LEGION TO STAGE BOXING MATCHES WEDNESDAY NITE

Some Fast Bouts Expected At Exhibition For Scout Benefit Fund

The local American Legion post is sponsoring an amateur boxing program which will be staged next Wednesday night, August 15, at the Legion Ball Park, according to an announcement to the Times by W. C. Cargile, one of the promo'ers.

The main event of the evening will be a four-round bout between Terry Beckett and Raymond Yeates. These boys are about evenly matched as to age, weight, etc., and should put on a snappy exhibition.

The minor events, which will be two and three rounds each, will see in action Jesse Lochausen matched with Wawne Haines: Wade House and Johnnie Whistler, D. C. Thrift and William Lea. Other matches ragon, but in some manner, the fact are being made, and several will be between members of the local scout bus Jimmy, when he landed on top troop. ACTUAL EXPERIENCE COUNTS

Sixting in a little country weekly newspaper office, far removed from all the big-time stuff at the nation's capital, we observe different committees and commissions set up, their goal being to cure the many ailments with which this country is suffering. A study of these bodies bring the thought: "can the interest of the entire nation be centered in as small a place as Washington, a dozen of the larger cities and a few colleges, the rest of us being mere invisible atoms floating about in a swirl of dust that Carrie Shurley, who had been visitis being raised by the proposed job of house settling-moving back to

Take the banking situation, so closely related to economic progress as a whole. Banking in New York and in Sanderson are as different as a modern automobile and a one-horse shay. Both provide the means for commercial transportation in their own circle, it's true, but in ways vastly different. Rules, regulations and practices that may be highly helpful to family had as guests over the week the metropolitan bank serve quite the opposite when applied to a country bank. Present rules and regulations under the code are formulated in Washington and it is sought to apply them to every section of the United States where banking is a business. But did you ever hear of a country banker being named on one of these committees or commissions that set daughter, LaVerne of Anthony, New up formulas for banking under the recovery program? Or did you hear of any endeavor to get a true picture of the peculiar problems that confront rural banking institutions'

That may be one reason for the glassy stare that is the portion of the average citizen in rural communities, instead of the loan they plead. The past week from their home in San Thursday. people who drew up our code knew nothing of our problems. Result: the banker, as a rule is shackled, helpless, under a barrage of "Thou shalt, and thou shalt not." A law, tenet, or whatnot, born in any section of this country with its varied population, its sectionalized living conditions, is impossible in its application to the nation as a whole. It must be bent here, and twisted there before it will fit.
