EDITORIAL COMMENT

A STITCH IN TIME

Sanderson is behind many towns of West Texas in improvements and other items. Financial handicaps may be given, and accepted, as the reason. But there is one thing that it can and should do, and that is modify the speed rate of automobiles on the street and intersections leading to the school buildings.

THE BEAUTIFICATION MOVEMENT

Practically every town in Texas is making some preparation for Centennial year. Some, of course, are more active than others - towns and cities marked by momentous historical events.

While most communities are lethargic in affairs of this kind, it is good to know that there always a few who are willing to carry the burden, disregarding the self-sacrifice entailed, that their "Home Town" may keep step with the progress of other towns.

A meeting of the committee on beautification will be held next Friday at the courthouse, attend, see how YOU can help!

SENATORIAL SABOTAGE

(Christian Science Monitor)

So far as we know, there is only one place in the United States where one may speak without a license, on any subject he wishes, for as long as his feet will hold him up and with positive assurance of an audience. That place is the United States Senate.

After almost every session of Congress and sometimes during it there are proposals to restrict the traditional freedom of debate in order to end the filibusters which stall the legislative machinery from time to time and particularly just when members have set their hopes on adjournment.

A great deal has been said in defense of this privilege of prolonged oration and even of the filibuster. It is pointed out, for instance, that in closing days of this latest session the filibuster was used twice for "good" purposes, the forcing of consideration of the neutrality bill and Senator Millard Tydings' resistance to the pork barrel flood control bill, and once only for a "bad" purpose: Senator Huey Long's defeat of the deficiency appropriation measure for social security and other needs.

Essentially, though the unlimited debate rule is not a provision for freedom of discussion. The speeches which delay or demand action never have any reference after the first hour and a half to the subject matter at issue. Such debate is not a matter of public enlightenment, it is merely a parliamentary weapon.

So long as the practice remains unchanged it can hardly be said that the United States is governed by the rule of the majority; that statement must be qualified to say that the majority rules except when a Senate minority can prevent it by filibuster.

LABOR GOES FOR ROOSEVELT

(El Paso Morning Times)

Labor day speeches made by labor leaders reveal a strong preference for Franklin D. Roosevelt. Labor would have liked more than it has obtained from the New Deal. It has got more than from any previous administration, however, and is grateful.

The Labor Day utterances of labor leaders may be regarded as opening guns of the 1936 campaign. It is expected Labor will be heavily on the side of Roosevelt—business and industrial elements largely against him.

What the Republicans win from this source, however, they are apt to lose through the defection of progressive Republicans who are sympathetic toward the aims of the Roosevelt administration.

And what of Republicans on relief or PWA payrolls? Will they vote against the hand that feeds them? We doubt it. President Roosevelt's election, despite the vociferous opposition now developing, should be by at least as large a majority as in 1932.

In spite of wars and rumors of war some folks keep on playing golf, and that's a happy fact. If it were not for folks who kept on playing while other folks fight, this would be a hard world.

Some men who live a dog's life probably do not have any license to do so.

The argument that turns a fellow's head sometimes travels to his pocketbook.

We believe it will be a long time before the people of this country will follow the leadership of the theorists and college economists into government ownership for America.

Government to Call in Issues of Liberty Bonds

Heads of the treasury department this week undertook a financial operation involving the sum of $1,750,000,000 aimed at retiring World War Liberty bonds and raising new funds to bolster its cash balance.

The amount of the Liberties to be refunded totals $1,250,000,000, the last of $8,000,000,000 sold to the public during war times. Secretary Morgenthau said holders of the bonds, called for redemption yesterday, may exchange them for new low interest bearing securities or cash.

In addition to the refunding the treasury is seeking to borrow $500,000,000 to replenish cash reserves and supply new working capital for governmental activities. If the borrowing is successful, the public debt will reach, at least temporarily, a new all-time high of more than $29,500,000,000.

The greatest economy in gasoline consumption of automobiles is at 20 miles an hour, government tests show.

This country has more than 366,000 World War veterans on its pension rolls; dependents of the World War veterans total nearly 116,000.

Taxicab drivers in Stockholm, Sweden must be dressed in black. One driver was recently fined 5 kronen because he appeared with beige stockings.

Secretary of State Resigns; to Post In Washington

Austin.—Gerald C. Mann of Dallas submitted his resignation to Governor James Allred as Secretary of State, last Friday, and will go to Washington as the representative of the Texas Planning Board.

Gov. Allred appointed R. B. Stanford of Waco to succeed Mr. Mann as secretary of state, and also as a member of the Texas Planning Board.

Mann succeeds Paul L. Wakefield as Washington representative of the board. Wakefield has been appointed assistant commissioner for the United States Centennial commission.

The salary of the Washington representative of the board is $5000 a year and that of secretary of state $2000. Wakefield's salary will be $7500.

Legionnaires of Texas on Record To Pay Bonus

Dallas, Sept. 3.—The state convention of the American Legion today was expected to take action on the request of Congressman Wright Patman of Congress to instruct him to demand as a delegate to the national convention that the national body go on record as favoring the cash payment of the bonus with the method of payment secondary.

In a fiery speech to the Legion yesterday, Patman severely criticized the National Commander, Frank Belgrano. Some observers saw in his speech an indication of his willingness to become a candidate for the post of national commander.

Four candidates were in the field for the office of state commander, the Rank and File Club supporting the candidacy of John Lee Smith of Throckmorton. The candidates were Ernest Goen of Tyler, Drury Phillips of Huntsville, and Robert Gordon of Hamilton. Goen was elected, succeeding H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling.

After a strenuous battle Beaumont was selected as the convention city for 1936.

After the balloting Ainsworth presented a cup to the Beaumont post for outstanding service rendered the organization last year.

Port Arthur won in the contest to select the drum and bugle corps to represent the Department of Texas at St. Louis. Corsicana was second, and New Braunfels third.

A. T. Sheppard of Corsicana was chosen champion individual bugler.

Joan Meller, "radium" dancer, was stricken with metallic poisoning from covering her body with the luminous paint.

An applicant was refused a fishing license at Fairmont, W. Va., because he admitted he had never been naturalized. He was a full-blooded Indian, and told officials: "I am more of an American than you are."

Nelson Seldin was sued for $1,000 in a Holyoke, Mass. court, after a dog allegedly struck by his automobile ran across the street and bit Michael Kikelly on the leg.

Because her husband sprayed her with a hog disinfectant, Mrs. Ann Bennett of St. Louis got a divorce from him.

J. A. Lavioche of Vermont celebrated his 90th birthday by calling off the changes and dancing the quadrille of olden times.

New Way to Cook Beets

A great many housewives have been taught that beets must be cooked whole and with the skins on, but Miss Miriam Lowenberg, nutrition expert at Iowa State College, tosses this idea and advocates peeling and slicing the beets raw, covering with plenty of water and cooking rapidly for about 15 minutes. This method, she says, makes them tender, retains the color, and flavor may be brought out by the addition of a little vinegar, lemon or orange juice. Here is the way she prepares a dish which she calls Beets Piquant: Make a sauce of 1/4 tablespoons of butter, one of flour, half cup of evaporated milk and half a cup of beef broth. To this add two cups diced beets and heat, after which add two table-spoons of vinegar, one of sugar and a half teaspoon of salt when hot. Serve at once.

The Bible on Dishwashing When in doubt on any subject, always turn to the Scriptures. For example, if the question ever comes up as to whether a husband should help his wife wash the dishes, and how he should do it, you turn to 2nd Kings, 21st chapter, 13th verse. This passage says: "And I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish - wiping it and turning it upside down."

Knees Coming Back in View For several years the women's dresses have been getting longer and longer until they have swept the ground, sidewalk and floor. During this period of lengthening skirts, backs have had their "coming out." But the trend is moving the other way. Women's styles are getting knee-conscious again and skirts for fall and winter end at least three inches nearer the praying joint. But the waistline is lower.

Rumble Seat Not New That object of many puns, the rumble seat is not a product of the motor age, but a holdover from horse and buggy days. No one objects to riding in such seats these days for its possible inconveniences or discomfort, but to have done so in olden times was to proclaimed the one so seated as a servant. We find that the "rumble" was a seat attached to the rear of a carriage for the transportation of servants and it derived its name from its "rumbling" as the vehicle bowled over the roads.

"Hero No. 1", Picture Immortalizing Heroic Feats of Uncle Sam's G-Men

ZaSu Pitts Star of Comedy at the Princess Tonight

How soft is a "hard guy," and is there really a tender heart beating under that bullet-proof vest of the average plug-ugly? The answers to these questions are furnished in a most hilarious manner in "She Gets Her Man," the Universal comedy which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Monday night, Sept. 9. In the featured roles are ZaSu Pitts and Hugh O'Connell.

Miss Pitts, unwittingly a heroine because she fainted on an alarm button and released a flood of tear gas during a bank robbery arouses the enmity of Chicago gangsters, especially after she begins to stirring message to the mothers of America. But when she is forced into a gathering of battle-scarred Public Enemies, she discovers that they are just a lot of big overgrown boys, and what happens after she repeats the only speech she knows brings the picture to a startling and a riotously funny climax.

Dramatic details of the Government secret service in its war on organized crime; the heroism of the Federal men in their perilous work, and the trailing of a public enemy, is a story based on actual facts and cases, are the thrills of "Public Hero No. 1," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new thriller which plays at the Princess Theatre tonight and Saturday, Sept. 6 and 7.

Chester Morris as the adventurous Jeff Crane, and Joseph Calleia as the fugitive crime overlord, are the centers about which the amazing plot evolves. Lionel Barrymore adds both comedy and pathos in the principal character role, as the strange old physician, tool of the underworld, and Jean Arthur, with Chester Morris, provides the romantic interest. The cast also feature Paul Kelly Lewis Stone, Paul Hurst and George E. Stone.

The sensational prison break, the stampede of a thousand convicts, the breath-taking operation sequence, where the doctor performs a transfusion the crooks' hideout, the raid on the gangsters' stronghold, a running battle between fast automobiles, and other exciting details embellish the story as the audience follows the Federal men in their dangerous work.

One of the amazing details is the resort of the crook to plastic surgery as a disguise that, however, fails to elude the vigilance of Uncle Sam's watchdogs.

Glasses or Good Lighting?

IT is an appalling fact that one-fifth of all grade children have something wrong with their eyes. At college age, forty students out of every 100 suffer from defective vision.

The new Science of Seeing reveals that one of the principal causes of eyestrain is improper lighting. A student who reads in dim light instinctively forms the habit of bringing his book or other object of study closer to his eyes. His eyes adjust themselves to this wrong reading distance—and he eventually becomes near-sighted.

If your child habitually reads with the printed page less than 14 inches from his eyes, there are two things you should do at once. First, have his eyes examined by a competent eye specialist. Then, correct your lighting to conform with the sight-saving suggestions shown at the left. We'll gladly help you with your lighting problems, free of charge.

Four Sight-Saving Suggestions

- 1. Make sure there is a reading lamp for every member of the family and a study lamp for the children. These lamps should have shades that are light-colored inside, open at the top, deep enough to prevent glare from bare bulbs and wide enough to throw the light where it is needed.
2. See that every reading or study lamp is equipped with the proper-sized bulbs—one 100-watt, two 60's or three 40's according to the number of sockets.
3. Place lamps so that there is no direct or reflected glare in your eyes.
4. Do your visual work in a room that is moderately well lighted throughout. Reading under a floor lamp in an otherwise dark room is a sure source of eyestrain.
