The yelp for help that comes from he drouth stricken states of midwestern U. S. sounds strange to us ut here in the arid sections socalled. It's proof positive to us that 'those easterners' can't take it. In West Texas we have one drouth after another, and seldom is there a squak. Philosophically we remark that if it don't rain in so and so many weeks, we're blowed up; and if we blow up, plans are started for the next hazard-and brother, let me tell you that anything started in this part of the world is a hazard with a capital H-be it livestock or crops. Some one remarked that if we get one good year out of five we're sitting on top o' the cockeyed world. But let those "easterns" have one had one, the world hears about it, and the wail goes to Uncle at Washington for help. If its not forthcoming there will be strikes, riots and

Sanderson and vicinity has been n the grip of a continuous heat ave for the past two weeks, with the thermometer hovering around 105 to 108 degrees, and no prospects for cooler weather right soon, according to reports. No rains have fallen in this section in over a week and the country is getting very dry with all grass and shrubbery gradually being burned up. Hot, dry winds are causing ranchmen some worry and even though there is a threatening rain cloud now and then all hopes of rain disappear soon.

Annual Pienic of Ranchmen Enjoyed

The ranchman's picnic was held June 14 at the pretty grove at the old Bean homestead. Because of a change in date and many other entertainments the crowd was smaller than in former years. But the weather was ideal and many came with a cheery smile and a firm handclasp for the friends he had not seen since this same occasion of a year ago.

The barbecue of lamb, kid and calf was excellent and the table was loaded with cakes, cookies, and salads. There were gallons of iced tea and lemonade, which refreshed the crowd during the afternoon.

The visitors present were Mrs. M. E. Davis, Emmett Davis Seale, Mrs. Cecil G. Allen and sons, E. C. and V. H. Allen of Houston, guests of the Allen family; Mrs. B. F. Wylie, R. K. and Rosa Lee Wylie, and little Delbertine Hurley of Van Horn, who were guests of the Hardgrave family. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Spaw and family of Del Rio, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Allen of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lee and children of San Angelo, Mrs. G. A. Scruggs and children of Abilene.

'Frontier Marshal' At Princess Tonight

George O'Brien, long known for his western characterizations, comes to the screen of the Princess theatre today and tomorrow in Fox Film's latest release, "Frontier Marshal." Tombstone, Arizona, known in the days of the old West as a roaring, politically corrupt mining town and where lawlessness and death were the order of the day, forms the background of this western epic. The film was taken from incidents in the life of Wyatt Eary, the West's most widely known peace officer in those days, a fearless leader of the law and order forces who tamed the elements that had made Tombstone known the world over.

O'Brien is cast as a frontier marshal who, because of the girl he ves, remains in Tombstone to venge her father's slaver. He has hard task and finds that the mayor f the town is in with the outlaws hat have given Tombstone its bad name. How he overcomes all these difficulties and captures the murderer of the girl's father brings the picture to a dramatic finish.
