WOMEN ON JURY TO TRY HAUPTMAN

Centennial Half Dollars Available At Local Bank

A special coinage of the silver half-dollars commemorating the centennial of the 1936 of the Texas Centennial has been issued by the United States mint and a number of these coins were received in Sanderson the past week.

The first coin to be sold in this city brought $5.00 and was purchased by Dr. James C. Sharp. Sheriff A. Cook purchased the second coin, paying $2.50 for it.

The American Legion is sponsoring a state-wide campaign through the sale of these coins for funds to erect a State memorial museum at Austin. The fifty-cent pieces are sold to Legion posts at face value, and are in turn sold for $1.00.

The coin, which was designed by Ampeo Coppini, famous sculptor, will have a great value as a keepsake in years to come and the profit derived will be used solely in the worthy project of construction of a needed museum.

Coins are available at the Sanderson State Bank, or through the members of the Clarence Hallie Mulkey Post, No. 160, American Legion.

Mrs. Alice Cain returned Thursday to her home in Alpine after spending the Christmas holidays in Sanderson with her sister, Mrs. R. E. Fred.

Mrs. Lindbergh Is First Witness Called In the Trial Which Began Thursday

New Auto Plates Received Here

The 1935 automobile registration plates for this county were received this week at the office of Lee Cook, tax assessor-collector, and will be ready for the motorists by the first week in February.

The passenger car plates are numbered from 939-201 through 939-750 and the commercial plates are numbered from 139-351 through 139-500, while the farm license plates are from 39-501 through 39-600.

Maroon and white is the color combination for the passenger car plates.

This year the plates were manufactured at the Huntsville penitentiary, the prison system receiving 6 1-4 cents per pair from the highway commission.

The 1934 license plates expire on April 1 and those who purchase the 1935 plates between now and that date will not be allowed to use them until after April 1st.

IS HONOR STUDENT AT A. C. C.

Three hundred twenty-one students in Abilene Christian college are listed in the second six weeks reports with honor grades in one or more subjects, according to records in the office of Mrs. Clara Bishop, registrar. From this county, listed with the honor students for this period, is Ima Lou Chandler, who has honors in Education 385, Sociology 320, 321, Public Speaking 311, and Biology 310.

Due to the prominence of the parties directly concerned, the cold-bloodedness of the alleged slayer of an innocent child, and the worldwide publicity given the case, it was expected that the selection of a jury for the trial of Bruno Hauptman, on trial for the crime of the century would be a long-drawn out affair. But such was not the case, and at the end of the first day ten seats on the panel were filled, 6 men and four women. The other two were quickly accepted on the morning of the second day, both men.

According to reports over the radio last night, the scene in the New Jersey courthouse was a dramatic one when Anne Lindbergh, mother of the dead child was called as the first witness to identify the clothing of little Charles Augustus.

Her appearance as a witness was voluntary, and as the district attorney brought out evidence in connection with the child's clothing, and details pertaining to happenings on the night the child was kidnaped—to her torturous details—she was near the breaking point several times. She elicited such pity that the defense attorney, who boasted he would spare no one's feelings in the trial, refused to cross-examine her.

Col. Lindbergh followed her to the witness stand, accounted for actions of the family and his own on the night of the kidnaping, and corroborated the authenticity of maps outlining the grounds in and around the Lindbergh home.

Court recessed with Mr. Lindbergh still on the stand.

Decennial Census of Farms and Ranches Gets Under Way in Terrell County

El Paso, Jan. 1.—Approximately 450 persons in west Texas and New Mexico will begin the task of enumerating farms and ranches in this territory today. Nearly 25,000 federal census employes will be engaged in this huge task of enumerating the six millions farms and ranches of the United States, in what is probably the most important agricultural census in the nation's history, according to a statement released by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce. Plans call for completion of the canvass before the end of January.

"The Fifteenth Decennial Census Act, approved June 18, 1929, directed that a mid-decennial census of agriculture be taken January 1, 1935 for the calendar year 1934," Director Austin said. "Because of the tremendous upheaval in the great basic industry of agriculture, due to the depression, drought and other factors new farm statistics are urgently needed in connection with the government's recovery program.

"The earnest cooperation of the farmer is necessary to the success of this census, for it is one of the federal activities designed primarily for his benefit. However, the welfare of agriculture affects all other industries, directly or indirectly, and the public generally. The statistics are necessary for the ordinary transaction of governmental business, but also for allotment programs. The programs range from allocations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to the Federal Emergency Relief and Farm Credit Administrations. Indeed, the benefits expected to be derived from this census are incalculable and will have a marked influence on the future welfare of agriculture and the country as a whole. At the completion of the canvass every effort will be put forth to make preliminary tabulation reports available at the earliest possible moment.

"The Bureau desires to call attention to the law which provides that the individual return made by each farmer is an absolutely confidential government report and to emphasize the fact that no individual figures

THE TIDE ROLLS IN

A diversion for the natives yesterday evening was the arrival of the special train carrying the victorious Alabama football team back home. Everybody on the two special trains seemed bubbling with good humor, and they had reason to be. As one expressed: "We brought home all the money California had, and left the lemons."

The players, especially, were in fine spirits, talkative, and readily autographed whatever article they were requested. This is the "Crimson Tide's" fourth trip to the Bowl, and we believe they have set a record other teams will be shooting at for a long time to come—three wins and a tie. Not bad, not bad!

Local Legion Post Sponsors Series of Holiday Dances

Large crowds were in attendance at the Christmas holiday dances staged by the American Legion post of Sanderson. The first of the series was held on Christmas eve, music being furnished by the Glen Hampton orchestra of McCamey. Music for the dance held on Christmas night and the carnival dance New Year's eve was furnished by Cuco and his Seven Aces. On Saturday night, Dec. 29, a dance was held at the Dryden airport, the music being furnished by Texas and His Gang orchestra.

The dances were a success in every way, and drew quite a number of people from nearby towns, and local post wishes to thank every one who patronized these dances.

This is Hal's second year to attend the college and he is making a fine scholastic record.

Nuisance Tax On Checks Is Lifted

The so-called "nuisance tax" of 2 cents imposed by the federal government on all checks and bank drafts was discontinued on Jan. 1, 1935, according to an announcement given out this week.

The savings made by the tax being taken off will mean about $1,000 a month to depositors in the Sanderson State Bank. Approximately 4,500 checks are handled through the bank here each month.

The tax had been in effect since the first of July, 1933, or for eighteen months.

Valuable Prizes Awarded at Close Of Thrift Sale

The contest held in connection with the mammoth sale put on by the A. F. Thrift store and which closed on Christmas eve, brought forth much interest and many contestants were entered to try for the many valuable prizes which were offered by Mr. Thrift.

First prize was won by Mrs. Jess Haley, a four-piece bedroom set. To Miss Lois Bee Osgood went second prize, a lady's fitted bag. The third prize was an occasional chair, and was won by Miss Antonia Zepeda, and the fourth prize, a 21-piece tea set, was awarded to Miss Adeline Bosworth.

The Institute for Miners and Prospectors will be held at the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso, Texas, from Tuesday January 8, to Thursday, Jan. 10, inclusive, with an additional session on Friday morning if the interest warrants it.

There will be no charge for tuition nor will there be a fee of any kind. The institute intends to present in from eight to eleven lectures a study of the conditions confronting both the prospector and the small miner. Also those interested in mining through financial ventures will find much of interest in many of the lectures.

Identification of many common minerals, an understanding of certain geological features, methods of opening up a prospect, how to prepare an ore to make it most valuable, equipment necessary to work on a small scale, how to interest capital in a prospect, and a discussion of present economic conditions will all be included in the scope of the institute.

The Departments of Geology, Chemistry, Mining, Metallurgy and Economics are cooperating with some of the local industries in the presentation of the institute, and the faculty of the college will be assisted by outside speakers, expert in their particular line.

The lectures will be presented in the mornings. The afternoon will be devoted to demonstrations of placer machines, both wet and dry, and of concentrating machines, and trips to the neighboring industrial plants.

The attendance at the institute last year was 60. This, the fourth meeting of the institute, should be even more interesting than past meetings.

Miss Mary Ellen Bohlman, who is teaching in El Paso, returned to that city the first of the week following a holiday visit here with her mother, Mrs. W. F. Bohlman.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

CONFIDENCE—THE MISSING ELEMENT

Twelve months ago the American people entered a new year. They entered it with the profound hope that it would witness industrial recovery, that it would prove the success or failure of the governmental experiments that were inaugurated in 1932, that the great problems of unemployment, declining purchasing power, distressed agriculture and uncertainty on the part of property owners, investors and industrial leaders would be, to at least some extent, solved. They hoped the year might be the turning point of the long period of depression—that it would show where we were going.

The greatest experimental twelve months in the history of our nation has ended and another new year looms. During the past year there has been progress in some directions—here has been retrogression in others. Some businesses have been stimulated, some have been sunk deeper into lethargy. Whether there has been any increase in regular employment is questionable. During the current winter close to 21,000,000 are being sustained by organized public relief. Reports from fact-gathering organizations show that those industries which sell perishable goods to the consumer—shoes, packaged foods, clothing, fuel and so on, are doing better than at any time since depression. But the reports likewise show that our basic industries, those which employ the bulk of labor in normal times and represent the greatest amount of invested capital, such as steel, railroads, electric utilities, are either static or are sinking back toward the abyssal levels of 1932. In some instances, of which the electric utilities are a case in point, industries are doing a greater volume of business but, due to higher taxes and legislated increases in operating costs, are earning less profit, which results in a growing hardship on millions of investors who depend on the earnings from savings for living expenses.

The most difficult aspect of the recovery problem is this: There can be no recovery without CONFIDENCE, and as yet uncertainty, not confidence, remains uppermost in the minds of millions. People who have money that would ordinarily be invested in industrial undertakings, who would create jobs, buy supplies, build homes and stores and factories and develop farms, are frankly afraid. They are afraid that their capital will be taxed out of existence, or condemned by legislative fiat, or destroyed by governmental competition with industries in which they might place it.

This element of fear extends down from the largest industries and affects the whole industrial structure. The railroads and utilities, for example, face, on the one hand, the very definite problem of reduced business, rising taxes and diminishing earnings, while on the other hand they are threatened with the potentiality of government ownership. Under such conditions, who can be expected to invest money freely and without fear, to develop industries and bring back payrolls to normal levels.

The security of banks, insurance companies and similar institutions is absolutely dependent upon the security of basic American industries, in which their depositors' and policy-holders' money is invested. Anything which strikes at the welfare of basic industries strikes immediately at their welfare, and therefore at the welfare of every person who has a dollar in the bank, or is the owner of an insurance policy.

To blame these conditions on a man, a party, or a group would be unjust. National distress naturally breeds experiments—the need for relief is so great that it seems as if anything is worth trying. But a great responsibility falls upon those given high public office in such times—namely the responsibility of protecting our constitutional rights and privileges. There can be no greater duty, and no more necessary public task. If mistakes are made, they will be forgiven—but they should be corrected, not continued.

There are signs that this is being done now—signs pointing to a rapprochement between political and industrial leaders. If these groups honestly seek to cooperate to iron out misunderstandings and differences, our nation will make real progress toward recovery—we will regain the priceless ingredient of good times, CONFIDENCE. Let it once be known that investments will be encouraged and protected by the government, that the honest business has nothing to fear from political influences, that savings will be held inviolate by those trusted with the management of our national affairs, that private property rights will be held sacred, and the road to prosperity will stretch clearly right ahead.

There should be no despair on the part of the people. Our land is still fertile. Our industries are still great. Our intellectual abilities have been increased by the ordeal of depression. Only that intangible element—CONFIDENCE, based on the knowledge that our constitutional ideals will be maintained, not destroyed, is needed now.—Industrial News Review.

LOOKING AHEAD—YEARS AHEAD

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, in a recent article, says that amazing changes and extraordinary wealth and prosperity lie ahead. It will come, he says, when people start to adopt the changes which science has wrought in the last five years. Economic conditions have diverted their attention. They have ignored what is going on in the way of scientific progress. Changes in houses, the homes in which we live—which are as great and as revolutionary as the change from the buckboard to the automobile are at hand.

These changes are: Air conditioning in homes, shops, factories and office buildings. Temperatures and humidity can and are being controlled by new devices. Disease breeding dirt and dust can and are being removed from the air one breathes. Many of the causes of discomfort and ill-health can be controlled.

Houses of fabricated materials which will be built in factories and shipped to the user in sections represent another very revolutionary change. Not only can substantial and vastly improved houses be obtained this way, but the time element required in present day building will be largely eliminated. Also, it is claimed, the cost of homes can and will be materially reduced.

The type, speed and comfort of railroad trains is another revolutionary change which Mr. Sloan believes is coming rapidly. Already new type trains are being used in an experimental way. The changing of this equipment in itself will provide a vast army of workmen employment.

Science has not stood still in the last five years. Changes for better things have been planned. The up-set in economics has merely postponed some of these changes which would have been well on their way to adoption, Mr. Sloan believes. One has only to know that the population of the United States is about 130,000,000 people and that there are about 30,000,000 homes together with the fact that American people adopt changes for the better more rapidly

Private industry and private initiative which have so courageously carried this country to leadership in the world will again lead it out of the economic doldrums if given a chance.

There are interesting days ahead. Our children and their children will accept as commonplace what we are now shaking our doubtful heads over.—Republican News, St. Johns, Michigan.

"Gay Divorcee" is One Of Season's Biggest Pictures

Fur lined rooms, thick rugs that are pumped up with air for additional softness, throne-like bedrooms and fireplaces with mantels large enough to dance upon, are to be features of hotel suites fifty years from now!

Such is forecast by RKO-Radio's designers, who have built a suite containing these features as one of the settings for the lavish musical comedy "The Gay Divorcee," co-starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

Ornamental moldings in the rooms are of long, white fur. The air cushioned rugs are decorated with designs in pastel shades.

Designs upon doors and walls are copper cut-outs, brilliantly polished. The walls themselves are startling in the extreme. They do not run up and down and from side to side as ordinary walls. Instead they break out at unexpected places to soar upward in striking prominence of unusual and futuristic shape.

The mantel in the living room is about 16 feet long, shaped like a half moon and wide enough to dance upon.

Behind the mantel, extending from it upward to the ceiling is a panel of frosted glass, bearing hand-painted designs. It is softly illuminated from behind.

The bedroom of the suite is probably the most striking room of all. An amazingly beautiful bed is elevated like a throne. It is backed and partially surrounded by snowy drapes, extending from the ceiling. The bed itself is said to be the first of the kind, although impractical until moths are completely exterminated. It is completely upholstered with fur, with a spread to match.

The expert singing and dancing of Astaire and Miss Rogers make this picture one of the season's best entertainments.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.

2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.

3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal.

A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour. All Ford V-8 cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 for 1935 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it—to drive it yourself. You will find it a new experience in motoring.

Helpful Household Hints

By BETTY WEBSTER

Now that the glorious Christmas day is a thing of the past, we can get back to straight "home gossip" again. May I ask—

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

- Flowers will last a long time if leaves are clipped a little each day and the water in the vase changed?
- Flowers may be revived by plunging the stems into hot water and then into cold?
- Vases ought to be washed thoroughly with soap and water after being used?
- A bit of aspirin in the water will revive drooping flowers?
- Flowers will wilt quickly if they are placed in a draft?

Delicious With Pie

Cheese is usually considered necessary with either apple or mince pie but, not long ago, it was served to me with a piece of cherry pie. Novel? Yes, indeed, but awfully good!

Churches

UNION PRAYER SERVICES

Beginning Monday night at 7:30 there will be union prayer services held as follows: Monday night at the Presbyterian church; Tuesday night at the Methodist church; Wednesday night at the Church of Christ, and Thursday night at the Baptist church. This custom has been in vogue since 1844 and is a fine way to begin the new year. Each pastor will direct the worship at his own church.

SANDERSON PASTORS.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday school 9:45 a. m.
Preaching 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m.
Young People's Vesper program at 6:15 p. m.
Officers are asked to meet at 3:30 p. m.
The Bible study will be at 3:30 p. m. Monday with Mrs. Will Savage. After the morning sermon the Lord's Supper will be celebrated and every member is urged to be present.

There will be no better way to begin the new year. Come with the following prayer in your hearts:

"Lord Jesus, who didst command thy disciples to partake of the Holy Memorial of thy great love, I would in humble thankfulness obey thy command. Help me to draw near with faith, that I may take it to my comfort. May I find in it strength to withstand all temptations, and consolation in the midst of every trouble. May it bring peace and joy to my heart. May I realize the presence and learn new lessons of thy love. Join me anew unto thyself and to the blessed company of all faithful people; and to Thee, with the Father and the Holy Spirit shall be the glory, world without end. Amen."

The Belmont Covenant plan has been approved by the majority of the officers and will begin Sunday to last 13 weeks (through March). Read Malachi 3:3-12 and don't miss this blessing.

JOHN V. McCALL, Pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH

"Open and Closed Doors" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. How can we go on the pilgrimage of life without finding doors closed before us? Doors of opportunity, happiness, and privilege may be closed, but there are open to us divine doors not at the mercy of circumstances. "Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage."

Mrs. Lowe's class of junior girls will conduct the worship service of Sunday school at 9:45. Be sure to be there on time. "In time, on time, every time, and all the time, excepting when ahead of time, and that's a little better time" for all of the church services. Don't make any resolutions, but if you have been a little careless in the year that has gone, come to church and give it a chance to do its best work.

Epworth League at 6:45. Evening service at 7:30. The study class in worship began last Wednesday evening with a good attendance. It is not too late to join.

AIRPORT CHATTER

By THE OLD MAN

Here's hoping that all have lots of good luck during the New Year, forgetting the past. You know, good times are just around the corner, so it is everybody's duty to find this corner and everything will be as we would have it. Just remember this when you ranchers are busy around the water gaps that will be made by the heavy rains we are going to have in 1935.

It is hoped that Santa was good to all of our readers, and we think he was, as everybody seemed happy that came out our way. The personnel here at the field had a very pleasant time, nothing exciting, but lots of good fun. With Biggs as designer and decorator we had a beautiful Christmas tree on the field, where it could be seen from the highway. We enjoyed having it where all who came here or passed by could enjoy it, too. There are four small children on the field and as this was their first time to really understand what Santa meant to them, they had some time. And you grownups know that it takes small kids to make us realize that there is a real Santa Claus.

Due to unsettled weather the last ten days air traffic has been light. This was a relief to the writer, as our good friend, Sgt. Garrity and his family from Ft. Sam Houston were with us during the holidays. With no airplanes to service we had lots of time to visit. It was their first visit in this part of the state, but they enjoyed their stay, remarking that while there was much more to be seen around San Antonio, this was the only place to come to if rest and quiet were what one wanted. During this rest period Garrity was having, the Old Man was doing some old-fashioned sleeping—the kind Andy likes. But on Jan. 2, 1935, the old clock ended all this at about 6 bells, and we are all pepped and primed for the new year with lots of work to do.

How did you like the game Alabama played? They deserve all the good things that have been said about their playing ability. Some sports writers, for some reason, did not see fit to give the team much credit for their undefeated season. Wonder what Mr. Kelly of California has to say now. Their two wins and a tie in other Rose Bowl games were flukes, if you believe him. We suppose that 65-yard run by Howell for a marker and the other three via forward passes were flukes, also.

Being on the subject of football reminds the writer that two dozen young men are looking for something that has long been overdue. Don't give up hope—the money is available, but due to reasons known to all interested, the original plans have gone haywire. But as we are promised a late winter the sweaters will arrive in time for plenty of use.

Well, it's a good time to come down while the old engine is running good; we don't want to have any forced landings this early in the new year. But we can't help but wonder how the Times force made out. 'Tis hoped that no one was forced down during their visit and that they all had a good time.

permanent officers of the new company.

Federal Judge James C. Wilson signed an order on Dec. 29 transferring the properties of Texas-Louisiana Power company from the hands of the trustee in bankruptcy, Wiley F. Corl, to the new company. The actual transfer of the properties was consummated at the close of business on December 31st, when the Community Public Service took over the operation of the properties.

The Community Public Service company will have a first mortgage bond issue of $7,200,000 in principal amount. These bonds will be issued to the holders of the first mortgage bonds of Texas-Louisiana Power company, who will also participate in the common stock of the new company. The balance of the authorized common stock will be issued to general creditors.

The preferred stock of the Community Service company is limited to six thousand shares, which may be issued to holders of preferred stock of the Texas-Louisiana Power company who bought direct from employees of that company.

The court's order also establishes the so-called "customer stockholders" as general creditors and they may also receive one-third of a share of the common stock of the new company for each preferred share of the old company.

The voting trustees of the new company are all men of recognized business ability. Mr. Benigni was formerly connected with cotton oil mill properties and allied interests in numerous Texas cities. In 1920 he moved to California, where he was connected with similar enterprises. He resigned and returned to Fort Worth about a year ago.

George Clifford also resided in Ft. Worth for a number of years where he was manager of the Northern Texas Traction Co. He now resides in New York City and is president of Stone & Webster Service Corp.

Newton P. Frye is president of Central Republic Company of Chicago. He is chairman of the First Mortgage Bondholders' protective committee, which proposed the plan of reorganization just approved by the court.

It is anticipated that neither changes in personnel nor drastic changes of policy will be made by the Community Public Service, but the new company will endeavor to maintain the present facilities at a high level of efficiency in order to render a type of service that will be highly satisfactory to consumers in this community.

will be used for taxation purposes nor given to any tax official. All enumerators, as well as all census employees, are sworn to secrecy and are required to read the law and the severe penalties established for any disclosure of information. Only sworn employes of the Census Bureau have access to the files. Section 9 of the 15th Decennial Census Act provides penalties for failure to answer questions asked by the enumerators or for giving false information.

"Enumerators are legal residents of the districts which they canvass. Some, if not all, of the farmers residing in an enumeration district will know the enumerator personally, and they will do well to see that an accurate report is returned for their district. With the program carried on by the government to assist agriculture inaccurate reports might very readily react to the disadvantage of the farmers in that particular district."
