SECTION GETS GOOD RAIN

Column Right

P. A. T.

This column is in receipt of a letter from Sally Rand, which sounds suspiciously sarcastic: "Received a copy of your paper with reference to my bubble exploding. Sorry you were not interested in the incident—everybody around here was. But let me tell you something, down in your state, where they will hold an election Saturday, the 28th, there is going to be lots of bubbles explode. In my case I got another bubble in a few hours; it's going to be two long years before your candidates get another bubble—so there.

Scantly yours, Sally Rand.
Guess the little lady is right, at that.

Don't void your ballot in tomorrow's election by marking it incorrectly. Elsewhere in this issue of the Times you will find full and correct instructions on how a ballot should be marked. The instructions are plain, simple and easy. The name or names you vote against should be marked through with the pencil, starting at the initial, winding up at the period. After your ticket is thus marked the names of your choice of candidates will stand out clear and distinct, and the work of the election officials will be made a pleasure.

Received a letter from an old friend over Pecos way, who wanted an ad inserted in this issue. It got here too late. He owns forty sections in the vicinity of Salt Creek, and it opens every two years for those who are disappointed in love—We mean politics. Trained nurses are furnished while you recuperate, and when well enough you can play golf over the entire 40 sections.

Heard a mother scolding a son the other day. She needed his help on the ranch—but what bright lights Sanderson affords appealed to him, and he wanted to stay. Under protest he went to the ranch to make a hand. Later in life when he runs for office the chances are he will brag about his childhood days spent on the ranch, how he gladly helped at honest toil to keep the wolf and a litter of pups from the door.

Rain Thursday morning seemed to pep the entire population. To be sure there wasn't no gully washer, but the clouds still hang, and prospects for more are good. We never get enough rain in this country.

It looks like the match has been struck for a conflagration in Europe with the assassination of President Dolfuss. The diplomats are going to have to work double shift to avert conflict. If it had been Hitler, for there is no doubt that Adolph is power-mad. While he lives you can expect anything.

Boy Scout Troop Will Leave Tuesday for Rio Frio Camp

Preparations are being made by the members of the boy scouts of this city and their scoutmaster, Duane Smith, to attend the annual encampment of the boys at Camp Fawcett, beginning next Tuesday, August first, and lasting through August 12th.

Professor Smith returned to Sanderson last Friday and on Monday took over his duties as scoutmaster, and has been busy the entire week shaping the boys for the trip and making the necessary preparations to leave for camp.

The Clarence Hallie Mulkey Post No. 160, American Legion is sponsoring the boy scout movement here and will make arrangements for transporting the boys to the camp site.

The camp furnishes tentage, the dishes, plates, two cups, knife, fork, spoon and all cooking utensils. The meals for the boys will be managed by those in charge of the camp, and two excellent cooks, with helpers, have been hired to run the kitchen, so that the scouts will be free to enjoy every minute of the encampment.

The organization of the scout camp fixes a charge of 75 cents a day for each scout while in camp. This fee for the twelve-day period will be $9. Each boy attending the camp must pay this fee, and should he be compelled to leave the camp before the twelve days are up, the unearned portion of his meal charge will be refunded.

The local scouts have been busy ever since the close of school getting ready for the camp and many of them already have earned their $9, the sum needed for the twelve day encampment.

It is to be hoped that at least 20 boys will go from here to the encampment.

On Monday of this week a meeting was held, a goodly number of the scouts and Scoutmaster Smith being present, at which time plans were discussed, the tentative number of scouts able to make the trip were enrolled, and uniforms decided upon. After the meeting the scouts piled into the scoutmaster's car and hied to a nearby ranch where they enjoyed swimming.

Another meeting was held Tuesday afternoon and part of the time was spent in additional tests for merit badges, and part time spent in boxing practice, in preparation for sparring exhibitions to be given by the scouts later.

At Tuesday's meeting a hike was outlined, and the boys left Wednesday at 6 o'clock, taking their bedrolls for an all-night session under the stars.

Soaking Rain Falls Over Wide Area to Bring Relief

Half-inch Registered With Official Gauge; Estimates Much Higher

With a decided change in wind direction which for months had been from the east, and a very noticeable drop in the mercury, rain began to fall in Sanderson and vicinity at about 2 a. m. Thursday, heavy at first, then settled to a slow, steady downpour, accompanied for the most part by a driving wind from the north, northwest.

Shortly after noon the sun broke through, but the skies remained overcast with heavy clouds, that prestige the fact that old Jupiter Pluvius isn't quite through, and has no intention of putting up his watering can for a while yet.

This rain is the start of a normal season. Ranchers are filled with hope that son, and are confident that the prolonged drought is at an end.

Reports from adjoining counties in all directions tally with conditions in Sanderson, with the rains heavier to the east.

Many Voters Void Ballots By Incorrect Marking; Follow These Instructions

One-fourth of the ballots cast in elections of the state have some defect in marking, it has been pointed out by Democratic chairmen, who are also cautioning voters to use care in marking their ballots this year. Many of the ballots are consequently thrown out, not being counted.

The surprisingly large number of persons who do not know how to mark a ballot is, no doubt due to the fact that a large number of persons who, in the last few years, have moved to Texas from other states where a different system of marking the ballot is permitted.

"Some voters mark a ballot by simply placing a check mark, while others place an "X" before or after the name of the candidate for whom they wish to vote, leaving the other names on the ballot. Under the law a ballot marked either of these ways can not be counted.

The law provides that a voter shall draw a line through the names of the persons he does not want to vote for or erase the name, leaving the name of the person he desires to vote for unmarked. In other words, if there are six candidates in a race for one office you will draw a straight line through five of the names, and the name not marked out will be the person for whom you are voting. That should be clear. Yet, as stated, a great many place a check mark or an "X" by one name intending to vote for that person, but under the law that vote could not be counted.

Neither is it lawful to bring a sample ballot to the polls and strike or check the official ballot from the sample ballot. Such vote will not be counted.

"It is not permissible for an election judge to assist a voter, unless such voter can speak the English language and can advise the election judge in English the persons for whom he intends to vote.

A common error made by many voters is for them to draw a line through the name of the candidate that he intends to vote for and to leave the remaining names on the ballot unmarked. If there are only two candidates for that office then the vote is counted for the person whose name is not marked out—contrary to the wish of that voter; or, if there are more than one candidate, the vote is not counted at all.

It is not permissible or proper for a voter to sign his name to the ballot.

American Legion Dance Saturday Night, 28th

The local post of the American Legion will give a dance tomorrow, Saturday, night at the Masonic hall and the music for this occasion will be furnished by Cuco and his famous orchestra, of Del Rio. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock, and the charge for dancing is $1.50.

Bring in Water Well On Clyde Higgins Ranch

A water well was brought in this week on the Clyde Higgins ranch at a depth of 716 feet. The vein was struck at the 680-foot level, but the well was drilled deeper to insure a good supply. Tests have not been made as to its strength, except by bailing, and this showed the flow to be between 7 and eight gallons per minute.

A. N. Tyler drilled the well.

SCOUTS ALL WET

Accompanied by the Scoutmaster, Duane Smith, members of the local troop left Wednesday afternoon on a hike to the Harrell springs, about 5 miles from town. Rain caught them asleep under the skies, and they certainly were glad to see Sheriff Lee Cook at their camp early next morning, with means of transportation back home. Several trips were made but the boys were all delivered right side up, if not entirely dry.

Mrs. J. B. Halsell left last Sunday night for Los Angeles where she was called on account of the illness of a sister.

Vote Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Saturday, the 28th, is the date of the Democratic primary election.

The one request of the candidates is that every one go to the polls and cast a ballot for the men of their choice.

Tomorrow you will vote for every Democrat offering for office in State, County and Precinct—from Senator to Constable.

In the case of county and precinct candidates tomorrow is the first and last opportunity you will have to boost their ambition, for the highest man wins, without a runoff. So, if you wish to vote for a county or a precinct candidate tomorrow is your only chance.

That there will be a heavy vote is evidenced by the fact that 72 absentee votes were cast in this county.

Come early, bring your poll tax receipt, and exercise your right of suffrage.

If you are not sure about marking your ticket look in another column on this page for full instructions.

Appeal for Re-election of Tom Connally Vice President Garner Makes Strong

The following letter was received by Gen. W. A. Keeling. It is from Vice President John Garner, and is self-explanatory:

"My dear General Keeling: I have received your favor of July 11, and hasten to make reply.

"Some time ago I announced that I would vote for Senator Connally for re-election to the Senate. I have no hesitancy in expressing the reasons for my action.

"Since 1917 Tom Connally and I have served together in Congress, first in the House of Representatives and lately in the Senate. During that time I have had exceptional opportunity to judge of his services to the people of Texas and to the Republic. Senator Connally is a member of the two most important committees in the Senate, Foreign Relations and Finance. He is also a member of the Senate Policy committee, appointed by the Democratic Caucus to determine the policies of legislation for the Democratic organization. He occupies a powerful and influential place in the Senate by reason of his committee assignments.

"He is an honest, able and courageous public servant and ought to remain in the Senate. I do not believe there is a man in Texas who could represent the interests of this state as well as he can under present conditions.

"Senator Connally has rendered the Democratic party distinguished service in cooperating with his Democratic colleagues in the Senate and with President Roosevelt in the National Recovery program. He enjoys the confidence and esteem of his colleagues in the Senate and of the President of the United States.

"In my opinion it would be a great misfortune to fail to return Tom Connally to the Senate.

Sincerely,
"JOHN GARNER."

OUR MISTAKE

Payne In Last Plea To City's Voters

Outlines Policies for Which He Will Work If Elected To Legislature

Stanford Payne, candidate for the state legislature from this district, addressed the voter of Sanderson Wednesday night in the interest of his candidacy.

Showing the effects of a strenuous speaking tour and hoarse of voice Mr. Payne's address was brief, and he dealt only with the highlights in his platform.

One of the promises of the candidate was to work faithfully for a revision of taxes, contending that our homes and private property be protected to the extent that not another dollar be added to that already levied, claiming these items are already taxed to death.

"I will write and work for a new law aimed and corrupt lobbying," he declared, "and I claim that the real cause of depression and other ills confronting us today can be laid to the fact that lobbyists write our laws behind closed doors instead of the legislators in open session." His bill will make each legislator file for record, a report of any firm or interest which is employing him aside from the duties of representing his district.

For Law Enforcement

"The crime condition is a disgrace to our state and nation. If elected," said Mr. Payne, "I will support a bill that will merge the state rangers and the highway patrol into an adequate fighting machine, and arm them in such manner that they can meet the bank robber, the hijacker, and murderer on equal terms."

Touching our schools, the candidate stated, that Texas ranked 36th among the states in the matter of education. "With our vast resources, accruing for the most part from the soil, this is a crying shame, and as I myself taught school in Texas for seven years, I am vitally interested in securing for our children the opportunities and the facilities for an education to which they are entitled. I will endeavor to head off many of the millions now being shipped north by monopolists, and see that the rightful portion be kept here and diverted to the betterment of our public school system."

THE MONEYLESS MAN

(Contributed by Mrs. M. E. Shely)

Oh, is there no place on the face of the earth Where Charity dwelleth, where virtue hath birth? Where bosoms of kindness and mercy will heave, And the poor and the wretched may ask and receive?

Go into your hall where the chandelier light Drives off with its splendor the darkness of night; Where the rich hanging velvet in shadowy fold Sweeps gracefully down with its trimming of gold;

Then go to your judge, in his dark flowing gown, With the scales wherein law weighted equity down, Where he frowns on the weak, and smiles on the strong, Punishes the right, while he justifies wrong.

Then go to your church with its cloud-reaching spire, That gives back to the sun its same light of red wine, Where the arches and columns are gorgeous within, And the walls seem as pure as a soul without sin.

Then go to your bank where mammon has toll, Its hundreds and thousands of silver and gold; Where its safe from the reach of the starving and poor, Lies piled upon piles of the glittering ore.

Then go to your hovel—no raven hath fed— And the wife who hath suffered too long for her bread, Kneel down by the pallet and kiss the death-frost From the lips of your angel, her poverty lost.

There's a welcome above for the moneyless man.

Chevrolet Passes Half Million Mark First Six Months

World production of Chevrolet cars during the month of June totaled 98,147 units, making the company's production for the first six months of this year 525,093 units or nearly 50 per cent greater than the first half of 1933, according to an announcement made by the officials of the Chevrolet Motor company.

Despite this obviously high production for the first half of 1934, there is still a shortage of Chevrolet cars in the field, officials stated. During the month of June, 23,089 units, a better daily average than was achieved in June.

Chevrolet's record-breaking sales continued their advance in June, shattering all monthly records since May, 1931, and achieving the highest June total since 1929, officials of the Chevrolet Motor company announced. Retail sales for the month as compiled from dealers' reports, were the basis of the announcement.

HEADS S. P. TRAFFIC

W. W. HALE Now head of the Southern Pacific Freight Traffic as manager, with his headquarters in Houston.

W. W. Hale Made Head of Traffic Dept. of So. Pac.

Houston, July 26.—(Special to the Times)—Chas. S. Fay, vice president and traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Lines of Texas and Louisiana, is retiring on August first after 48 years of service. The title of vice president in charge of traffic will be abolished, according to announcement of H. M. Lull, executive vice president head of the Texas-Louisiana lines.

The position now will be that of general freight traffic manager, W. W. Hale being promoted to that position, coming to Texas from the Pacific Coast. His headquarters will be in Houston.

Hale has been with the Southern Pacific for more than thirty-three years, during which time he has held important traffic positions, both in the middle west and on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Hale began his career with the company in 1917 when he was appointed eastern car service agent with headquarters in Chicago.

During war time government control of railroads, Mr. Hale was assistant manager of the refrigerator department of the car service section of the Federal railroad administration. When the lines were returned to private management in February 1920, he was appointed general agent for Southern Pacific at Detroit.

In April 1929, Mr. Hale was returned to the Pacific coast as assistant to the freight traffic manager at the company's general office in San Francisco, devoting particular attention to the solicitation and development of freight traffic. Since January, 1932, he has been general freight agent at Portland, having full charge of freight traffic matters on the company's lines in Oregon, and directed the solicitation of the freight traffic in the Pacific Northwest territory.

J. T. Monroe, passenger traffic manager of the Texas-Louisiana lines will remain in charge of passenger traffic affairs, with headquarters at Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Tol Murrah and son were week end visitors in Del Rio with relatives and friends.

At the Princess

"David Harum" is Rogers' Best Role

Today and tomorrow, at the Princess theatre, Fox Films will answer the request of thousands of theatregoers and present Will Rogers in "David Harum." The film which is based on the novel by Edward Noyes Westcott, is reported as being perfectly suited to Rogers' talents.

The screen play, following closely the typically American theme of the novel, concerns itself with the life of a shrewd and ruthless horse-trader. His dealings with the people in the small town in which he lives are cold-hearted and unethical. But a young man who is employed as teller in the bank owned by the horse trader learns of his concealed sympathy for the poor, and realizes that underneath his hard crust he really has a soft heart. Because of his poor financial standing the boy hesitates to propose marriage to a wealthy girl with whom he is deeply love. The horse trader's efforts to help the romance are unsuccessful. Upon the advice of the horse trader the young man places all his money on a horse the girl has entered in a race. The film is said to come to a happy and an amusing conclusion as the horse trader uses his own hilarious method to bring the horse across the line a winner.

Will Rogers' supporting cast is studied with an array of screen personalities that includes Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable, Kent Taylor, and Stepin Fetchit.

Muni Has Comic Role in 'Hi Nellie'

Paul Muni, veteran of the stage, has taken on a new role in the picture "Hi Nellie" which is being shown at the Princess theatre. Muni has the role of managing editor and is sentenced to write the Heart Throbs column because he has displeased the publisher. The manner in which he accepts this bitter pill, after writing under the gibes of his fellow workers, and works back to a stronger position than ever, is one of the most hilarious, as well as thrilling dramas ever to be screened.

Glenda Farrell plays opposite Muni in the role of a woman reporter and the sweetheart of the managing editor. Others in the cast include the Russian ballet dancer, Kathryn Sergava, Robert Barrat, Ned Sparks, Hobart Cavanaugh and Berton Churchill.

The story for the best part takes place in the city room of a great metropolitan newspaper which is said to be the exact replica of one of the New York dailies. Every detail of the film is reputed to have been followed out in exact accordance with the practices generally followed by actual newspapers and with a true press atmosphere.

Art Director Turns Futurist in Picture

A studio art director has to be twice as versatile as a short-order cook. It's part of his job. So that when Jack Otterson, who designed the settings for Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell's current starring vehicle, "The Princess" which comes to the Princess theatre Friday and Saturday, August 3 and 4, he was confronted with the problem of obtaining half a dozen highly futuristic works of art to hang on the walls of a Greenwich Village apartment for one sequence of the production, he had a simple solution.

"I built a simple solution for myself," he said. The resulting canvases resemble a drunken ukulele trying to swallow a vegetable plate lunch, another looks like a jig-saw puzzle of a riot in a nudist colony, but all, Otterson claims, are typical of current trends among the Village elite. And for all he knows he may have created a masterpiece.

In a letter received Wednesday morning from Superintendent B. J. Brannan of the Sanderson schools, was the account of a three-day program for teachers which will be held at Texas Tech, Lubbock, beginning Monday.
