WARNING

Despite hail losses, the probability of a storage shortage is likely. As you know, Terminal Storage is not available, which makes it absolutely impossible for your elevators to handle green or wet wheat, due to the hazards involving the entire storage capacity in this area.

It will be necessary, therefore, to ask all persons bringing in green wheat to haul it back home. If you are fortunate enough to cut early, be careful. One or two or three days will not likely make much difference, since the local elevators have been emptied to handle the present crop.

Despite hail losses, the probability of a storage shortage is likely. As you know, Terminal Storage is not available, which makes it absolutely impossible for your elevators to handle green or wet wheat, due to the hazards involving the entire storage capacity in this area.

It will be necessary, therefore, to ask all persons bringing in green wheat to haul it back home. If you are fortunate enough to cut early, be careful. One or two or three days will not likely make much difference, since the local elevators have been emptied to handle the present crop.
