CLEAN FOOTBALL

(An editorial from Eagles' Scratches, Eldorado High School and contributed by Roy Deaton.)

There are three types of spectators who watch a football game. the Eagles up there, but the team Those who know football, those will need most of their support in who think they know football and the game at Big Lake next weekthose who know they don't know | end. football.

When we say clean football, the first class settle down to enjoy the game, the second class say that the team must be composed of pansies, and the third class sneers. They say football is too brutal to be played clean. Which class are you? Try to be in the first class.

Sometimes it is hard to grin four years, and has been missed when you get a knee in your back greatly since his graduation. He or a leg twisted. If you grin and tell the man it's all right, the last thing he will think about before his cleverness and smile for many he goes to sleep is "Do you suppose I hurt that boy badly?" On the other hand, if you get sore and say something back to him, you may get a penalty for your team and you're called a "softy."

Some teams are coached dirty football; but they are far and few between.

Clean football does mean hit them hard and help them up, and repeat this every time, only hit a little harder. Your opponent will say "That boy is a good man." -sHsSANDERSON HIGH SCHOOL, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1935

Our football boys seem to have regained their rabbit's foot. They beat Fort Stockton 7 to 6 Saturday, Nov. 2, by intercepting a lateral pass which Jack Bogusch, our right end, promptly carried 50 yards for a touchdown. The team was slightly down-hearted since McCamey beat them 18 to 0, but they came out of it last Saturday.

"What is the matter with the old report cards?" has been the cry of all the students since the new-fashioned report cards were issued at the end of the first six weeks. Perhaps they not tell the parents enough. Who knows? But I can say one thing: from the expressions on some of the students' faces when they took their new report cards home, the new ones did the telling fairly well.

This year the plan for assembly is very good. Every student in high school is to have part in the program before the year is over.

On Monday morning, Nov. 4, street. when asked to say a few words on the football game Saturday, one of the players said "I ain't got no" and as a result he was called down when he went to his next class. The poor fellow might have been so scared he couldn't say anything else, but I guess the next time he is called on to make a speech he will be more careful about his English.

The pep squad has made a good showing at every game the team played away from home, and at home, too. Although some of the cause of their support of the footgirls do not realize it, they are a ball team this year. So far we At present the first year is pregreat help to the team.
