidently, after all, some shock, whatever form it had taken, had affected her memory in this particular. On that point she had told the truth. I answered quickly:

"Why, nobody could tell, Miss Grosvenor, what was meant by an involuntary, half-conscious exclamation like that, and you said nothing further."

She smiled for the first time. I thought with an air of relief, and rejoined:

"I'm ever so much obliged to you for helping me to piece that recollection out. You have no idea how foolish it made me feel, being unable to remember what had happened when I was still conscious! I do appreciate your taking the time to come here to help me, when you must be so busy I understand from Mr. Almy your work is with the rare books Darrow's is so famous for. I suppose you no sooner buy such things at Darrow's than they are all snapped right up by collectors?"

"They go pretty quickly," said I. "For instance, a few of the modern books from Judge Levitt's have been sold already."

As Julia Grosvenor had listened to this reply with much more than mere polite interest, I risked another feeler:

"All the old books from such a collection, however, are likely to be held in reserve for special advertising, and not to go on sale for a few weeks. In this case, for instance, we should want to offer the best books to customers who we know have a special interest in Virginia—literature relating to Virginia."

"I see. My grandfather's interest in that line was partly due to the fact that his father was a Virginian, and partly to his own acquaintance with the state."

"I saw it was time for me to go; for I had given Julia Grosvenor the information she desired; first, if I had noticed her strange footstep in the shop that Monday; secondly, if she had in any way given herself away before she entirely lost consciousness; and, thirdly, if Claribeth's 'Notes' had yet been sold. I was pleased to have satisfied her, there was evidently so very little that could win the confidence of such a reticent nature. I would call it a day. I rose, and so did she.

"I do hope, Miss Fuller," she said sweetly, "that we may meet again in happier circumstances."

I left the solitary girl in the darkening shadows of the curious, brightly colored old drawing room. Her strange story was to remain uppermost in my thoughts, whatever my occupations in the next hours.

By Thursday afternoon I had actually got the rare-book catalogue under way. I had made a report to Mr. Almy about my Normandy terrace visit, and since then he had not called on me for anything. So I had spent Tuesday morning assembling the books to be advertised, and I was now ready to write an elegant literary introduction to the catalogue.

"I shall begin," I decided, "with-out parallel in the annals of collectors' opportunities," and reached across the desk for one of a row of eight newly sharpened pencils. Instead, I picked up the telephone receiver. "What is it?" I inquired, answering the summons without too much enthusiasm.

A refined accent far off in the distance announced itself as Mr. Darrow. "About that . . . ah . . . catalogue, Miss Fuller?"

"Yes, Mr. Darrow?"

"You know what I mean?"

"The new rare-book catalogue?"

"Ah . . . I was thinking about Claribeth's 'Notes.' . . . You know what I mean?"

"In connection with the catalogue?"

"Ah . . . possibly you might include it."

"I will do so."

"In the interest of culture we might favor the private collector above the trade."

"Yes, Mr. Darrow."

"Then about that . . . ah . . . order I sent you. . . . You know what I mean?"

"I beg your pardon?"

"Certainly you must remember! It had to do with the bookplate in that book."

"To remove it and advertise it for sale?"

"Have you not done so? Why not?"

"Because the copy for the trade journal advertisements doesn't go out until Friday afternoon."

The rest was silence for about thirty seconds. Mr. Darrow was so anxious to be cross to somebody, disliking, as he did, to have murders in his shop, that it was simply cruel not to give him a chance. But I was obstinate; and when the thirty-first second had ticked off my wrist-watch, he remarked graciously:

"Suppose you remove it promptly, and include it in the rare-book catalogue. I believe—Captain Ashland is my authority; I am not his equal as a judge—that that bookplate has rather more than common interest. . . . You know what I mean? Make sure that you advertise it as an extraordinary curiosity, a faked masterpiece of supreme historic and artistic interest and value. Thank you. . . . You have my entire confidence, Miss Fuller!"

I smiled enthusiastically and made a fluttering exclamation, for in nine years' association with Mr. Darrow I had mastered the art.

"Not a wholly bad idea, in itself," I reflected, hanging up.

So first of all I sent for the book from Mr. Roberts' safe. When it arrived, I got out my apparatus for removing bookplates from old books, an operation I frequently performed, since a worthless book that had belonged to some interesting person might bear his valuable plate. This apparatus consisted of a small shining aluminum saucerpan, which I filled with expensive bottled drinking water conveniently on tap near by; a hot-point device; and a beautiful new white sheet of blotting paper.

Having dropped the hot-point into the water, I sat contemplating the worn leather cover of Claribeth's "Notes." I somehow, at the moment, did not exactly like the idea of separating book and bookplate; they seemed to be mysteriously united in a common purpose. I could not, however, define the purpose, nor could I well suggest to Mr. Darrow to think again. I thought about Peter, whom I had not seen since Tuesday, as he was constantly out on business; and I thought about Julia Grosvenor, and still rather shook my head over her. Everything seemed dismal—No! Here was something entirely heartening outside the window. . . . Inside the shop, Captain Ashland, rosy and cheery, slammed the door in the face of the two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

I sped through the shipping office to the Jackson apartment beyond. Elyssa's wife, a lively person of dusky good looks, considerably younger than her husband, Madabelle by name (pronounced as usual), was enchanted with the idea of a party and willingly lent me the makings for afternoon tea, of which I laid in a liberal supply, and also her silver-plated pot with the gilt wild roses. When I came back to my desk with these spoils, I was not astonished to see that Captain Ashland was being entertained by Mr. Roberts and Mr. Case. And a little distance away stood Nancy, primly clasping her notebook and pencil. I perceived that in this emergency Miss Wilkes had selected her least experienced stenographer to send to me. Moore alongside Nancy was Dennis, the stockroom boy with a bluish and entirely vacuous smile on his face, and her typewriter clasped on his stomach.

"I sent Dennis up to bring my typewriter down because Miss Wilkes said I could use yours and I knew better," began Nancy. "Put it on the little table in the corner, Dennis. Where do you want the books on the table put, Constance?"

"Well, since you consult me," I replied, possibly with slight acidity, "I suggest that you leave them where they are, for you are to begin work on them. If you please, Miss Burton, list them as follows: Title; date of publication; name of publisher; number of pages; preface, index, notes, bibliography, if any; material of binding; folio. Here is a sample form, please follow it exactly. Make two carbons, and allow a separate sheet for each book."

"Yes, ma'am," said Nancy, and crashed into her typewriter.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Ingenious Method of Ascertaining a Date

In the days when calendars were not known people had a clever way of finding the day of any fixed anniversary. The only fact you had to know was the day of the week on which New Year's came. A key sentence of 12 words was used in which one word stood for each of the 12 months. The sentence was: "At Dover dwelt George Brown, esquire, good Christopher Finch and David Frfar."

Take, for example, the Fourth of July. As July is the seventh month, take the first letter of the seventh word of the key sentence; that is, g; g is also the seventh letter of the alphabet. So begin with Monday, the known New Year day, and count seven days. Thus Sunday will be found to be the 1st day of July and the 4th will be the following Wednesday.

French Census Corrected

By Presidential decree, the official population of France has been increased by 23 souls. Guide books, histories, almanacs and other informative volumes which give the population of France as 40,745,851 are in error. The figure should be 40,745,874. When the last census was taken the names of 23 inhabitants of the village of Honnecourt, near Cambrai, were carefully jotted down, and then overlooked. The fact that they had not been included in the grand total was discovered only a short time ago, whereupon the President of the republic and the minister of the interior signed a decree correcting the error.

Cultivating Laziness

"Do more a man takes time to go fishing," said Uncle Eben, "do more he hates office hours an' complains 'bout overwork."—Washington Star.

gale, shook his beautiful dripping tweed coat and hat, and made for my desk with a keen glance that took in every detail of my occupation, and a smile like sunrise.

"I say, isn't this jolly!" cried the captain. "Tea?"

"If it only were!" I groaned, ruefully regarding the steaming pot of water and the fair white blotter, which certainly created the mirage of a tea tray oasis in an afternoon desert of gloom. "What I am really supposed to be doing is to be soaking off this everlasting bookplate with this hot water."

"Orders, eh?" said the captain, affably. "Oh, you should be having tea. Why not? There's plenty more water outside."

"Yes, we have no drought—of water," I countered, realizing that any foreign visitor to these shores feels cheated if deprived of a sample of typical native humor relating to our characteristic civilization. My double-barreled effort, which I admit would not go over big with the Theater guild, delighted the simple-minded islander.

"You certainly should have tea," he observed. "You Americans take your business so seriously! Now, over in my shop we think we ought to know something about books, and all that—we've been going along somehow since seventeen-seventy—and yet we always knock off every afternoon for tea. Don't you think you ought to have tea?"

I felt my powers of resistance gradually leaving me; the captain was extremely purposeful, despite affable mildness. I wondered dimly how the Revolution and all that had really ever held out against the British mentality.

"It never occurred to me in the light of a duty," I began, and then suddenly it did. Captain Ashland, who plainly wanted tea, with a passion incomprehensible to those reared at soda fountains, was making a visit possibly of a certain great importance to the house, and Mr. Darrow's confidence in me would become more entire, no doubt, if I pleased his nephew. "But now you point my duty out to me," I finished, "I see it clearly. As you suggest, it is of a patriotic character. Our Constitution forbids cruel and unusual punishments. You shall not go without your tea." Mentally I added, "And I shall delay removing that bookplate!"

"I say, sir, I'm putting you out horribly!" beamed the delighted captain. "One never drinks tea in a shop in America, does one?"

"There's precedent for it here; sixty years ago this room was a dining room." The captain looked relieved. "The water's nearly boiling. Won't you sit down, like King Alfred the Great, and watch it so it doesn't burn. While I get the tea things?"

The captain informed me earnestly that King Alfred wouldn't burn, and that water wouldn't burn; and mounted guard while I withdrew. But at the end of the aisle I was halted by Mr. Case. In the act of bounding out of his office.

"Miss Fuller! How much of that catalogue is done?"

"All the notes. I'm just beginning to write it."

"It must be finished by noon tomorrow."

I stared, then glared.

"What kind of notice is this? It can't be done! You know I've lost the whole of this week—"

"Yes, yes—"

"And Mr. Darrow has just dumped still more work on me—"

"What's that?"

"To include and feature that book the Legal Federation won't buy—"

"Claribeth's 'Notes'?"

Exasperated by the new orders and interruptions, I snapped:

"Yes. You know about it, do you, Mr. Case? Then I needn't waste time explaining," when, even in the dim light filtering into the aisle between the two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

I sped through the shipping office to the Jackson apartment beyond. Elyssa's wife, a lively person of dusky good looks, considerably younger than her husband, Madabelle by name (pronounced as usual), was enchanted with the idea of a party and willingly lent me the makings for afternoon tea, of which I laid in a liberal supply, and also her silver-plated pot with the gilt wild roses. When I came back to my desk with these spoils, I was not astonished to see that Captain Ashland was being entertained by Mr. Roberts and Mr. Case. And a little distance away stood Nancy, primly clasping her notebook and pencil. I perceived that in this emergency Miss Wilkes had selected her least experienced stenographer to send to me. Moore alongside Nancy was Dennis, the stockroom boy with a bluish and entirely vacuous smile on his face, and her typewriter clasped on his stomach.

"I sent Dennis up to bring my typewriter down because Miss Wilkes said I could use yours and I knew better," began Nancy. "Put it on the little table in the corner, Dennis. Where do you want the books on the table put, Constance?"

"Well, since you consult me," I replied, possibly with slight acidity, "I suggest that you leave them where they are, for you are to begin work on them. If you please, Miss Burton, list them as follows: Title; date of publication; name of publisher; number of pages; preface, index, notes, bibliography, if any; material of binding; folio. Here is a sample form, please follow it exactly. Make two carbons, and allow a separate sheet for each book."

"Yes, ma'am," said Nancy, and crashed into her typewriter.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well! My excuse must be that it was as much of a surprise to me as to yourself. But I didn't know about your extra work."

"I shall have to think of something exciting to say about that particularly dull book; and to get rid of a bothersome bookplate in it which is some base imitation of a Colfax, Captain Ashland says." Mr. Case nodded thoughtfully, but said nothing. "Please, why the new order for the catalogue copy to be ready—good gracious!—tomorrow noon?"

"Because Mr. Gregory—the printer, you know—has just sent word that the threatened printers' strike has been called for next Thursday, unless both sides agree in the meantime. If our copy's ready tomorrow, it can be squeezed through; otherwise, we run a big risk of having no rare-book catalogue for the holiday trade."

"That would never do. But how can I possibly—"

"Oh, you can't finish single-handed. The rest of the shop force is to assist you, if necessary doing overtime; and all will be suitably recompensed for a loyalty which can be counted on to support the firm's reputation even at a sacrifice of comfort!" Mr. Case looked inscrutable as he quoted from obviously Darrow sources.

"I guess we are all human beings and willing to stand by in an emergency," I observed. "Your figure of speech means, I take it, that we'll all chaperon each other and work here all night?"

"Not quite; only till ten-thirty or eleven, since there are five of us," smiled Mr. Case. "That ought to help you pretty well, oughtn't it? And you'll have all tomorrow morning for finishing touches."

Suddenly Mr. Roberts, in a state of agitation, shot through the shipping office door, and started for Mr. Case's private office. Then he saw us in the aisle and bore down.

"Has Mr. Case told you about the catalogue, Miss Fuller?" he demanded. "Will you get to work on it at once? I've told Miss Wilkes to send you a stenographer for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Darrow is exceedingly concerned over this new mishap; he fears Captain Ashland will get a most unfavorable impression of the business. So do your best. Is there anything else you require?"

"I require," said I, "to have Captain Ashland removed from my desk, where he is sitting in the expectation of having angels or ravens or something bring him a cup of tea."

"What?"

"Yes. He came in and saw me heating water to remove a bookplate, and took it so hard that the kettle wasn't boiling for tea that with that very impression that the number of untoward events which have occurred here since Monday might rather prejudice a stranger, I really didn't know what to do but to offer to make him some. Do you mind, Mr. Roberts? You know English people think the world is coming to an end if they don't have their tea; and if they do, they don't care whether it does or not."

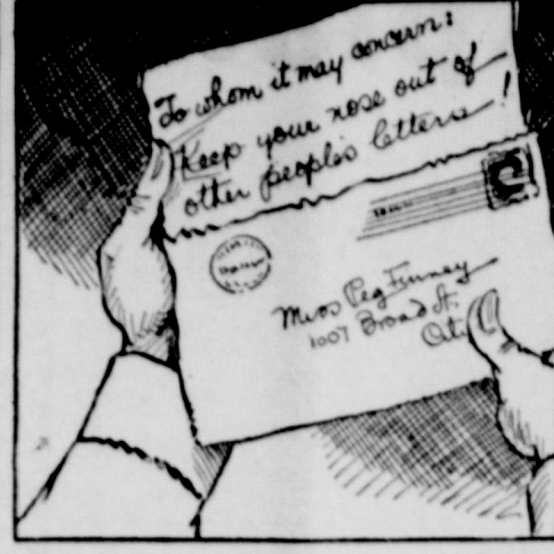

"I believe you did right," admitted Mr. Roberts, grudgingly, while Mr. Case smiled graciously, and observed that Darrow's was different, anyhow. "Tea's nonsense, of course; but it can't delay you more than a few minutes. And it's a very nasty cold, wet day."

two rear alcoves, I perceived the sudden change of expression on his face, from worry to angry amusement; I had been too abrupt. "Of course I'll do my best," I added hastily and repentantly. And if he didn't interrupt me again, most generously!

"I'm afraid I don't break bad news well

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

By F. O. Alexander

BILL BOOSTER SAYS

OUR PLEASANT TOWN COULD BE GREATLY IMPROVED BY MORE PAINT! IT PERS UP A BUSINESS STREET AND BEAUTIFIES THE RESIDENTIAL PART OF TOWN! IT DANS FOR I GELF BY PRESERVING THE SURFACE! WE HAVE GOOD PAINTERS HERE! GIVE THEM A JOB AND HELP BEAUTIFY OUR TOWN!!

EDDIE, THE AD MAN

OUR LIL' OLE WANT ADS ARE DOING THE BUSINESS - ONLY YESTERDAY A LADY RAN AN AD "DIAMOND BROOD FOR SALE" AND LAST NIGHT BURGLARS BROKE INTO HER HOUSE AND STOLE IT - DON'T TELL ME THAT EVERYBODY DON'T READ THE WANT ADS!

Funny Guys

I LOVE THE WAY A WOMAN COOPERS THIS IS DOES! DO YOU THINK THIS IS DOES! SING, WHAT HO! A MODEL MATE IS HUSBAND RUFUS HOOPSNAKE - HE NEVER TELLS THE LITTLE WIFE JUST HOW TO FRY THE BEGGYBEAK

LEAPS AND BOUNDS "You say you are growing old by leaps and bounds? Nonsense, man. Well, I'm out most of the time crossing streets and it's only by leaps and bounds I can expect to reach old age."

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB On Sundays when I go to church And hear the organ music roll I feel such lovely shivers creep All down the back-bone of my soul!

MICKIE, THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

By Charles Sughroe

A Sticker

The Comic Strip? WHY WILL PERRY JONES NEVER MARRY SANTA CLAUS? BECAUSE THEY AINT NO SANTA CLAUS NEXT YEAR!

Our Pet Peeve

A Fickle Dame

The Clancy Kids

S. O. No. 12 We Should Say

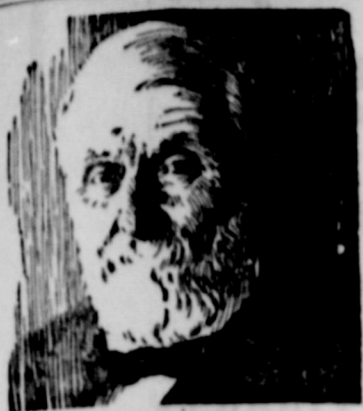

THE FEATHERHEADS

By Osborne

Just in Case

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875...

He treated constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions...

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you...

A bottle will last in all cases... For Old Hanford's Bals...

30¢ SOLD EVERYWHERE

Ride the Houston...

Small World Didn't...

And the Jack Boyer...

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

After Shaving USE DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

NOVEL NOTE IN NEW LINGERIE; PLAIN OR PRINT VELVET IS O. K.

Supplement to the Sanderson Times, Friday, Oct. 12, 1928.

Church of Christ Notes

What is Christ to men—all men, saint or sinner? Just plain facts will help us to appreciate more and more on the days pass on the Christ of God...

BAZAAR

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 3, at the Masonic hall...

Battle of the Rail

The instruction car on operating and transportation department rules was here several days this week. In charge of the car were Messrs Irvine and Otis...

C. A. (Tennessee) Wilburn attended the American Legion Convention which was held in San Antonio this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Creigh Jr. and son are in San Antonio this week where they went for the American Legion Convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Mansfield and son, Talley, attended the American Legion Convention which was held in San Antonio this week.

Christmas cards orders placed now insure a wider selection, better service and best of all, this important part of the "Christmas Shopping" is off your mind.

Says He Had Taken a Wagon-Load of Physics

"In November, 1920, I wrote you for advice as to the use of Milks Emulsion. I had been bothered with my bowels for a long time...

"This is a malaria country, and I have taken a wagon-load of purgatives, salts, etc. This finally gave me stomach trouble in very bad form...

"We are now handling it in our store and I am selling it right along and recommend it to all of my customers...

The Count Lemuel Boiles, former national commander of the American Legion, told a New York reporter a story of his return from Paris...

"A surgeon," he said, "was giving us some of his war reminiscences at a Paris banquet. He had cut off a soldier's arm, he said, and afterwards he certified that the man was unfit for any more fighting...

Canada's Forest Area The total forest area of Canada is 1,300,000 square miles but only 28 per cent of this area carries any timber of merchantable size...

MOTHER! Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup."

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic For Pale, Delicate Women and Children. 60c

PATENTS obtained and trademarks and copyrights registered. HARDWAY & CATHEY Bankers Mortgage Bldg., Houston, Tex.

BOILS ENDED FOR GOOD First touch of Carboll stops pain. Special ingredients quickly draw out core of boil or carbuncle...

Get this remedy! Sufferers from PILES. PAZO OINTMENT

FRECKLE OINTMENT For red spots, freckles, etc. It does the work. $1.00 and 5c. PAZO OINTMENT Co., 2070 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

LADDIE

Laddie was a little boy with curly golden hair and big blue eyes. Of course when he grew to be big he hoped his curls would all be gone...

He was a baby now, but in another month he would be a boy enough to have his hair cut!

His cheeks were red and he was quite chubby and fat. Laddie lived out in the country on a farm and not far away were the railroad tracks...

Laddie was always there on the back porch, just as regularly as if he had to be there. Every time a train would pass Laddie would wave, and as he waved he would think of the people in the train...

"A surgeon," he said, "was giving us some of his war reminiscences at a Paris banquet. He had cut off a soldier's arm, he said, and afterwards he certified that the man was unfit for any more fighting...

Canada's Forest Area The total forest area of Canada is 1,300,000 square miles but only 28 per cent of this area carries any timber of merchantable size...

MOTHER! Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup."

"This is a malaria country, and I have taken a wagon-load of purgatives, salts, etc. This finally gave me stomach trouble in very bad form...

"We are now handling it in our store and I am selling it right along and recommend it to all of my customers...

The Count Lemuel Boiles, former national commander of the American Legion, told a New York reporter a story of his return from Paris...

"A surgeon," he said, "was giving us some of his war reminiscences at a Paris banquet. He had cut off a soldier's arm, he said, and afterwards he certified that the man was unfit for any more fighting...

Canada's Forest Area The total forest area of Canada is 1,300,000 square miles but only 28 per cent of this area carries any timber of merchantable size...

MOTHER! Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup."

"This is a malaria country, and I have taken a wagon-load of purgatives, salts, etc. This finally gave me stomach trouble in very bad form...

"We are now handling it in our store and I am selling it right along and recommend it to all of my customers...

The Count Lemuel Boiles, former national commander of the American Legion, told a New York reporter a story of his return from Paris...

"A surgeon," he said, "was giving us some of his war reminiscences at a Paris banquet. He had cut off a soldier's arm, he said, and afterwards he certified that the man was unfit for any more fighting...

Canada's Forest Area The total forest area of Canada is 1,300,000 square miles but only 28 per cent of this area carries any timber of merchantable size...

MOTHER! Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup."

"This is a malaria country, and I have taken a wagon-load of purgatives, salts, etc. This finally gave me stomach trouble in very bad form...

"We are now handling it in our store and I am selling it right along and recommend it to all of my customers...

The Count Lemuel Boiles, former national commander of the American Legion, told a New York reporter a story of his return from Paris...

"A surgeon," he said, "was giving us some of his war reminiscences at a Paris banquet. He had cut off a soldier's arm, he said, and afterwards he certified that the man was unfit for any more fighting...

Canada's Forest Area The total forest area of Canada is 1,300,000 square miles but only 28 per cent of this area carries any timber of merchantable size...

MOTHER! Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup."

"This is a malaria country, and I have taken a wagon-load of purgatives, salts, etc. This finally gave me stomach trouble in very bad form...

Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for Colds Headache Neuritis Lumbago Pain Neuralgia Toothache Rheumatism

DOES NOT AFFECT THE HEART

Safe Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions. Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

"Ship of the Desert" A huge automobile designed by a German engineer for desert travel would be a veritable four-storied desert ship, carrying 150 passengers and having two Diesel engines, a wireless room, de luxe cabins, baggage room and a promenade deck.

What Is It? The changing trend of the times and customs is reflected in the children and a casual question of the younger set brings it to notice...

Babies are merely little domestic squalls that cause men to walk the floor at night.

PEXEL is the quickest way to get jelly like this

PEXEL will surprise you with its speed in making jelly. It never fails. What's more, repays 30c it costs—more jelly because it cuts down boiling time, saves fuel...

PEXEL is a 100% pure-fruit product. Tasteless, colorless, odorless. A powder, not a liquid. Keeps indefinitely.

Get Pexel at your grocer's. Recipe booklet with complete recipes and accurate tables in each package. 30c. The Pexel Company, Chicago, Ill.

Entertain on Trains

Patrons of a Paris subway line are enjoying picture shows as the trains speed through the tubes. Four magic lanterns have been installed in each car, two on each side, and the views are projected on the dark walls of the subway...

STOP THAT ITCHING

Use Blue Star Soap, then apply Blue Star Cream for Eczema, itch, teller, ringworm, poison oak, dandruff, children's sores, cracked hands, sore feet and most forms of itching skin diseases. It kills germs, stops itching, usually restoring the skin to health. Soap, 25c. Blue Star Cream, $1.00. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Antique Hygiene

The good old days were those when a woman, after she had reached home from a walk, would hunt up the whiskbroom and industriously brush the dust out of the hem of her skirt...

Kill Rats Without Danger

A New Exterminator that is Wonderfully Effective yet Safe to Use! K-R-O is relatively harmless to human beings, livestock, dogs, cats, poultry, etc. It is guaranteed to kill rats and mice every time.

K-R-O KILLS RATS ONLY

A Fine Tonic. Builds You Up Prevents and Relieves Malaria-Chills and Fever-Dengue

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC

Standard for 50 Years

A Fine Tonic. Builds You Up Prevents and Relieves Malaria-Chills and Fever-Dengue

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC

Standard for 50 Years

A Fine Tonic. Builds You Up Prevents and Relieves Malaria-Chills and Fever-Dengue

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

By F. O. Alexander

Framed

BILL BOOSTER SAYS

The Comic Strip

MICKIE, THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

By Charles Sughtro

A Sticker

Our Pet Peeve

A Fickle Dame

Supplement to the Sanderson Times, Friday, Oct. 12, 1923.

New Tennis Court

Two cement tennis courts furnished the Sanderson School by the County and the School Board will be completed this Saturday evening.

With the completion of the tennis courts another sport will be added to the baseball, volley ball and football, already enjoyed in by a large number of students.

Mrs. P. F. Robertson visited her daughter, Mrs. Jack Reinke in San Antonio this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sessions came in Monday from the Pacific Coast where they have been this summer.

Tom Mansfield left the latter part of last week for Uvalde and San Antonio where he will visit relatives.

Christmas Cards: Inspect our line of Christmas cards before you buy elsewhere.

C. A. Moreland, local manager for the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. spent this week in Fort Worth visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Griffith are the proud parents of a son born to them in San Antonio last Friday.

Mrs. Chas. W. Brown left Monday for El Paso to visit Mr. Brown, who is in Hotel Dieu.

Mrs. F. H. Tibbot and son were visitors in El Paso this week.

Save money and keep it at home. Let us do that next job of printing for you. - The Times.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Slover of Alpine were weekend visitors here with relatives.

Mrs. P. E. Sturman visited Mrs. J. B. Smith in San Antonio this week.

Mrs. W. H. Savage and son have returned from San Antonio where they spent the past week.

Ray Caldwell visited his wife in El Paso this week.

Phone the Sanderson Times any news you know. Phone 39.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Turk were in town this week from their ranch near Dryden.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins were in town this week from their ranch. Mr. Higgins many friends are glad to know he is able to be around again.

EDDIE, THE AD MAN

OUR LITTLE WASTY ADS ARE DOING THE BUSINESS - ONLY YESTERDAY A LADY RAN AN AD "DIAMOND BROOD FOR SALE" AND LAST NIGHT BURGLARS BROKE INTO HER HOUSE AND STOLE IT - DON'T TELL ME THAT EVERYBODY DON'T READ THE WASTY ADS!

Funny Guys

SING, WHAT HO! A MODEL MATE IS HUSBAND RUFUS HOOPSIAKE. HE NEVER TELLS THE LITTLE WIFE JUST HOW TO FRY THE BEEFSTEAK.

LEAPS AND BOUNDS

"You say you are growing old by leaps and bounds? Nonsense, man. Well, I'm out most of the time crossing streets and it's only by leaps and bounds I can expect to reach old age."

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

On Sundays when I go to church And hear the organ music roll I feel such lovely shivers creep All down the back-bone of my soul!

The Clancy Kids

S. O. No. 12 We Should Say

THE FEATHERHEADS

By Osborne

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics.

For Old Sores Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh

KILL-A-WORM GUARANTEED TO KILL SCREW WORMS 30¢ SOLD EVERYWHERE 60¢

Ride the Interurban FROM Houston to Galveston Every Hour on the Hour

Small Wonder Hubby Didn't Place Author

Willerton, whose life is given to the study of books, has a wife who never reads at all.

"I took down a book this morning by an author named Volvy," she said. "Is he considered a good writer?"

And the Bass Got Away Jack Boyer hooked a bass that was all of 18 inches long at Mondota, Calif.

CAN NOW DO ANY WORK

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Denison, Texas—"I think there is no tonic equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and the Pills for Constipation.

in the future, I can do any kind of work now and when women ask me what has helped me I recommend your medicines. I will answer any letters I receive asking about them."

AFTER SHAVING USE: DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

NOVEL NOTE IN NEW LINGERIE; PLAIN OR PRINT VELVET IS O. K.

Lingerie That is Different.

SEEING that it is an age of gay print fabrics, with lace everywhere so lavishly present, it is not surprising that milady's lingerie should have yielded to the persuasion of these alluring themes.

Not only is black lace introduced in pastel lingerie, but it is employed on black undergarments as well, and black lingerie is really very smart at this moment.

It seems that novelty has entered the lingerie realm not only as to materials employed and new colorings, but fads and fancies which have to do with the styling of gowns and chemises are also very much in evidence.

To nightrobes especially unique styling is given. Among novelties are gowns with simulated surplice fastenings, the lace edging and insertion being inset diagonally.

solid tone or all-over patterned, it bespeaks the leading mode for most any hour of the day or after six o'clock. The distinction is made not so much in the velvets themselves, as in their styling.

At a glance, the models in the picture bespeak their intention for dressy day-time wear. Note the charm of the yoke lines which are featured both at neckline and neckline of the dress to the left, also the smartly uneven circular-cut hemline.

Competing with frocks in solid toned velvets are printed types of which the one in the picture to the right is a representative type. It is most wonderfully attractive in the now-so-fashionable warm brown tones.

Dressy Gowns for Day Wear.

There is no need to question whether to wear or not to wear velvet during the coming months, for the mode has definitely settled the matter. As to whether this new velvet gown or gowns, for every woman is sure to feel the urge of buying more than one, be plain or printed, that is entirely a matter of choice, for fashion sponsors one as much as the other.

other equally as fetching colorings. An outstanding favorite among velvet prints is that of the ever-pleasing black and white combination. Black spotted with white or with a silvery shadowy white patterning is among prints most liked.

Says He Had Taken a Wagon-Load of Physics

"In November, 1920, I wrote you for advice as to the use of Milks Emulsion. I had been bothered with my bowels for a long time.

"This is a malaria country, and I have taken a wagon-load of purgatives, salts, etc. This finally gave me stomach trouble in very bad form, and I commenced to lose weight, and had no appetite. My tongue became so coated that it cracked open.

Yours truly, W. A. CLUCK, Mgr. Globe Mercantile Co., Greetway, Ark.

The Count

Lemuel Boiles, former national commander of the American Legion, told a New York reporter a story of his return from Paris.

"A surgeon," he said, "was giving us some of his war reminiscences at a Paris banquet. He had cut off a soldier's arm, he said, and afterwards he certified that the man was unfit for any more fighting.

Canada's Forest Area The total forest area of Canada is 1,200,000 square miles, or only 38 per cent of this area carries any timber of merchantable size which is presently accessible or likely to become accessible for many years.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup."

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic For Pale, Delicate Women and Children. 60c

PATENTS

obtained and trademarks and copyrights registered.

HARDWAY & CATHEY Bankers Mortgage Bldg., Houston, Tex.

BOILS RIDED FOR GOOD First touch of Carboll soap pain. Special ingredients quickly draw out core of boil or carbuncle. Lancing unnecessary. Carboll prevents spreading. Get today from druggist. Or send 50c to Spurluck-Neal Co., Fairville, Tenn.

Get this remedy! Sufferers from PILES PAZO OINTMENT

GRECKLE OINTMENT Be well satisfied. It does the work. $1.00 and $2.00. Get this from Spurluck-Neal Co., Fairville, Tenn. Or send 50c to Spurluck-Neal Co., Fairville, Tenn.

LADDIE

Laddie was a little boy with curly golden hair and big blue eyes.

He was a baby now, but in another month he would be a boy enough to have his hair cut!

Laddie lived out in the country on a farm and not far away were the railroad tracks.

How Laddie did love to see the great long trains go rushing by and the curling blue smoke coming from the engine.

Laddie was always there on the back porch, just as regularly as if he had to be there.

Every time a train would pass Laddie would wave, and as he waved he would think of the people in the train and how they would go on and on into wonderful parts of the land—new parts he had never seen.

Every Time a Train Would Pass Laddie Would Wave.

train notice him, for he thought they were so exciting—those people in the trains—going off on adventures.

Now one day he was sitting on the back porch, for it was almost time for the twelve o'clock train to pass.

He had been up since early morning and he had been working with his little tool chest.

It was not quite noon, and Laddie was waiting.

"I feel so sleepy," he said to himself. "I don't know whether I'll ever be able to wave to the twelve o'clock train."

"Laddie, Laddie," said a voice again, and a man jumped down from the engine of the train.

"I'm the engine driver," he said, "and I've often seen you waving to the twelve o'clock train.

"Jump aboard, for I know you long to see the world. I'll show you a part of it—that is I will show you a part of it with the assistance of my powerful engine."

He picked Laddie up and he sat by the window of the engine cab.

They went along the country so quickly that Laddie wished he had hundreds of pairs of eyes.

He saw farm houses just like his, and yet a little different. He saw cows, and they seemed to be so tired. They hardly even noticed the train.

"They don't care for the world much," thought Laddie.

"They like a world of grass," said the engine driver after Laddie had expressed his thought aloud.

"They passed goats and pigs and horses. They saw children who waved to the train and they saw fields and hills and valleys.

"We'll send you back by the six o'clock train which passes this one farther along," said the engine driver.

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for Colds, Headache, Neuritis, Lumbago, Pain, Neuralgia, Toothache, Rheumatism

DOES NOT AFFECT THE HEART

Safe Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions. Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets. Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

"Ship of the Desert" A huge automobile designed by a German engineer for desert travel would be a veritable four-storied desert ship, carrying 150 passengers and having two Diesel engines, a wireless room, de luxe cabins, baggage room and a promenade deck.

What is it? The changing trend of the times and customs is reflected in the children and a casual question of the younger set brings it to notice.

PEXEL is the quickest way to get jelly like this

PEXEL will surprise you with its speed in making jelly. It never fails. What's more, repays 30c it costs—more jelly because it cuts down boiling time, saves fuel. Fruit juice, sugar and flavor aren't boiled off as by the old-fashioned way. Jelly sets as soon as it cools.

PEXEL is a 100% pure-fruit product. Tasteless, colorless, odorless. A powder, not a liquid. Keeps indefinitely. Get Pexel at your grocer's. Recipe booklet with complete recipes and accurate tables in each package. 30c. The Pexel Company, Chicago, Ill.

Entertain on Trains

Patrons of a Paris subway line are enjoying picture shows as the trains speed through the tubes. Four magic lanterns have been installed in each car, two on each side, and the views are projected on the dark walls of the subway. Advertisements, pictures of celebrities and other features are shown. The lanterns operate automatically, and the show begins as soon as a train leaves the station.

STOP THAT ITCHING

Use Blue Star Soap. Also apply Blue Star Remedy for Eczema, Itch, Tetter, ringworm, poison oak, dandruff, children's sores, cracked hands, sore feet and most forms of itching skin diseases. It kills germs, stops itching, usually restoring the skin to health. Soap, 25c; Blue Star Remedy, $1.00. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Antique Hygiene

The good old days were those when a woman, after she had reached home from a walk, would hunt up the whiskbroom and industriously brush the dust out of the hem of her skirt.—Louisville Times.

Kill Rats Without Danger

A New Exterminator that is Wonderfully Effective yet Safe to Use! K-R-O is relatively harmless to human beings, livestock, dogs, cats, poultry, yet is guaranteed to kill rats and mice every time. Avoid Dangerous Poisons K-R-O does not contain arsenic, phosphorus, barium carbonate or any other deadly poison. Its active ingredient is equal as recommended by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in their latest bulletin on "Rat Control."

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC A Fine Tonic. Builds You Up Prevents and Relieves Malaria-Chills and Fever-Dengue

A MESSAGE TO UNEMPLOYED SCHOOL TEACHERS.

We have an unusual proposition to offer teachers who are unable to get a school this term. Your literary qualifications fit you admirably to qualify for a business position. Large business concerns when calling for help invariably ask us to recommend some one who has a good literary foundation such as your teachers training has given you. You can finish a course under our new plan in half the time required formerly. A few short weeks and a very few dollars will place you on some substantial business concern's pay roll. To those who want to continue teaching why not let us prepare you for commercial teaching. Read the following letter which explains itself:

Bienville Parish Schools
E. H. Fisher, Supt.
Arcadia, La.
September 25, 1928.
Tyler Commercial College,
Tyler, Texas.
Gentlemen:

Can you put me in touch with a man or woman for the commercial department here at Arcadia? They should have three years of college work at least. Would want someone who could teach typewriting, shorthand and bookkeeping.

Yours very truly,
E. H. FISHER.

There seem to be many more teachers than there are public schools while in business or as commercial teachers there are many more openings than there are young people prepared to fill them.

Write your name and address below and mail to us quickly. We cannot extend this unusual offer to more than one hundred young people at this time.

Name _____
Address _____
Special Plan
Tyler Commercial College,
Tyler, Texas.
(See editor of the Sanderson Times for scholarship.)

Notice Laundry Patrons.
In the future we will be responsible for missing articles in your laundry only when a list of the clothes is included in the bundle.
4t
O'Bryant Home Laundry.

THE SANDERSON TIMES
Official and Only Paper Published in Terrell County
$2 per year payable in advance
MRS. ADDIE LEE BOLING
Owner, Publisher and Editor
Entered as second class matter July 22nd, 1908, at the post office, Sanderson, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879

FOR SALE—About 350 head of good Rambouillet bucks for sale at $25 per head, 1 to 4 years old. See me at Fort Stockton. J. M. Montgomery. 6t

Laundry called for and delivered. Phone 37.
Cut your silk bills in half by using "Run-None." Empress Confectionery.

Our 3-Time Winners

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread Balloons

The World's Greatest Tire at any price.

GOODYEAR PATH-FINDER, highest value in a quality tire at a low price.

Our standard Goodyear service free with both.

Ferguson Motor Co.

Lincoln—Ford—Fordson
Phone 10

PRINCESS THEATRE
All Hands on Deck!

—for the entertainment "thrill of a lifetime!" Eighteen months in the making. Over six months on Broadway at $2 top. Now the colorful ship that wrote the most romantic chapter in American naval history comes to anchor in YOUR TOWN on its triumphant cruise. There's a strong, tender romance—the thunder of battle—roars of rollicking humor. With a merry crew of big names that GUARANTEES the great things promised by such a story.

A James Cruze Production,
A Paramount Picture

"Old Ironsides"
Saturday and Monday,
October 13 and 15.

Realism!

WITH Stewart-Warner you not only bear the artist—you feel the very presence of the speaker, the singer, the comedian, the orchestra! You are conscious of the personality of the individual!

WHY, you have the impulse to reach out and touch the entertainer! It is as if you were in the very room with him! And with Stewart-Warner you ARE! Never has radio been so nearly human! So Realistic!

COME, see and hear for yourself. Words cannot describe this thrilling new realism. Or let us install a radio in your own home for a FREE TRIAL! [Ask for our folder explaining Stewart-Warner REALISM!]

$25 down!
Balance in 10 Months

—for the model shown above, with built-in loud speaker. Price $112.00 INSTALLED, but without tubes. Model 901 is the same as Model 902, without the built-in loud speaker, INSTALLED price $76.00, without tubes.

you get light socket portable radio. All parts shielded. Beautiful because more cabinet that cannot be scratched. A child can operate it! Includes attachment that gives greater tone value to your phonograph records. Plug in, tune in, listen... Realism!

and your purchase of a Stewart-Warner radio entitles you to a double-socket base-board outlet anywhere in the house WITHOUT CHARGE! One socket for radio, the other for whatever you choose.

Golden Crust - Bread -

The Bread with real taste, and strength-building ingredients put into it in the making and the baking.
BREEDING'S BAKERY

Highway Lunch Room
Short Orders a Speciality
A Good Place to Eat

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS FOR STATE ROAD AND BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION.

Sealed proposals addressed to the State Highway Engineer of Texas, for the improvement of that part of State Highway No. 82, covered by S. A. P. 780 in Terrell County, will be received at the office of the State Highway Engineer, at Austin, Texas, until 10 o'clock A. M., October 15th, 1928, and then publicly opened and read.

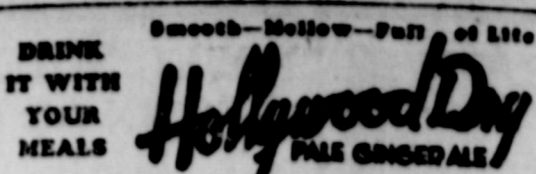

Work consists of construction of grading and drainage structures between Sanderson and Pecos County line known as Big Hill Job, a distance of 1.425 miles.

Time for completion to be 150 working days. Detailed plans and specifications of the work may be seen for examination, and information may be obtained at the office of John Stovell, Resident Engineer, at Sanderson, Texas, and at the office of the State Highway Department, State Office

ANNOUNCEMENT COLUMN.

District $15.00
County $10.00
Precinct, Commissioner, Justice of the Peace, Constable... $5.00
Terms: Strictly cash in advance. No announcement inserted unless cash accompanies same. Announcements inserted in order in which fees are paid at office.

For Sheriff and Tax Collector
LEE A. COOK.
W. J. BANNER.
For County and District Clerk:
LUELLA LEMONS.
for Re-Election.
E. F. HOWARD.
For Tax Assessor:
JIM NANCE.
FRED YEATES.
FOR RE-ELECTION
For County Treasurer:
FRANK K. HARRELL.
For Re-Election
For County Attorney:
ALFRED E. CREIGH JR.
J. CALVIN STANSELL,
Re-Election.
For County Judge:
G. J. HENSHAW.
for Re-Election.
For Justice of the Peace Precinct No. 1:
HENRY GATES.

Bottled in Bond

Your Surety of Quality

Empress Confectionery

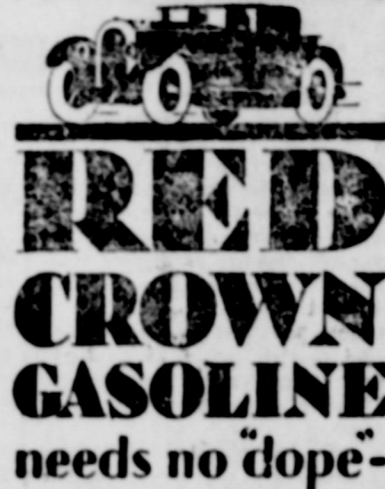

Clyde Mills Commission Co.

I have for sale exclusively quite a number of ranches at a bargain. Get your finances ready, make your dates, and rest assured some one else will not get ahead of you.

Also live stock of all kinds at all times.

Don't forget "Buys anything any time," "Sells everything every time."

ANTI-KNOCK

RED CROWN GASOLINE needs no "dope"

PASOTEX PETROLEUM COMPANY

Christian Science Society.
Christian Science services are held each Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Masonic Hall. The public is cordially invited.

FOR SALE—A bunch of bills, healthy range raised stock. One to three years of age. Price $15. Howard Johnson, Dryden, Texas.

Church of Christ

Isa 2:2, speaks of the Lord's House and declares that it will be established.

House of God (Isa. 2:2) Points Fulfilled.

1. Last days (Acts 2:16, 17, Joel 2)
 2. Law goes forth (Acts 2:28)
 3. Many nations there (Acts 2:5)
 4. Many go into House (church) of the Lord (Acts 2:41)
- Another Great Prophet speaks, Lk. 24:46, 47. Points Fulfilled.
1. Repentance (Acts 2:38)
 2. Remission of sins (Acts 2:38)
 3. Preached in His name (Acts 2:38)
 4. Among all nations (Acts 2:5)
 5. Beginning at Jerusalem (Acts 2:1)
- This is no puzzle. See how many points are missed in Isa 2:2, 3 and Lk 24:26, 47 associated with the second chapter of Acts.

Official Statement Of The Financial Condition of the Sanderson State Bank

at Sanderson, State of Texas, at the close of business on the 3rd day of October, 1928, published in the SANDERSON TIMES, a newspaper printed and published at Sanderson, State of Texas on the 12th day of October, 1928

RESOURCES
Loans and Discounts, undoubtedly good on personal or collateral security	$216,706.92
Loans secured by Real Estate, worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon	000.00
Overdrafts, undoubtedly good	2,700.83
Bonds, Stocks and other securities	63,176.70
Customers bonds held for safekeeping	000.00
Real Estate (Banking House)	5,048.00
Other Real Estate	000.00
Furniture and Fixtures	3,821.17
Cash on hand	11,436.72
Due from approved reserve agents	207,366.27
Due from other banks and bankers, subject to check on demand	000.00
Interest in Dep. Guaranty Fund	000.00
Assessment depositors guaranty fund	000.00
Acceptances and bills of exchange undoubtedly good	101.99
Other Resources	101.99
Total	$628,169.63

LIABILITIES.
Capital Stock paid in	$ 50,000.00
Certified Surplus Fund	25,000.00
Other Surplus Fund	10,000.00
Undivided Profits, net	5,898.02
Dividends Unpaid	000.00
Due to Banks and Bankers, subject to check, net	000.00
Individual Deposits, subject to check	412,325.81
Time Certificates of Deposit	26,222.63
Public Funds on Deposit
State $ 000.00
City 77,720.25	Total 90,920.25
School 19,207.04
Cashier's Checks Outstanding	2,525.87
Bills Payable $000.00
Total	000.00
Rediscunts $000.00
Customers' Bonds deposited for safekeeping	000.00
Other Liabilities	000.00
Total	$628,169.63

STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF TERRELL } We, Joe Kerr as president, and H. R. Laurence, as cashier of said bank, each of us do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 9th day of Oct. A. D. nineteen hundred and twenty eight.
(Seal).
Correct Attest—
L. H. Lomonot,
Notary Public, Terrell County, Texas.
Alexander Mitchell
Cecil H. Arvin
James Kerr } Directors

You will Enjoy

Our meats. Tender as can be, tasty and richly flavored, is the meat that you order from us.

"YOUR BUSINESS APPRECIATED"

Sanderson Market

JACK GRAY, MGR.

And now, a Million Chevrolets Since Jan 1st

First Choice of the Nation for 1928

- The Touring $495
- The Coach $585
- The Coupe $595
- The 4 Door $675
- The Convertible Sport Cabriolet $695
- The Special $715
- Utility Truck $520
- Light Delivery $375

Sweeping month after month to even more spectacular heights of popularity—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet has been the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry! And never was a success more speedily deserved—for the Bigger and Better Chevrolet embodies fourteen years of continuous progress in the building of quality automobiles! See this sensational car today!

Casner & McKnight Motor Co.
QUALITY AT LOW COST