TIGERS WIN EVENS SERIES, 3-2

Monahans And Eagles Tie, 6-6 Game Goes to Twelve Innings, With Lynn Rowe Turning in Stellar Performance On the Mound for Detroit

Scouts Advanced At Recent Meeting

Promotion to "Star" Scouts were the awards that were given recently to Melvin Pollard, Sam Barker and Howard Black, at the Court of Honor held by the local scout troop. At this same meeting the following were awarded merit badges: Sam Barker, Melvin Pollard, Jack Bogusch, Elmo Taylor, Dick Mussey and Howard Black. There has recently been organized in this city a division of the boy scouts, known as the "Cubs," and boys between the ages of 9 to 11 years are eligible for membership. Twenty-three young boys have become members, and hold meetings every Tuesday afternoon at four.

Boy, oh boy, what a ball game! The series were in a knot after the session Thursday afternoon, when Schoolboy Rowe turned in a performance equal in every way to that of "Dizzy" Dean the day before. The Tigers came into the ninth, their last chance, one run behind, but the radio announcer stated that no one was leaving the field, they had a hunch that something would happen. Fox, first Tiger up, singled. Rowe pushed him to second with a bunt, in scoring position; Walker, batting for Jo Jo White, with the count three and two slammed the pill to deep center, and Fox crossed the rubicon with the tying tally. Bill Hallahan, veteran, pitched a good game, and was relieved by Walker in the ninth, and it was the latter's wildness in walking two batters in the twelfth that paved the way for the Tigers' meal at the Cardinals' expense. Let's see how it happened:

First Inning

Cardinals—Martin flew out to White; Rothrock out, second to first. Frisch got a scratch hit down the third base line, was left as Ducky Medwick fanned.

Second Inning

Collins out, fly to center; Delancey singled thru second; Orsatti's drive was good for triplets, Delancey scoring. Derocher popped to Greenberg, and Hallahan out on fly to Fox.

Third Inning

Fourth Inning

Delancey out on fly to Goslin; Orsatti out on easy roller to first, and Derocher rolled one to third for an easy out at first.

Fifth Inning

Hallahan struck out; Martin out, short to first; Rothrock made it the third, liner to Gehring.

Sixth Inning

White out, liner to Frankie Frisch, Cochrane walked; Gehring's fly to right made it two away. Greenberg walked. Goslin drove one into deep right but Rothrock got it.

Seventh Inning

Frisch rolled out to first; Medwick out, fly to center; Collins rolled to first, Rowe covered the bag for the third out.

Eighth Inning

Martin got Rogell's grounder but threw wild and Billy went to second. Owen bunted to Halahan who whipped the ball the third catching Rogell. Fox popped to second, Rowe fanned.

Ninth Inning

Delancey drove a liner between short and second, Rogell made a circus catch, proclaimed the greatest play of the series to date. Orsatti out on grounder, Gehring to Greenberg, and it was three down when Gehring pocketed Derocher's fly.

Tenth Inning

White popped to Derocher; Mickey Cochrane out, Frisch to Collins; Gehring drew a pass, and Greenberg was out, swinging.

Eleventh Inning

Hallahan fly out to second; Martin

NO FISH—LOTS OF BEARS

Last week end a fishing party composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Haynes, and Bill Meeks hied to the Rio Grande in quest of the finney tribe. They report: "No fish, but lots of bear and panther." At night their slumber was disturbed by falling rocks, and next morning saw tracks of a bear and cub on the bank, and farther down tracks of a panther who had come in to quench their thirst during the night.

Much Wool Sold at Average 13c-20c

With a shipment this week of 100,000 pounds of wool from Del Rio to Silberman & Co. of Chicago, the amount of wool sold during the past 30 days by the Val Verde Wool and Mohair company totals 400,000 lbs.

Around 250,000 pounds of wool was recently shipped to Forte Dupree & Scott at a price of from 18 to 20 cents, news dispatches from Del Rio state. Fall wool weighing 115,000 pounds brought 18 cents and the spring wool, weighing 150,000 pounds brought 20 cents.

The Val Verde Wool and Mohair company has approximately 275,000 pounds of wool left in its storehouse, not including this fall's clip.

According to newspaper reports from San Angelo Tuesday, a clip of 1,700 pounds of coarse wool, from a cross between Rambouillet sheep and Old Mexico breeds sold in that city at 19 1/2 cents a pound for eight months staple.

The wool came from the ranch of W. A. Cooper, south of Marathon, and was sold through the Joe B. Blakeney warehouse. It is a new entry in wool staple in that section this year.

Better Prices
Prices looked definitely better—not so much higher, perhaps—but somewhat higher, as every order buyer in the country went around with an order book in his pocket and there were reports of large accumulations under option, states Sam Ashburn, writing in the San Angelo Morning Times.

So far no sales have been made from the local warehouse, Joe Kerr stated Thursday. Most all of the spring clip is still stored here and there will be very little, if any, fall clip, as only a few ranchers are shearing.

Fumbles Costly For Eagles in Game Here Saturday

As a result of fumbles at crucial stages of last Saturday's grid tilt between the Sanderson high school Eagles and Monahans, the feathery tribe had to be content with a draw, the score being 6 to 6 when the last foot of the referee's whistle ended the game. Monahans' break came in the second quarter after being held for downs on their 45-yard stripe. The punt, headed for the end zone, was fumbled by Sharpe, the Eagle safety man, the ball hit him on the shoulder and settled on Sanderson's 11-yard line, with a Monahans man recovering. Before the effects of the play was shaken off, the visitors, in three tries, carried the ball over for a lead of six points.

The visitors, heartened by the lead gained, offered the Eagles some real competition, and were it not for the stubborn defense of our line, they might have added extra points to their score. On defense our line staved off all future attempts of the visitors to get in striking distance of Sanderson's goal. On offense, it is where their work showed to advantage, opening up holes for the Eagle ball carriers whenever called upon. In the closing minutes of playing in the first half, they were battering at the Monahans' gate, and when he whistle sounded the ball lay exactly four yards from Mecca.

In the Eagles' line the work of Latton at end, Lechhausen at guard, and J. Deaton at tackle, deserve special mention. These boys were in every play, and the heavy yardage gained by our backfield, was made possible by their fine blocking.

It was galloping day for the backfield men, who covered considerable yardage, mostly on power plays, but lost of it was spoiled by costly fumbles. Capt. Si Mussey covered most ground during the afternoon, and his shift from end, proved an advantage. Newton's fine punts turned the tide of battle several times, while Sullivan's driving was always good for the yardage needed for a first down, and for the Eagles' lone goal. Haley was alert, and his recovery of Mon-

First Grid Death

The first football fatality in the United States for the 1934 season was Edwin Thiele, 17-year-old Valley Mills, Texas, football player. Edwin, pictured above, received a head injury in a game with Lorena, and died Saturday night in a Waco hospital without regaining consciousness. Valley Mills won the game, 19 to 0. This young man was captain of his football team, president of the Senior class, and one of the outstanding students of Valley Mills high school. (Texas News Photos.)

Warning Against Whooping Cough

Austin, Oct. 4.—"There is no other communicable disease as dangerous as whooping cough to the very young, and there is no other disease causing an equal amount of suffering of which parents show such an unaccountable disregard, not only for the safety of their own little ones but also for the lives of the neighbors' children," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. "There is no natural immunity against this disease during the first six months of life as there is against measles. It is at this age that whooping cough strikes its hardest blow and over 50 per cent of the deaths occur in children of under one year of age. The disease is usually transmitted by direct contact with the secretions of the mouth or nose, and only a very short exposure is required to contract the infection. Handkerchiefs, drinking cups and toys also may be means of transmitting the infection. The infection is communicable from the appearance of the first symptoms and is most contagious in this early stage when the nature of the affection can only be suspected. The incubation period is commonly seven days. A slight fever, running of the nose and a cough make their appearance so gradually and insidiously that a diagnosis is practically impossible unless a history of exposure is obtained. And when the 'whoop' appears there is no mistaking the disease. If there is whooping cough in your community keep other children away from your little children and keep your children at home. Call your physician early. Isolation of all cases for at least two weeks from the development of the characteristic cough should be rigidly enforced.

WEATHER FORECAST—For last week, dry. For this week (unless there's a dance) drier.

A lieutenant at Ft. Sam Houston was tried recently for an alleged outrage of a woman. Acquitted, and this month will be discharged from the service on account of physical disability. Several professional football teams would like to sign him up notwithstanding he is disabled. Will somebody please pass the white-wash!

The Times gets lots of laughs thru the mail. Literature asking that we present this and that matter to our mayor and chamber of commerce or other commercial bodies. This column, investigating, found but one club of business men who assemble regularly. But it seems to be a case of "they meeteth, eateth, and then beat it."

In Pecos the school teachers, before the start of school, were voted a substantial increase in wages. This week the El Paso system votes their teachers an increase amounting to 5 percent, and Del Rio announces the teachers will be paid in cash. In Sanderson they are still on an I. O. U. basis, and to get the "do-re-mi" they must take a discount minimum of 4 per cent.

Eccentric: Polite reference to a damed onery crank who has lots of money.

Cigaret smoking is banned by all coaches who expect the best from their charges. Wonder why these coaches don't read the advertisements. If they did and followed the advice they wouldn't need such a string of reserves on the gridiron. When a player showed the last sign of fatigue all the coach needed to do was pulled a package of Camels. "Too tired to go on, boys, have a Camel." Then watch the difference.

In a picture at the Princess recently was an Indian war dance to the music of tom-toms. It amused the crowd, drew a big laugh. On leaving the theatre we went to a ball where a dance was in progress. Like the Indians they were whirling about to musical strains. We believe the tom-toms was the better music—it seemed to be more consistent. In the dance the only difference here seemed to be the white folks had sense enough to rest once in a while. All nations have their notions, or traditions. We die, our folks bring flowers to the grave, but in the case of the Chinese a nice fat pig is placed on the mound. White folks joshed the yellow man, asked when his friend was coming back to eat the pig. "When Melican come to smellee flowers," he blandly replied.

Why women become nags, is a whole lot simpler to explain than you think. They are all contrary, so when they marry mules they naturally become nags, because that's different.

Financially, this country must be in a heck of a shape. Even the gals' fingernails are now in the red.

Sanderson, like every other small town, has its quota of sideline quarterbacks. Football squads are always doing their best, advice—the kind usually given—is lost motion. If you must yell, yell for, and not at them. Join the pep squad.

Reporting the death of an old-time resident, the Mentone Monitor said "his death came from a genial disability." Hard to conceive anything killing a man as geniality.

NON-ENFORCEMENT OF TAX LAWS BREED EMPTY TREASURIES

The State treasury is empty; many counties, cities and district have empty treasuries except for the special funds for specific purposes. One of the reasons, pointed out by the Texas Tax Journal, is non-enforcement of our tax laws—failure of those who owe, to pay taxes when due, as a direct result of this laxity. The Journal continues: "Tens of thousands of people feel it a duty they owe to government to pay their taxes, and they take care of that obligation each year, and make sacrifices to do so. Also there are tens of thousands who let their taxes ride, some cannot pay, while others take the position that 'what's the use of paying when the State and taxing authorities in general take no steps to enforce the law.' Fact of the matter is just whether a valid judgment can be taken against property for taxes is a question if all the facts are developed in a tax case. If judgment is taken, and the property goes to sale, it must sell for the amount of the judgment or there is no sale, so holds the Attorney General's department, and the opinion is well worth studying.

Thousands of lots and tracts of land will not sell for the amount of delinquent taxes and cost charged against them in the open market, much less under the hammer for taxes. Many more thousands of lots and tracts of land will find no buyers at a tax sale for the reason the same property is usually delinquent for city or school district taxes, hence, the State can find no cash buyers for the land it offers for sale for taxes. Also, if the property must sell for the amount of the tax judgment or there can be no sale, then the brakes are effectively set against collecting taxes by suit and the bringing of tax suits is, in the main, so much time, effort and expense thrown away.

The State and counties are in position of having millions of dollars due them yet they are 'broke.' If common sense were used in adjusting assessed values down to the value of the property and correcting errors in tax matters, thus placing property in the channels of taxation, then money would begin to flow into our government treasuries, but this would be putting common sense and business in government which seems to meet with much opposition."

STATE RELIEF AID

Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins is not pleased by the action of the Texas Legislature in making available only $6,000,000 of the relief bonds, according to reports from Washington. What action he will take is not indicated. Once before he has withheld Federal relief funds temporarily, pending assurance from the State that it would do its part.

In the meantime there are 10 states contributing nothing to relief, although receiving federal relief. The defense of these states is that they are overburdened with state debt and taxation already. That they are burdened with debt and taxation is probable. Most states are. That they are burdened relatively than states that are carrying their part of the load is doubtful. The officials of these states know that for political reasons there will be more smoke than fire in Washington's threats to withhold Federal aid.

The administration of relief funds from Washington under the present system is a long way from equitable, but speculation upon a better method only leads into deeper water. The federal government might adopt the method of simply contributing to each state its share and leaving the state to supply the remainder or let its unemployed do without. This has been advocated, but it is met with the objection that there is no tangible gauge by which the federal government could apportion its funds. Apportionment according to population would not do because obviously need of relief is not in this proportion. Apportionment according to the State to supply the remainder or let its unemployed do without way of avoiding padding of relief rolls. One soon gets back to the proposition of gauging a state's need of relief by its own willingness to provide funds. It seems to be best, even though it is a little paradoxical in its assumptions.

In the meantime Administrator Hopkins should not worry about the Texas relief situation. The Texas legislature will be in regular session by the time there is stringent need of additional relief, if there is to be a stringent need, and it will do the equitable thing when the need is evident.—Dallas News.

ANOTHER CASE OF "WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN"

It was a little story, buried away on the inside of a newspaper that was heavy with more important news. It was headed "Romanoff Has a Chat With Hohenzollern."

The time was the last part of July, in 1914. The shadow of war was falling across Europe. Mobilization had been ordered in Germany and in Russia. What happened, it seems, was simply that Prince Frederick, the grandson of the former German kaiser, was a guest at a London party given by Prince and Princess Youssouf, the latter a niece of the last czar of Russia. And there was no particular reason why anyone should think twice about it—except that the headline was a melancholy reminder of the great opportunity which fate once gave to a Hohenzollern and a Romanoff, and which they both missed.

Then, just before the formal declaration of hostilities had been made, Romanoff and Hohenzollern tried to arrange a peaceful settlement. Monarch spoke to monarch—by telegraph. Each one, at the last minute, wanted peace.

Now if mortals could have the gift of second sight a little oftener, the history of this old world would be a little different. Those declarations of war were the beginning of the end for both emperors. The czar's road was to lead to a musty cellar in Ekaterinburg; the kaiser's to ignominious flight over the border. Had they known that eleventh hour talk would have been more fruitful.

But they didn't know and let the generals talk them out of their plans for peace. The czar told his general staff to suspend mobilization, while he and the kaiser talked peace; the kaiser told his staff to mobilize only against France while the trouble with Russia was settled.

Each staff replied that the thing was impossible. The war machines were already in action; they were too cumbersome and uncontrollable to be halted. So this final chat between Hohenzollern and Romanoff went for nothing. They never had a chance to have another. A tragic moment of history, that telegraph conversation—tragic for it missed opportunity, for its good impulses sacrificed to weak wills. This obscure headline in 1934 is a reminder of one of the greatest might-have-beens in all human affairs.—Brownwood Bulletin.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL AS GOOD BUSINESS

The Times received a long telegram this week from the main office of the Texas Centennial Commission, requesting that the "Mayor" and our "Chamber of Commerce" be rounded up and enlisted in an effort to "put it over." The first move was to enlist the prestige of our senators and representatives in calling a special session of the legislature, at which an adequate sum of money would be made available—an amount in keeping with the stupendous celebration planned to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Texas under Anglo-Saxon rule. Sanderson has no mayor, no chamber of commerce, so the Times passes the word along to give all patriotic Texans an opportunity to contribute his mite to the final success of the Centennial. A letter or a personal message to senators or congressman will do the trick.

Many object to the idea of a major celebration, which will cost millions to put over, while our needy seem to be increasing instead of decreasing. The objection may be well taken. On the other hand, the order for the Centennial has gone forth, Dallas has been chosen as the "central city," and is already hard at work on plans to make the celebration thoroughly Texan—and that's a job. In scope, however, the affair will be statewide, many cities being selected as subsidiaries to the central city. These cities, naturally will concentrate on individual attractions, and in this premise there is danger of failure for the central exhibition unless aid is given by legislation. San Antonio, Houston, and many other cities feel that theirs was the better locale for a celebration of this kind. They may assist Dallas, they may not, but one thing is certain, they will see to it that the "side shows" planned by their cities lack nothing in tourist interest. To do this a heavy outlay of funds will be needed. Will there be anything left for "donations" to the central city? The one thing now left, to head off failure, in case other cities refuse to support Dallas, for the reason that all funds will be utilized in their own exhibits, is for the legislature to act favorably on whatever financial measures necessary to the success of the celebration are presented. Peter Dooley once said "Expand, expand." Chicago believed this, and when the city was bankrupt, and the school system millions of dollars in debt to its teachers, the city, led by its biggest business men, launched the Century of Progress. The era prior to the opening of the fair, pepped business to its highest peak since the depression. During the progress of the fair, this condition gained momentum. The fair was repeated this year, and on the closing day, thousands were in attendance—it didn't die out. And not many were surprised when this summer, nearly 30 millions of dollars were available to pay Chicago's school teachers their salaries, overdue for nearly three years. The Times is of the opinion that history will repeat itself in the case of a Texas Centennial celebration. Preparation for the stupendous pageant will keep thousands of men employed in the key-centers. The results in a financial way, from the fair itself, from the concessions, the never-ending flow of tourists, and other means, is obvious. The after effects are bound to be beneficial and lasting. If one is inclined to look upon the whole affair as a gamble—well, we're living in the greatest gambling age of all history.

Joe Nance was among the Sanderson visitor at the Highland fair which is being held in Marfa this week.

Lee A. Cook, our high sheriff, and his family motored to Del Rio and spent the past week end visiting.

Shirley Temple, Baby Film Star is Featured Player

With one of the largest and most imposing casts ever assembled for a motion picture "Stand Up and Cheer," will be presented at the Princess theatre Monday night, Oct. 8. Among the many stars that stud the roster are Warner Baxter, James Dunn, Madge Evans, Ralph Morgan, Shirley Temple, John Boles and Stepin Fetchit. In the supporting cast are a number of famous entertainers, among whom are Sylvia Froos, Jimmy Dallas, "Aunt Jemima," Mitchell Durant and Nick Foran.

The range of entertainment in the picture covers a wide scope, giving you an opportunity to see and hear the pick of artists in radio, vaudeville and screen circles.

The story is of a Broadway theatrical manager called upon by the President of the United States to help restore prosperity through a gigantic amusement campaign. With the cream of the entertainment crop at his disposal the producer puts on display the most lavish amusement units ever produced.

Among the thousand and one wonders in the picture there are hundreds of dazzling girls, a vocal chorus of 500, 1000 players, in 335 scenes, 1200 wild animals and five bands of music.

Shirley Temple, petite, dimpled little 5-year-old star will again be seen in "Stand Up and Cheer."

"Here Comes the Navy" Is One of the Season's Thrillers

A picture fresh and invigorating as an ocean breeze, and with a tang of the salt sea, will be unfolded to patrons of the Princess theatre tonight and Saturday, October 5 & 6, when "Here Comes the Navy," will be shown for the first time, Jimmy Cagney and Pat O'Brien co-starring.

The picture is characterized by clean, rollicking fun, rapid fire action, breath-taking thrills, plus a glamorous romance. It was filmed mostly on board the U. S. S. Arizona with the entire Pacific fleet in the background, a magnificent sight in itself. The company was fortunate enough to be aboard the warship as the fleet weighed anchor and manoeuvred out of the harbor, bound for Atlantic waters.

It is on the Arizona that one of the most thrilling scenes takes place when Jimmy, as a jack tar, rolls on burning powder while stripped to the waist, and saves his mates, who are caged in a flaming gun turret.

The recent tragedy of a dirigible will be vividly portrayed, when a landing crew try to anchor the big ship in a heavy wind. It is swept high in the air, with three men still clinging to the guide ropes. Two let go and fall to their death while the third clings on in helpless desperation. Again Cagney does the heroic, sliding down the guide with a parachute strapped to his back, to find out the man he is trying to rescue is his bitter enemy, Pat O'Brien, who gives a fine performance as chief petty officers and who worships the navy. His constant clashes with Jimmy leads to some rapid fire action, and at times the picture is hilarious funny at times.

Madge Evans furnishes the romantic angle giving a delightful performance as the girl who inspires Jimmy to stick to his guns.

Hints for the Household

By BETTY WEBSTER

October has, to the youthful mind at least, two very important days—Columbus day on the 12th, and then Halloween. The first offers extensive possibilities for entertainment. For children and grown-ups, too, an "exploration party" is most amusing. Each guest is dressed to represent his favorite explorer and to wear the character's name on a slip of paper pinned to the back of his coat. Everyone is given pencil and paper, and this will provide the basis for a jolly "get-acquainted game, everyone making a list of the explorers at the party. These lists are, of course, compiled from the identification slips on the backs of the participants. Each one, however, is to be as careful as possible not to allow the others to see his name. A prize may be awarded for the longest list.

Ship Model for Centerpiece
The table at which the refreshments are served might have as a centerpiece a ship model—either one you may have or one you can make from cardboard, muslin and varnish

DRYDEN DOINGS
Mrs. Jerry Bell, Correspondent

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kessler entertained the Night Bridge club last Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Buchanan were winners of a lovely prize. Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Jess Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Buchanan.

Mrs. Jess Haley, Mrs. Felix Harrison, Mrs. Rufus Kessler and Mrs. Jerry Bell spent last Friday afternoon at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills. Bridge was enjoyed and at the close of the games refreshments consisting of a salad course, sandwiches and iced tea and cookies were served.

Mrs. Charles Thomas returned from Del Rio this week where she visited her sister, Mrs. G. C. Kercheville, who has been ill, but is improving.

Mrs. Chester Smith returned home Monday from Del Rio, where she visited in the home of her son James Smith.

Mrs. W. J. Banner, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Banner and daughter, Mary Beth, were visitors in Dryden last Sunday.

Mrs. P. Scherrer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scherrer and daughter, Joyce Anne, of San Antonio, stopped over especially for the occasion—and for place cards use painted sailing vessels.

The menu might consist of Treasure Island salad, American sandwiches, North Pole sundaes and African delights. The salad is made of a slice of pineapple with a piece of celery standing upright in the center and piercing a thin slice of bread. Of course you readily can see that this represents a raft with a sail and lettuce for the water.

American sandwiches are made like ribbon sandwiches with alternate layers of cream cheese tinted red, white and blue.

North Pole sundaes are vanilla ice cream with marshmallow sauce. The African delights are tiny squares of cake frosted with chocolate.

The party may be changed to suit your own desires but is effective handled almost any way.

Monahans fumbles, heartened players and rooters alike.

How it happened:

First Quarter

Monahans kicked off to Sanderson's 35-yard line. On the second play Sanderson fumbled, Monahans recovering. On three plunges over center the visitors were able to net four yards. On fourth down they were stopped cold, the ball going to Sanderson. Mussey and Sullivan, in two tries made first down. Sullivan made 6 over tackle, and Mussey, behind fine interference ran the oval to the 19-yard stripe. Newton fumbled, but recovered, losing five yards on the play. Mussey pick up 4 through the line. Newton's pass fell on the floor; another ditto on fourth down. Monahans' ball on their 21-yard line.

An end run gave the visitors first down. Faking a pass and a plunge over tackle was good for 2 yards; and a plunge through the line gave them two more. A nicely executed lateral behind the line netted a first down on the Eagles' 45-yard line. A long pass was incomplete as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Third down for Monahans, who bucked the line for a yard. The visitors got off a nice punt, headed for the end zone, but it was fumbled by Sharp, Eagles' safety, and Monahans recovered on Sanderson's 11-yard mark. In three runs at the Eagles' line, Monahans chalked up a first down, and the ball was on the one-yard line. Two plunges and the visitors drew first blood. Their try for extra point through the line was smothered. Monahans 6, Sanderson 0.

Sanderson received the kick on their 25-yard line. Mussey made one through the line; his next try was good for 8 more. The snap-back was fumbled, Newton recovering, and he punted to Monahans 30-yard line, the visitors returning to ball to midfield.

Monahans failed to gain on first play, the next was over tackle, and good for four yards; two more tries found a stonewall, and the ball went to the Eagles on downs. Their first try was through center for a first down. Newton caught the visitors unaware by punting at this point to their 26 yard line, where Monahans fumbled, and Haley smothered the pigskin and placed the Eagles in striking distance. With Sullivan, Mussey and Newton alternating, the ball was lugged to the 4-yard line, and the referee's whistle at the end of the half stopped Sanderson's march over the line.

Third Quarter

Sanderson kicked to open the 3rd chucker; Monahans returning to their 40-yard line. On the next play Litton, playing a whale of a defensive game at end, broke through and nailed the carried for a 5-yard loss. Monahans punted.

Newton went around end for five yard; Sullivan made it first down over tackle. Newton picked up 3, and Mussey plunged through for a second first down; Newton and Captain Mussey, gain 7, and Sullivan made it first down again. A wide end run by Newton netted two, but a bad snap-back put us in the red; with 11 to go. Mussey made back 5 and then 4 over guard. Fourth down and two to go, but the snap-back was fumbled and the ball went over on the visitors' 25-yd. marker.

Monahans punted, Sharp fumbled, but recovered. Newton went thru for 6 yards, punted over the goal line on next play. Monahans' ball on their own 20-yd line. One line buck netted 2 yards, and they punted to Sanderson's 40-yd. line, and Sharp, in a good exhibition of broken field running returned to the visitors' 40-yd. line.

Newton got away and skirted around end to place the ball on the visitors' 20-yd. line. Mussey ripped off two over tackle and made a first down around end. With 11 yards to go, Newton made three through the line, Mussey duplicated, and Sullivan charged for first down. Sullivan bridged the remaining yard to knot the score. Try for point via the air was too high.

Sanderson kicked to Monahans, Mussey toeing it into the end zone. Monahans' ball on their 20-yd line. Two line bucks netted 2 yards. A Monahans back then skirted end for first down. Next play netted three yards over tackle, followed by four through the middle, Monahans was offside on the play and drew a 5-yd penalty. Monahans punted, the ball being put in play on the Eagles' 45-yd line. Newton's fumble lost five yards; Mussey was nailed before he could get started, and the Eagles lost five more. Newton punted to the visitors' 45-yard line.

With two minutes left Monahans unleashed a long passing attack in an effort to unknot the score. Their first try for twenty yards was good when Sanderson players interfered with the receiver. The second heave was intercepted by Sullivan as the referee's whistle ended the game.

Regardless of the score, Saturday's game proved that Coach Smith has done a good job, and when the Eagles get to clicking they are going to be hard to stop. On both offense and defense, they were much better than the visitors, and the fact that, in the face of break after break going against them, they came from behind to even the count, proves there is plenty of fight in their systems.

Sanderson made 8 first downs to Monahans' 6. Referee Elmo Low, (Simmons).

Sanderson's next go is a return game with the Marfa Shorthorns, at the Highland Fair grounds, at Marfa this morning at 10 o'clock.

AIRPORT CHATTER

By "BUCH" PRIVATE

The main reason that Staff Sergeant H. L. Richardson has resigned as correspondent is that he is endeavoring to eclipse the immortal Burbank by converting the rocky hillside (landscape, or whatever you choose to call it), in the vicinity of his "stockyard" into a garden, claiming that, regardless of total eclipses of the moon, soil conditions, etc., he can raise anything "from vegetables to h—" for his private stock which are almost dead from lack of nourishment and sustenance, due to the unprecedented rise in the price of feed. Reports of pilots flying over the field, fail to report seeing anything growing out of the rocks hereabouts but cactus and other desert plants. Nevertheless we wonder how he finds time to attend (in person) all the football games and social functions, such as New Year's eve parties. It's a difficult problem to compute, and it is doubtful that even the prominent Hoyle could arrive at any definite conclusion. Summing up the Sergeant says "I yam what I yam and thus all I yam."

Overwhelming numbers of visitors have honored us with their presence the past month. So numerous that we thought of calling on the governor for a detachment of our national guard to maintain order, regulate traffic, and prevent accidents. So rapidly did the visitors come and go that it was necessary to install a modern counter, an electric cell arrangement. The people pass between or through an invisible beam of light which controls a special counting device, recording the total number of people passing at a given point. In this way we have been able to record the exact number of people and airplanes arriving. Last month we had several hundred airplanes, so many that the system went haywire and refused to work.

Those who attended dances at the airfield may be wondering why none have been held recently. Fact is, that after the last dance, after the last car and the last drunk had faded into the night, the NCO was found "hold the sack." When he was asked how come, he replied he was "snipe hunting." Undetermined is the time when the next dance will be held here, but here's hoping that the NCO gets tired of holding the sack or catches the limit of snipes allowed by law, so we may have dances in the near future.

The best-dressed man in Southwestern Airways, attached to Dryden airport, is considerably peeved, wrought, and angry, over the fact that an order recently changed the uniform from "everything and anything" to coveralls. He fears the public will recognize the wrong man. But the NCO in charge, responsible for the change alibis by saying he would rather wash a carload of the coveralls that a single uniform. But there's room for doubt, for there is never more than 2 pairs on his line.

Private Mooney and wife are on a 20-day leave of absence visiting relatives at Porvenir. Sgt. Richardson thought it was a stall and prior to their departure radioed through the Marfa station, demanding to know just where this Porvenir was, as he couldn't find it on any of the maps.

During the Mooneys' absence all the work of the metrological section has fallen upon Corporal Lamontagne who has been left in charge. The ladies and gentleman, accounts for the growls that have been permeating the night air. The "Big Bad Wolf" isn't the only animal who howl!

Private Stevens (Bill for short) was seen in shorts the other day but there's no tennis court available as yet. He was forced to remove them with the advent of a northerly wind. For those who don't know, Pvt. Stevens and Buchanan are recent additions to the airfield personnel. The former is mechanic, the latter a radio operator. Bill and Buchanan are staging a race to see who gets the most letters from "love-starved ladies" throughout the country, and in order to accomplish this, have joined a correspondence club. There are no girls around here of marriageable age, this was the last resort.

Private Biggs and family enjoyed a 3-day voyage in the covered wagon (station truck), going after supplies for the commissary. They got so busy attending shows and dances they forgot all about the supplies and nearly starved during the month of September.

County Judge G. J. Henshaw and J. C. Mitchell, commissioner of precinct 3, were visitors in Ft. Stockton Monday, going over on county business.

LUCKY GIRL

MRS. STRONG AND DAUGHTER, NANCY
"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brought relief at once," says Mrs. A. G. Strong of 34-47 89th St., Jackson Heights, N.Y.

Her mother felt that family physicians and child specialists, and the hospitals must be right. A simple test that proves they are.

If anyone in your family is occasionally sluggish or constipated; especially any child, you should know this medical truth:

You cannot get safe relief with any medicine if you cannot regulate the dose. And to regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. With a liquid laxative, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition.

Why Doctors Use Liquid Laxatives

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of natural laxative elements like senna and cascara, it forms no habit—even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves, not make matters worse.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drugstore. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better than you have in a long time.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the natural, comfortable action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.
