TEXAS CENTENNIAL TO OUT-SHINE CENTURY OF PROGRESS

Following an able discussion of what a "Century of Progress" at Chicago offers, and contrasting it with the Texas Centennial possibilities of 1936, Dale Miller, able writer in Texas Weekly, concludes the Texas celebration will surpass the Chicago event.

His concluding remarks appear below:
"Whatever Texas must yield to Chicago in physical equipment, however, will be more than compensated for by the picturesqueness and colorful lure which are the property of Texas alone. Both the Centennial and the Fair depict their periods of progress, of course, but the centuries revived by the Centennial encompass exciting, momentous developments in history which changed the maps of nations. Foreign countries which now have only impersonal commercial exhibits in Chicago will be encouraged to become an integral part with Texas in the celebration of an epoch in which their own ancestors held imperial sway. The flags of France, of Spain and Mexico, as well as the Texas Republic, the Confederacy, and the United States, have all ruled over the land in which the Centennial is being created today, and for that reason the exposition will be distinctly international in character.

"The greatest advantage possessed by the Centennial, however, is that, while depicting the progress of the past, it opens the door to a future of magnificent promise. Texas has only barely begun to expand to the potentialities of its resources, and it has been reliably estimated that a successful Centennial celebration will bring not only millions of visitors but probably a million new residents to the State. Consequently, while gigantic expositions like the World's Fair can generate tremendous business in congested urban districts, the Centennial can go further in offering opportunity to millions to settle down and join in the fruition of a local destiny. In this respect, then, the Centennial will surpass the Fair, but the people must respond with the supreme effort necessary to make it a great success."

BOOKS OPEN GATE

(Editorial from Rotarian Magazine)

Who has not met the man whose horizon hardly reaches beyond his petty round of business and personal affairs? Intellectually he is insular, yet for breakfast he drinks coffee grown in Brazil and eats toast made of wheat, the price of which is controlled by exports and imports, and then rides to work on rubber produced in Malaya.

"Oh, yes," he will say, "sometimes when my ship comes in I'm going to see the world." But in the meantime, denied the full loaf he ignores the half which, in this case, is that very excellent substitute for travel: reading.

Everybody can take some time for reading. The late Theodore Roosevelt preached and lived the strenuous life, yet arbitrarily took ten or fifteen minutes each day to read poetry. Poetry, he explained, kept open the gates of his awareness to beauty. His example of planned reading each day on a certain subject is a good one to emulate. If the field selected be foreign affairs, surprisingly quick returns in understanding international problems now obscure are sure to follow.

CRIME BEGINS AT HOME

(Editorial from Rotarian Magazine)

Clarifying the channels of justice is important. So is "clamping down" on law-breakers, especially such desperadoes as Dillinger. But such efforts do not eradicate crime, only the criminal. Jailing the law-breaker or sending him to the electric chair disposes of him, but what is the net social gain if two restless youngsters immediately aspire to the underworld role he vacates?

Here, then, is the nubbin of the whole crime problem, notwithstanding the expediency and necessity of coping with existing crime.

Even a cursory glance at the picture reveals that youthful criminality is on the increase. The recent growth in the United States' annual thirteen-billion-dollar crime bill is due not to the hardened criminal whose ranks are thinning, but the youthful recruit. Statistics from England and Wales bear that out, for there forty-two percent of the persons found guilty of indictable offenses in one year were under twenty-one years of age.

The psychologist and criminologist have charted the field, but when they are through the problem comes back home, to the community, the family, the individual. And there it will stay—until solved.

WHY YOUTH GOES WRONG

"The two dominant impulses of youth are toward activity and toward some kind of collective association. Our failure to provide for these two impulses under the changed conditions of rural as well as city life, is at least a partial measure of why we are getting unsatisfactory results in character development."—Dr. John Dewey in Rotarian Magazine.

Hints for the Household

By BETTY WEBSTER

Well, well, and Labor Day is upon us once again! And what shall we do with it this time. I, for one, have never been able to accustom myself to its name. It's the one day that no one works—even drug stores and restaurants close in many places—but very likely the perpetrators had a good reason for it, so I shall undoubtedly worry along somehow.

Picnic or At Home But to get back to the theme, I think an ideal way to celebrate is by doing no work, even in preparation (that day, I mean) and completely relax and enjoy oneself. Either plan on a final summer outdoor picnic or enjoy it at home. In the latter case, a buffet luncheon or supper with outdoor games, croquet, baseball, tennis or golf, will prove very pleasant.

Prepare all the food, a gelatine salad, crackers, ribbon sandwiches, lemonade and cake, the day before. Keep everything wrapped up in a damp cloth and the fruit syrup ready for the last minute addition of water, in the refrigerator and set out when needed.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

1. Silver, sterling or plated should never be allowed to stand for any length of time with food on it or in water, because it apt to become stained or rusted. 2. Mustard will discolor silver unless the condiment is removed from it immediately.

RECIPES

3 egg whites. 1 teaspoon cream of tartar. 1 cup sugar. 1/4 cup of cocoa. 1/4 cup of flour. 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Beat whites of eggs until frothy; add cream of tartar and continue to beat until stiff; add sugar slowly. Fold in flour and cocoa, sifted four times, avoiding the stirring motion; add vanilla. Pour into an ungreased pan, preferably one used only for angel cake; bake in a slow oven

(310 deg.) sixty to eighty minutes.

Soft Chocolate Cake Frosting

4 squares bitter chocolate. 1 cup of sugar. 1 1/2 cups of milk. 3 tablespoons cornstarch. 2 tablespoons cold water. 2 tablespoons butter. 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cut chocolate into small pieces and put in pan with sugar and milk and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Mix cornstarch and water; add slowly to first mixture, stirring until thickened. Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. cool and spread on cake.

Stamps Must Be Bought in Order to Hunt Waterfowl

Following an act of congress, and which was approved by President Roosevelt, every hunter of migratory waterfowl over the age of 16 is now required to have in his possession a migratory bird-hunting stamp, regardless of whether he hunts in or outside of the county of his residence. The law became effective June 16, 1934.

The stamps will be sold for $1.00 each and the proceeds therefrom will be used in the waterfowl restoration program—to provide sanctuaries in the section where such fowl have their breeding places.

These special stamps will be on sale at the post office in all county seats and may be procured on and after July 1 and expire on June 30 of the following year. The stamp must be affixed to all hunting licenses in states which require hunting licenses, or to a certificate furnished by the postmaster if the state does not require a hunting license.

Hunting waterfowl without a stamp is a direct violation of the law and is punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both fine and imprisonment.

The license must be in possession of the person while hunting waterfowl and must be exhibited for inspection on request of any officer or employe of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, or any officer of a state or local government authorized to enforce the game laws. For further information regarding the new law and open seasons for waterfowl write to the Chief, Bureau of Biological Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

"43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE"

"You're too modest!"

Motorists who got the first G-3's put out—months before the public announcement—say, "You're too modest!" Many of them report 50% to 100% more non-skid mileage. Why, then, do we insist on only 43%? Well, 43% is a definite test-car-proved figure. Very likely it is low for normal use—because the tests which established the 43% average were gruelling: cars speeding up to 50, jamming on brakes, mile after mile, day and night. Very likely most motorists will get more than 43% more non-skid mileage. But we'll string along with 43%—because it's plenty to deliver at no extra cost. Come see the tire that's the talk of the nation.
