Congressman South Takes Issue With Gillis Regarding Trade Treaties

(By SAM ASHBURN in Del Rio Evening News)

Hudspeth, formerly of Del Rio and now of San Angelo, was president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at the closing session of the convention in San Angelo Friday afternoon. Hudspeth declared: "This is the first time I ever saw such a man put over. I have too many business cares to fill the office but will do all that I can." Mr. Hudspeth was a "dark horse" in the presidential race and was completely surprised at his election. Weaver Baker of Junction was elected vice president of the association, and Brady was chosen as the next convention city. An annual convention next year will be held, as usual, in December. A regular meeting of the executive board will be held March 11 in Del Rio.

The office of the president will be located wherever Mr. Hudspeth desires to have it, which will likely be in San Angelo. The association has been located in Del Rio during the past year.

Judge L. J. Wardlow of Fort Worth, one of the last speakers, presided at the national administrative and in the main agreed with South's morning address on Argentina pact and reciprocal treaties in general.

Weaver Baker, incoming vice-president, paid a tribute to Roger Gillis, who has served the organization for the last year as president.

The morning Byron Wilson of "Roger Gillis has the brightest mind of any man I have ever

The wool tariff in his belief will be disturbed in the system of trade treaties which have been made or which will be made, Byron Wilson, described as the best formed man in the sheep business in America, told the convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, Inc., on the garden of the St. Angelus day morning. Mr. Wilson, secretary of the Wyoming Wool Growers' Association, has been to Washington for a quarter century fighting for tariffs, and looking after the many other matters which concern the Congressman Chas. L. South of Texas, introduced by President Gillis of the association as the reason why the growers have been getting along all right without a lobbyist" in Washington and as a representative to always was glad to serve the industry, was the final speaker for the noon recess.

Not a Free Trader
The congressman calmly but strongly defended the policies of the national administration. He declared that he was not a free trader and that neither President Roosevelt nor Secretary of State Clegg Hull is a free trader. He asserted that Hull "will not sell livestock growers of the United States down the river," and that there is no proof that the reciprocal trade treaties will hurt the livestock industry, but on the other hand, there is evidence that the Smoot-Hawley tariff, the highest in the nation's history, as sembled did not set or hardly influence the market on cattle.

Soldier Graves on Pecos Near Iraan Found Disturbed

Sunken graves near the Pecos river two miles below Red Barn were identified this week as those of former soldiers, when headstones were found near the opened graves, which apparently had been disturbed by vandals.

H. L. Jackson and J. G. Rooney of Iraan, called to investigate the graves, found two stones in the bushes near the despoiled burying places. One was inscribed "H. H. C., A. D. 1850," with lettering on one side indicating the man's army connection, as follows: "Co. E, 2nd Cavalry." The other stone bore the initials "W. Mc. N., and the date August, 1850."

Investigating the theory of many Iraan residents that the graves had been opened by persons seeking possible treasure or valuables buried with the bodies, the graves were cleaned out and human bones uncovered. In addition there was unearthed a small steel brush, of modern design, thought to be lost there by the person who first disturbed the graves.

Judge O. W. Williams is authority for the statement that in the year of the burials, 1850, a military expedition came through that area, crossing the Pecos river near the site of the graves.

Information is being sought in the War department by Judge D. H. Mitchell of Iraan as to the nature of the expedition and circumstances of the deaths of the pair.—Fort Stockton Pioneer.

President Roosevelt Endorses 30th Christmas Seal Sale

Below is a facsimile of a statement issued by Franklin Delano Roosevelt urging the people of the country to do their part in supporting the nationwide campaign to raise funds for the control of tuberculosis. President Roosevelt is Honorary Vice-President of the National Tuberculosis Association which with its two thousand affiliated tuberculosis associations is conducting the thirtieth annual Christmas Seal sale from Thanksgiving through Christmas.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

November 12, 1936

Thanksgiving Day this year marks an important milestone in our country's conquest of an age old enemy. On that day will be launched throughout the country the thirtieth Christmas Seal sale of the National Tuberculosis Association and its 2000 affiliated state and local associations. For thirty years funds from these penny Christmas Seals have been used in an organized educational campaign to control tuberculosis.

It is tremendously encouraging to know that tuberculosis is no longer the leading cause of death and that the fight against this scourge is continuing without respite. However, the fine progress that has been made should not be permitted to arouse a false sense of security. Quite on the contrary there is need for continued and intensified activity. Especially should these efforts be directed to the elimination of the disease as it prevails among children, as well as young men and women, in such groups as unnecessarily high toll is exacted. There still exists too the necessity for the early discovery of tuberculous patients and their prompt hospitalization. When these obvious steps have been taken the complete and final victory over this disease will be brought nearer.

On the eve of the thirtieth Christmas Seal sale I urge all to do their part in supporting the nation-wide campaign. It is the duty of each local community to raise funds for its own protection against this enemy of homes and health.

Chevrolet Dealers Have Records for Long Time Service

More than 40 per cent of Chevrolet's 10,000 dealers have been with the company for more than five years, a checkup of company records in connection with Chevrolet's 25th anniversary revealed this week.

Of these 2,685 have been with Chevrolet from five to ten years; 1,385 have been with Chevrolet from ten to fifteen years; 204 from fifteen to twenty years, and 12 dealers have been distributing Chevrolets for more than twenty years.

During 1936, the company's 25th year as a manufacturer of automobiles, 99.6 per cent of all dealers showed a profit, and their combined profit was greater than during any other year in Chevrolet's history, officials declared. Domestic sales for the year, at 1,130,000, also was higher than during any previous year.

"Since the inauguration of our Quality Dealer program 3 years ago, Chevrolet dealerships have been increasingly profitable," W. E. Holler, general sales manager, declared. "It is a real testimonial to Chevrolet that such a large percentage of our dealers have been with us through the years."

The Sanderson Eagles took the Alpine Bucks Wednesday evening at Alpine. It was the first game of the season for the Eagles. After the final whistle of the game Sanderson was 29, Alpine 21.

In the first quarter of the game the Eagles were off with a bang. The ball was fed to Bogusch at pivot center and numerous times he managed to score. In the first few minutes the Eagles scored 11 points. Harris substituted for Fierro, who played forward, and scored four points in the first quarter. The score at the end of the first period was Sanderson 19 Alpine 3.

In the second quarter Sanderson slowed up and Alpine narrowed the margin held by Sanderson. At the half the score read Sanderson 23, Alpine 12. During this period both Weigand and Lea scored.

In the third period Fierro scored 6 points running the score to 29 which completed the scoring done by Sanderson. During the second half the ball exchanged frequently and only few points were scored.

In the final quarter the substitutes were sent in for both teams. This game was the first game for several of the boys. Every boy that played made a good showing and prospects look fairly bright for a future.

The second string also made an excellent showing when they trounced the Alpine second string 12-10. Wesley Lochausen played center; Robert Lochausen, guard; Essary Haines, forward; Harry Levellen, forward and Joe Kerr, guard.

Wesley, Robert, Harry, and Essary played their first game. Wesley scored 2 points, Robert 2, Harry, 6, and Joe 2.

The scoring for the main string was done by Bogusch who made 12 points, Fierro 6, Harris 4, and Weigand 3.

Alpine is to play here in a double header Friday and Saturday, December 18 and 19. The first game will be Friday night just after the program at the school auditorium. The second game will be Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. So bring a friend or two and come cheer the Eagles to victory. Remember, just after the program. The program is free but you will have to pay ten cents for children and 25 cents for grown-ups. That isn't much to see a game so be sure and be there.

"Gay Desperado" O. K. Theatres Road Show Will Be at Princess Dec. 16-17

Romance, melody and laughter will be the order of the day when Nino Martini, the handsome singing star of radio, grand opera and films, begins delighting patrons at the Princess Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, December 16 and 17, in "Gay Desperado," another O. K. Theatres Road Show.

Do yourself a favor and take yourself and your beau (or best gal) and the whole family to see this picture. It's a skillful concoction of every ingredient of a perfect evening's entertainment—it's the answer to a movie fan's prayer.

A far cry from the usual film featuring an operatic songbird, "The Gay Desperado" is a fast-moving, thrill-packed and laugh-loaded story laid in scenes below the Rio Grande.

As a silvery-throated singer in list!

a little Mexican movie, Martini proves that he can act as well as sing. He is kidnaped by a bold, bad bandit who worships American gangsters and decides to use their methods, but he is really a sentimental, music-loving chap at heart. He attempts to pull off a real American kidnaping and his victims are a weaking son of an American family, James Blakely, and his sweetheart, Ida Lupino. Carlo invites Butch the Blood to handle the ransom details, then the fun begins. Martini and Miss Lupino fall in love. After many amusing sequences in which the tactics of American kidnapers are satirized, Martini effects the release of the victims.

Martini's offerings are popular song hits and several operatic highlights—an evening's entertainment in themselves. A show you should put on your MUST

Modern Gulliver Helps the Little People - By Knott

One year ago regional headquarters of the Resettlement Administration were set up in Dallas. Since that time loans have been made to 35,808 Texas farm families who were unable to obtain from any other source the finances needed to carry on farm operations. Many of these families had been forced to quit farming for lack of teams, tools and supplies, but as a result of Resettlement aid are now self-supporting again. More than one million dollars of the ten million dollars loaned has been repaid, although the loans were made for up to five years.

The next step is to aid landless farmers in becoming landowners, and tenant families are now being nominated as prospective purchasers of 588 farms, the land for which has already been optioned or purchased.

HUDSPETH HEADS—

the Senate to ratify at the next session of Congress, Congressman South described as an instrumentality which disrupted trade between the two countries and, for all practical purposes, will result only in the lifting of a ban on shipments of lamb and mutton from Patagonia, a province in which there has been no case of hoof and mouth disease for thirty years. Then, he said, the Patagonian lamb and mutton would have opportunity to compete with the United States if it could. Tariff restrictions would not be affected and the congressman indicated no fear of the possible competition to be afforded.

"Tariff Didn't Help Steer Price" Taking up the Canadian reciprocal trade treaty, which often has been the target of grower attacks, South pointed out that under it both Canada and Mexico—the latter included as a favored nation—would be permitted to export to this country only 151,000 head of cattle, 50,000 calves and 200,000 milch cows in a year and after they had filled the quotas the old tariffs, a cent higher, would apply again.

He cited that in 1929 steers sold in Chicago at $11.92 a hundred-weight, and in 1933, despite the anticipated protection of the Smoot-Hawley tariff, the best steers could bring only $4.80. And the low price applied under the tariff and before the reciprocal trade pacts were made, South emphasized.

Because of the high tariff walls erected by this and other countries, the foreign trade of the U. S. was reduced from nine billions of dollars in 1929 to three billions in 1933, and Texas with a vast export trade in the balance, was one of the sectors left holding the bag, South declared. He pointed out that Texas' vast oil exports must be considered and that reciprocal trade treaties afforded an avenue of release.

South "Renews Confidence"

In President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the agricultural industries of the U. S. have the best friends they have ever had in the White House, South declared. Prefacing his remarks about the trade treaties which he had chosen as his subject when asked many weeks ago to speak to the growers here, South explained that he and Roger Gillis were the best personal friends, but that they didn't mind disagreeing with each other.

As the congressman took his seat amidst a hearty ovation, Gillis told the gathering, "It is refreshing and it renews our confidence in our representative in Washington to know that he will tell you face to face that he does not agree with you. I heartily hope that he is right and that the fears that many of us hold are groundless."

America's First Presidents

ALTHOUGH George Washington was the father of our country, he was not, as is often mistakenly assumed, the first President of the United States. That honor goes to an obscure man most of us have never even heard of—Thomas McKean.

Our present Constitution did not go into effect until March 4, 1789. Washington was the first President under its provisions, and served until his voluntary retirement in 1797. But before that time our country, such as it then was, had been held together by the Articles of Confederation.

On September 5, 1774, delegates from twelve states (Georgia was not represented at the first congress) met in Philadelphia and organized what has since been called the Continental congress. Its purpose was to organize the colonies into a federation for united action against their common enemy, England.

The Continental congress met irregularly until March 2, 1789. Its most important single act was drawing up and adopting, on July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence, written largely by Thomas Jefferson.

The delegate in charge at the meetings carried the title and signed papers as "The President of the United States." Thomas McKean was the first man to be elected to that post. Altogether, there were eight different men who held the office, in addition to John Hancock who was elected but declined to serve.

J. W. Leatherwood went to El Paso on Tuesday returning Wednesday with a new Chevrolet truck for the McKnight Motor Co.

Jim Kerr went to San Antonio last Saturday where he visited over Sunday with relatives. Accompanied by Mrs. Kerr, who had been there for the past week, he returned home Monday.

"TEXAS RANGERS" WITH ALL STAR CAST TONIGHT

"The Texas Rangers," King Vidor's historical epic of the men who molded a state from the territory of Texas, will be the feature at the Princess Theatre tonight and Saturday, December 11 and 12.

The picture has an all-star cast headed by Fred MacMurray and Jack Oakie, and includes among its headliners Jean Parker, Lloyd Nolan, Ed Ellis, Benny Bartlett, and a score of others.

Encounters of Ranger companies with bands of marauding Indians and with stage coach robbers are a part of the plot development. Miss Parker, remembered for important roles in "Little Women," and "Sequoia" is cast as the daughter of the head of a Ranger unit.

"HARD GUY" OF SCREEN HAS NEW GAMBLER ROLE

The screen's most happy combination of man-of-steel and romantic lover, George Raft, put a new feather in his cap by his performance in the Paramount comedy-romance "Yours for the Asking," which comes to the Princess Theatre Monday night, Dec. 14.

The story concerns a gambling-house proprietor who goes "society" setting up a gambling layout in the mansion once owned by Miss Barrymore's banker-father, and drawing the monied trade. He is coached in his new venture by Miss Barrymore, who slowly realizes that she is falling in love with him.

Ida Lupino, beautiful adventuress, is instructed to pose as a member of the upper-crust, win Raft, and then jilt him. To accomplish this, Miss Lupino adopts an aristocratic uncle, Reginald Owen, who actually is a board-walk hawk of gadgets at a resort on the beach.

Completely taken in, Raft enlists Miss Barrymore's aid in winning Miss Lupino. She teaches him etiquette, chooses the gifts he is to send and give advice. The triangle set up by the situation spins at a dizzy rate before it finally comes to rest with Raft realizing which way romance lies.

Its only a little more than a week until the Christmas holidays, but that isn't all; there are only 12 more shopping days. Don't wait until the last minute to do your shopping, and don't say I didn't warn you!

The greens won't! But if you aren't green you're gold (yellow). You couldn't be both and besides the golds could have won. I am just trying to cheer you if you don't understand.

There's a little senior boy who is getting so much sleep lately that he-er-er-can't sleep in history class. Yes, that's what I meant to say.

Are you catty? Or maybe you don't know just what I mean; well I can't explain it exactly, but I think Miss Leath can.

What happened to the snooper? Why, nothing, she just didn't snoop that's all. Snoop smore snooper.

Is it the more intelligent boy or girl who joins the many activities and fraternities of high school or do they generally stick to their books?

"Wash your teeth before each meal."—Miss Moore.

What's the difference between a teacher and a postage stamp?—(Ans.—One licks with a stick and the other sticks with a lick)

I hear that Miss Leath is going to serve refreshments at the Dabblers club meeting. (Just between you and me, Miss Leath, I'll bet there isn't room for all of us up there if it gets out.)

The activities of the modern school is much broader than the traditional Three Rs, as will be shown. The high school band will present several numbers, as will the junior band which was started this year. The high school choral club, under the direction of Miss Lucile McWhorter, will sing several songs. The fifth and sixth grades as part of the public school music course in the elementary grades, will present several songs, including Christmas songs.

The Dramatic club of the high school will present two one-act plays which are humorous and entertaining. This group will also present such a play at the district Interscholastic League meet in the spring.

High School Band To Get Sweaters

The high school band is going to buy sweaters this year. The sweaters are to be black with a large burnt orange "S". Each high school band member will receive one service stripe for the number of years he has played in the band. The sweaters are to be plain coat style.

The members will receive the sweaters for service in the band just as the football boys receive sweaters, only the band members must buy their sweaters individually. Seventh grade students in the band will be allowed to have sweaters also, but they will receive no service stripes. Grammar school band members will use the uniforms formerly used by the high school band.

The band will present the assembly program next Tuesday, playing several numbers the band has learned. They will also furnish the music on the program to be given December 18.

H. E. Teacher Reports on San Antonio Meeting

Mrs. Leona W. Ulbricht, vocational home economics teacher in the local high school, attended the 30th annual American Vocational convention during part of the sessions last week end. Mrs. Ulbricht left here Thursday evening and drove to San Antonio, where the meeting was held. This is the first time the meeting was ever held in the South.

In a short discussion Wednesday morning at the high school faculty meeting, Mrs. Ulbricht outlined some of the points that were stressed at the convention. The convention represented eight fields of vocational education: agricultural, commercial, home economics, industrial arts, industrial, part-time school, vocational guidance and vocational rehabilitation.

Dr. George P. Hambrecht, president of the American Vocational Association, Inc., presided at the convention meetings. Sectional meetings for each field represented were held at specified times during the three days of the convention.

Schools of San Antonio took an active part in the convention as well as did speakers from other schools in the state. Articles made by different vocational schools were on exhibit and a convention daily paper was published and sold on the grounds by the San Antonio Vocational and Technical School. The paper, an eight-page four-column tabloid, was edited and printed by advanced students of the school.

Mrs. Ulbricht, in her discussion Wednesday pointed out the importance of vocational training in high schools and made references to statements given at the convention. The theme of the convention stressed the importance of high school pupils fitting themselves for a definite occupation or vocation while they were in high school, so they would be able to make a living after graduation if they did not have the opportunity to attend college.

Miss Moore, State Nurse Gives Report Of Month's Health Program Here

Miss Ruth Moore, health nurse sent here by the State Department of Health upon request of several organizations representative of the town, returned to Austin last Saturday. Miss Moore was sent here for one month only. She came here and worked with the public schools as part of the health program sponsored by the P. T. A. and the public schools.

Miss Moore prepared the following report of her work here during the month: "One hundred twenty-one parents were sent notifications about dental defects noted by Dr. A. E. Robertson, advising the parents to consult the family dentist about their children's teeth.

"Four hundred thirty-five children were given vision tests and eighty-four were advised to consult an eye specialist for advice about their vision.

"Physicians gave 140 children physical examinations. Parents of 52 of these children were advised by notification slips to consult the family physician about physical defects noted.

"Physicians gave toxoid to 92, the Schick test to 24, and small-pox vaccine to 112 children."

A part of this report was published in last week's paper, but this is a complete report submitted by Miss Moore before she left. She was assisted in the health program by Drs. W. H. Doty and P. W. Mallory.

Students of the American high school, the American elementary school, the Mexican elementary school, and the Dryden elementary school were examined.

ASSEMBLY By Mildred Hurst

Mr. Caraway was in charge of the assembly program Tuesday morning, December 8. Jack Bogusch and Pat Harris, playing the part of two bums from the railroad, entertained the high school assembly with several mathematical puzzles and jokes. After the program, Miss McWhorter, grammar school music teacher, led the student body in several songs.

Letters to Santa

By NELLE LEA

What! Just two more weeks until Christmas? YES, that's all. Well, since it is so near we might as well tell you what a few of the Sanderson high school seniors have written and asked dear old Santa Claus to bring them. Listen with both ears and read with both eyes. It won't do any harm and it might do you a little good to have the knowledge of knowing what is wanted.

Dear Santa Claus: I am a very nice little boy, really, and I would like to ask you for one or two things that I think you wouldn't mind bringing me for Christmas. I am also a brilliant and smart boy as far as anything but school is concerned.

I am not lazy but I would like to have a small machine that would get my lessons for me each day. The little Shirley Temple dolls I have been seeing are very cute, and I would like to have one. Of course I want mine a little bit different than the rest of them. I want it to be able to walk, talk, and to have only three curls on top or her head, like one of my senior girl friends. Thank you! PAT SULLIVAN.

Dear Santa Claus: Woe is me! I only have a few things that will make me feel glad to see Christmas come near.

This year I am going to ask for a few things. I want you to bring me something very nice for me to give to Mildred. She is so sweet and nice that I don't want to forget her this year.

I am not going to ask much for myself because I have to see that I don't lose Mildred. Maybe I can ask for more next time when I'm sure I have her. Oh, well, you might bring me a small doll that looks exactly like Ginger Rogers and I want it to be able to tap too. Mildred doesn't tap for me as she used to, and I love to see some one tap dance. Don't forget me. JOE KERR, Jr.

Rose Nell Wickliffe is a new member of the third grade. She came here last week from Fort Stockton. We are glad to have Rose Nell with us.

Holiday Season in Local Schools to Start Dec. 22nd

Christmas holidays for Sanderson public schools will begin at 4 o'clock Tuesday, December 22 and school will be resumed Monday, January 4.

The Christmas season is the third group of holidays for the Sanderson schools. November 11 was the first scheduled holiday, and the Thanksgiving holidays began Tuesday, November 24 and school was resumed the following Monday.

Holidays for the spring semester are only tentatively arranged and definite announcement will be made later. The school is allowed five holidays during the year and all other holidays that are given are to be made up.

Can U Imagine?

Shorty Short being seen at the show, "I'd Give My Life", with Mary Beth Banner?

Sammie Carter with three cute little curls right on top of her head?

Robert Lochausen fussing about having so many rests on his drum music in "The Gypsy Festival"? He just adores anything to do that will make a little bit of noise.

The volley ball girls having so little time to practice in the gym that none (or few) of them are out at all?

A senior afraid that he will make the basketball team this year on account of a little more competition?

Albert Weigand saying that he could not get to school to practice a play at 8:15, because he doesn't have breakfast until 8? I wonder how long it takes him to devour his morning meal?

Jack Bogusch making a "cute" negro in a play given in chapel this week? At least one of his senior classmates thinks so!

The Junior class actually having a class meeting Tuesday afternoon? If they have a Christmas party, they will at least be ahead of the Senior class!

Everyone trying to read the writing that was on Miss Childer's scarf?

The Seniors already planning what they want for Christmas?

Albert Appel ending a conversation with two of his girl classmates with "You Girls"? What was meant by this?

Holden Murrah going down the steps of the high school building so fast that he nearly took a very impolite seat on the cement just below him?

Prince Dishman always calling Dorothy Lewellen during study periods to ask questions? Why does he always pick her to ask a question when there are so many other girls in the study hall?

Dick Mussey forgetting to open his Civics book, when requested by Mr. Holt just a minute before, so he just didn't know the answer.

Only seven more days of school before the Christmas holidays begin?

GYMNASIUM REGULATIONS
The following regulations were posted from Mr. Smith's office the first of the week:

1—The gym will not be opened under any conditions be opened for use on Sunday.

2—The gym will not be opened during the week nights except for scheduled games and Scout meetings, unless other wise arranged.

3—Any one not using tennis shoes while playing in the gym automatically forfeits their right to use the gym until they secure shoes and get permission from the person in charge.

Eagle Cagers to Play at Rankin In Tournament

The Eagle squad will take in the Rankin tournament today and tomorrow. This is the first time Sanderson has participated in the annual affair at Rankin. Such teams as Fort Stockton, Iraan, McCamey, Rankin, and Big Lake will furnish opposition on all sides.

The Eagles have a promising lot of talent in the following boys: Forward, Jack Bogusch, Pat Harris, Eleteo Fierro; Guard, Albert Appel, Joe Kerr, Bob Lea and Essary Haines; Albert Weigand seems set to hold down the center post. It would not be a surprise if the Lochausen brothers, Troy Druse, Harry Lewellen, Kenneth Litton should break into the line up. The boys look as if they will give Sanderson one of its best teams as they lack only the experience of playing together. Jack Bogusch and Albert Appel are the only returning lettermen.

SANDERSON MEX. SCHOOL PLANNING SHORT PROGRAM

Practice was started today in the Mexican elementary school for a short Christmas program to be given Tuesday, December 22, under the direction of Miss Anderson. The program will be given as an assembly program for the pupils.

The third grade pupils, under Miss Bruton, are making salt maps of Texas. Some very nice maps have been turned in.

The fourth grade, under Mr. Dawson, are making salt product maps of the geographical divisions of Texas.

Attendance was about back to normal after seizures of mumps and vaccinations.

TERM THEMES DUE SOON

The term themes of the Senior class will be due January 4, 1937. As the class is studying "Henry Esmond," Miss Martin gave five subjects to be written about in "Henry Esmond." The students are supposed to pick the subject that they want to write about and take notes as they read the story. This will make it easier to write a term theme.

STUDENTS GUEST THEATRE

Students of the Sanderson public schools were guests at a free matinee Wednesday afternoon at the Princess Theatre. The show was the story of steel.

School began Wednesday noon ten minutes early and was turned out at 3:50 for the convenience of those students attending this special matinee. The show was an educational "short" of the story of the steel industry. A comedy was also shown.

Health Nurse Talks to Students

Miss Ruth Moore, state nurse, gave an interesting talk on health last Friday to student of the high school on the seventh grade.

She told how fortunate the students were to have such a nice school building and that they should take pride in keeping it that way. This enters into Citizenship, stressed so many time by Mr. Holt.

Miss Moore used a very good example pertaining to health and everyday life. She said: "If I were to run over some child and injure or kill him you probably would want to throw me in jail or hang me. But did you ever stop to realize that students coming to school with a cold, whooping cough, smallpox or diphtheria is similar to running over a child. The disease, which others might catch might leave the child physically unfit for a successful future." She also said, "If you have a cold stay at home because you can't apply yourself as well as you could if you didn't. You will also make it hard for the teacher and other students. Don't say, 'Oh, well, if they don't want the cold let them stay at home.'"

She also went over the rules of health which are cleanliness, food, sleep, posture, etc. You should take at least two baths a week and wash your neck and ears every morning, and your hands before putting anything in your mouth. Eat at least three meals a day, sleep 8 to 9 hours with plenty of fresh air, and be sure to brush your teeth at least twice daily.

First Grade

The first grade pupils are now enjoying Edward Chastain's book, "Wag, the Friendly Dog." Edward reads the story to them. They enjoy the story and have also gained about twenty new words for their reading vocabulary through this activity. They play games with the new words which have been printed on flash cards. The new words are also printed on the black board.

Other reading material has been prepared on Edward Wheeler's birthday party and the birthdays of the children which were in November. The pupils are enjoying their new books which were presented by the Parent Teacher's Association.

The children are now making Santa Claus cut-outs arranging a wishing Christmas tree, and they are also making pirate pictures and words they find in newspapers and magazines. The wishing tree will suffice now but the time will soon be here when a real Christmas tree loaded with presents must take its place.
