Penalty, Interest On Taxes Released Under New Law

Provided Certain Taxes Are Paid on or Before March 15th, This Year

Notice has been received by Lee Cook, tax assessor-collector that the tax measure releasing all penalties and interest on taxes delinquent for 1933 and prior years, if paid on or before March 15, 1935, had become effective when Governor James V. Alfred signed the bill on January 22. After March 15, however, these taxes delinquent for 1933 and prior years will carry penalties as follows: From March 16 to March 31, 2%; April 3%, May 4%, June 5%. After June 30, 1935, the penalty will be 8%, together with 6% annual interest.

Penalties on 1934 taxes beginning February 1, 1935, except in cases where one-half of the taxes were paid prior to November 30, 1934, will be as follows: February 1%, March 2%, April 3%, May 4%, June 5%. After June 30, 1935, the penalty will be 8%, together with 6% annual interest. Where one-half the taxes were paid prior to November 30, 1934, the last half may be paid prior to June 30, 1935, without penalty or interest. The bill was originally passed at the 4th called session of the 43rd legislature, but failed to receive the necessary three-fourths vote of the Senate to make it effective. The present legislature, now in session, acted on the bill and made it effective immediately rather than on Feb. 9, the original date selected for the measure to become effective.

To Offer Course In Government

Beginning Monday, February 4, a course in government will be offered to the adult classes, under FERA, according to Mrs. McDuffy Kessler, teacher. The first project, according to Mrs. Kessler, will be a study of the Constitution of the United States. The school has a sufficient number of copies of the Constitution to supply the class, making it unnecessary to buy these texts. Later the class will study the Texas Constitution, according to Mrs. Kessler. The English classes, held from 2 to 3, and from 7 to 8 p. m., are a continuation of the grammar classes which were started some weeks ago. Mrs. Kessler states that it is not too late for new students to enroll. A review of the work will soon be started, and right now is an opportune time to enroll for this work. Those attending are taking quite an interest in the work, and every effort is being made to make this and all other courses sponsored by FERA a practical one. Classes are held each afternoon from 2 to 3, and each evening from 7 to 8, and from 8 to 9 in the high school building.

Austin, Texas, was Different Place 50 Years Ago

You're not going to believe this, but the above picture was taken with the camera looking down Congress avenue in Austin, Texas, more than 50 years ago—in 1880, to be exact. The camera was set up on the lawn of the State capitol. Instead of the big buildings one sees today only structures of two and three stories lined the streets and it was no trouble at all to see the far side of the river plainly.

Sanderson Drops Game to Champs In Quarter-Finals

Two Members of Eagle Squad Named

It took the cagers, champions of the McCamey invitation tournament played last week, to stop the winning streak of the Sanderson Eagles, in a quarter final game, after Sanderson had humbled Barnhart in the first rounds of play. The score was Iraan 28, Sanderson 17.

The account of the games by Bill Collyns, McCamey sports scribe, follows:

Iraan did the most scoring in an extra period thereby defeating Big Lake, 28 to 26, to capture the fifth annual Trans-Pecos high school invitation basketball tournament.

For the first time in the history of the McCamey tournament the local team was not the runner-up to the champion. In all four previous years the Badgers had won their way into the finals, only to lose.

F. H. Young, Pioneer Resident Dies From Injuries When Struck By Auto

50c Goatskin in Texas Is $50 "Fur" in New York City

Striking illustration of how Texas loses in furnishing raw materials for Eastern manufacturers to fabricate into something else, was related to Progressive Texans by J. Russell Wait, chairman of the Houston Port Commission.

Through the port of Houston each year go many thousands of goat skins from the Edwards Plateau section of Texas," said Mr. Wait. Most of them are shipped to New York for transforming into 'furs' for milady's wardrobe.

That transformation is some complete that what was a 50c goatskin to the Texas producer becomes a $50 'fur' after it has gone through the processing in a New York factory. In other words, the $49.50 'value added' by the manufacture accrues wholly to the New York furrier and the 50 cents the Texas producer gets represents the entire share that Texas receives from the bargain."

Steps from Behind Approaching Car; Driver Exonerated of Blame

F. H. Young, a long-time resident of this city, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock, when he was struck by a car driven by Pete Deaton, who was coming from his home in Longfellow. The accident occurred about one mile west of town and happened when Deaton pulled over to one side of the road to pass another car going in the opposite direction. He stated that Mr. Young stepped in front of his car, and that he was unable to stop.

Young Deaton rushed to town and immediately went to the office of Sheriff Lee A. Cook, where he told of the accident and surrendered under bond pending the outcome of Mr. Young's injuries.

Mr. Young was brought into town and carried to the office of Dr. Jas. Sharp where his injuries were dressed. Mr. Young sustained a broken left shoulder, both legs were badly crushed and head injuries. He died soon after being brought to the doctor's office.

A daughter, Miss Ethel Young, residing in El Paso was notified of the accident and death of her father, and she arrived on the early Sunday morning train, and had the body sent to El Paso for burial.

Mr. Young was a pioneer resident of Sanderson, having made it his home since 1895, coming here from Pecos county. He was born in Germany, emigrating with his parents, to this country at the age of 5 years. He owned considerable property in the western part of the town, and had engaged in ranching on a small scale. His wife died in El Paso several years ago following injuries received when struck by a street car in that city.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. W. W. McMahon and Miss Ethel Young of El Paso, and Mrs. H. D. Lusby of Fall Brook, Calif.; three sons: Herman, of Los Angeles, California; Fred, of Sparks, Nevada; and William Young, of San Bernardino, California.

Following a meeting of the regular grand jury in district court on Monday of this week, young Deaton was absolved of the death, and was notified by that body after a thorough investigation was made of the accident.

Grand Jury Makes Report, Adjourns For Present Term

Enforcement of All Traffic Laws

Enforcement of the traffic laws and regulations was stressed in the report of the grand jury, made this week to the Hon. Brian Montague, district judge. It also recommended that parents not permit their children of immature years, to drive a car upon the streets and highways: The full report follows:

"One of the matters brought before us for our attention and investigation was the death of Mr. F. H. Young, who was reported to have been killed by an automobile driven by a young man by the name of Peter Deaton. We have very carefully investigated this matter, calling all witnesses whom we were advised might know any of the essential facts. From our investigation we have concluded that the tragedy was in all probability due to an unavoidable accident, and we have therefore returned no bill of indictment.

"However the tragedy has served to remind us again of the dangers incident to the operation of motor vehicles upon the streets and highways, and we make this public recommendation that all officers charged with the duty exercise their vigilance to see to it that all laws and regulations designed to control the operation of motor vehicles be strictly enforced.

"We further recommend to the parents of Terrell county that they not permit their children of immature years to operate automobiles upon the streets and highways, and that this report be made public. Respectfully,
"D. H. CUNNINGHAM,
"Foreman of the Grand Jury."

Slow Rains Falling In This Section

Following several days of cloudy weather, with heavy fogs early in the morning and at night, rain commenced to fall about noon Thursday with indications that it would not let up for several hours at least.

Telephone reports from several of the ranchers indicated that the condition is general over this section and that the ranches are getting much needed moisture. The rain is slow and soaking in and the weather is nice and warm.

Partial Eclipse of Sun Visible Here

Seven eclipses are scheduled for 1935, five of the sun and two of the moon. Two of them will be total—both of the moon. One occurs on January 19, invisible in the U. S., the other on July 16, visible in most of the U. S.

Next Sunday, Feb. 3, will occur a partial eclipse of the sun, visible throughout the United States, and will begin at 8:40 central standard time, reaching its zenith at 9:40 and ending at 10:45. So all are advised to have your smoked glasses ready and play peep-eye with the sun next Sunday morning.

Many in this section are planning to journey to the McDonald observatory on Mt. Locke, hoping to get a peep at the eclipse through the temporary telescope recently installed.

MRS. GARRISON ILL

EDITORIAL COMMENT

CHILD LABOR LAWS

El Paso papers, and maybe others, during the past week have taken a crack at the attitude of Senator K. M. Regan, because of his opposition of Texas subscribing to ratification of the so-called Child Labor law.

The majority of those who have joined the fight of disapproval of our Senator's action, would be the first to rear on their hind legs and paw the air should the Federal government seek to take of control of the State of Texas, and place at naught its governing constitution and myriad laws governing the State and all its sub-divisions. Yet that is just what the child labor amendment seeks to do.

If Texas had no legislation covering this premise consideration might be given the federal amendment. But the fact is that Texas already has what is conceded a model Child Labor statute, which makes it quite unnecessary for any federal activity along that line.

A strict enforcement of the Child labor law, as written on our statute books, would leave no room for interference by the federal government. The sentimentalist, and many of them are sincere, would have no cause for alarm.

It is estimated that there are in Texas 2,200,000 boys and girls under eighteen years of age who, if a Federal amendment is adopted by thirty-six states, would be under the direct control of Federal agents, who could pin badges on boys and girls and regulate the kind of work they do in the homes and on the farms.

It has been pointed out also by the Texas Committee that nearly 400,000 young married women, who are under eighteen years of age, would be under Federal jurisdiction and their housework and private lives would be regulated by Federal inspectors.

Many states have their own Child Labor laws and if they are enforced the committee believes there is no need for Federal interference. Texas laws permit orphaned children over 12 years and under 15 with fifth grade schooling to work and support self or widowed mother.

That's an excerpt from Texas law. It's language is plain, and its intent is humane.

What need is there for a federal statute, with its resultant system of "gravy-train" inspectors? The idea of child labor, on the face of it, is repugnant, especially when the idea is presented with a campaign of propaganda that is highly misleading. In portraying the evils of child labor excerpts gleaned from the sweat shops of thickly populated cities are insidiously worked in—a condition that cannot exist in Texas if the State statute as it now stands, is enforced.

We can understand Mr. Regan's premise, and thoroughly sympathize with his action in opposing—not to a Child Labor Law—but the substitution of a haphazard system for the one we now have.

FARES PEOPLE WILL PAY

Joseph B. Eastman, federal transportation co-ordinator, is giving the railroads some straight talk on the subject of restoring their shrunken passenger traffic. It has to do with fitting fares and service to what the present-day traveling public requires.

Present high fares are in large measure responsible for unprofitable rail operations, since they have not only put rail travel out of the reach of most people, but in many instances are more than the cost of travel by private automobile.

He would have fast and frequent local service at 1 1/2 cents a mile basic fare, a speedy but thrifty distance service at 2 cents a mile, high-speed Pullman service at 3 cents a mile, and a limited amount of luxury service at 5 cents a mile, including room and incidentals. Then there would be quantity discounts such as for families, parties, traveling salesmen and theatrical companies.

Clearly something of this sort and not much less drastic than what Mr. Eastman outlines is necessary if the railroads are to continue to be an important factor in personal transportation in the United States. The American traveler has too many alternatives at his disposal—motorbus, airplane or family automobile—to be obliged to stick to the railroads on their own terms.

The more forward-looking railroad men have been engaged for several years in developments, such as rail motorcars, electrification, air conditioning and economy rates, to meet this competition, and they deserve high commendation. Certainly the reactionary tendency to cling to high rates to make up for traffic declines is the way to drive the rest of the traffic away and make railroads obsolete as passenger carriers. Reduced fares will not be sufficient if they are seen merely as an excuse for using dingy, dirty old cars and wheezy engines that ought to be junked. Such fares must be made possible rather by modern equipment. In addition, the new rates must be adopted with greater uniformity than at present, so that routings and the issuance of interline tickets may be simplified.

Work Together on Complete Ranger History

Wakefield Thomasson Dobie White

Here are four outstanding Texans who will contribute to a forthcoming book which will contain an authentic and complete history of the Texas Rangers. Owen P. White, fiery Texas writer now living in New York, will write much of the story from voluminous data gathered during recent years by Major Paul Wakefield of Austin. J. Frank Dobie, widely-read Southwest writer, will fill in the foreground and Major John W. Thomasson, Jr., will provide the illustrations.

Rail transportation is essentially mass transportation and its advantages are based on the economy of mass movement. The way to make it survive and flourish is to go forward with the modernization and competitive fares that will make rail travel attractive to masses of people. —Christian Science Monitor.

THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES

Out of the bewilderment and confusion and hopelessness of the past few years this nation has emerged with faith and courage and—above all—a social-mindedness which promises to make a new era of the times now beginning.

That social-mindedness has reached into government, into business and industry. We have made spiritual progress as well as material progress during the past year. We cannot expect to deliver ourselves from its bad effects within a year or two years.

The material benefits have been mostly of a nature to sustain us until times improve and to restore the nation to the prosperity it formerly enjoyed. The spiritual benefits look toward a fuller life in which all will share in a more just proportion than before.

We, as a people have come to realize that the little man, because of his numbers, is an important factor in the scheme of things. He is important, not merely because he has certain rights for which he will stand up en masse, but also because the country cannot get along without him, and because when he suffers the total of human grief is multiplied by millions. Without production machinery geared to mass output, there can be no profits for industry unless the millions of our population are able to purchase its products.

Hereafter the value of an enterprise is to be measured by its value to society. Individual initiative and fair profits will continue to have their places in the scheme, but we will demand better safeguards against unsocial activity masquerading under the guise of business. The new spirit of the times is op-

Guard Children From All Contacts With Tuberculars

Austin.—Speaking of children and their susceptibility to tuberculosis, Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, said: "Few people realize that babies and young children are very likely to catch tuberculosis if they are kept in rooms with people who have the disease, use the same dishes, sleep in the same beds or are handled and kissed by people who have tuberculosis."

"Babies and young children pick up the germs of tuberculosis just as readily as they pick up the germs of measles or whooping cough, or of any other of the so-called children's diseases. But tuberculosis is different from other diseases in certain particulars. Unlike most diseases, it has more than one form. Babies who get tuberculosis may not show the symptoms we associate with the disease in older people. But the disease in most cases develops rapidly and is likely to end fatally. Tuberculosis in babies and young children is a very serious matter, but recent studies have shown that if young children are removed promptly from contact with the disease and given the necessary care, many lives can be saved."

"A great deal can be accomplished whenever tuberculosis develops, in either the young or old, if the presence of the disease is recognized when it is in its early stages, and if medical attention is promptly secured."

"Tuberculosis doesn't just simply happen. Nobody is born with the disease. Everybody who develops tuberculosis get it from some other source. Children and young people who have been in contact with persons ill with tuberculosis are especially likely to contract it."

Origin of "Dark Horse" The saying has been attributed to Sam Flynn, a horse trader in Tennessee. The term has thus come to describe one who was not in the race until the last minute, had no expectations of winning, but unexpectedly gained the prize.

Sale of Christmas Seals Nets $56.44

Proceeds from the sale of Christmas seals in Sanderson amounted to $56.44, according to Mrs. C. L. Surratt, health chairman, in charge of the campaign in Terrell county.

Mrs. Surratt, in a statement said that the sale of seals throughout the State was a decided success, and will exceed the sales of 1933 for approximately $5000. She continued:

"We are very grateful to all who contributed in any way to the sale here. Especially do we thank the Sanderson Times for advertising given without charge. Miss Chaffin and some of her pupils who assisted me with the mail orders deserve special praise. Special mention should be made of those clubs who purchased $5.00 bonds—the Rotary Club, The Culture Club and Parent-Teachers association.

"Those who received letters by mail responded so generously and were so courteous it made our work a pleasure.

"And last, but not least, I thank the school children and teachers who always do their part—both the American and Mexican schools here and also the Dryden school.

"I thank 'you all'."

Movie Actors Fight Raging Forest Fire

On the afternoon of their last day on location the Kermit Maynard company making James Oliver Curwood's story "The Fighting Trooper," were conscripted into fighting a forest fire that broke out early that morning not many miles from the scene of the picture making activities. And when a forest ranger says "Come!" there was no recourse—unless one wants to spend some time in the hoose-gow. Only the leading lady, Barbara Worth, and the other women of the company were exempt.

About a half mile from where the fire was laying waste to the timber the ranger ordered a fire break not less than ten feet wide be made by clearing out the undergrowth that skirted the base of a small hill. All that night, by the ruddy light of the flames and augmented by the Klieg lights, commandeered from the company, Maynard, Robert Fraser, LeRoy Mason and the entire male contingent of "The Fighting Trooper," dug, hacked and cleared away stubborn brush. And all the while the fire drew nearer and nearer to the swath they hoped would stop the hungry flames.

About dawn the wind shifted and turned the fire on itself. Before the day was over only a smoldering and smoking area marked the devastated woodland. And the fire break, that the men of the picture company had sweated and strained so valiantly to create, stood revealed in the morning light as a fresh and pretty and clean as a boy's first shave.

"All our work for nothing," LeRoy Mason exclaimed.

"Not altogether," said the ranger. "It will help if the fire breaks out again; and what's more, it's a trail that has long been needed.

For the first time the actors realized that the path made a sort of portage between two streams.

"I'll call it the 'Kermit Maynard Trail,'" the ranger promised.

"The fighting Trooper" will be the feature picture at the Princess Theatre tonight and Saturday, February 1 and 2.

Helpful Household Hints

By BETTY WEBSTER

There are brides in February as well as in any other month and, sometimes, even the most fertile brain balks at the "something different" idea, which is demanded for shower gifts. I ran across a number of unique things the other day and I think I shall help some overworked cerebrum—or is it cerebellum which does the thinking?—by telling about them.

First, for a personal shower, what do you think of a traveling make-up kit in a black and white washable lining, a mirror in the lid and a compartment for tissues—or a delicately scented handkerchief envelope to keep the kerchiefs fresh—or a Brilliant Coronet that does so much for the new hair dress.

Kitchen Gifts Then, for the inevitable kitchen shower, why not give a pan greaser? Or a glass fruit knife? Or a glass measuring cup? Or a two-cup size flour sifter. Or a grater with knives for everything from potatoes to nutmegs?

DO YOU KNOW THAT: Eggs can be fried in milk instead of butter? Rice ought to be washed carefully and cooked in boiling salted water? Stale bread makes better French Toast than fresh bread because the latter is too heavy? A delicious sauce for baked ham can be made from raisins, one part

Maple Cream Boil one can of condensed milk, sealed, for three hours in a kettle of water. Remove from pan. Let cool before opening can. Put in cherrert glasses; cover this with whipped cream; sprinkle with chopped nuts and place a maraschino cherry on each. This will serve six persons.

28 Students Make Honor Roll Grades

Announcement of high school students who made an average of A minus or better, entitling them to a place on the honor roll for the third six weeks of the present term of the Sanderson public schools, was made this week:

Due to the fact that there were 28 students in high school and seventh grade who made an average of A minus or better, there are 28 names on the honor roll instead of the usual 20, as follows:

Mary Arrington, Jack Bogusch, Lucille Blount, Mildred Hurst, Anna Lee Allen, Jack Shelton, Elmo Taylor, Bill Goldwire, Mildred Underwood, Elizabeth Brown, Adair Edmiston, Mary Beth Banner, Margaret Gregory, Bertha Mae O'Bryant, Mary Ferguson, Lois Taylor, Mary

Helen Crane, Jimmie Goodykoontz, Betty Bassett, Junior Lemons, Wesley Lochausen, Sammie Carter, Jack Hardgrave, Lloyd Gant, Florence Hurst, Billie St. Clair, Beatrice Nichols, Hollis Haley.

When farmers meet they want one thing: when industrialists meet, that group wants something else. Try to imagine what a nice time St. Peter will have when he places them all together.

I now have a good line of guaranteed shoes that I can order to your measure; also boots.

Bring me that old pair today for repair.

Property owners in the resident section who desire a sidewalk in front of their property are urged to get in touch with Mr. Breeding, who will see that the work is done, providing the property owners furnish the cement.

Taking advantage of this new set-up plans are under way to build a double tennis court on the high school grounds, and Supt. B. J. Brannan has been soliciting funds this week with which to purchase the cement and other materials.

Mr. Breeding states he is anxious to get in touch with property owners desiring sidewalks on their property, so he will know just how much cement to order, as he is buying it in carload lots, which effects quite a saving.

SANDERSON SEXTET PLAYS MARFA SATURDAY NIGHT

The girls' basketball team of Sanderson high will play their first matched game at Marfa tomorrow night, when they tangle with the Marfa sextet in that city. The Eagles have been practicing faithfully for several weeks, but up to the present time have been unable to secure a match with girls' teams of other schools. This is due largely to the fact that many of the high schools do not sponsor the game, or make no provision to finance their schedules.

Thrills are Feature Of "Chan's" New Mystery Picture

Judged by preview audiences on the coast as by far the most entertaining of the entire series of "Chan" thrillers, "Charlie Chan in London" will be shown at the Princess theatre Monday, Feb. 4.

Warner Oland, whose name has become synonymous with the character of Charlie throughout the series, again portrays the role of the bland Chinese detective. It is said that his portrayal in this picture is his most notable to date.

In his latest adventure he invades the realm of Sherlock Holmes, and journeys to London to solve the most amazing mystery of his remarkable career in criminology.

A man is doomed to hang for murder. His sister believes him innocent. She pleads with Chan to take the case and try to find the real murderer and exonerate her brother. With only 65 hours remaining before the innocent man must meet his death, Chan gets to work. He finds he is working against time and a murderer who has the cunning of a fox. With only 8 hours remaining in which to solve the mystery, Chan lays a clever trap and snares his human foe without the aid of hounds or horse.

Drue Leyton, who will be recalled as the feminine lead in "Charlie Chan's Courage," again plays the romantic role opposite Ray Milan.

WHEN YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE
... use a spoon

It isn't what brand of laxative you take that's so important—it's the form. A liquid laxative can be taken in any required amount. If only a little is needed, you need never take a bit too much.

Doctors favor the easily measured liquid laxatives. Instead of any form that does not encourage variation from the fixed dose. A fixed dose may be an overdose for you—or your child.

Always remember this one thing about constipation: the secret of any real relief is reduced dosage.

Give the bowels only as much help as may be needed, and less help as the need grows less. You will find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin an excellent aid in regulating the bowels. It contains castor and cane sugar (natural laxatives) and it will clear-up any bilious, sluggish condition without upset. Delicious taste, and pleasant action. Your druggist has it.
