COMMERCIAL NIGHT SCHOOL ORGANIZED

Meeting Held Tuesday Night; Classes Organized, 12 Enrolled

On Tuesday evening at eight o'clock a group of 12 people who are interested in organizing a commercial night school met with Miss Chaffin, Miss Glass, and Mr. Brannan at the High School building to discuss plans for the work. Three classes—typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand—were organized. Typing is to be under direction of Miss Glass while Miss Chaffin is to have charge of the other two subjects. Not one of these sections has yet reached its capacity, so anyone else who is interested in joining either of the classes should do so at once in order to get an early lineup on the work to be done.

It was agreed to meet on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week, at 7:15 o'clock. There are no charges to be made whatsoever for this instruction, unless one wishes to pay for ones books. This school is being organized for the benefit of the public and it is hoped that a large number will take advantage of this opportunity. Classes will begin on Thursday evening of this week, but new members may join next week at the regular meetings.

STATE HIGHWAY JOBS ARE LET

Uvalde and Pecos Projects Awarded On "Borderway" Route

Highway construction projects in 14 counties, aggregating an expenditure of $779,913 were contracted for on Tuesday of this week by the Texas Highway Commission. One hundred and sixteen miles of construction, including drainage and grading structures and 11.3 miles of concrete pavement, were authorized by the contracts. There were four bridge projects included.

Among the contracts let were two on the U. S. Highway 90 or "Borderway" route that passes through here. Bridges are to be erected over the dry and Frio River in Uvalde county and this bridge construction work was awarded to H. K. McCollum of Fort Worth for $101,836.

That part of the Highway going through the south part of Pecos county and which was recently re-routed and graded was let for ca-liche base and surface course. There is 11.6 miles of this highway to be surfaced. The F. P. McElrath Construction Company of Corsicana was given the work at a bid of $29,750. As soon as this construction work is completed this highway will be one of the best to be found in the state as practically all of it is now in first class condition. Day coaches are now operated on the Sunset Limited trains 101 and 102 between El Paso and New Orleans, according to an announcement made by J. E. Monroe, district passenger agent, who was a visitor in the city last Friday from El Paso.

The coaches were added to stimulate travel on these trains as heretofore all passengers on these limiteds had to make pullman reservations whether they were going a short distance or not. With the addition of the day coaches thus saving pullman fare for those who travel only a short distance, passengers travelling these fast trains not only save money, but time as well.

It is thought that a shortage in the wiring was the cause of the blaze.

Putting the Neck Into the Collar

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Charles was having his portrait painted, and as he moved from one foot to another trying to keep the blood circulating through his limbs as he stood, he was interested in the progress of the artist. The face he imagined would be the most difficult.

After that had the proper expression worked out and the natural flesh tints applied, he supposed that the rest was a matter that any tyro might fix up.

"One of the most difficult things," the painter said, "is to get the neck to come up firmly and easily against the collar."

It made me think of Moses, our old gray horse. One of the most difficult tasks I had as a boy on the farm was to get Moses to bring his neck up against the collar firmly and easily.

I tried all sorts of devices with only indifferent results. I understand exactly what the artist had in mind.

In other things besides portrait painting and the driving of a lazy horse, I have noticed difficulty in making the artistic union between the neck and the collar. Gibson has been greatly concerned about his son's progress in college; and he had an interview with me not long ago to see if I could suggest any remedy or reason for the situation. It isn't difficult. It is simply another case of an unsatisfactory and inartistic adjustment of the neck and the collar.

The boy is lazy; he won't work; he never has worked.

Hawley is past middle life. He is recognized everywhere as a man who has made a great success of his profession. Those who know him say that when the time came to begin work in the morning, Hawley was always there, enthusiastic and eager for the day's task. He never watched the clock to see how time was passing; he wasn't afraid of work. It was in reality one of the great enjoyments of his life that there was work to do and that he was privileged to do it.

There was no inartistic union between Hawley's neck and the collar.

Blue and Beige Colors To Be Featured During National Wool Week

Blue and beige are official colors for National Wool Week and the hues will dominate during the feature period when national merchants will display fashion's latest creations in fine woollens, November 9 to 14.

Fashion experts and leaders of the wool industry chose the two colors to be emphasized because the shades already are available at mills and in the cutting-up houses. They also were intent upon picking shades that would not only be suitable for winter wear, but likely would be carried over into the Spring.

"We did not limit the blue to any single shade, but the Yankee blue was chosen as indicating the general tone to be emphasized," the fashion and color experts declared after a week of consideration on selection. "The Yankee blue is a lighter-than-navy tone and is ideal for dresses and for sportswear and in some instances for dressy coats."

The beige we selected is on the general order of the Cachou beige and is good for both dresses and coats. The beige is a reflector of the soft and colorful lustre of natural wool. Both the blue and the beige are excellent for tailored wool frocks as well as those with softer treatments.

Meanwhile National Wool week continues to receive the support of retail and wholesale stores all over the United States. Merchants planning to feature woolen goods during the week may obtain placards and window cards from National Wool Week headquarters.

The week will be ushered into being at New York the evening of November 7, when leaders of all branches of the wool industry ranging from growers' representatives to retailers of the finished wool product will assemble for a banquet.

With Unbelted Waist

Two dresses which make a success of an unbelted waist are the coat dress which ties on the side. The latter is made in African brown canton crepe with the neckline and cuffs outlined in Algerian red, says the Woman's Home Companion. The large square-cut revers are a feature which makes it not only fashionable but sure to flatter the figure. There is originality in the sash which appears only at the back where it passes through a slit in the yoke. A coat dress is the perfect costume for street wear.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Holland and daughter from Marfa visited friends here Monday.

Raising of Mohair Prices Solely In Hands of Angora Goat Raisers

Angora goat raisers in Texas who are distressed by the present low price of fleece can hasten the return of a prosperity market considerably by insisting that motor cars and furniture they buy be upholstered in mohair fabrics, according to a statement from the Mohair Institute, Chicago, received by this newspaper.

"A marked reduction in automobile and furniture production is undoubtedly the principal cause of the present slow demand and low prices for fleece," the statement said. "Market statistics show, however, that residents of communities dependent largely upon the Angora goat raising industry can hasten a brisk demand for raw fleece by insisting on mohair fabrics whenever they purchase articles in which such fabrics are used.

"It takes about ten yards of mohair to upholster and line the average-size automobile. Texas, with its 1,165,150 motor car registration, is in a position to immediately set up a demand that would be an example for the other mohair growing states.

"Goat raising communities who buy more mohair are not only putting dollars back into their own pocket by aiding consumption; the economic and utility values of mohair fabrics make them particularly deserving of their patronage.

"Mohair is more durable and attractive than most other upholstery materials. Motor cars and furniture pieces upholstered in mohair are acknowledged to have a greater resale value than those on which most other fabrics are used.

"Mohair is non-fadable. Its pile surface wears well and it is soft and comfortable. Scientific tests have shown that the use of mohair velvet in motor cars aids drivers and passengers in keeping correct posture, making riding easier and safer, for a slumped driver does not have quick control of his car. Furthermore, mohair velvet, owing to its pile surface, does not shine the clothing.

"Sound absorbent tests have also developed that the 40,000 fibers to the square inch in mohair tends to 'trap' sounds inside of cars making them quieter. Mohair upholstered furniture in offices and homes reduces noise to a marked degree, especially the high-pitched sounds most disturbing to the human ear."

Boss (engaging boy): "Is there anything you can do better than any one else?"

Boy: "Yes sir, read my own writing."

Of course, every man would like to be his own boss, but then all of us can't remain bachelors.

QUICK BREADS NUTRITIOUS AS WELL AS ECONOMICAL

Home-made bread is the most satisfying, the best tasting, the most fragrant, the most nourishing and the most economical food in the world.

Every mother should make bread at home not only to please her family's palate and to save money but to give her youngsters a nutritious, wholesome food.

In addition to making yeast breads and rolls there are so many delicious quick breads that the housewife can quickly make. To make these quick breads, time, money and ingredients can be saved by using self-rising flour

Quick Breads Are Easily Made.

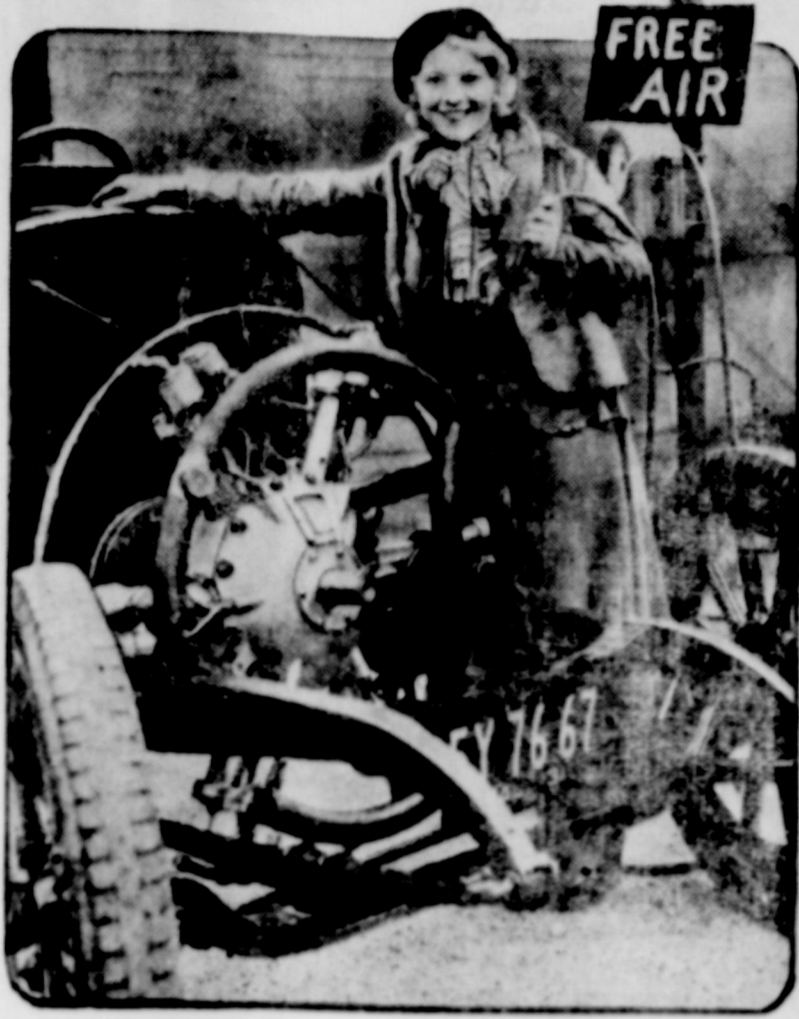

Which is pre-leavened or prepared flour. Who doesn't like nut bread or for a change orange bread?

For nut bread proceed as follows: 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 tbsp. fat, 1 cup nut meats, 1 egg, broken in small pieces, 1 1/2 cups self-rising flour.

Place the sugar, fat and egg in a bowl; beat until thoroughly blended; add the flour and liquid alternately, then add the nuts; pour into a greased bread pan, and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) about fifty minutes.

Compressed Air Runs an Automobile

Compressed air as motive power for the automobile is harnessed. In an amazing demonstration conducted at Los Angeles, a standard automobile chassis, powered with a newly developed compressed air motor, whizzed around the city streets at not a cent cost to the driver for fuel. The engine is the result of six years of research and work by Roy J. Meyers, who states one filling of the tank will run the car for 600 miles. Resembling in general appearance a radial airplane motor, the engine is mounted in an upright position in the same manner as a gasoline engine in standard motor cars. It requires no cooling system, no ignition system, no carburetor or the hundreds of moving parts included in a gasoline motor. The driver operates but one lever. That is the air throttle. Filled to 500 pounds air pressure, the engine throttle is opened and the car picks up speed quickly and smoothly, the only sound emitted being a slight hiss of the air from the exhaust valves. As the air goes through the engine, forcing pistons up and down, on the same principle as that employed by gasoline explosions, most of it is captured and recompressed by a compressor built as a part of the en-

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. DARROW Extension Service Editor

In a drive to help Lynn county farm families live from home-grown products this winter, the home demonstration club members plan to help 1138 out of the 2138 families in the county make out and fill home canning budgets. Each member helps five other families plan a budget sufficient to feed the family through the unproductive months.

Newton county 4-H club boys plowed under oats and vetch for their field crops last spring are getting good yields of corn and cotton in spite of a bad drouth, and in addition to an early spring hay crop.

Two tons of alfalfa hay and 10 acres of sweet clover returned $72.79 in cream checks in August to W. H. Mitchell, Iago potato farmer who plants sweet clover primarily as a soil builder, or a least did, prior to the time when he added cows to his system of diversification. His best cow returned $12.96 while the poorest one paid only $4.82, according to the county agent of Wharton county.

Eleven terrace tops planted to red top cone yielded Joe Cross 800 bales of bright hay, and not a terrace broke. He is an Archer county farmer who terraced his farm last year in co-operation with the county agent at 78 cents per acre, using county engine and grader.

More than $50 has been made the past summer killing out ant beds for farmers at 10 cents per hill by the 4-H club boys of Llano county who plan to use the money in buying agricultural equipment and club uniforms.

Self feeders built at a cost of about $7 are being used by five farmers in Caldwell county who are feeding out 80 hogs, using shelled corn and various protein supplements. "The self feeder saves time and eliminates runts," the claim.

Daughter: "But, daddy, why do you object to my becoming engaged? Is it because of my youth?" Father: "Yes, he's hopeless."

Taking No Chances

A stranger asked for a ticket to Buffalo, handing in a $20 bill. "Change at Albany," the clerk replied. "None of that now," replied the stranger. "O! want me change right here."

It's The Spirit That Counts!

AFTER ALL IS said and done, there's only one thing that is responsible for the growth or decline of any community.

That is the spirit of the people.
If the people are discouraged, blue, disheartened, pessimistic, growling, snarling, kicking, complaining, whining and weeping, the community is on the toboggan and sliding backward.

If the people can smile through their tears, show their spunk, keep pegging away, keep cheerful, live within their means, appreciate one another, consider the future, have hope for better times, determine to "see it through" at any cost, that town is on the upgrade, and will get somewhere.

Two men looked at a worn-out farm. One man turned away, said it was hopeless. The other man said he'd try it. He bought it for a song, and everybody called him a fool. He smiled, and began studying soil culture. He read everything he could find on soil building. He came to be known as an expert on soils. He put his theories into practice, building back into his farm the fertility that had been taken from it. The result, now he has a farm that is the envy of the community.

What wrought the change? It was the spirit of the man. It was his determination that turned the trick.

Emerson said: "What a new face courage puts on everything. A determined man, by his very attitude and the tone of his voice, puts a stop to defeat and begins to conquer."

It's the spirit that counts.—Democrat-American, Sallisaw, Oklahoma.

Seasonable Poetry

Said the faded straw hat to the low-cut shoe,
"I'm reminded that our days are few;
Cool winds sing our requiem,
We must go to the closet, dark and dim."

Said the thin underwear to the palm beach coat,
"This bracing air has got our goat;
For six long months we'll make our bunk
In a lonely hall in a lonely trunk."

Said the open-work hose to the pink petticoat,
"How the north wind blows, we must go I note."
But not a word did the petticoat hear—
It hadn't been there for nearly a year.

No Statement

ANOTHER STRIKING example of the wisdom of our legislators in framing the law compelling those annual financial statements is offered in the instance of the fiscal court for failure to publish such statement and the unearthing of evidence that misappropriation of funds, payment of illegal claims, as well as other forms of extravagant use of taxpayers' money was indulged in.

No financial statement appears to spell waste and extravagance on the part of the responsible parties judging from past experiences here and elsewhere.—Princeton (Ky.) Leader.

Texas has such a law which states that such statements shall be published concerning public funds, but it is not always done, especially by school districts, cities and in some cases by counties. The taxpayers should know how the finances of the company to which they contribute stand.—Uvalde Leader-News.

C. M. Bomberger, editor of the Jeanette (Pa.) News-Dispatch, says:

"We have it upon the authority of married Solomon that there is nothing new under the sun. The marvel is that there are so many ways of saying the same thing.

But now that newspapers have taken the everyday thoughts of mankind
so that he who runs may read in this rapidly moving age—have taken the TALK and made it PRINTING—it is possible for mankind to analyze its hour by hour thought.

"The present era is a case in point.
Mentally, mankind has been pulling itself up by its bootstraps and suddenly had discovered it simply can't be done. The world thought it could forget that disastrous wars must be paid for by both winner and loser.
An economic stringency (with plenty of everything at hand in some corners of the globe and starvation
in others) has existed.

"Much has been said about it.

THIS AND THAT
By JIMMINY

Depressions are not new to this country, the records show a number of "ham an'—" struggles in years gone by. I am not in a position to say which of the two political parties is responsible for the present situation, but it is likely the Republicans would have to take the blame for all depressions, if political parties were really responsible for the economic upsets—the Democrats haven't been in office but about one time in the last ten depressions.

The average life of a "well-balanced" depression is about twelve months, some lasting six months and some living to the ripe old age of two years. The present recess has been going on for nearly two years
now, and indications are that depression records will be shattered before the end.

There are some who say the bottom has been reached, that we are soon to start climbing to the top of the ladder again; but Mr. Gus A.
Citizen will tell you that he has ever stood ready to start at the middle and go up. It's strange how many people believe the bottom
must be touched before anything can be done.

What starts and stops these economic set-backs is a matter of much conjecture. Everybody has a remedy for the cause. A lot of people think that nothing can be done until nature takes its course, or a new president is elected. Others say presidents and politicians have the least connection with the cause and remedy of the thing; they say the millions who have jobs and have had them all during the depressions and have suffered nothing more than a psychological economic complex which prevents them from buying because—well, it just isn't being done—have had much to do with it.

It is very likely this depression
was caused by an insatiable desire on the part of the consumer to keep two jumps ahead of the sheriff, and the manufacturer to keep two jumps ahead of the consumer, which, of course, leads to an enormous surplus in time.

The depression before this, in 1921, lasted but a short while. We came out of it quickly and started racing the sheriff. For nearly ten years we run a good race, then collapsed from "production" exhaustion. As soon as we come out of this depression—
and we will—we will head straight for another crash, unless steps are taken to balance production with consumption. In the meantime, don't lay too much blame on politicians—and don't expect too much relief from them.

Tomorrow
Have you ever stopped to think
That today is not so bad—
It's the dread of dark tomorrow
That makes us glum and sad.

We're sure, somehow or other,
We can make the present grade;
It's tomorrow's vexing problem
Of which we're sore afraid.

And yet our past tomorrows—
Were they worse than ours today?
Was not the darkness riven

ACROSS
Friendly Counters

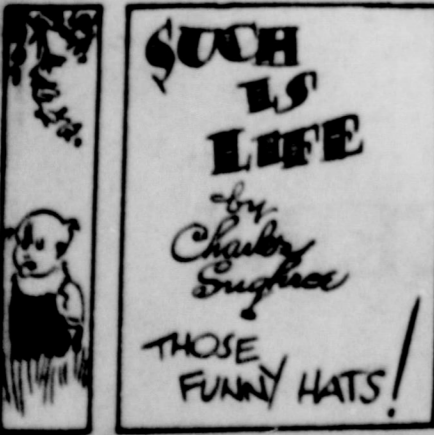

NO DOUBT you can remember the general storekeeper in some counry village. A call on him was an experience in pleasant human relationship, in honesty and neighborliness.
He discussed politics and crops with vigor and shrewdness. He told the truth about groceries and dress goods. His was a friendly counter, a comfortable place to trade.

But the fact is that today in towns and villages and cities everywhere hundreds of thousands of counters are honest and friendly in a way his could never be. They offer advertised merchandise! A manufacturer stands sponsor for this merchandise. On it he has put his name and brand. So sure is he of its usefulness, its purity and correct weight, or size, or strength, or delicacy, that he talks to you about it on the pages of magazines and newspapers.

From coast to coast you can buy his products with confidence.
Wherever you find it, and whoever sells it, you have the assurance that its quality will be what you expect and that the price you pay is fair.

In your home town and wherever you travel on business or pleasure, you may trade at friendly counters! You may buy advertised merchandise!

BANK EMPLOYEES SENT TO SCHOOL

Modern Scientific Financial and Management Methods Taught Throughout Country.

THE American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association conducts 223 chapters, or local banking schools in as many cities throughout the country. One large city chapter has almost 6,000 students, who are combining formal theoretical and practical banking studies with their daily working experience and other places have these schools with a thousand to two thousand students. In addition there are fifty study groups in small communities with some 6,000 enrollments. All told over 42,000 bank people are taking these courses—not only clerks, but junior officers and even senior officers in some of the more advanced work.

The work of the institute has been declared to be "a dynamic economic force, pouring into banking a broadening, deepening stream of better qualified bankers than could be developed merely by the daily workings of banking itself," and it has been suggested that every bank worker should be compelled to combine institute courses with his work. A good many banks now make it a part of the contract of employment that an employee shall undertake to render himself proficient and trustworthy in banking by taking institute work and others make successful progress in this educational aspect of banking a prerequisite to promotion. Plans are being developed to make the benefits of banking education through this organization more generally available in the rural districts.

J. C. Reeves has returned from a visit in El Paso with his family.

"I Wonder What's the Matter With Me?"

If she could see the war paint she has put on, as it looks in daylight, she would know immediately what is the matter with her.

She'd be all right if she had made up for a fantastic part in some carnival or charade, but it's no wonder that people turn to look at her in the street.

Well, that's what is likely to happen when a woman dresses where she has poor light.

Colors have a way of deceiving one when they are laid on where it is impossible to see distinctly or where shadows make guess-work necessary.

Every woman who likes to look her best should have a lamp at each side of her dressing table, and placed at the correct height for clear vision.

Why not let our home lighting specialist tell you how to light your dressing room? There's no charge for this service.

Or may we send you a free copy of our interesting booklet, "How to Light Your Home"?

LARGE CROWD HEAR SERIAL SERMON

The First Methodist Church building was filled Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service where Rev. B. M. Stradley preached the third of the serial sermons on the Sermon on the Mount, using the text, "Rejoice and be exceedingly glad for great is your reward in Heaven," Matt. 5:10.

The preacher said we are born into the Kingdom of God from above, and spiritual birth is inseparable from life, action, and a soul-deep appetite for divine righteousness, and the things spiritual.

He dwelt at length on the necessity here in our plastic state of concerted action and Christian fellowship, and a soul-deep love and sympathetic consideration for our fellow man as God's creation in His likeness and image as self-conscious, self-determining persons.

The church music committee is having a special musical number at each 11 a.m. Sunday service in keeping with these serial sermons.
