RODEO PLANS ALL SET

Expect Big Crowd Here For 2-Day Celebration

Ride 'Em Cowboy!

GOOD PURSES—NOBODY BARRED

Fast Snappy Program For Both Days—Big Dance Each Night. Colorful Parade Will Feature Opening of Sanderson's Celebration

Much enthusiasm is manifest in anticipation of the rodeo to be held here next Thursday and Friday, August 8 and 9. It is the first rodeo to be held here since the peak of the depression and the late drouth hit this section, and according to those in charge of the celebration a large crowd will be in attendance from surrounding towns within a radius of 100 miles.

Generous purses being offered have attracted many of the top-notch rodeo performers, and keen competition is going to be met in every scheduled event.

Wild Burro Herd

An innovation at the Sanderson rodeo will be the wild burro roping contest. Usually these animals are docile, and would rather stand around looking solemn and chew a cud. But the herd gathered for the events next week were rounded up in the brush and are wild as deer. It took ten hard-riding vaqueros to pen this burro herd, and all are agreed that the winner of the burro roping event will earn his money.

$100 Saddle for Old Men's Roping

Another event, and one that is going to be crammed full of entrants, is the old men's steer roping contest in which the prize is a fine $100 saddle. The saddle is on display in the Empire Cleaners & Dyers show window, and the winner will certainly be proud of this prize. The event is open to men over 40 years of age who have not roped in free-for-all events during the past five years. The low age limit should bring out many who would like to try for this beautiful handmade saddle.

Of course all the usual events will be held at stated intervals.

On Thursday morning at ten o'clock a big parade through the business section will officially open the celebration. Everybody open the celebration. Everybody is cordially invited to take part in this event. Wear full cowboy or cowgirl regalia if possible, or ride in your car.

The parade will form on the athletic field near the McKnight service station, march down the highway, turning north at the Border service station to the school building, thence east two blocks, turning south to the Kerr hotel, where it will disperse.

A loud speaker will be installed on the field with a professional announcer in charge. Thus spectators will be kept informed on what is going on in the arena, by this modern and successful outdoor announcer.

Two Big Dances

Each night there will be a big dance at the spacious C. A. C. hall, and music will be furnished by the "Sleepy Time" orchestra of Alpine, one of the most popular organizations in west Texas.

Sanderson business concerns are cooperating with the promoters to make the celebration a success, and join in extending a hearty welcome to visitors during the 2 days of care-free entertainment.

District Court Convened Monday; Grand Jury Returns 4 Indictments; Recesses Until Monday, August 5

In the absence of District Judge Brian Montague, who is attending a hearing in El Paso, his brother, Judge Joe Montague, of Fort Stockton, convened the regular July term of the district court here Monday morning. District Attorney Julian LaCrosse of Del Rio, was also in attendance.

After being in session Monday and Tuesday court was recessed until Monday, August 5th, when it will be reconvened with Judge Brian Montague presiding, and continue for the remaining two weeks, if necessary.

At ten o'clock the grand jury was empaneled and, after being charged by the presiding judge, retired to investigate pending cases and others that might be called to their attention. The following is the personnel of the grand jury: W. J. Ferguson, foreman; C. M. Breeding, H. V. Cox, C. B. Cochran, W. H. Grigsby, C. E. Morris, Lynn Harrell, Hugh Rose, W. O. Prentiss, H. W. Townsend, C. H. Arvin, and C. V. McKnight.

Indict Four

Four indictments were returned by the grand jury two of these being against O. E. Bowers and M. N. Bobo for possession and transportation of liquor. One indictment against Ervin Anderson for receiving and concealing stolen wool. The other was against Harvey Anderson, charged with burglary.

The grand jury was recessed until Monday, August 12th.

The following civil cases came up for hearing and were disposed of as follows:

F. B. Swift et al. vs. J. Calvin Stansell et al., suit for foreclosure of vendor's lien and to try title. Judgment was rendered in favor of plaintiff for title and possession land involved, and rescission of vendor's contracts.

Lee A. Cook vs. Alma Cook, suit for divorce. Continued by agreement.

Kathleen Buck McLymont vs. James Vance McLymont, suit for divorce. Petition granted and maiden name restored.

A. Madison vs. J. W. Caruthers, Sr., and Clyde Deaton, suit on 2 notes; case dismissed on plaintiff's motion, at plaintiff's cost.

The petit jury, summoned to appear Thursday of this week, were excused until next Monday morning, August 5th.

Good Program For Ranchers' Roundup, Sonora

Educational topics of great importance and interest to ranchmen will be discussed at the Ranchman's Round-up at the Ranch experiment station, thirty miles south of Sonora, at the annual meeting scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday, August 6 and 7.

It is felt that the discussions on "Blow-fly Control," "Contagious and Parasitic Diseases of Sheep" and "Mineral and Vitamin Requirements for Livestock" will have a very important bearing on the ranching industry.

Besides the educational features of the program there is entertainment planned for the evening of August 5 and 6, so that visitors may have the opportunity for a general get-together for pleasure and profit.

Excellent camp grounds are available for the occasion. However, it will be necessary to bring camping equipment and provisions for morning and evening meals. Free barbecue dinner with all the trimmings will be served both days.

Five Boy Scouts To Gathering at Camp Fawcett

Five members of the local boy scout troop left early Thursday morning for Camp Fawcett on the Nueces river, where, with members of troops from other southwest Texas towns, they will spend the next seven days imbibing the tents of this worthy organization, and in various athletic and recreational activities.

The trip was made possible for the Sanderson scouts through cooperation of the American Legion post and Rotary club, who furnishes transportation to and from the camp. Ray Caldwell, post commander, drove the boys to the camp.

The following scouts attending the camp are Troy Druse, Jack Bogusch, Jimmy Cook, Bob Lea, G. C. Carpenter and John Clark.

$45 AT PRINCESS

Margaret Pierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Pierson was not present Monday night when her name was called to receive the $30 award at the Princess Theatre. This will be added to the regular weekly award of $15 next Monday night. Neither was Selio Ochoa present to claim the free pass to the show also awarded to some lucky person every Monday night.

Flood Water Control and Paving Projects Discussed With Engineer Of WPA at Regular Court Meeting

State Tax Rate Set at 62 Cents; Terrell Rate 77c

At a meeting held in Austin on last Saturday the automatic tax board set the state ad valorem tax rate at 62 cents on the $100 valuation for the next fiscal year. Tax for schools was lowered from the constitutional limit of 35 cents to 20 cents, tax for general revenue and Confederate pensions was set at a maximum 35c and 7 cents, respectively.

At the July meeting of the Terrell county commissioners the tax rate for the fiscal year was set at 77 cents on the $100 valuation—a slight increase over last year.

F. H. Callahan, district engineer for the Works Progress Administration, with headquarters at San Angelo, met with commissioners of Terrell county Wednesday and explained the working of the WPA setup.

After discussion the court presented several propositions for Mr. Callahan's consideration and asked his advice.

One was for a system of flood water control in the north part of town. The tentative plans for this would call for a concrete ditch, possibly two, on Mansfield and the north part of Kerr avenues. These to carry off flood waters to the open land in Newberry addition east of town, and thence to Sanderson creek. Recent rains did considerable damage to residences in that part of the town.

The project will require a considerable sum of money, and as soon as an engineer can be secured to draw up notes and plans the proposition will be submitted to the F. W. A. through the proper channels.

Favorable action by the administration on this project alone will take care of practically all unemployment in the county, it was stated.

Another project that came up for consideration was the black-topping of principal streets, and the curbing of same.

And still another was for improvements at the cemetery, including a rock wall and a water well.

The setup in each project was explained by Mr. Callahan. All are needed improvements, but nothing definite as to the final consummation can be stated at this time.

Citizens should interest themselves in these and other projects, and cooperate fully with the commissioners.

Commissioners present at the meeting were W. J. Banner, precinct I. Chester Smith, No. 2; and J. C. Mitchell, No. 3; also County Judge G. J. Henshaw and A. E. Creigh, Jr., the latter on behalf of the cemetery association.

Youths Arrested Here for Alleged Robbery of Store

Five youths were taken from a westbound freight train here Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Jim Nance, after the officers had been notified by Medina county officers that a store in Hondo had been robbed of cigarettes and tobacco.

The boys were all in their teens and gave the names of G. Gotcher, Charles Cochran, Dailey Love, Paul Spencer and G. Howard, transients. The stolen goods were found on them.

Upon notification Sheriff C. J. Schueler of Hondo arrived here Monday and on Tuesday took the boys to Hondo.

Two of the youths admitted the robbery after lengthy questioning Monday afternoon.

New Ruling On Voting Absentee Ballot in Effect

With a revision in regard to voting absentee ballots, made by the 44th legislature many county officials are in a quandary as to a correct interpretation of the law as revised. In substance, it means:

Persons out of the county on vacation on election day are not entitled to vote absentee ballot; others who are out of their home county on business may vote an absentee ballot by the payment of an extra 24 cents. Article 2956 of the revised statute requires this deposit of 24 cents before a ballot for voting can be obtained.

The following interpretation of the new statute and rules for the guidance of voters are reproduced from a San Antonio newspaper:

1. The voter must appear at the county clerk's office not more than 15 days nor less than three days before the election if he desires to vote; that is between the 9th and 21st of August.

2. He must make a sworn affidavit to his application for a ballot, and state his business, and because of the nature of said business he expects to be absent from the county on election day.

3. If not personally known to the county clerk or his deputies he must have the affidavits of 2 persons who must also appear personally and identify him.

4. He must deposit 24 cents to cover postage costs before he receives a ballot.

5. If, due to the nature of his business, the voter is out of the county and cannot appear in person before his county clerk, he may go before any officer who is qualified to take acknowledgments and make affidavits to his application for a ballot at any time not more than 20 days (August 5), nor less than three days (August 21) prior to election, which application is then to be mailed to the county clerk's office by the officer taking the application for a ballot, with 24 cents to cover postage, and the ballot will then be mailed back to the officer who forwarded the application. The voter then goes before that same officer, marks his ballot, and that ballot is then returned to the county clerk's office.

MOVING TO SWEETWATER

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McCright came in Tuesday afternoon from Anson where they had been visiting relatives for several weeks. They have rented a home in Sweetwater and will leave for that city the latter part of the week to make their home. Mr. McCright formerly managed the McCright Super Service station, and was local agent for Texas products. Their friends here wish them the best of luck in their new home.

The Lowdown on the Amendments

NOTE—The Times, with the full cooperation of Gerald C. Mann, Secretary of State presents herewith a digest of Constitutional Amendments to be voted on at the special election in August. They are presented solely that our readers may acquaint themselves with the provisions thereof, and with the distinct understanding that the Times or Mr. Mann is not to be placed in the position of opposing or endorsing any of them.

AMENDMENT NO. 4

Submission of Amendments at Special Sessions of the Legislature

At present the legislature can submit proposed changes in the Constitution only at regular sessions—held every 2 years.

Proposed Amendment No. 4 on the ballot for the August 24th election would revise the Constitution to permit the submission of amendments at special sessions. It is pointed out that in emergency cases, particularly on relief matters, that it might be necessary for Texas voters to vote on an emergency measure at a time when the regular session of the Legislature is quite far distant.

The original purpose of the provision which makes submission possible only at regular sessions was to make the fundamental law hard to amend and change. Two schools of thought are at variance here. The one believing that the Constitution should be easy to change—particularly in emergency cases, and the other that every safeguard should be placed around it to make it difficult to change.

If the proposed amendment is adopted the legislature in any special session can submit proposed amendments to the voters—provided such amendments are submitted by the Governor for the legislature's consideration. If the amendment is rejected the present system will obtain; that is, constitutional amendments can be submitted to the people only at regular sessions of the legislature.

The 44th Legislature submitted thirteen amendments to the voters—seven in August of this year and six in November of 1936. These were all submitted during the regular session. Under the proposed change the 44th legislature might yet submit additional amendments for the voters' consideration.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCright and little daughter, Donna Mae, will leave the latter part of the week for Sweetwater, where they will make their home.

Mrs. E. P. Halley and daughters have returned from El Paso where they visited with her sister, Mrs. E. M. Reeves.

Mrs. Ike Billings of Langtry spent several days here this week visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Osgood.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"To the unprejudiced observer, if such there be when the subject of prohibition is under observation, the portending struggle between the wets and the dries is shaping up as an interesting and somewhat amusing spectacle. Unlike most political campaigns the prophecies made by both sides are those of ignominious defeat rather than glorious victory. Melancholy prevades both camps.

Rather analogous to the present situation might be an encounter between an adventurous puppy and a bristling kitten, the former advancing gingerly, his nose extended doubtfully and his paw-steps halting in trepidation; and the latter quivering with uncertainty, her back arched and her whiskers wide in fury—both dreading the inevitable encounter and each approaching it with a wholesome respect for the other's prowess."—Texas Weekly.

Thus Dale Miller sums up the battle of ballots scheduled for Saturday, August 24th, at which time one of the issues will be to repeal or retain the prohibition clause in the state's constitution. Of course there will be six other amendments up for consideration, but important as these may be in the state's economic structure, the amendment dealing with the prohibition question will easily overshadow them. We venture the opinion that many of the other proposed amendments will receive no consideration at all—that the offensive of the dries, countered by the defense of the wets will center wholly around Proposition No. 3 on the ballot.

To prophesy on the result is to presume. Too many items gather to give a clear-cut idea of just how the prohibition amendment will fare. Two things mitigate against its repeal. One is the suspicion of the average voter against constitutional amendments. Past history shows the general tendency is to scratch 'em all. If this happens in August, the dries score. Another thing is: 1935 is what is known as an "off year"—one in which there is no election for state, county or precinct officers—and the rule, not so much in recent as in former years, is to default on poll-tax payments. This item, however is problematical, but has worked in favor of the wets in previous elections. The attitude of wets in the present instance is, that after 16 years of prohibition that did not prohibit, of the enacting of laws that were not, or could not be enforced, of the millions spent by the government, without a cent's return in revenue, and a condition that placed the rankest of bootleggers, most foreigners in a position to actually dictate to the government itself, the subsequent trail of "rackets," that after all this, many dries will be found in the wet column in August. At any rate, those favoring repeal are not active in this neck of the woods. They may be in for a rude awakening. However, one thing noticeable in the issue is the fact that bitterness and hate is somewhat tempered among the factions, as compared with campaigns prior to national prohibition.

So, we can hardly agree that the coming election will take on the proportions of a cat and dog affair. There may be some warm spots in Texas as August 24th approaches, but we believe the average voter will go to the polls, cast his vote, and go home to sit by the radio until the returns are available. Whoever wins, he'll say "That's that! Let's go to bed!"

Helpful Household Hints

By BETTY WEBSTER

Pencils seem to have come into a new popularity in recent years. Perhaps the pencil blue color has brought it about or the many lovely colors and new designs have increased the interest.

Anyway, it seems as though we can never have too many of the useful things. Some of us gather a sufficient supply after years and years while others of us have them thrust upon us.

An attractive young bride-to-be is a member of the latter group and suggested that I tell you about it so that other girls could have the same good fortune. She was an honor guest at a "Pencil Tea."

Guests Contribute Pencils The affair was a large one, although a small party of this sort may be arranged very effectively. Each guest had been asked to bring a pencil and as each one arrived the gift was placed in a large box, cut, and covered to represent an immense derby hat.

The room was decorated in pencil blue and festoons of tiny pencils were most effective. The hostess served cheese straws, cylindrical cakes, iced drinks and stick candies.

When the guests had all assembled the guest of honor was presented with the hat. It contained besides pencils and boxes of lead, erasers and a serviceable pencil sharpener which the far-sighted hostess had given.

A Popular Material Do you know that chintz is one of the most popular handbag materials? It may be used either plain or quilted. If the latter, no lining is necessary. There are all sorts of frames purchasable—the simple ones are best—and the material may be set on plain and the bag made a deep as desired. These bags go well with dainty summer frocks and are within the reach of everyone.

DO YOU KNOW THAT: Paint and varnish may be removed from the hands by first greasing them and then washing them with soap and water?

Gasoline or alcohol will remove adhesive tape from the skin more easily than anything else? The lubricating jelly used by physicians to keep their instruments in perfect running order is one of the best remedies for sunburn?

The white of an egg is an excellent astringent? Butter will keep indefinitely if it is covered with cold salt water?

RECIPES For a delicious frozen dessert, I can think of nothing daintier than peach. The contents of a can of sliced peaches, packed in ice and salt and allowed to stand for several hours, and then sliced and served with whipped cream is a satisfying end to any meal.

Emergency Salad Dressing 1 large can condensed milk 1/2 cup vinegar (scant) 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon mustard Stir vinegar into milk. Set pan in warm water (or on back of the stove) until fine curd form. Add sugar and mustard. Place in the cold. This dressing will keep indefinitely.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

Austin.—Another bitter chapter in the political history of the Centennial was written last week end in Austin when the commission in control, with Lt. Governor Walter Woodul as chairman, calmly overrode the recommendations of its historical committee for supplemental Centennial observances. The historical commission, after lengthy hearings, had worked out a program of allocating the remaining $550,000 of state Centennial funds to the historical communities, chiefly for permanent monuments and markers. The commission junked this program, allotted $250,000 to Fort Worth for a livestock show. A mighty roar immediately went up from the south Texas historical towns. Two members of the historical committee, Chairman Lou Kemp, Houston attorney, and Father Paul J. Foik of St. Edwards university, Austin, promptly resigned. J. Frank Dobie, the other member, indicated he might resign later.

Lt. Gov. Woodul, who has ambitions to be attorney general, issued a statement, naively "explaining" that the Fort Worth allocation was made to fulfill the terms of an "agreement" made with "certain senators," to get their vote for the Centennial bill when it was pending, before the present commission of control had even been nominated. Publisher Amon G. Carter, who was at the head of the Fort Worth delegation, apparently has sustained his reputation of getting what he goes after. Woodul may have enlisted Carter as an ally in his future political ventures. Observers here are doubtful, however, if he will be remembered favorably in south Texas in future elections.

If the commission of control follows the precedent it has set in this instance, its failure to appoint a newspaperman or advertising man on the advertising advisory committee, to spend the $500,000 of state Centennial advertising fund, may not be so important after all. Perhaps the commission will disregard whatever recommendations its advertising committee may make, anyway.

Action of a district court in Waco recently in sentencing a lawyer-legislator to jail for contempt of court, in connection with an attempt to obtain delay of a trial because of his attendance on the legislature, may have an important effect upon what has been a common abuse of the privilege of being a member of the lawmaking body. Frequently, when lawyers have exhausted their last resource in seeking a delay for a criminal facing the bar of justice, they will retain a lawyer member of the legislature to aid them, and then obtain a postponement on the statutory ground that a court may delay a trial in which a legislator represents a client until after the legislature adjourns. The thing has grown to be a "racket." In many cases the lawyer-legislator takes no part in the case other than to obtain the postponement. Fees run as high as $500 in an important case, where a quick trial might mean conviction, and the criminal has no other excuse for delay.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, congressman who sponsored the Roosevelt measure to kill utility holding companies in congress, may pay for his loyalty to the president with a bitter contest for re-election next summer. Utility companies are said to be gunning for Rayburn, and rumors of utility-backed candidates against him in the 1936 primary are common here. One report current mentions a close official associate of Gov. Allred as a possible candidate against the Bonham congressman.

Temporary opening of the new Mexico City highway during the Rotary and Kiwanis international conventions this summer has led many Texans who want to drive to the Mexican capital to plan the trip for the near future. Latest information here, is that the road has been closed again for completion of paving and bridges and will not be ready to accommodate tourist traffic until next spring. The rainy season in Mexico at present makes it impossible, even if it were open, because there is considerable unpaved mileage.

Physical Checkup Is Urged Before Start of School

Now is the time, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, when every parent should see that the children are physically ready for school. A visit to the family physician and dentist will answer this question and give time for correction of minor defects before school starts.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required school work until this is remedied. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, chronic styes, nervous actions such as habitual winking, may be caused by defective vision and should be attended to immediately.

The far-reaching effects of infected tonsils on the system has been recognized by health workers for many years. Many of the ills of later life, as heart disease, arthritis, deafness, etc., are directly traceable to tonsils that became infected during childhood and allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than any other imperfection, and for that reason children should be taken regularly to a dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth.

Postural defects appear in the life of a child sooner than we formerly suspected. Have your family physician see if the child's shoulder blades project, and if his arches are low. Simple exercises diligently adhered to when the child is young will prevent later serious developments in many cases.

Hussie Galloway and Oscar Cain of Del Rio spent several days here this week attending to business matters.

works at the September special session of the legislature. Various committees have been investigating such varied subjects as oil, cotton, insurance, padding of the school census and the administration of Agriculture Commissioner McDonald. The legislative committee investigative method involves considerable waste of time and money, but occasionally it provides about the only vehicle through which the people can learn the important facts about governmental departments. Some of the reports at the special session are certain to prove interesting and helpful to the people generally.
