Rex Beach Master-piece Talkie Hit

Epochal days in development of a great industry in the virgin territory of Alaska are depicted in "The Silver Horde," Radio Pictures' two-fisted romantic drama, which opens April 2nd at the Princess Theatre.

The terrific struggle of Rex Beach's famous characters is brought for the first time to the talking screen in a gripping and fascinating manner with Evelyn Brent, Louis Wolheim, Joel McCrea, Raymond Hatton, Jean Arthur, Blanche Sweet and Gavin Gordon in the leading roles.

Filmed in Alaska, above the clouds in snow-capped mountains, along trap-lined rivers and below the surface of salmon-infested waters, the action is sweeping in its magnitude.

Every phase of the salmon industry, from the time the fish start their "runs" to spawning groups to the time they emerge from canneries in tins, is shown as a background to one of the most colorful red-blooded romances of modern fiction.

The production was directed by George Archainbaud and in addition to those named includes in the cast Purnell Pratt, William Davidson, Ivan Linow and hundreds of others.

JUNIORS HAVE A SOCIAL

The junior department of the Sunday school of the First Methodist church had a delightful social at the parsonage last Friday evening. Ice cream and cake was served and games were played.

Under the superintendency of Mrs. F. S. Garrison, assisted by Miss Bessie Stradley this department has doubled in attendance this year. The junior classes of this Sunday school are strictly classified and maintain the regular required standard of junior work.

Newsy Notes From The High School

The question to be debated at Interscholastic League this year is: Resolved, That a substitute for the Jury System Should Be Adopted. Five students including Opal Shelton, Mattierue Newton, D. C. Thrift, Bess McAdams, and H. D. Johnson make up the Sanderson High School debating team. This group, under the direction of Miss Margaret Martin, has been studying and working on debating and its procedure since the early part of the year, and their points of argument show that they have made great progress in that line of work.

Arrangements are now being made with the debating teams of the schools of such cities as San Antonio, Del Rio, Austin, Temple, Big Springs, Abilene and Lamesa for dates when our team can debate with them. This tour is to be made sometime in the near future and will prove of much value to the contestants in that it affords them a great deal of practice, thus making them much better prepared for the final debates of the League meet.

Thursday afternoon, March 5, being the regular meeting time of the Sanderson Parent Teacher Association the organization met at four o'clock at the High School Auditorium. On account of illness Mrs. Goldwire, president, and Mrs. Wilkinson, vice-president, were unable to be present. In their absence, Mrs. Stuckey presided at the meeting.

Bess McAdams and Opal Shelton discussed some of the points on both the negative and the affirmative side of the question of adopting a substitute for the jury system, which is to be the subject for interscholastic league debates this year.

These being the only numbers on program, business matters were brought before the house. The minutes of both last executive board meetings and the P. T. A. meeting were read by Mrs. Johnson, secretary. A report was made by Mrs. Druce in regard to our financial status. At the next regular meeting in April new officers are to be elected. In view of this fact, a nomination committee is to be appointed before that time, and this committee will make their report at the next meeting, and their nominees voted on by the group.

Tuesday, March 17, was set aside as Parents' Day at school. On that day parents are to visit school and observe the work and progress their children are making in school.

A district convention of P. T. A. is to be held in Pecos the 7th, 8th and 9th of April. Volunteers to attend this meeting were called for, but as there was no favorable response it was decided to wait until the next meeting to make further arrangements for a delegate at this meeting.

There being no further business to be discussed, the meet adjourned.

My lease on The Sanderson Times with Addie Lee Lemons expires April 1st. All parties owing accounts please settle with me before the above date.

Big Oil Excitement In Terrell County

This county is forging to the front fastly along the line of oil and gas developments in spite of the financial depression and the under consumption of petroleum caused by the recent finding of petroleum in a play in East Texas that beats them all, and the importation from foreign countries, but one must bear in mind that the entire Universe is burning more petroleum and its by-products than ever before, and using them in many lines connected and not connected with the industry. It will only be a matter of a very short period of time until the industry will adjust itself and the liquid gold will again become more valuable than ever before.

The Deed Records and the Oil and Gas Lease Records of this county reveals the fact that many of the major companies, independents, and people connected in the oil business have been taking a very active and interesting part in development and in the path of leasing and purchasing assignments of oil and gas leases, and in some instances purchasing a portion of the oil, gas, and even other mineral rights under land over practically every portion of the county, while our reporter was out of town in a hospital, and who has come home with a D. A. V. receipt.

The Burton-Bates Royalty Company of Siminole County, Oklahoma, recently purchased an undivided one fourth interest in 640 acres of land in Section No. 140 in Block D 10, T. C. Ry. Co., survey.

The Monarch Royalty Corporation and many other Royalty Corporations have already purchased Royalties in Block D-10, T. C. Ry. Co., including the Peerless Oil & Gas Company of Penn., who also has quite a number of oil and gas leases as well as other large oil companies. Some of the leading geologists of this day and time have oil and gas leases in this block, namely: George A. Kroenlien, Alfred Cummins, Carl Aune, F. B. Crawley and others.

Charles Frisch recently purchased one forty-sixth of one-eighth of land owner's royalty interest in all of the oil, gas, and other minerals in sections 4, 6, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, and 30 in Block D-10 T. C. Ry. Co., survey.

Charles H. Hoffman recently purchased one sixty-fourth of one-eighth of land owner's royalty in sections 28 and 26 in Block D-10 T. C. Ry. Co. survey, and in sections 10, 40, 16, 24, 8, and 2 in Block D-9 T. C. Ry. Co. survey.

J. H. Tobbet recently purchased one sixty-fourth of one-eighth of land owner's royalty interest in sections 28, 26, and 10 in Block D-10 T. C. Ry. Co. survey.

York Wilson recently purchased one sixty-fourth of one-eighth of land owner's one-eighth royalty interest in sections 32, 22, and 8 in Block D-10 T. C. Ry. Co. survey, and sections 26, West one-half of 23, West one-half of 25 in Block D-10 T. C. Ry. Co. survey, and 62 in Block A2, G. H. & S. A. Ry. Co. survey.

Many people in the States of Texas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma who are interested in the oil business have heretofore purchased land in fee in various portions of the Lloyd Oil Corporation of Texas, told J. Calvin Stansell back in 1925 when Mr. Stansell hauled him over the entire country that Blocks D-10 T. C. Ry. Co. and Block 153 T. & St. Ry. Co. survey, and Block A-2, G. H. & S. A. Ry. Co. survey, and Block D-9 T. C. Ry. Co. survey would some future day be the leading oil and gas fields of the world. A large number of other and reliable geologists are of the same opinion, namely: Arick, Remington, Dudley, Lord, Lloyd, Aune, Keeler, Hill, Cummins, Kroenlien, Freed, Ott, Reynolds, and others.

High School Band Concert Last Friday

The High School Band concert given last Friday at the High School Auditorium was a marvelous revelation of the rapid progress of the boys under the directorship of Professor Sandifer. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance.

The dance act put on featuring Mr. Allen Owen brought the house to repeated encores.

Those in attendance noted the fact that several band numbers were of a much more difficult class than any thing heretofore played.

All those in attendance were outspoken in their commendation to both the director, and the studios application of the boys as revealed in their various musical instruments.

May 15, has been set as the date on which our Chautauqua program will begin. This program will be given at the High School Auditorium by the same company that was here last year, the C. Benjamin Franklin Company of the Associated Chautauquas of America. A schedule of the program has not yet been received, but as soon as it is, it will be published.

Tuesday, March 17 Is Parents Day

Tuesday, March 17, was set aside at the last meeting of the Parent Teacher Association as Parents' Day at the school. On that day particularly, every parent is cordially invited to visit the different departments of the school and observe the work and progress that is being made not only by his own child but every child in school.

By means of these visits in our school system which bring about a closer relationship between parents, teachers and pupils, confidence and a better spirit of co-operation is established, and an opportunity is given to discuss and interpret the practices of our school program.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Creigh Jr. have returned from Roncerverte West Va., where they had been called by the illness and death of Alfred E. Creigh Sr. Mr. Creigh's father, a lumber manufacturer, had been in poor health for some time.

Allen Announces For School Trustee

I have been a citizen and tax payer of Terrell county seventeen years. Recently I purchased a home in Sanderson and shall move to town before another school session to remain here until all my children graduate from high school. The interests of the Sanderson schools shall be my interests for years to come.

I am announcing for trustee for the coming election which was announced in last weeks issue of the Sanderson Times.

Whether elected to this position or not I shall continue to have a vital interest in the affairs of the school. Your support at the coming election will be appreciated.

Posture While Sleeping Is Important

One Picture Shows Bad Sleeping Posture Produced by Poor Bed Springs, the Other How Much Better It is to Lie on Firm, Level Springs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)—WNU Service.

Good posture should be maintained during the whole of the twenty-four hours, in standing, sitting, walking, sleeping, working, and playing. Extension workers of the United States Department of Agriculture and state agricultural colleges are constantly showing farm women through home demonstration clubs, the effects of good and bad posture, and the points that characterize good posture at any occupation.

It may be thought that because one knows nothing about what is going on during the hours devoted to sleep, and because the body is in a relaxed state, that posture while sleeping has no connection with posture during the waking hours. When it is realized, however, that seven or eight hours out of every twenty-four are usually spent sleeping or lying on a bed, and

Evening Story for the Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Whenever Mr. Crow was feeling sad and mournful, as he sometimes felt, Mrs. Crow always treated him as though he were a child crow instead of a grownup Mr. Crow.

"They still put the scarecrows in their fields; they still do," he said. "You mean those creatures made out of sticks and things which are dressed up like men with guns, eh?" asked Mrs. Crow.

"Yes, they are called scarecrows," said Mr. Crow. "They are put in the fields to scare away the crows, and that is why they have such a name—you see—scarecrows, or let us scare the crows."

"It's foolish of them," said Mrs. Crow. "We may not be perfect but we have our good points."

that no other occupation of the twenty-four hours keeps a person in one place for any period as long as this, the importance of sleeping in a good position, which will improve the posture in the daytime, is quite easily perceptible.

Sagging bed springs can do a great deal of harm. Whether the person sleeping on them lies on the back on the side, the tendency is to produce an unnatural curve in the spine, and if the same position is always maintained, this may become permanent. The shoulders and head are also thrown out of position on a bed that sinks down in the middle, or that causes one unconsciously to twist about in order to be comfortable. Another less direct effect of bed springs on bodily posture is caused by fatigue. One does not rest well in an uncomfortable position, and when the muscles and joints are tired, posture is affected unconsciously.

"Yes," said Mr. Crow, "we have. It is true that we do steal the grain and corn."

"We love corn—all crows do."

"And many of us are thieves—in fact, most of us are thieves, I believe. "But we must eat and we must live, and if we can't go to the markets and put down pennies, and nickels, and dimes, and quarters for our food, we just have to take it as we can. "We can't shop as people can. We have no money, no pocketbooks, no bank accounts at our disposal. "The squirrels have savings banks where they save nuts as children do their pennies."

"Yes," Agreed Mrs. Crow.

"But we are without all these things. Nor can we grow food as the farmer can do."

"So it makes me sad to hear myself complained of all the time. As you have said, we have our good points."

"Although I will admit that our family does steal and that we do rob the farmer of some goodies—still the harm we do doesn't half come up to the good we do."

"We eat grubs and different kinds of worms which would destroy the corn, and we really save the crops for the farmer many, many times."

"Yes," agreed Mrs. Crow, "what you say is true. And I do wish you would take some comfort knowing that you have good points."

"And, too, you are such a good mate, and so kind to the children, that I think everything of you."

"Caw, caw," said Mr. Crow. "That is indeed pleasant to hear. Caw, caw, I think that is fine."

So Mrs. Crow comforted him a great deal, and they spent a lovely afternoon talking about their good points.

It was a fine subject and they enjoyed it immensely. And I can understand that, can't you?

Steamed Pudding Substantial Dessert

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)—WNU Service.

On winter days a steamed pudding often appeals to those members of the household who like a substantial dessert. For most people hot puddings are most enjoyable when the preceding part of the meal has not been too filling. They should not be planned for the end of a rich, heavy dinner. The following recipe for steamed cranberry pudding is from the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture:

2 cups cranberries 1/4 cup butter or 1 1/2 cups sifted soft-wheat flour 1/2 cup sugar 2 tsp. baking powder 2 eggs 1/4 tsp. salt 1/2 cup milk

Pick over, wash and dry the cranberries and roll them in two tablespoonfuls of the flour. Sift the rest of the flour with the baking powder and salt. Cream the fat, add the sugar and well-beaten eggs, and add to the dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Fold in the cranberries, turn into a buttered mold, cover, and steam for two hours. Serve hot with sauce made as follows:

1 cup sugar 2 cups cranberries 2 tbs. cornstarch 1/2 cup sugar 1/4 tsp. salt 2 or 4 tbs. butter 2 cups boiling water

Mix the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add two cups of boiling water, stir until thickened and cook for ten minutes in a double boiler. Meanwhile, cook the cranberries with one cup of water until soft. Press them through a fine sieve and add this pulp to the cornstarch mixture. Add the butter and serve hot over the hot cranberry pudding.

Cranberry pie is another delicious dessert. The crust should be prepared before the cranberries and other ingredients are put in.

3 cups cranberries 1 1/2 cups water 1/4 cup sugar 1 tbs. butter or 1 tbs. cornstarch other fat 1/4 tsp. salt Pastry

Wash and pick over the berries and discard any imperfect ones. Mix thoroughly the sugar, cornstarch, and salt, add the water and cook over direct heat for four minutes; then add the butter and cranberries, stir and cook the fruit for a few minutes. Pour into a partially baked crust and put alternate strips of thin pastry over the top of the berries. Bake about 20 minutes at 400 degrees Fahrenheit, or until the strips are lightly brown.

Save Unnecessary Steps in the Kitchen

In planning a kitchen arrangement, grouping utensils and equipment at the places where they will actually be used, will save many unnecessary steps and motions. Why walk ten feet across a kitchen and back again to get the bread knife if the bread box is kept in another part of the room?

Good Things for the Family to Eat

By NELLIE MAXWELL

"This world is a difficult world indeed. And people are hard to suit. For the man who plays the violin, it is a bore to the man with a fute."

Soups are enjoyed in any season. There is such a variety of canned soups from which to choose that the busy housewife or business woman may serve herself and family a different soup every day of the month.

The home prepared soups of fresh meat and bones with plenty of marrow are much more enjoyed when nicely prepared. Long, slow cooking, with meat and bones put on in cold water to draw out all the flavor, will give a most tasty and nourishing broth. Adding rice, barley, or vegetables of different kinds will vary the flavor as well as the enjoyment. To prepare and serve a good vegetable soup is an accomplishment which is worthy of praise.

Tons of American confections go to every part of the world. From America last year from June, 1929, to June, 1930, eighteen million pounds of candy was shipped. The world is growing conscious of the value of candy.

The scientists of the United States Naval Observatory who went to the Pacific island of Niuafoou to see the total eclipse of the sun have proved that lollipops are a valuable asset in gaining the confidence and help of savage tribes. Since money means nothing to such semi-barbaric people, candy buys their good will.

A box of candy is always a most appreciated gift from youth to very old age.

Peanut Brittle.—One may make candy in her own home; it is not much work nor does it take a great deal of skill to make the pan candies. Take a pound of peanuts, shell, remove the brown husks and roll with a rolling pin until the nuts are like coarse crumbs. Take one pound of sugar, place in a thick iron or heavy aluminum pan over heat and stir until the sugar is well melted, stirring well from the sides of the pan. Add the nut meats with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, mix well and pour onto a buttered baking sheet.

Creamy Fudge.—Place three cupfuls of sugar, one-fourth cupful of sirup, one-half cupful of milk, two squares of chocolate cut fine, in a saucepan and stir over a slow fire until the sugar is dissolved and the chocolate melted. Cover and cook one minute, remove the cover and cook without stirring until a soft ball is formed in cold water, 238 F. Add two tablespoonfuls of cooking oil, half a teaspoonful of salt, and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Set into cold water, cool until the mixture is barely warm, then beat until creamy and it loses its shine. Pour into well-buttered pans and mark off into squares.

Icing.—Into a double boiler place one and three-fourths cupfuls of sugar, add one-third of a cupful of boiling milk; when the sugar is dissolved add one teaspoonful of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, and the last thing, after adding two unbeaten whites of egg and beaten with an egg beater over hot water until the egg is slightly thick, add the lemon juice and baking powder after the saucepan is removed from the heat. When cool enough to spread add coconut and served on the cake.

Put a tablespoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of soda in an aluminum saucepan, cover with hot water and immerse your flat silver when needed cleaning. It will remove the tarnish in a few moments.

Oklahoma Oil

Several small oil fields existed in what was known as Indian territory, but it was not until the Bartlesville field was developed in 1903-4 and the building of the Prairie Oil and Gas company pipe line into that district—followed immediately by extension of the line to Chicago—that Oklahoma began to have a marked effect in oil production.

Fur Used Like Fabric on New Coats

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

As to fur or no fur on the spring coat, it is entirely a matter of preference. The fact that many of the smartest furs are as supple, as lightweight and as easy to manipulate as the fabrics they trim has accomplished wonders in doing away with the prejudice which may have existed with some in regard to fur trims in the balmy springtime and now they can be worn any time.

Indications are that there will be as many fur-trimmed coats seen this spring as unfurred. In order to be distinguished looking, however, the fur must be styled along entirely new and original lines. Smart in every detail is the fur-collared and cuffed coat which is here illustrated. Rita La Roy of Radio pictures, who poses for this illustration, wears this model with its wide cuffs and generous collar of beige lapin to perfection.

As to fur cuffs you never can tell these days where they will end and the sleeve begin. Nevertheless, regardless of the fact that most of the sleeve in this instance is fur, owing to the extreme thickness of the fur there is nothing bulky or ungainly about it. Notice the diagonal fastening of this coat, also the adroit seaming of the cloth.

Fashion is particularly kind to the woman who is apt one day to be in a mood to wear fur on her coat and the next day wishes her spring wrap were one of the new sort without an inch of fur on it. The problem has been worked out very cleverly via adjustable collars which are so fashioned that cunningly devised scarfs of the fat fur are made to be pulled through slots in the cloth, or perhaps the fur buttonholes, the same to be slipped over decorative buttons on the coat.

Which brings us to a vastly important subject, that of buttons on the new coats. Double-breasted coats which call attention to two rows of Big buttons are the "last word" for spring. Coats which button in a single row down the front are also good style, and will be worn by many this spring.

Was a Problem

"Mary Jane caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. G. G. McDowell, 4035 Wentworth Ave., So., Minneapolis, Minn. "She was listless, weak, had no appetite."

"She suffered a lot from colds until I began giving her California Fig Syrup. It made her strong, able to avoid colds; gave her a good appetite and digestion. She is the picture of health, now."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, weak, headachy, constipated babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. Bowels become regular with its use and remain that way.

CHILDREN NEED STORM-PROOF PLAY CLOTHES

This Suit Takes Place of Overcoat, Sweater and Leggings.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)—WNU Service.

The winter play suit illustrated was carried out in a new, shower-proof, wind-proof cotton fabric. The intention is to shut out wind and rain or snow so that a child dressed in one of these suits and galoshes can play out of doors in any weather. Several pattern companies have patterns that can be adapted to the special features of this play suit, which was designed by the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The straight collar fits snugly up to the neck. A soft knitted collar may be used equally well. The sleeves are straight, and have the width at the wrist confined by a loop and button. This is a good plan when a sweater is worn underneath as the close-knit wristband of the sweater will keep out wind.

Part of the fullness of the legs is taken out by a dart extending from the knee to the bottom. This leaves less bulk to be disposed of under the galoshes. Patch pockets with one corner turned down and caught by a button are placed near the waistline in a convenient position for the child. The upper edge of the pockets is cut on a slant so that child can get his hand into them easily.

A suit of this kind takes the place of an overcoat, sweater, and leggings.

Ernestine rose abruptly and went to her room to change her dress before the children returned to climb upon her.

The children came in, rosy and laughing from their walk, and crowded upon her. She loved to have them close.

"Has Mr. Todd been in, Molly?" "He's in the garden, ma'am," the maid replied.

Ernestine went out through the dining room windows, across the tiled west porch and paused at the garden steps, to stare. Will stood about fifty feet away from her, leaning against the corner of the garage, his hat off, his head tilted back and his eyes fixed on the one tree that stood on the lot, a tall narrow poplar tree.

Ernestine had never seen him look like this. The slight habitual twist of satire that had become set on his mouth was gone. His lips were relaxed and full, like a child's.

He gathered herself together with a spiritual gesture. She strengthened herself. Something was imminent, something was to befall them.

Thinking of the longing and the sorrow of his face, Ernestine forgot for the moment how but a short time ago she had loved her house and blessed her possessions.

She shook herself. This was nonsense. Because Will stared at a tree and a star she was invoking disaster. He had come in early and gone out in its garden to enjoy the evening, and the light had made him look wan.

Ernestine watched Will during the winter months that followed without making much headway in her efforts to understand him. His abstraction at times was so intense that he moved like a somnambulist.

But none of Ernestine's joy in her children could compensate for Will's strangeness. Sometimes he came out of his absorption and was feverishly bright and active.

Nevertheless, she began in a quiet snobtrusive way to spy upon him, being compelled by the need to know something more.

He came directly to her in her room, and his face was like a drunkard's, flushed and relaxed and happy.

"Will—where have you been? Why are you so strange?" she asked him. For answer he pressed his lips against her throat, he put her short dark hair back from her brow and stared at her, entranced with what he saw.

"I've done it, Ernestine." "What have you done?" He made a gesture with his fingers—a stroke in their air, either with brush or pencil.

"I've made something new and different. Something I've wanted a long time. I'll tell you about it some day, when I'm ready. But now, don't question me. Just love me. As you used to, Ernestine. Can't you come to me as you used to come? My love, and mine alone?"

The Office Was Empty and She Entered and Shut the Door Behind Her.

but the boy greeted her inquiry for Mr. Todd with such astonishment that she knew Will was seldom there.

"He comes in once a week or so and works all afternoon. He can do more work in an hour than anybody I ever saw. We keep them up, Mrs. Todd." "I'm sure you do," said Ernestine, smiling at him.

He had opened the old studio where he and John Poole had worked for over two years and he was working there now, nearly every afternoon and sometimes probably at night.

She thought she would ask him, but that evening when he came in she was just coming down the stairs with Elaine, naked, on her arm.

She stopped, in amazement, and stood poised on the stairs, the child on her arm, her simple house dress falling against her long limbs, and Will looked up at them with concentration, power in his eyes.

It was very late when he returned, but Ernestine was awake, waiting for him. He moved away from her. He was erect, triumphant, under the impulse of strong excitement.

"I've done it, Ernestine." "What have you done?" He made a gesture with his fingers—a stroke in their air, either with brush or pencil.

"I've made something new and different. Something I've wanted a long time. I'll tell you about it some day, when I'm ready. But now, don't question me. Just love me. As you used to, Ernestine. Can't you come to me as you used to come? My love, and mine alone?"

The light in the place was fine. A long window crossed the back of the room, and here was a slanted table and stool. Ernestine moved to this and calmly, deliberately, she began to hunt for Will's secret.

In the middle of the drawing board, on white rice paper planned down with tacks at the corners, was a sketch. Only a few strong lines in charcoal.

The outlines were clear and hard—the work had authority, fire, but nobody else had made a picture like this. Understanding filled her. Last night, Will had not loved her.

"No, no," she whispered. "That's morbid. It is I whom Will loves. It is only his way."

On the corner of the sheet, like a signature, were the round hard splashes of tears. Ernestine wept, too, standing there and looking at this new work and thinking of Will—and the Todd cats.

Roadside Market Is Gaining Popularity

Attractive Display, Steady Supply Requisite.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)—WNU Service.

A successful roadside market must front on a road with heavy traffic and must sell high-quality, fresh produce at fair prices, says Miss Caroline B. Sherman, associate agricultural economist of the United States Department of Agriculture.

That roadside markets have not invariably possessed these qualifications is attested by several investigations cited by Miss Sherman. She says, however: "Apparently the stage of mushroom growth in the roadside-market business as a whole has nearly passed. The time has come when farmers, as a group, are inclined to make a fairly careful study of the question before putting much time, money or energy into roadside markets."

Miss Sherman finds that the business of the better roadside markets is increasing. She cites as an example a study in Michigan in which many of the better markets reported increases of 10 to 15 per cent in volume of sales in the second year of business. Co-operative roadside markets also are reported as being successful in some localities.

To aid farmers who contemplate entering the roadside-market business, Miss Sherman has summarized the principal factors of success and of failure in Leaflet 68-L, entitled "Roadside Markets," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The leaflet contains a list of state publications which set forth the results of roadside-market investigations in specified localities and indicates the states in which state or self-regulation has been tried.

Important Advantages of Well Planned Garden

The farm garden can be made to produce more than $300 worth of vegetables each season, according to specialists in vegetable gardening of the Ohio State university. The farm garden produces vegetables for immediate consumption, and also for storage and for canning. One of the most important advantages of such a garden, however, is the fact that it will yield vegetables for immediate use, at the time when they are at their best.

Planning the garden is a most important phase of its management. One-fifth of an acre, properly planned and managed, will supply the needs of the average farm family. It is suggested that the garden be arranged in straight rows running north and south, and far enough apart to permit the use of a horse-drawn cultivator. Each plant in a north and south row receives the maximum of sunlight.

The rows should be arranged in the order of the dates of their planting so that on the maturing of an early season crop it may be replaced with another crop, and the entire garden kept in production throughout the season.

Fertilize Fruit Trees Shortly Before Bloom

Nitrogenous fertilizer applications for fruit trees should be made two to three weeks before bloom. The fertilizer does most good if it gets into the tissue of the tree early in the spring when it may influence the size of the leaves, the set of fruit, the length of shoot growth, and the development of fruit, says Prof. A. J. Heinicke of the New York state college of agriculture.

While the tree may absorb nitrogen even after the leaves and fruit has been formed, it is not always best to have too much available late in the growing season.

The new growth in a mature apple tree requires about one and one-half pounds of actual nitrogen in a year. About one-third of this is contained in the fruit crop, and the rest is used in the leaves and shoot growth. Much of the nitrogen in the leaves is recovered and used again the following year. The quantity of reserve nitrogen in the tree and soil varies from year to year, and the plant must depend more on fertilizer one year than another.

Agricultural Squibs

With the drought in mind provide a better watering system this year.

A well-grown chinchilla rabbit will weigh four pounds when eight weeks old.

It is a waste of time to plant trees or shrubs without fencing the plantings to keep out live stock.

In most parts of the country there is great need for increasing the acreage of the leguminous crops.

Cultivation to be effective against quack grass must be thorough, frequent, persistent, and properly timed.

Dig enough parsnips or oyster plants the first thaw to last for some time. It may freeze solid when you want them again.

FAMOUS Doctor's Way to move the Bowels

Do your bowels fail you occasionally? Are you a chronic sufferer from constipation and its ills? Then you will be interested to know of this method which makes the bowels help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell specialized on bowel ills. He treated thousands for constipation. The prescription he wrote so many times—which has been tested by 47 years' practice—can be had of any druggist today.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is a skillful compound of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other mild ingredients. Nothing in it to harm even a baby. Children like its taste. It acts gently, without griping or discomfort. So it is ideal for women or older people. But even the most robust man will find its action thorough, satisfying. The quick, certain benefits millions are securing from Syrup Pepsin proves a doctor knows what is best for the bowels.

Next time you feel bilious, head-achy, bloated, gassy, or constipated take some Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and see how fine you feel the next day—and for days to come!

Muddled

Jennie Lee of Los Angeles declares it must all be a matter of environment. For instance, on a visit to Gilman Hot Springs she overheard a young man say to his girl friend: "I'm going over and take a mud bath and after that we'll go for a stroll in the moonlight. Okay?"

"Stroll with you after your mud bath?" repeated the girl, "now don't get sentimental."

No Amateur Did That

Amateur curio hunters have long been a pest to Maurice Learner, head of an Oakland (Calif.) firm specializing in wrecking ships. He can't explain, however, the method used by the person who stole an anchor weighing 1,800 pounds from the old United States cruiser Farragut.

Cold in Head, Chest or Throat?

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole-rub once an hour for five hours... what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole to make it what doctors call a "counter-irritant" because it gets action and is not just a salve. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars, tubes, all druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Poland Offers Much to Attract the Traveler

Poland to many travelers is a country unknown. Yet to the tourist it offers much in the great variety of scenery, the richness and color of its native peasantry, and the charm and beauty of its myriad churches and ancient ruins. Its art treasures, its architecture, its numerous museums, compare favorably with those of other European countries.

Warsaw, the capital and largest city, has a population of over 1,000,000 persons and a history which dates back to the Thirteenth century. Since that time it has seen many changes and events which have helped to make the history of Europe. During the latter part of the Eighteenth century the city experienced a period of great splendor. It was then one of the largest cities of Europe and it became the very center of artistic, literary and scientific activity, and had also a brilliant court of life. Gracow, only a few hours' ride from the capital, is really the heart of Poland, although Warsaw is the seat of government.

Beer as a Cosmetic

Gallo-Romans were almost modern in their use of cosmetics. They recognized the value of cold water to refresh the skin. To preserve the complexion, however, they bathed the face in the froth of beer or with chalk dissolved in vinegar. The eyebrows they dyed with a juice taken from the sen pike. Auburn or yellow hair was greatly admired in women and those who were unfortunately and unavoidably brunette either laced the hair dyed it, or wore wigs.—Detroit News

More than 73,000 miles in a New Ford

THE substantial worth of the new Ford is reflected in its good performance, economy and reliability. Its stamina and endurance are particularly apparent in sections where bad roads and severe weather put a heavy extra burden on the automobile.

In less than a year a new Ford Tudor Sedan was driven more than seventy-three thousand miles over a difficult route. The operating cost per mile was very low and practically the only expense for repairs was for new piston rings and a new bearing for the generator.

The car carried an average load of 1200 pounds of mail and was driven 250 miles daily. "The Ford has never failed to go when I was ready," writes one of the three mail carriers operating the car. "The starter did the trick last winter even at 34 degrees below zero. The gas runs about 20 miles per gallon. At times I pull a trailer whenever I have a bulky load."

Many other Ford owners report the same satisfactory performance. Every part has been made to endure — to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles.

Iowa Brothers Set New World's Record in Ford

IOWA state officials and civic leaders witnessed the establishment of a new world's non-motor, non-wheel stop automobile endurance record recently, when Ralph and Rolland Davis, brothers, brought their Model A Ford to a halt at the east entrance of the state capitol in Des Moines after 2,775 hours and 46 minutes of continuous driving.

When Governor Hammill, standing with Walter Ferrell, executive secretary of the Iowa Chapter of the American Automobile Association, gave the signal to stop, the Ford had traveled a total of 47,138.3 miles over all sorts of roads in all sorts of weather and had exceeded by 33,650 miles and more than 2,335 hours the American non-stop endurance record which, therefore officially recognized, was made by a much heavier car under almost ideal conditions on the Indianapolis speedway last year. In the course of the endurance run, the car, known as "The City of Des Moines," covered practically the entire state of Iowa.

Long Cable Railway
The longest suspension cable railway in the world now carries tourists to the top of the Nebelhorn, in the Bavarian Alps. Cars take passengers for more than three miles to a point from which the summit of the mountain—7,300 feet above sea level—can be reached by a short climb. The longest span of cable between the supporting piers is about 2,200 feet.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime.

Carolina Woman Lost 47 Lbs. In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1926.

"P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at drug stores the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast. Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and it not joyfully satisfied—money back—Adv.

WOMEN SHOULD LEARN USES OF MAGNESIA

To women who suffer from nausea, or so-called "morning sickness," this is a blessing. Most nurses know it. It is advised by leading specialists: Over a small quantity of finely cracked ice pour a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Sip slowly until you are relieved. It ends sick stomach or inclination to vomit.

Its anti-acid properties make Phillips' Milk of Magnesia quick relief in heartburn, sour stomach, gas. Its mild laxative action assures regular bowel movement. Used as a mouthwash it helps prevent tooth decay during expectancy.

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear skin if your stomach is weak and disordered. Undigested food sends poisons through the body, pimples appear—skin grows sallow and loses color. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking Tanlac.

Tanlac is made from herbs, barks and roots. A tablespoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can digest what you eat. And when your stomach is in good shape again watch how quickly skin begins to clear up. At your druggist's. Money back if it doesn't help you.

The Boyhood of Famous Americans

By J. V. Fitzgerald

George F. Baker

Uncle John could sit on his porch and take it easy while the other farmers were hard at work. He lived well and enjoyed himself. His nephew wondered how a man could have all the necessities of life, and some of the luxuries, without having to work.

Being of an inquiring mind he asked for the answer to such a puzzle. He was told that his uncle had an income from his savings and was able to live on the interest of his money.

That was how George F. Baker got his first lesson in thrift and in the value of saving and investing. He was visiting his grandparents in Dedham, Mass., where he spent much of his vacations as a boy, when he learned the lesson that was to help make him one of the world's leading bankers and enable him to amass a tremendous fortune.

George F. Baker was born in Troy, N. Y., in 1840. His father was a merchant, who at one time had a shoe business in New York city. The older Baker didn't enjoy buying and selling. He became a reporter under Horace Greeley on the New York Tribune. He specialized in politics. He became a Washington correspondent for his paper, later holding numerous political positions.

His son was eight years old when the family moved to Brooklyn. Young George went to school in Williamsburg, but spent much time with his grandparents in Massachusetts. The country air agreed with him. He thrived on it and became a sturdy and robust youngster.

It was at Dedham that he laid the foundation for the strong constitution that has enabled him to be active for so many years. There also, through the example of his uncle, he learned the lesson in finance that helped him in laying the foundation for his great fortune. He earned his first money, during a vacation at Dedham, by gathering cranberries left under the bushes by the pickers.

He carried the berries to the barn in pairs, dumped them in a sleigh, that was stored until the coming of the New England winter, and when it was full and all the berries salvaged, he sold the batch for $7. That was good money for a boy in those days before the Civil war. Young Baker didn't waste it on candy or entertainment. With the example of his uncle in mind he saved it.

The youthful financier finished his education at Seward university at Florida, N. Y., when he was sixteen years old. His first job was in a small Albany bank. His father, whose interest in politics had gained him an election to the state legislature, was secretary to Gov. Myron H. Clark at the time.

The youngster worked hard learning the rudiments of the banking business, but he had time to enjoy himself after the fashion of the youth of the period. He drove his own horse and buggy. He got his exercise by rowing on the upper Hudson.

Sculling was a great sport on the river at Albany and Troy in those days. There were good boat clubs and good oarsmen. Young Baker was one of the best. He was skilled enough to win a sculling championship of the upper Hudson. He was also active in church and lecture work.

He was badly injured in a railroad accident in 1859. For a time it was thought one of his legs would have to be amputated. He recovered and served as secretary and assistant military secretary to Gov. Edwin D. Morgan, who was chief executive of the state at the outbreak of the Civil war.

Before this he had worked as a clerk in the state banking department. His pay there was only $500 a year, but he managed to save $100 of his first year's salary. His father was in Washington at secretary to William H. Seward and young Baker returned to the banking department when Governor Morgan retired from office.

He was known as the best informed clerk there. His knowledge soon gave him an opportunity to enter the banking business for himself. He became interested in the plan of Secretary of the Treasury Chase to sell bonds through banks and to form banks which could pledge bonds themselves for the circulation of currency up to 50 per cent of their value.

He talked the proposition over with John Thompson, a New York financier, and in 1863 they launched the First National bank with a capital of $200,000. Thompson offered the young banker all the stock he wanted and promised to carry it for him. But George Baker, at the time, didn't believe in borrowing money. Some misguided friend, apparently, had warned him against being a borrower.

So he used only his own savings to buy stock. His next egg permitted him to buy thirty shares. He also became a teller and before long the cashier of the bank. He prospered and later borrowed the money with which to get control of the institution which he was destined to make one of the strongest financial concerns in the world.

Eradication of Barberry Bush

Will Have Much to Do With Control of Black Stem Rust of Wheat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.—WNU Service.)

Fifteen years of barberry eradication in the wheat belt have accomplished much toward reducing the toll of black stem rust. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that this disease destroyed 50, 100,000 bushels of wheat annually during the first five years of this period, less than 26,000,000 bushels annually during the second five years, and only about 11,500,000 bushels annually from 1925 to 1929.

Eradication Results.
In Farmer's Bulletin 1544-F, "The Common Barberry and Black Stem Rust," the Department of Agriculture points out some striking results of the barberry eradication campaign. Since 1918 the department and co-operating states in the northern wheat belt have destroyed more than 18,000,000 barberry bushes. In the northern states the common barberry is the only source of early grain rust infection.

Comparing 1916 and 1925, two years of similar weather conditions, the following results are obtained. In Minnesota 61 per cent of the entire crop was destroyed by rust in 1916 and only 12 per cent in 1925. In North Dakota 70 per cent of the crop was destroyed in 1916 and only 5 per cent in 1925. In South Dakota 64 per cent of the crop was destroyed in 1916 and 7½ per cent in 1925. There is every reason to suppose that if so many barberries had not been eradicated the epidemic of 1925 would have been almost as destructive as that of 1916, except in certain areas of the Dakotas and neighboring states where durum wheats are grown and the hot, dry weather checked the development of the rust.

Destroyed Much Wheat.
A single 60-year-old barberry bush in Decatur county, Indiana, was credited with destroying at least $50,000 worth of wheat in the vicinity of the town of Alert in 1922. After that bush was destroyed wheat in the vicinity was practically free from rust. Such facts make it evident, says the department, that much has been accomplished by destroying 18,000,000 bushes.

The authors of Farmer's Bulletin 1544-F, Dr. E. C. Stakman and Donald G. Fletcher, point out that even though millions of bushes have been destroyed already and the great losses of earlier years have been reduced, many bushes continue to escape destruction. The bulletin, which may be obtained free by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, offers suggestions for locating and destroying this bush.

Tune Up Work Team for Heavy Tasks of Spring

It is time to tune up the work team if they are expected to do full duty in the spring rush, said Prof. M. W. Harper of Cornell university over WEAI recently. A horse that is too fat or too thin is in no condition to plunge into heavy work.

Light work at this season with an increase in grain helps harden the team and toughens the shoulders. The amount of feed differs with the horse, the kind of work, and the condition of the horse. A good rule is to supply two pounds of feed daily for each hundred pounds of weight for light work, and two and a half pounds for heavy work. For light work give one-third grain and two-thirds hay, and for heavy work the ratio may go as high as two-thirds grain and one-third hay. Sound oats are unexcelled as a grain for horses.

Salt should be supplied regularly but it should not be put in the feed. There is little advantage in grinding or chopping grain.

As for the order of supplying water, grain and hay; feed or water so frequently that the horse gets neither hungry nor thirsty. But feed and water regularly, because horses anticipate the hour of feeding and become nervous if it is long delayed.

Many Gardeners Give Up Raising of Cauliflower

Many gardeners have given up raising cauliflower in the home garden because they find that the cauliflower in the market has so much clearer and better complexion than those they raise at home. This need not be so with a little care. To bleach the head and keep them that delightful creamy white that makes this vegetable so tempting in appearance, it is necessary to start as soon as the head begins to take definite form to protect it from the sun. This is done by tying the outside leaves loosely together at their tips and watching the growth of the plant to see that the developing head is kept shaded.

Care of Pastures

Pastures which are deficient in phosphorus will pay well for the addition of ample quantities of this fertilizer. Recent Wisconsin tests illustrate this point. One plot which already had available 288 pounds of phosphorus per acre produced 5,739 pounds of dried hay per acre as against 2,350 for another plot which had available 48 pounds of phosphorus. In addition to this the grass from the first plot was more than 2½ per cent higher in protein.

Lesson for March 15

JESUS AMONG FRIENDS AND FOES

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42; 11:14-15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Among His Friends.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Test of Friendship.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Friendship With Jesus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Dealing With Friend and Foe.

1. Jesus in the Home of Friends (Luke 10:38-42).

There is no place where true character is so clearly revealed as at home.

1. His reception (v. 38). Jesus was received by Martha, as she was the head of the home. Jesus must have greatly appreciated the fact that there was one home in which he was welcome.

2. Mary sitting at Jesus' feet (v. 39). She, with fine spiritual discernment, knew that sitting at the Lord's feet and hearing his word was that which would most please him. He was more concerned with opportunity to reveal himself to human hearts than with the eating of well prepared meals. Mary's way of entertaining Jesus was more acceptable than that of Martha.

3. Martha lumbered about much serving (v. 40). Both sisters loved the Lord. It would be impossible to say which loved the more, but Martha was bent on providing a fine meal for him. Because she was trying to do so many things, she was on the verge of distraction, and found fault with Jesus for permitting Mary to leave the kitchen to listen to his teaching.

4. Jesus' answer (vv. 41, 42). (a) He rebuked Martha (v. 41). He did this most tenderly for he knew that she loved him sincerely. (b.) Defends Mary (v. 42). He declared that but one thing was needful and that Mary had chosen that good part which could not be taken away from her. The one thing needful for every member of the race is a heart for the Lord which brings the individual to Jesus to hear his teaching.

11. Jesus Among Foes (11:14-15).

1. Charged with being in league with the devil (v. 14-23). Being unwilling to receive him as the Son of God and yet unable to account for his mighty works, they declared that he was casting out demons through Beelzebub, the chief of the demons.

2. Refusal to believe his miracles (vv. 20-32). They asked for a sign to which he replied that they would have a sign from heaven in his death and resurrection. He reminded them, however, that their request showed unbelief surpassing that of the heathen queen of the South and the wicked people of Nineveh.

3. Wickedness denounced (vv. 37-54). He pronounced six woes upon those who were opposing him and seeking his destruction: three upon the Pharisees and three upon the lawyers.

a. The Pharisees (vv. 37-41). These he denounced for:

(1) Punctiliously observing minute rites while at the same time breaking the Ten Commandments. They carefully tithed the small herbs of the garden while practicing injustice with their fellow men and withholding love from God. He pointed out to them their attending to these external acts while their hearts were filled with wickedness. It was as absurd as merely washing the outside of an unclean cup.

(2) Desire for public recognition (v. 43). This is a common sin today. Love for titles of respect and positions of prominence is a very common sin.

(3) Feigning humility (v. 44). He compared their hypocrisy to graves which are on the ground and may be stepped upon unconsciously by some one who would thus be defiled.

b. The lawyers (vv. 45-54). The strictures of Jesus on the hypocritical Pharisees aroused the lawyers, one of whom indignantly declared, "Thou reproachest us also." In reply to this Christ pronounced three woes upon them:

(1) For placing burdensome requirements upon the people to which they themselves would not submit (v. 46). Religious rites should not be made irksome. (2) For the murder of God's prophets (vv. 47-51). He showed that their attitude toward him was the same as was shown to the prophets by their fathers. Jesus declared that their guilt was the same as that of their fathers and that their generation would be held responsible for all that the fathers had done. (3) For keeping back the knowledge of God by false interpretations of the Scripture (v. 52-54).

"First Aid—Home Remedy Week" Coming

Chicago.—First Aid-Home Remedy Week, Sterling Products' "better merchandising and greater advertising baby," celebrates its tenth anniversary March 15-21. Druggists everywhere will co-operate. "Fill That Medicine Chest Now!" is the slogan of action. Dr. W. E. Weiss was first to okay the idea as a splendid aid to preparedness for unexpected illness or accident. This is stressed as sensible insurance for immediate relief.

The every-spring festival of sales is a fixture of housecleaning time. Sterling Products is giving a tenth anniversary surprise party to every druggist in America—for the Dominion as well as the States endorses this idea of a more intensive advertising effort in Druggdom.
