The more of life we see, the more convinced are we that the best coaches are in the grandstands, and the best editors are in other lines of business.

Well, well, well. The millennium is at hand. Listening to the chatter of a quilting party the other day we actually heard them say something new about a girl who won a popularity contest. None of the meow stuff, either.

Tempus fugit, as it has a habit of doing. But people and customs remain about a whyness. Fifty years ago the old folk worried about what would happen when the younger generation took charge. Today, that younger generation is wondering the same thing.

In the back pages of yesterday's papers was an account of the execution of Harry Pierpont, gun-man for Dillinger. Eyes red from weeping, he walked to his doom—his friends gone. That's the whole sermon that can be preached about crime: "It doesn't pay."

Big business bellowed for relief. The New Deal began operating. Big business was saved. Courageous once more, the bosses are now flaying F. D. R. and his program. This reminds us of a cantankerous Irishman who was shipwrecked. Sailing aimlessly about on a raft, his food supply exhausted, he prayed for rescue. Savages in a canoe made the rescue, brought him to their island. With health came the old spirit of contentment. Calling one of the savages to his hammock, he asked: "Have yer a government here?" Being assured they had, he replied: "Well, I'm agin it."

For 70 years Texas Christian University has functioned, and during that time dancing has been banned from the institution. Last week this prohibition had been rescinded and the students will be allowed the use of the college hall for dances. Verily, a sign of the times. And wait until the anvil chorus gets into action.

The class in singing is requested to meet at the usual place Sunday afternoon, and continue practice on that popular old ballad: "Rain, rain, go away, come another washing day."

It is evident that something very drastic be done about kidnaping. The past two weeks prove this. One case of a society woman was horri-fying in every detail. We still agree with that staunch old Quaker, Gen. Smedley Butler, "A summary court martial, no appeal from its decrees. If found guilty, the firing squad has target practice next morning about sunrise."

Our text: "Perseverance Wins in the Long Chase." So girls, if you didn't land HIM this summer, there will be other summers.

CATTLE PURCHASES RESUMED

County Must Expend 35 Per Cent of Relief Funds

All Employes Must Be Allowed Full Time On Relief

State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson on Monday cautioned all county relief administrators to observe that portion of the law recently enacted providing for a minimum expenditure of relief funds on work relief projects. The letter follows:

"The new state relief law, as recently adopted by the fourth called session of the 43rd Legislature provides that at least 35 per cent of the state funds allocated to any county shall be expended on the construction, repair or maintenance of lateral roads or other work projects.

"Each county administrator is hereby advised that it is his duty and responsibility to see that this provision of the law is fulfilled at all times. There is no discretion left to you or to the state administration. The law is clear in its statement, and it must be observed.

"The determination of the amount of funds spent in any given county for work relief will be one of the functions of the auditing department and county audit reports will be checked closely to see that the above provision of the law is adhered to. Attention is called to the fact that 35 per cent is set as a minimum. It is not the desire of the State Board of Control nor of the state administrative office that work relief expenditures shall be restricted to the 35 per cent minimum. On the other hand, it very definitely is the desire of the Board of Control and this office that every employable person receiving relief shall be employed on an approved work project to the full extent of his monthly budget."

Perfecting Plans For Night School

Plans are being completed for a night school program in the Sanderson high school building, and also a Home Economics and Home Nursing course to be offered in the Mexican school.

In view of the approaching Texas Centennial those in charge are planning a course in Texas history. It is probable that a course in English may also be offered.

Application has been made to the State for aid in this program. As soon as definite information is received the plans will be completed and announcements will be made as to schedules, courses offered, and time and place of meeting.

Eagles Take On Lobos Monahans Tomorrow

Football tomorrow, but only for loyal fans who can take time out and travel with the Eagles to the fair of the Lobos of Monahans for a return game.

This will be the third start for the Eagles who, to date, have chalked up a single win against two tie games, one of the latter being with the Lobos, the game ending in a 6 to 6 deadlock.

It's been said a team on its home ground is at least one touchdown better than the visiting squad, but we don't think this will hold true in tomorrow's game.

The Eagles' last tilt showed them greatly improved, notwithstanding the scoreless tie, and for the past week Coach Smith has been putting them through a hard grind, specializing on aerial plays—offensive as well as defensive.

Our lineup is practically the same with the possible exception of the line. Richardson, 187-lb tackle may start the game. "Rich" was thrown into the breach at Marfa with the Eagles' on their four-yard line. He helped jar the ball carried which resulted in a fumble that pulled us out of a bad hole. Members of the squad to make the trip are: Newton, Halley, Sullivan, Mussey, R. Haley, Litton, Sharp, J. Deaton, H. Haley, Richardson, Bogusch, R. Deaton, J. Lochausen and Appel.

TEXAS HISTORY IN THE MAKING

No. 2. The Founding of Fort Davis

On Oct. 3, 1854 United States soldiers, searching for a "water route" to the far West, marched up Limpia canyon into the center of the Davis mountains in the Big Bend country of Texas, and Fort Davis was officially founded on October 7, according to records of the war department. The mountains were thick with Apache Indians and travel was difficult. The fort buildings still stand, but a stone's throw from the charming little town of Fort Davis, located at the foot of an awe-inspiring cliff, a mile above sea level. Plans to bring one of the subsidiary Centennial exhibits to this place are now developing. Its past history warrants this distinction.

Goat-Sheep Sale Continues; Most Of Them Killed

The government's sheep and goat purchasing program inaugurated as a drought relief measure continues in Terrell county, and up until Wednesday of this week a total of 48,581 head of sheep and 6,648 head of goat had been purchased. These figures are for all sheep and goats purchased since the program started some time ago.

Of the 48,581 sheep purchased by the government, 44,047 have been condemned; of the 6,648 goats that were bought, 6,123 were condemned and slaughtered.

Those not shipped or condemned will be turned over to the commodities distribution department of the Texas Relief Commission, it was announced. C. Z. Crain, head of the department, said he hopes to distribute a great many of the animals alive to relief clients. "This plan will save us the expense of slaughtering and processing; however, the client must promise to slaughter the animals given him," Crain stated.

L. E. Bailey, county agent, stated

Wednesday that every effort is being made to get the government to purchase more than the 64 per cent of the amount of goats the rancher has listed to sell. If this is done it will mean a lot to the ranchers of this section which is still in the drought area and with no immediate hope of rain. By raising the quota it is expected that the goat buying program will continue for several weeks more.

Mr. Bailey also stated that with the purchasing of the additional 1000 head of cattle that Terrell county was in good shape in regard to the reduced number of livestock that now remained on the ranges, and should the government decide to raise the quota of goats to be bought that, with the additional purchasing of sheep, the number of livestock in the county would be reduced to a figure in keeping with the present condition of the ranges.

Only female Angora goats, one year and older are being purchased at a flat rate of $1.45 per head.

NEW MEXICO GETS RAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Kirby, enroute to their home in Corpus Christi, spent Friday in Sanderson as the guests of their friend, Miss Kate Frazier. They had been on a two months' tour that took them through Canada. They reported that as they came through New Mexico heavy rains were falling and extended as far east as Sierra Blanca. In some sections sleet accompanied the rain.

$45 POT AT PRINCESS

Some lucky person whose name will be drawn at the Princess theatre next Monday night will be given $45 free, provided that person is in the theatre at the time the drawing is made. For the past two weeks the persons whose names were drawn were not present to claim the prize, $15 being the prize given each Monday night. Daniel Zepeda was the person whose name was drawn last Monday night.

One Thousand Head Terrell's Quota In Second Campaign Which Started Monday; Brings Total to 6,067

Planning Annual Roll Call Campaign

There is hardly a more worthy cause, one more deserving of your moral and financial support than the American Red Cross. Every move made by the organization is in the direction of humanity, for the alleviation of its bodily miseries. In a few more days Sanderson, as well as every other city, town and village in the United States, will be called upon to renew its pledge to suffering humanity, by enrollment in the ranks of the Red Cross, and through your donation, have part in the huge program of mercy sponsored by the organization.

Miss Eva Chaffin, chairman for Terrell county, will have further announcements in the Times up to and during the campaign for members.

Governor Urges Speedy Action On 5-Point Program

In her message to the Legislature Friday, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson urged expedition in disposing of the business submitted to it under her 5-point program and offered the fullest cooperation to that end, even to working six days a week. This was a hint that the usual adjournments from Fridays to Mondays would not be followed, but that the sessions be held on Saturdays also.

Argument was made by the Governor in support of the five subjects. None other was tendered, but the message said that if the matters submitted are speedily disposed of other subjects would be offered.

In the order of their submission the Governor gave the session the following subjects: Remitting penalties and interest on delinquent taxes, authorizing for the completion of the Buchanan dam or dams on the Colorado river, authority for the Brazos river project to impound and conserve waters, reclamation of overflowed lands on the Brazos and its

The government drought relief buying plan of cattle was resumed in Terrell county on Monday of this week when orders were received to purchase 1000 head of cattle, which is this county's quota.

This quota was soon filled as several application were on file at the time the cattle buying program was halted on September 12. These applications, together with several new application made up the county's quota. However, application are still being received at the office of Joe Kerr, county director, but at the present time it is not known whether any more will be purchased.

Since the inauguration of the cattle purchasing program in this county up to September 12, when the program was halted, a total of 5,067 head of cattle had been purchased, and checks totaling $65,876.00 were issued to local ranchers in payment for same.

Mattresses Placed With Town's Needy

Last Saturday the local relief office received ten mattresses from the Federal distributing station in El Paso, and already have these placed in homes of the city's needy, it was reported this week.

Families whose needs were most acute were supplied from this initial shipment, although there are many more who are badly in need of mattresses, quilts, blankets, etc. Whether these needs will be supplied was not known at the local relief office, although an extensive survey has been made, needy cases listed, and requisitions for supplies to cover local needs has been sent in by those in charge.

The recent application was for 30 mattresses, but only 10 was received and placed in homes where they were needed most.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stavley motored to Uvalde Wednesday to attend to business, returning home Thursday afternoon.

tributaries, the Texas Centennial and the provision for adequate funds therefor, and for additional and necessary relief for the indigent and unemployed.

Shipments Taper Off Due to U. S. Buying

Mother Is Victim Of Automobile

Mrs. E. P. Halley and daughter, Miss Lillian, left Tuesday morning for Wynne, Ark., on receipt of a message that her mother, Mrs. Booe, of that city, had been accidentally killed when struck by a car. The accident occurred as Mrs. Booe was returning to her home from the post office, and crossing the street in front of her home.

Mrs. Booe was 70 years of age, and is survived by the husband and three daughters: Mrs. Jeffers of Wynne; Mrs. E. P. Halley of this city, and Mrs. Ed M. Reeves of El Paso. Funeral services were held in Wynne Thursday morning.

Stock shipments for the past week have been very light, following the close of the lamb shipping season.

Last Saturday one car of goats, purchased by the government in the drought relief program, was shipped from Sanderson, consigned to E. S. Block, Del Rio, who is head of the relief work in Val Verde county.

From Mofeta the following shipments of ewe lambs were noted the past week: T. T. Reynolds, 515 ewe lambs, consigned to C. B. Wardlaw at Standart, Texas; Finley & Kit-chens, 336 ewe lambs, to Philip Caz-ier at Wakarusa, Kas.

Over the week end there were heavy shipments of cattle from the Marfa country, most of the cattle consigned to feeding pens in the North, where they will be fattened for market.

VOTE AGAINST THE TAX LIMITING AMENDMENT

(From the San Antonio Express)

Perceiving that the hastily drawn, ill-considered constitutional amendment proposal to limit the Legislature's taxing and spending power to $22.50 per capita for each biennium would be detrimental to the State's interests, more and more civic organizations are rallying to the State's educators in opposing the measure.

Careful study of the measure shows it to be undesirable on several counts. The most serious objection is that it easily and might almost certainly would increase, rather than lower taxes.

The citizen should bear this fact in mind: The amendment would limit only State taxes; it would have no effect on city, county and school taxes, which make up the heaviest load he must carry.

In a recent address at Austin, Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the University of Texas School of Education, showed how such an effect might ensue. He cited an estimate by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction that the tax-limit proposed would force down the State school apportionment from the present $16.50 to $8.50 or $9 per capita.

Fiscal experts' calculations that the amendment would reduce the State revenues by 20 million dollars a year, on the average, raise that prospect.

Furthermore—as Dean Pittenger pointed out—the amendment proposal is unfortunately timed. More taxes are delinquent in Texas than ever before; the revenue-yield from business and industry has been at low ebb for some years past and began picking up but lately.

Therefore, the Legislature should be left free to adapt its fiscal policy to changing times. Moreover, in the years just ahead the State must meet unusual obligations. It must retire 20 million dollars in emergency relief bonds and 100 millions in county road bonds taken over three years ago.

Such considerations led the Democratic State Convention at Galveston last month to "recommend to the people that the amendment be defeated."

COUGHING UP WITH THE SMITH BROTHERS

"The Smith Brothers Cough Up," thus did the Wall Street Journal headline an editorial concerning taxes paid by the Smith Brothers of cough drop fame. And the facts show that the concern must cough hard and long indeed.

Recently the Smith Brothers posted a sign in a restaurant they own, listing their various taxes. There are 24 of them and each is distinctly different. They include a federal, a state and city tax, oil, telephone and check tax, gasoline tax, stock and franchise taxes, processing and gross receipts tax, and so on.

The Smith Brothers are in no different position from thousands of other businesses, large and small. These businesses are reaching the point where taxation is becoming the largest single item of expense—many examples are recorded where more is paid to government than to workers, with little or nothing, or deficits left to the owners.

The entire cause of economic recovery is bound up with the tax problem. We want employment, investment, industrial development—but we cannot have them by establishing taxation policies that throw men out of work, frighten investors, and paralyze industry.

All of us are coughing up with the Smith Brothers.

This is not exactly fly-swatting season, but there is no closed season against this disease-breeder. Of late they have been multitudinous, obnoxious and, about the food, nauseating. Trying to determine the cause, the Times was informed that direct responsibility can be laid to the present wholesale slaughter of range animals, exposure of hides in process of curing, improper disposal of carcasses, etc.

The nudists are breaking camp all over the North. In Ohio, on arriving home, they petitioned the legislature to enact laws favorable to their cause, asking a thorough investigation, first hand, by the lawmakers.

4 Marx Brothers Coming to Princess In "Duck Soup"

The art of being funny is a serious business. Take a look at the Four Marx Brothers in action, if you doubt this.

In one corner sat Groucho, holding his head between his hands. In another corner sat Harpo, equally glum and dissatisfied with life. In the third corner Chico was giving a fair imitation of Felix the Cat.

But none of these things was true, really. The Marxmen and McCarey were merely trying to think up a new gag.

Hints for the Household

By Betty Webster. There are several accepted methods of canning fruits, but for the woman who has the necessary ground, burying is ideal.

The jars may be packed with any desired fruit and then the crevices filled with sugar. Care must be taken to have the jars full without crushing the fruit.

Preserving Tomatoes. If you are lucky enough to be able to gather tomatoes in the fall try this method of storing them so that you will have fresh ones all winter.

Recipes—Indian Relish. Peel and chop one large cabbage and six large onions. Arrange this in layers in a stone jar, covering each layer with salt. Let stand for twenty-four hours; drain off the liquid and wash the chopped vegetables in a colander.

Fig Cake. 1 1/2 cups sugar, 3/4 cup of butter, 1 cup of milk, 3 cups of flour, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 4 teaspoons of baking powder, 4 egg whites, beaten, 1 teaspoon of lemon extract.

Helpful Hint. As soon as ink is spilled on anything wet the place with lemon juice or vinegar and then rub with soap.

mixture to the first mixture. Then fold in egg whites; add the rest of the flour and flavoring.

Ice Cream Pies. Cut rounds of pastry and bake on the outside of a muffin tin. Cool and just before serving put a spoonful of fresh or canned fruit in each and cover with ice cream and spread with the stiffly beaten white of egg slightly sweetened.

As soon as ink is spilled on anything wet the place with lemon juice or vinegar and then rub with soap.

5,000 Centennial Half Dollars Made For Texas Legion

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The first 5,000 of the special Texas Independence Centennial 50c pieces have been made by the Philadelphia mint and the American Legion Texas Centennial Committee has been asked by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the mint, to advise her of the number desired and when delivery should be made and she is awaiting orders of the Centennial committee before proceeding. Dies and other preparations for the coinage have been paid for by the committee.

Congress authorized coinage of 1,500,000 silver 50c pieces in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary in 1936 of the independence of Texas and of the sacrifices of its pioneers. Designed by Pompeo Coppini, on one side of the coin a standing eagle is superimposed on the Lone Star of Texas. On the reverse side in bas-relief are the likenesses of Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston, respectively colonizer and military hero of the Texas Republic. Engraved around the border are the words Texas Independence Centennial and Remember the Alamo.

The coins will sell for $1, the profits going to the Texas legion to build a Centennial memorial at Austin. The legion will receive the coins direct from the mint and will have complete charge of their sale. The mint is empowered under the act of Congress to coin up 1,500,000 of the 50c pieces thus making possible a maximum profit of $750,000 to build the memorial. Senator Tom Connally and Representative Wright Patman of Texas sponsored the legislation authorizing the coinage, which was approved June 15, 1933.

Coppini, designer of the coin, is well known in Texas, having lived at San Antonio from 1901 to 1916. He now lives in New York and his best known work in Texas is the World War memorial fountain on the University of Texas campus at Austin.

Speeding Program Of Rehabilitation In Rural Districts

Austin.—More than 25,000 clients have been certified as eligible for rural rehabilitation in Texas, it was announced today by J. E. Stanford, head of the rural rehabilitation department of the Texas Relief commission.

Field staff of the department has leased from landlords 26,121 acres of land and has caused to be repaired 1,102 houses to be occupied by rehabilitated clients.

Stanford said 666 families already have been placed on these improved farms and are being furnished with the necessary capital goods for making a living. Community work centers, an important phase of the rural rehabilitation program, are being considered at 86 points over the state and approximately 20 are expected to be under construction in a short time.

"In addition," said Stanford "more than 2,000 relief roll families, both tenants and landlords already residing on the farm but who will not occupy leased houses and subsistence plots, have been contacted and taken actively into the program by rural supervisors. These families will receive the same consideration as those occupying leased and repaired residences."

Mrs. Luella Lemous, Mrs. Grace Wheeler and son were business visitors in Ft. Stockton Monday.

AIRPORT CHATTER

By "BUCH" PRIVATE

S. O. S. Ye correspondent is running out of news—lies awake nights, thinking, or trying to think of something to write for the paper. Any suggestions highly appreciated. Have I got a job, or have I got a job?

Note that the editor omitted a special writup last week on the NCO in charge, therefore the writer is repeating same herewith: "The NCO in charge recently stated that he'd make no further investments in Studebakers and the like until the 'Soldiers' Bonus Bill' in Washington is passed at this session of congress. The writer hopes the bill will become a law, as he would like to 'cash in' on same. But you never can tell what FDR will do."

Mrs. Richardson is enjoying a much-needed "siesta" the last few days, having been overworked for the past two months feeding a large group of starving cadets who flew to Dryden on their annual cross-country training flight from Randolph Field.

Things around the airport have been humming as usual. It seems we never get caught up with manual labor—there is always something to be done or something that was not contemplated. Yea, you will always find a light burning in the NCO's room at most any hour of the night, for he, too, lies awake during the hours of slumber-time thinking, thinking, and thinking — of chores for mañana. So when he gets up on the "wrong side of the bed" we know, without doubt, that he failed to think of anything to be done the following day. But that is the first fundamental law that a man learns in the army, namely: "How to become a gold brick." They have a special course on this subject at the War College in Washington, the writer being a master of the subject—sometimes.

Flies, flies, flies, and more flies (Airplanes are not the only lighter-than-air craft). Fact is, we have been swamped with flies the past two weeks or more, or since the recent inauguration of the "sheep and goat killing industry" invaded Terrell county as well as other parts of the State. Flies everywhere; the more you try to get rid of them the greater they seem to increase in numbers. Private Stevens was commissioned to build a series of fly-traps which were placed at all points on the field. After capturing several garbage canfuls, Mr. Stevens became disconsolate and transported the traps to the depot in Dryden. They were put aboard outgoing freights, by special order of Mr. Agent, and the flies swarming within the traps were shipped COD to the Smithsonian Institute. What a relief!

Privates Mooney and Buchanan were assigned to make an expedition from the airport to Fort Clark in the station's only truck, for new commissary supplies. This expedition occupied the greater part of 2 days. Privates Mooney and Buchanan slept within the secure walls of the guardhouse at Fort Clark, on bunks reserved for them, but about midnight were compelled to vacate and move into the open, due to the tremendous amount of mosquitoes. Dryden may fly-soup any time. Anyone needing a chauffeur please call on Mooney—he drove all the way there and back.

What happened to the old cow who used to eat all the fine clothes and other garments that occasionally hang on the lines about the airport? She must have been misinterpreted for a sheep or goat, and met her fate accordingly.

Almost the entire personnel of the airport enjoyed a brief respite at the carnival in Sanderson this week with exception of Private Bigga, who reluctantly remained behind. He had the pleasure of repairing a broken gas line on a plane which landed after every one had gone. The pilot, much chagrined and otherwise committal, left a note for the NCO in charge, which read, in part: "Why don't you stay home now and then?"

Mrs. E. McSparran and daughter, Doris, spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Goode, Sr., at their ranch north of Dryden.

Make New Ruling On Death Reports

Austin.—A new ruling by the Federal Bureau of Census has just been put into effect in Texas and will be of interest to every community in the State, according to Dr. W. A. Davis, Registrar, State Department of Health.

This new ruling is to the effect that the death of any person shall be credited to that person's legal residence. In the past the place where one died was charged with the death. New death rates for all towns and counties will show the true conditions.

The towns in Texas that have a reputation as health centers have been unduly credited with more deaths than have occurred among their citizens. Now, whenever a health-seeker dies away from home the place of his residence will be charged with his death.

The same holds true in compiling the records of counties. In the past many towns had a death rate three or four times as high as the county. This was due to a variety of causes—principally, patients from the rural areas coming to town for medical attention and hospitalization and dying while there and giving their addresses as the town without specifying that their home is outside the city limits. The State Department of Health requests every one to give exact information for all birth and death records.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Banner and son were in town over the week end from their ranch on the Pecos.
