Eagles Again Victorious Over Alpine Bucks

Home Boys Play Offensive Game From the Start; Score 12 to 0.

The Eagles played a great game Friday. They had Alpine on the defense during most of the game. Sanderson took the ball in the first quarter and began their steady march for the goal as usual and went for their first counter in the first period. The touchdowns were made when Robertson passed to James Daniels for 25 yards and Daniels made a beautiful catch over the line. Not only did Daniels show good on this particularly pass but he showed up good throughout the entire game from the offensive standpoint. Robertson called an exceptionally good game and his punting was much the best to be seen on the local field. The entire backfield continued to play their steady game and displayed wonderful co-operation, with Laughlin, Milam and Captain Hayes breaking away for good gains. Milam put over the second touchdown by plunging the line. The linemen did some exceptionally good work, although their blocking was not as good as it has been in previous games. The Bucks brought Heard, the dashing star fullback, expecting to see him run away from our boys but he looked just like the rest of the Bucks to the Eagles and they brought him down for losses many times.

The Eagles will go to Alpine this week-end and would like to have a good crowd go along to help them bring home another Buck skin. As the deer season is now open the boys will be out to get a Buck on every down.

Wins Prize For Essay on Wool

Students of High School Encouraged to Observe Wool Industry.

Last week which was known as National Wool Week was one of great significance to people everywhere, but especially to the people of this section of the country where sheep and wool production is foremost among the industries. Probably the most outstanding manifestation of interest which directly concerned our school was the offer made by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, well known ranch people of this vicinity, to bestow upon the High School student writing the best essay on the subject of "Wool" a prize of $5.00. The purpose of this offer was to encourage interest in the wool industry, and to find out how familiar the students are with this industry.

When the papers had been graded, it was found that H. D. Johnson ranked first among the group, and to him was the prize awarded. Several of the other essays deserve mention, and particularly the one written by James Daniels whose paper ranked second.

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK

THE OBJECT OF LIFE

The object of life is living.

Life is a duty to be done.

It is wicked to fail to live to the full, and to live as long as in service.

When service fails to be given "not grudgingly or of necessity," then life begins to fail. "Three score years and ten" is out of date. Life tenure grows much longer, and is more fully appreciated and scientifically developed. In youth man evolves; in age revolves; in ages ever after involves. We eventually become that which we have aspired to be.

Mrs. S. J. Kellogg spent several days in El Paso this week with her husband, S. J. Kellogg who is passenger conductor on the T. & N. O.

McDonald, general manager of the Southern Pacific Lines and also one from Mr. Chas. S. Fay, vice-president and traffic manager.

Mr. Pierson's numerous friends here are pleased to learn of his receiving the gold service button and extend congratulations. Earl has been with the S. P. Lines for a number of years and has always been a very efficient and painstaking clerk; always on the job, ever attentive to duty and giving his thought and best efforts to the welfare of his employers.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL UNDER WAY

Local Soliciting Committee Meeting With Good Success.

The membership roll call of the Terrell County Red Cross Chapter is now underway.

Workers will visit people at their homes and places of business to extend a personal invitation to join the organization for the coming year.

The Red Cross Roll Call is an annual event occupying the time between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, emphasized by presidential proclamation and governor's statements, and especially in the public focus because 1931 is the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of the Red Cross.

Last year's Roll Call resulted in a splendid enrollment for our chapter here. There were 4075,649 members in the United States and its insular possessions in 1930.

The support from the people in our territory enabled us to participate in Red Cross work throughout the country, and to conduct a wide program of service. Red Cross Chapters are democratic in character. Membership carries a vote in chapter affairs, and signifies personal participation in local, national and international service.

The history of Red Cross has proved that joining the Red Cross is a highly regarded privilege.

Red Cross memberships are: annual $1.00; contributing $5.00; sustaining $10.00 and supporting $25.00. Only 50 cents of each of these goes to support the work done in the name of all chapters by the National Organization. The balance remains at home for local service.

The following are working in the Roll Call here Mrs. W. C. Cargile, Misses Louise White, Kathleen Sullivan, Kathryn Sharp, Mary Alice Happle and Bessie Stradley. esrebU f7da. is. m w gS thee

THANKSGIVING

In Plymouth Colony the first dreadful winter, during which almost half of the Pilgrim company died, had passed, and renewed hope had grown up with the summer. With the fall, the corn crop was gathered, and Governor Bradford decreed a day of thanksgiving. Great were the preparations—the few women in the colony spent days before, boiling and baking and roasting; and even the children were busy turning the roasts on the spits before the open fires. From Plymouth the custom spread to the other colonies, until in time the governors of each issued such a proclamation annually. During the Revolutionary War eight special thanksgiving days were observed after signal victories or wonderful deliverances from danger, and President Washington issued a general thanksgiving-day proclamation in 1789. In the same year the Protestant Episcopal Church in America announced the first Thursday in November as a regular annual day for giving thanks, "unless another day be appointed by the civil authorities."

But there was no uniformity. Some states had an annual thanksgiving, others did not, and no proclamation was issued by the President. One woman, Mrs. Sarah Josepha Hale, the editor of Godey's Lady Book, took an interest in the subject, and for twenty years sent out pleas through the columns of her journal for a nation-wide thanksgiving. Nor did she stop with this. She wrote letters to each of the Presidents; and finally, in 1863, her efforts were rewarded, for President Lincoln appointed the last Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day.

From 1863 the same day has been regularly set apart. The President annually makes a formal announcement, and the governors of the various states issue proclamations calling on the people to give thanks.

This year, in accordance with the custom, President Hoover made a formal Thanksgiving proclamation which reads as follows:

"We approach the season when, according to custom dating from the gathering of the first harvest by our forefathers in the New World, a day is set apart to give thanks, even amid hardships, to Almighty God for our temporal and spiritual blessings. It has become a hallowed tradition for the Chief Magistrate to proclaim annually a National Day of Thanksgiving."

Our country has cause for gratitude to the Almighty. We have been widely blessed with abundant harvest. We have been spared from pestilence and calamities. Our institutions have served the people. Knowledge has multiplied and our lives are enriched with its application. Education has advanced, the health of our people has increased. We have dwelt in peace with all men.

The measure of passing adversity which has come upon us should deepen the spiritual life of the people, quicken their sympathies and spirit of sacrifice for others, and strengthen their courage.

Many of our neighbors are in need from causes beyond their control and the compassion of the people throughout the nation should so assure their security over this winter that they too may have full cause to participate in this day of gratitude to the Almighty.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, November 26, 1931, as a National Day of Thanksgiving, and do recommend that our people rest from their daily labors, and in their homes and accustomed places of worship give devout thanks for the blessings which a merciful Father has bestowed upon us.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be fixed.

Done, at the City of Washington, this third day of November, in the year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-one, and of the independence of the United States of America, the One Hundred and Fifty-sixth.

Signed

Herbert Hoover.

TAX-SURVEY AND "EFFICIENCY" COMMITTEES

Two acts of the 42nd Legislature which heretofore have attracted comparatively little public notice, promise far-reaching benefits to Texans: The Legislature created two joint committees—one to study tax problems, the other to devise means for increasing the efficiency and lowering the cost of State government.

Obviously, those two objectives are interrelated: The most effective way to reduce taxes is to cut administrative expenses. And—as thinking citizens generally are convinced, and as experience in other States has demonstrated—that objective can be attained without hurt to any essential service.

Reform is principally a matter of simplification—cutting out duplication, combining some bureaus and offices, eliminating others and stopping waste wherever found. In a word, it amounts to introducing business like methods into the people's business.

Government—from the precinct to the Nation—too long has operated according to time-honored methods. Precedent is entrenched and powerfully resistant to new ideas. The privately-owned enterprise could not survive such a policy—but government has no competition.

Happily, civic leaders all over the country are awakening to the need of reform—particularly in fiscal management, which touches the people's pocketbooks. Several progressive Commonwealths have concerned themselves with re-establishing city, county and State organizations on a more businesslike—that is, simpler and more sensible—basis. New York—and only this past summer, Georgia—impressively have demonstrated how such methods profitably can be applied.

Some other States—including Virginia, New Jersey, North Carolina, Maine, Kentucky and Mississippi—recently have conducted surveys similar to that just begun in Texas. The findings have been illuminating. For example, the Virginia Plan would reduce State operating costs by one and one-half million dollars a year and replace an annual deficit by a surplus without adding a penny in taxes.

Can Texas achieve a similar result? Both tax-survey and efficiency committees—now at work in Austin—have begun the task hopefully. The former has expressed a desire to "equalize taxation rather than find new sources of revenue." It has State Auditor Lynn's report showing how genuine equalization would obviate new taxes. The efficiency body also began by summoning expert counsel. With such aid it will endeavor to work out "a thoroughly modern plan of financial administration"—a program which will be "not only ideal, but attainable under existing conditions." —SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS.

THIS AND THAT By JIMMINY

The "big league" of American politics will begin its 1931-32 season in Washington, D. C. December 7. "Batteries" for the opening tilt have not been announced as yet, but it is known that President Herbert Hoover will throw the first "bowl". This national political pastime has been referred to by some writers as "the biggest show on earth"—probably because of the number of clowns taking part in it.

The Senate "wrecking crew" is reported to be in better condition than has ever been known, and are expecting to knock proposed Legislation all over the lot.

In the House a son of Texas, John Nance Garner, who has "pitched" for the Democrats for many years, is expected to hold down the "hot corner" this season. Mr. Garner is schooled in the game of politics and will very likely give a good account of himself. He has been able to distinguish between Democrats and Republicans for a long time, and has this early proved that he can keep his eye on the old "horse-hide" or "horse feathers"—or whatever it is politicians keep their eyes on when an opposing political group suggests something.

That much was proven the other day when the Republicans throw him a "fast one"—a little high on the outside—which he let go by with a statement that the Republicans would have to get them squarely over the plate if they expected the Democrats to swing at them—or words to that effect.

Ever since the Republicans have found they are in the minority by three they have been trying to get the Democrats to agree to a political truce in order to expedite legislation considered—by the Republicans—as necessary and urgent to recovery from our business and financial ills.

Concerning this "compromise", the son of Texas said the Democrats would not be obstructionists because of their strengthened position, and added:

"What was meant was whether Democrats would agree to support every proposal submitted by the President to Congress, their assumption being that this would avoid confusion and conduce to recovery of the country from its present industrial and financial ills. My questioners seem oblivious to the rather insulting character of such inquiry, for it amounts to an implication that our representatives in Congress are capable of sacrificing the welfare of our country to political expediency."

And that means, ladies and gentlemen, that the Democrats expect to "play ball," but will not forfeit the game because of the heavy clouds hanging over the field. So we will see what we see.

DESIGNS GLASS CONTAINER

DENTON, Nov. 19—A recent prize offered by a Texas glass company for the best designed glass container, as to attractiveness and convenience, for canned products was won by a graduate student at Texas State College for Women (CIA). The project was studied in a class of art applied to advertising.

Miss Laura Mae Burton, of Tyler, designed the container last year while a senior in the department of fine and applied arts. She is now working toward a master's degree in Fine Arts.

Deputy Sheriff W. D. Hunter, and Horton Haley left Sunday for the "happy hunting grounds" to chase the fleet-footed pronged buck.

READ TIMES ADS—IT PAYS!

E. D. Lambright, editor of the Tampa (Florida) Tribune, says: "A short time ago in New York City, a nurse noting the suspicious actions of a 92 year old woman recluse she was attending, took advantage of the old woman's temporary absence to make a hurried search of the room. Hidden in faded clothing, she found $500,000 in $10,000 bills. A later search disclosed $400,000 more in cash and good securities. The old woman had hoarded nearly a million dollars for 24 years, explaining that she 'got scared of banks' during the panic of 1907.

The incident revealed one of the causes of the existing financial and unemployment situation. The money which was thus hidden for years did no one any good. It was of no benefit to the possessor, except in the mere sense of possession. If she had put it to work, it would have made much more money for her, enabled others to make money, provided employment for many.

"It is estimated that between $800,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 are similarly concealed in this country. If these dollars could be put into circulation, they would hasten the return of prosperity from its hiding place around the so-called corner.

THE HOARDED DOLLAR IS THE USELESS DOLLAR. MAKE YOUR DOLLARS WORK FOR YOU, AND THEY WILL AT THE SAME TIME WORK FOR OTHERS AND HELP BRING GREATER CONFIDENCE, MORE WORK, BETTER TIMES."

WHY STUMBLE AROUND IN THE DARK?

GOOD light in the garage boots water on the floor by a large and comfortable margin. Why bump against bumpers in the dark? Why spill your clothes by smearing them against fenders that you can't see? With good light in your garage you will be able to tell whether your tires are all right before you start to back out. This is but one of many lighting services your garage should not be without. Put a 60 or 100-watt MAZDA lamp in the garage, to take the place of the 25-watt lamp, which has been on duty so long that it is almost useless. It would cost you scarcely five cents a month more for good light in your garage than for poor light or no light at all. Why not give yourself a treat by having good light, not only in your garage, but in the office, the clinic, and in closets? Why go on stumbling and fumbling around in the dark and ruining your disposition in a painful effort to save a few cents a month?

The change in weather conditions affect your battery. Drive in our station and let us replace that worn battery with a

BREVITIES

Some say that Jimmie Allred's ouster suit against seventeen of the state's great oil companies is his bid for the governorship. Others contend it is a magnificent sacrifice of personal prospects in the interest of the state. Of even greater moment is consideration of the effects it will have upon Texas. If Texas gains as a result of the move, Jimmie Allred also will gain; but if Texas loses, Mr. Allred may experience considerable difficulty in persuading the people he deserves a promotion.

No legislative committee ever was confronted with a more difficult task than has been wished upon our present Legislative Tax Survey Committee. Fortunately, however, no committee members ever approached their task with more enthusiasm and energy. The state's tax problem has been entrusted to good hands, and the people well may expect them to present to the Legislature recommendations that are carefully considered and constructive.

In Wise county there are 100 sows and litters on self-feeders in demonstrations supervised by the county agent to show how to sell grain crops to the best advantage.

Schoolland Community in Gonzales county has swung its 4000 acres of cotton land to one variety for 1932, with its centrally located gin handling this one variety exclusively. The standardization is in cooperation with the county agent and the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry.

Hogs in a Lubbock county demonstration made gains at a feed cost of less than two cents per pound when fed wheat and threshed milo in a self feeder and skim milk to furnish the protein. The county agent reports 23 self-feeders in use now in the county.

Eighteen Harrison county farmers have put 1142 tons of feed in trench silos and the county agent estimates that a total of 1300 tons will be stored in this way before the season ends.

Lathes made from two-inch pine nailed together with three-penny nails at a cost of one cent per foot have been installed in eight Menard county ranch gardens with help from farm and home agents to swell the returns from fall gardens.

Mrs. C. A. Cozby, Palo Pinto county home demonstration club member, is selling peanut candy made from farm grown peanuts. Last year her profits from these sales exceeded $100.

WAFFLE MOST VERSATILE OF FOOD DELICACIES

When in doubt, have waffles. The ingredients are staples on hand in every household. The uses of the waffle run the course of breakfast, lunch, the impromptu tea party, dinner or supper. There is no food more adaptable, none more variable in its uses, none quicker and easier of production, than the waffle.

The breakfast waffle is never wasted. Capacity reached, the batter that is left can be put away in the refrigerator, and used again at lunch or at the light supper in the evening, and, still better, at the impromptu afternoon tea.

Breakfast waffles are served with butter and sugar, or butter and sirup, with bacon or with sausage, depending on the likes and dislikes of the waffle-fed family. There are varieties in even the breakfast use of the useful waffle.

For lunch or the impromptu afternoon collation, jam or jelly or marmalade can be used instead of butter, and for creamed chicken or sea food, the waffle makes an ideal base at supper time. The useful waffle is adaptable to any circumstance or to any taste.

With self-rising flour the success of the waffle batter is never left to chance. There is no waste. Self-rising flour is economical of both time and expense, as can readily be seen by the following recipe:

Waffles.
2 cups self-rising flour 2 tbsp. melted fat
1 1/2 cups milk 2 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar 1 tsp. salt
Directions: Sift and measure flour. Beat yolks with sugar and fat. Add milk. Then add liquid to flour and fold in egg white, beaten stiff but not dry. Let bake in hot waffle iron from one-half to one minute, and turn.

THORN-APPEL NUPTIALS

Miss Fay Appel and Mr. Gene Thorn, both of this city, were united in marriage last Sunday evening at the Church of Christ with Rev. R. E. Griffith reading the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. M. P. Lester sang, "All for You." The bride's family then entered, followed by the bride and groom who walked to the altar, which was decorated with flowers, for the ceremony.

A large number of friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony. The bride was attractively dressed in a late model of white satin trimmed in lace with accessories to match.

Miss Fay is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Appel, prominent ranch people of this county. She is a graduate of our high school. Her sunny, sweet smiling disposition has made her many friends who wish her much happiness.

The groom, until recently an employee of the Big Canyon Ranch Co., comes from near Menard, his people being well and favorably known in that section of the country.

Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple departed for the Appel ranch where they will make their home.

The Times joins with the many friends of the couple in extending congratulations and best wishes.

WOOL

Prize Winning Essay by H. D. Johnson, Local High School Student.

The first sheep about which we know anything belonged to the Romans. They were the fine Merinos. The Romans introduced them into Spain. The Spanish King prohibited the exportation of the fine Merinos for many years. Despite this, the wool industry soon spread over Europe. When America was settled, the settlers brought along their livestock with them. They did not realize then that they were starting the wool industry in a country that would soon be one of the leading competitors in the world's market.

The wool-growers class wool according to its fineness. They also consider the breeds of sheep. Wool, as classified by the wool growers, is classed in four divisions in the following order: (1) Merino wool, (2) British wool, (3) Crossbred wool, (4) Carpet wool. The thoroughbred Merino is used as the standard of excellence. The manufacturers class wool according to its length and elasticity. The manufacturers class wool in the following groups: (1) "Combing" wool, (2) "Clothing" wool, (3) "Carpet" wool, (4) "Baby combing" wool. "Combing" wool is about two and a half inches long. "Baby combing" wool is that which has to be combed by an especially fine comb. "Carpet" wool is used in making carpets and blankets as its name implies.

There are certain qualities that wool must have in order to be valued at a very high price. First, the wool must have lustre. Wool from unhealthy sheep has a dull look, while that from a healthy sheep shines like silk. The wool must be at least moderately long or else it cannot be used to the best advantage. Another quality which is very essential is elasticity. Many times the wool may be long, but have weak spots in the center. This renders the wool almost useless to the manufacturers. The wool-grower should try to gain these qualities in his wool by keeping his sheep healthy.

The wool industry has progressed very much since the first sheep were landed in America. It was estimated on January 1, 1931, that there were 51,991,000 sheep and lambs in the United States. There is about a $2,000,000,000 turnover annually in wool. There are 367,655,000 pounds of wool shorn in the United States in 1930. About 3,000,000 people depend upon the wool industry for a livelihood. These figures indicate the importance of the wool industry in the United States.

Chief Justice Hughes In Tribute to Red Cross

One of the finest tributes ever paid the American Red Cross and its membership was that by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, on the occasion of the fiftieth birthday anniversary of the organization on May 21 of this year. Mr. Hughes said: "The American Red Cross represents the united voluntary effort of the American people in the ministry of mercy. It is the finest and most effective expression of the American heart. It knows no partiality. In the perfection of its cooperation, there is no blemish of distinction by reason of race or creed or political philosophy. "However we may differ in all things else, in the activities of the Red Cross we are a united people. None of our boasted industrial enterprises surpasses it in efficiency. . . . It moves with the precision and the discipline of an army to achieve the noblest of human aims. "The American Red Cross is not only first in war but first in peace. The American people rely upon its ministrations in every great catastrophe. It has given its aid in over one thousand disasters. When, as we hope, war will be no more, still the Red Cross, in the countless activities of relief and rehabilitation, will continue to function as the organized compassion of our country."

Wool Consumption By American Mills Ahead of Last Year

Fashion's Trend to Woolens and Worsteds Causes More Demand.

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—Consumption of wool by American mills continued to run ahead of 1930 during September, when 39,714,952 pounds of wool in the grease, exclusive of carpet wools, was used. A year ago in September the nation consumed 31,976,750 pounds, or 7,738,202 pounds less than the same month this year. Consumption for the first nine months of 1931 exceeded the amount used in the same period a year ago by 59,509,593 pounds. While the nation continued to demand more wool because of fashion's trend to woolens and worsteds, coupled with shortage of stocks on retail shelves; mills seeking to force down the price met decided and successful resistance from the National Wool Marketing Corporation, marketing agency for 32 cooperative wool-growing associations with 25,000 members. The National repeatedly rejected bids which were below current market levels and thus established itself as a dominant factor in stabilizing the American market. Some dealers said below current levels, a step which weakened the market price during an unsettled period. Officials of the National pointed out that wool stocks on hand, as of October 15, in the principal wool centers of the United States showed 185,719,865 pounds of domestic wool. This is based on a report compiled for the Boston Wool Trade and includes wool held in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Louisville. Territory, California and Texas wools in the grease totaled 131,703,937 pounds. Of the total domestic wool on hand, 20,928,423 pounds were fleece wool, 6,348,752 pounds of pulled wool in the grease and 6,660,690 pounds were scoured wool. The National estimates approximately that of the total domestic wool on hand, 40 million pounds to strictly clothing wool, leaving 145 million pounds of combing domestic wool. This is divided for grades with 102 million pounds of fine and fine medium; 22 million pounds of halfblood wool; seven million pounds of three-eighths blood wool; nine million pounds of quarterblood wool, and four million pounds of below quarterblood wool. Total foreign wool of merino and fine medium crossbred on hand was 3,950,258 pounds. With eight months to go before arrival of the new clip in wool centers, a healthy situation exists for wool at the present time and there is no apparent reason for offering wool at lower prices. Draper and company, selling agents for the National, explain. "It is the opinion of the best students of the foreign situation that regardless of the breadth of the financial liquidation that is taking place, wool values will respond to at least their present relative basis," says a statement from the selling agent. "The basis is well above parity of domestic wools, so that settlement of conditions in this country, which would put us back on the consumption basis of last summer, would positively necessitate importation of substantial quantities of foreign wool, with the result that our market could very easily advance 15 to 20 percent to meet this importing basis."
