Graduation Exercises Held Wednesday for Twelve HS Students

Wiggins of El Paso Is Principal Speaker to Class

Graduation exercises were held Wednesday evening for twelve members of the senior class of Sanderson high school. A number of the school parents and relatives attended the exercises, which was one of the best ever held here.

Professional music by Mrs. R. McKinson opened the program for the seniors. Dr. D. M. Wiggins, principal speaker of the evening, was followed by R. D. Holt, and Principal W. Smith, who marched to the brightly lit stage. After the invocation prayer by Rev. S. M. Hurst, the choral club of the high school, directed by Miss Lucile Hurter, sang "Alice Blue Gown" and "Indian Love Call." Margaret Gregory accompanied on the piano.

Dr. R. D. Holt then introduced Dr. Wiggins, President of the School of Mines, El Paso, who spoke to the graduates on the subject of "Education." He gave a wide scope in defining education, and in forceful, but unobtrusive manner stated that education "begins with birth and ends with death," and was the preparation of a certain growing product that the more one knows the easier it was for them to do it. He pointed out that the education of men and women is not those who respect, admire, and mix with their friends in their little ways. In closing he reminded the class that they are still frontiers to be conquered, that by having responsibility, which was one of the essential things for happiness, they better tackle problems that would meet.

Following Dr. Wiggins' address and awards were presented. The annual Alexander Mitchell award of $10, presented to Jack Bogusch, whose average for the year was highest in school. Jack also received several scholarships and was named valedictorian of the class. Mildred Hurst, who won second best honor, was also given scholarships to several leading universities of the state.

The seniors were then awarded diplomas by Supt. Holt, after a prayer by Joe Kerr, Jr., president of the class presented the class gift to the high school, with a check to buy a flagpole. Professional music by Mrs. Wilkinson closed the program.

Student Painfully Burned at Dance Last Friday Nite

What might have been a tragedy was narrowly averted at the dance last Friday night in the Masonic hall, when a lighted cigarette was thrown on the floor, which resulted in painful burns sustained by Miss Ethel Nance. She and some of her friends had just finished a game when a match used to light a cigarette was thrown on the floor, igniting her evening dress. She quickly extinguished the fire, but the top part of the dress caught fire, and she received a full burn on the shoulder. Miss Nance was taken to a physician for treatment, and is doing nicely.

Dr. and Mrs. John L. Newton children returned home Sunday night from Uvalde where they went last Wednesday to attend the commencement exercises of the high school, and to be present at the wedding of Miss Jorie Mac Calmont and Bruce Hurst, which solemnized on Sunday in Uvalde. Bruce Mac Calmont returned home with them.

President Dons Pan American Garb

Delighted with his gifts, President Roosevelt, author of the "good neighbor" theme of the Pan American Exposition in Dallas, is pictured as he calls his aides to view the hand woven serape in the design of the official flag of the exposition, and the sombrero presented by Gov. James V. Allred (rear) at Texas A. & M. College. The Governor is honorary director general of the fair opening June 12.

Lower Telegraph Rates Effective On First of June

Drastic reduction in rates for overnight telegraph service will become effective June 1, it was disclosed this week by Miss Kate Frazier, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Co.

"The effect of these reductions," Miss Frazier said, "is that the charge for 25 words will be the same as, and in some cases lower than, the present charge for a 10-word message and that long messages can be sent at relatively even lower rates."

"The 10 word night message will be discontinued and the initial charge for night letters will be for 25 words instead of for 50 as at present. The maximum charge for a 25-word night letter will be 50 cents, even for the greatest distances in the United States."

BURK ROSE DIES

Funeral services were held in Del Rio Tuesday afternoon, 4.30, in the First Methodist church for Edmund Burke Rose, 59, who died Monday at his home there, after an extended illness. Rev. L. C. Beasley, pastor of the Methodist church, conducted the services at the church, and the Masons had charge of the services at the graveside. Interment was at the Masonic cemetery.

Mr. Rose had engaged in the ranching business in the Dryden country for a number of years, and his son, Roger Rose, is now ranching in this county.

Mr. Rose was born May 14, 1878, in Karnes county. With his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Rose, he came to Del Rio in 1884. In 1912 he married Miss Frances Solis in Del Rio.

Besides the widow he is survived by his son, Roger; a daughter, Mrs. Louis Wooten of Del Rio; three brothers and two sisters. Landon Rose, who also ranches in this county, is one of the brothers.

Senior Sermon Delivered By D. C. Bandy Sunday

Speaking on the subject "Life Means Opportunity," the Rev. D. C. Bandy, pastor of the Sanderson Baptist church, addressed the Senior class of the Sanderson high school at the baccalaureate services held last Sunday morning in the high school auditorium.

The program consisted of the following numbers: Processional music by Mrs. Sims Wilkinson; Invocation, by the Rev. S. M. Mims; Hymn, "O, Worship the King," by a community choir directed by Miss Lucile McWhorter; Scripture reading by Rev. Mims; Selection, "My Task," by the high school chorale club; A vocal quartet, "Whispering Hope," by Misses Mary Arrington, Beatrice Nichols, Louise Taylor and Mrs. W. C. Vaughan; The sermon; Hymn, "Lead On, O King Eternal," by the choir. The benediction was spoken by Rev. Bandy, and Mrs. Wilkinson concluded the program with recessional music.

Ushers were Helen Turner, Bennie Mussey, Essary Haines, and Troy Druze, juniors.

Remodeling the Loma Alta; Will Add New Annex

Workmen, under direction of George Key, are busy this week remodeling the Loma Alta service station on Oak street. The station, owned by Joe Nance, and under the management of P. E. Dishman, will be modernized and made attractive.

About 12 feet of the old building has been cut away, to allow for a drive-in space about 20 feet wide. On the east side of the building an annex with two rest rooms will be built.

The front which, after remodeling, will be about 26 feet, will be of cement, with space for five automatic pumps, ample to service six cars at one time.

Receives Mitchell Award for Year's Highest Average

Honors for the highest scholastic average in the senior class and the highest average for the current school year were announced Wednesday night at the commencement exercises. Principal Duane Smith made the announcements and the awards.

Jack Bogusch had the highest average, 94.3, in the senior class for all four years of high school. He was awarded valedictory honors, in the form of a scholarship from the Association of Texas Colleges. His name will be sent in to the state department of education and he may attend any state college in Texas for one year, with tuition paid. Mildred Hurst had the next highest average and was named salutatorian of the class. Mildred Underwood held third highest honors.

Mrs. A. Mitchell awards an annual Alexander Mitchell Prize of $10 to the student making the highest scholastic average for the current school year. This prize was also awarded Jack Bogusch, who held a 94.34 average for the school year. Mildred Hurst and Mildred Underwood were runners-up, respectively, for this prize.

Control of Worms From Shear Cuts Is Urged By Dept.

Stock owners are cautioned that it is important to prevent screw worms from building up a big population in injuries resulting from shear cuts, ear marking and docking. These operations are well ahead of the early occurrences of cases of screw worms and it is very important to continue to keep them in advance of the pest. Stockmen are urged to use dehydrated pine tar oil on all wounds to prevent infestations from gaining a stronghold on any ranch or farm.

J. B. Mims, Screw Worm Control Supervisor of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, reports that he is obtaining splendid cooperation from the stockmen and county agents in Terrell, Sutton, and Val Verde counties. He says that a little extra effort on the part of every stockman to prevent the screw worm at this season of the year will avoid serious trouble later.

Column Right—

We inform our customers that it is hard to be funny today. We witnessed the graduating exercises Wednesday night, and when we left there was a void—a feeling that reminded us of the days of long ago. Students work up to graduation with a feeling of pride—justifiable, of course—but when they pause and think of the happy days, pride turns to sorrow—to regret. The average wish is that they had never grown up. Graduation from high school is the end and the beginning. It is the end of the golden period in our lives, and the beginning of a period of silver and pewter. It is the time when you leave behind the friendships formed thru the formative years, and face a world that is cold and unresponsive. In other words, the world before you must be conquered—without help. Playmates will become rivals and, to sum up, it is a reversal to the old law of nature—the survival of the fittest. Students you are on your own from here out. May your every ambition, every wish be realized to the fullest.

Column Right wishes to acknowledge invitations to the Senior graduation from Sammie Carter and Dorothy Lewellyn. We were not ashamed of tears shed as we thought of the future—their future. It's up to them, and we trust that these two smiling girls will come through with colors flying. We wish all of the seniors success in whatever field they engage.

Notice the buggy whips on the new cars. We'll bet the driver doesn't wrap the lines around it and let the car find its way back home, like we did when old Dobbins furnished the power.

They have now invented a human brain that does everything but think. Well, what's new about that? The average human has that kind of brain.

Traditions are always being shattered, and dreams turned into nightmares. We always heard of the screech of the eagle, and imagined it was something that we should write home about; but we've been listening to that eagle at Frank's station for the past month or two, and it sounds like a guinea hen that lost its nest.

One old judge on the Supreme Court has taken out, and more will follow. Which is as it should be. These old fossils don't know what it is all about, and the quicker they quit the better the country will be.

MRS. SHEFFIELD BETTER

Mrs. V. J. Sheffield, who has been seriously ill at her home here for the past two weeks, is reported improving. Her many friends hope that she will soon be on the way to a full recovery.

J. C. Mitchell was a business visitor in Del Rio from Saturday until Monday.

SON TO PYLES

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Pyle are the proud parents of a son, born last Thursday evening at a hospital in San Antonio. The young man weighed six and one-half pounds, and is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Pyle of Van Horn, and of Mr. and Mrs. Col Coates, Pecos county ranchers.

SPECIALIST HERE

V. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist with the Extension Service of A. & M. college, was in Sanderson and Terrell county last Thursday looking over the different varieties of vegetation in this section. While here he visited with Ernest L. Williams, county agent. According to Mr. Williams Mr. Lancaster was very much impressed with this section and that the buffalo grass flats in the Arvin and Mitchell country "took his eye," and he thought there was nothing like it in this country.

More Than Half Of Ranches Are Inspected in Co.

About one-half of the 100 ranches in Terrell County that have been turned in for appraisal under the Range Conservation program have been inspected, according to Ernest L. Williams, county agent. However, some of those that have been inspected are incomplete, because no map was given the inspector of the ranch. According to Mr. Williams it is very necessary that these maps be made as the papers are incomplete without them.

Some of the ranchers have not informed the inspectors what practices they intend to work on or the extent of such work because they did not know how much money they will be allowed to earn. According to a letter received this week by Mr. Williams, the State Board does not expect a rancher to know in advance just how much work on this program he will do, and that they will not be held strictly to the kind and amount of work listed on the inspector's report. For example: A rancher might list as his practice ridding a section of lechuguilla and building two 8,000-yard dirt tanks, and then find out that he would not get as much money as he had figured. If he decided to build only the two tanks of smaller size than at first figured, and not grub the lechuguilla, his work would be paid for at the specified rate. The actual work done may differ both in nature and size from that listed on the inspector's report at the time of inspection.

RANCHMEN'S PICNIC

The annual ranchmen's picnic, an annual affair at the Hargrave ranch in which E. W. Hargrave and R. N. Allen collaborate as hosts, will be held Thursday, 10th of June, according to Mr. Allen. The affair, which is for ranchers and their families, all of whom are invited, is becoming an institution in Terrell county, eagerly awaited, and is largely attended by ranchers for hundreds of miles. Old timers meet, swap tales, and have a generally good time.

TO GRADUATE JUNE 7

Invitations were received this week by Sanderson friends from Homer Richardson to the commencement exercises of Brackner high school, from which he will graduate on June 7. Homer formerly attended the local schools and his friends here congratulate him on his accomplishment and wish him luck.

Grades School Present Program

Over two hundred grammar school students took part in the Grammar School Night program presented in the high school auditorium Tuesday night. A feature of the program was the presentation of certificates of program to members of the 7th grade who will enter high school next year. Mr. Duane Smith awarded these certificates to 22 pupils.

The program was musical in theme with various classes and organizations of the school taking special parts. The first number was a chorus by the pupils of the fifth and sixth grade chorus. An operetta "When We're Big Some Day," was presented by the first grade. The second grade furnished two rhythm band numbers. The seventh grade presented "The Family Album," and all the members of the class took part. A harp band by the third and fourth grades was followed by a hat novelty number by the fifth and sixth grade girls. The next offering were three songs by the chorus from the fifth and sixth grades. A quartet from the 4th grade sang before the curtain, as the stage was being prepared for the presentation of certificates to seventh grade pupils.

The concluding number of the program was presentation of certificates to the following: Margaret Arrington, Lois Mae Bassett, Pauline Bell, Martin Bodkin, Doris Cochran, Mary Cook, Angel Coronado, Alfred Creigh, Shirley Denson, John Hardgrave, Helen Ruth Harrell, Earl Hurst, Bernice Harris, Marzee Haynes, Robert Lochausen, Mack Mims, Peggy Musgrave, Manuel Ochoa, Earline Stirman, Ross Underwood, Jimmy Wilkinson, Joyce Yeates. ### BOARD ORGANIZES

At a meeting of the board of school trustees, held Tuesday, the members organized for the coming school year. At the business meeting Bustin Canon was elected president of the board, and R. N. Allen, recently elected to the board, was qualified, and elected secretary, the office being made vacant by the resignation of W. H. Savage, who railroad duties kept him out of town a good part of the time.

Acting upon the recommendation of the state supervisor, the board decided to add another teacher to the Mexican elementary school in 1937-38. The number of teachers in the English schools will remain the same.

Timber lands Setting for
O'Brien Feature

With the beauty of the timber country in California and the big trees in Oregon and Washington some of the largest camps of the nation are served as the background of "The Masked Avenger," Geo. Campbell's current outdoor thriller. The author, a prominent figure in the world of fiction, is believed to be the father, when in reality a young man is a roughheart whose polish is veneer. In fact, he is more an element of the professional world than the assumed title "The Masked Avenger" suggests.

Following the presentation of the senior class play on the night of May 14, Miss Nelle Lea and Miss Mildred Underwood were hostesses to the members of the senior class and those who assisted in presenting the play.

Gathering at the Underwood home a delightful evening was spent during which various games were played, after which refreshments of sandwiches, home-made cookies and punch were served.

Those who enjoyed this hospitality included Miss Margaret Martin, class sponsor; Mesdames W. E. Lea and Pat Harris; Miss Helen Turner, Holden Murrain, Bob Lea, Wesley Loehausen, Ross Underwood, Griffin Lattimore, Campbell Kerr, and the following seniors: James Allen, Jack Bogusch, Albert Appel, Ethel Breg, Sammie Carter, Pat Harris, Mildred Hurst, Joe Kerr, Jr., Dorothy Lewellen, Pat Sullivan and the hostesses, Nelle Lea and Mildred Underwood, and Mrs. S. H. Underwood.

Following the bridge games and adding of scores it was found that Mrs. Robert Duncan was the winner of the high score prize, and Mrs. Bustin Canon winner of the prize for second highest score.

Mrs. Kellar served delicious refreshments of chicken salad, potato chips, saltines, sweet pickled peaches, Assyrian cookies and ice tea.

Guests present were Mesdames Clyde Griffith, Sims Wilkinson, Max Bogusch and Jim Kerr; and club members present included Mesdames B. Carson, B. Canon, Jim Nance, Robert Duncan, P. E. Dishman, Austin Nance, Walter Grigsby, D. A. Pollard, Lee McCue, W. A. Banner, C. M. Breeding and John Harrison. Mrs. Notley Scott was a tea guest.

SENIOR CLASS EDITION The Eagle News

VOLUME II

EDITED BY SENIOR CLASS OF SANDERSON HIGH SCHOOL, FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1937

Ten Years Hence—A Prophecy

As I was starting out on a trip to Austin I was unfortunately stopped by a tire that lost its air. Who should come along and lend his assistance but James Allen. His bright cowboy shirt, big stetson, and high-heeled boots revealed that he was now a well known rancher. His bright shirt caused me to look twice, and then as my eyes wandered past his shoulder who should I see sitting in his Oldsmobile "8" but Mrs. James Allen, the former Laverne "Bunny" Halley. Just the look in James' eyes showed that his two years with Laverne had been ones of happiness.

Arriving in Hondo I decided on a lime Dr. Pepper to quench my thirst. Who should wait on me in the drug store but Ethel Breg. She was now proprietor of the drug store and had been quite successful in her undertaking. Ethel was working in the drug store to save up enough money to go to college, to be able to get a job, so that she could make a living for her husband. She only needs about "1000 more" before she begins her college career, so her big moment is not very far off.

Walking out of the drug store I had the misfortune of breaking my handsome Waltham wrist watch. I dared not take it to any jeweler but the best, so I waited until I arrived in San Antonio before having my watch repaired. On inquiring for the best jewelry store I was directed to the 80th story of the Elmo building. When I arrived there, who should be sitting in an easy rocking-chair but Jack Bogusch. When I asked him what he was doing on the 80th floor he replied, "I decided I needed a little exercise going up and down the stairs, but er—er—it became rather tiresome, so I installed a few elevators." He's the same old Jack as in high school.

Since I was spending the night in San Antonio, I decided to have my hair set. When I called at the Gunter Beauty Shoppe for an appointment, I was very startled to hear the voice of one of my former classmates, Nelle Lea. She had been faring well the last few years, but since a disappointment in one of her school day boy friends, she had never married. Nelle did find time to step out on Wednesdays and Saturdays with Holden Murrah, a prominent real estate man, and see the high-lights of San Antonio. Just how much these two mean to each other is beyond me.

Leaving the hotel who should I run into but Pat Harris. On his right arm he was swinging a cute little blonde. Of course, everyone already knows that she was none other than Ethel Laura Nance. You will recall that she was a freshman in Pat's senior year. A few gray hairs at the temples showed Pat had worked and worried much, but now he was happy as a lark! He and Ethel Laura had been in San Antonio for three years now, and they had a darling little house on G. street. Who! The surprise of my life came when little Patrick III walked from behind his mother and asked for an ice cream cone. This was too much, so I excused myself immediately and went back to the hotel and slept it off.

Before leaving San Antonio I was stunned to see a poster announcing that Dorothy Lewellen was to present her third recital at the opera house. Her assistant was Wesley Lochausen, now famous for his compositions on the trumpet. It was rumored that a romance prevails between the two, and it is true. Dorothy was always attentive to Wesley in high school, but who ever dreamed that this would be the outcome? The recital was a success, but the only blunder was made by Wesley while singing to Dorothy's accompaniment. Dot smiled at him so sweetly that he forgot the next words.

As I was leaving the recital who should I run into but Pat Sullivan. Of course, the first thing I wondered was what he was doing at a recital. He gave me the following answer when I finally got up enough courage to ask him: "Bing Crosby is getting old now, and I must learn all of these beautiful songs in order to widen my knowledge of music. You see I'm to start my third motion picture next week in Bing's place, and I must be familiar with all kinds of old Texas music." My, but Pat is now as bashful as when he was in high school.

I then went out to Harlendale, where I had once played basketball, to look up some of my old acquaintances. When the superintendent opened the door you can hardly imagine how surprised I was to find Mildred Hurst standing before me. She said she was teaching in the commercial department, and that she wasn't a bit lonesome because she had two of her school companions, Bert Herbert and Prince Dishman, teaching debate. I always did think she was partial to Bert and Prince, but I never realized that she thought enough of them to have them teaching in the same school with her, and, above all, I never guessed that Mildred Hurst would be a superintendent.

And that reminds me, I saw Albert Appel yesterday and he was quite content. He seemed to have become a successful rancher like James Allen. I believe that most of Albert's success was due to Adair Edmiston's influence in causing him to drop all of his playboy life and become a settled gentleman. I remember in high school how he used to sling us girls around at dances, but "them days are gone forever" for he seldom goes to such places. He asked me what I was doing in San Antonio and I quickly told him I was just traveling for pleasure. He seemed to doubt my word, but Adair broke the silence and asked me to lunch with them. That Albert was a lucky man the day Adair consented to be his wife, because that young lady can cook circles around the rest of us.

I couldn't prolong my stay in San Antonio, so I left for Austin in a great big hurry. I stayed at the best hotel there and, woe is me—who should walk in but Sammie Trevon, once Sammie Carter. She finally told me that she had married quite a wealthy fellow, and that he was killed in a car wreck last year. Since then she had been living at the hotel in a very elegant manner. She invited me up for tea, and we had quite a chat. She was rather embarrassed, but finally managed to ask about Jack Bogusch. I bet those two get together again, even though it has been nearly four years since they've seen each other.

Since the weather was disagreeable, I left Austin immediately and started home. My trip was uneventful until I arrived in Dryden. There I had the pleasure of seeing a former classmate, Joe Kerr, Jr. He had built a nice home out from Dryden and really had quite a little village about it. He never would tell me whether he was married or not, but I bet that he was, although your guess about him is as good as mine. Joe was having a week end party for his friends and was carrying it out in splendor. He invited me to come, but I was nearly afraid to go, because it would bring back old high school memories.

As I came to the five-mile hill I stopped to look at the little park that had been built so long ago. Just as I was getting ready to leave, a noise startled me—it sounded like a shot, but it was only a blowout of an oncoming car. As the car stopped I was surprised to see Mildred Underwood. She had obtained a swell paying job with the Kerr Mercantile Co. Now she was coming to work, as she and Joe lived in Dryden. Joe had to stay home and mind the children, Joe III, and little Mildred Lucylee. After fixing the tire I continued on my way home from whence I came. The trip proved successful because I had seen all my old classmates for the first time in ten years.

GRADUATES FROM BAYLOR

Among the 300 young men and women scheduled to receive degrees from Baylor University, at Waco, is Miss Bess McAdams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McAdams of this place. Miss McAdams, a graduate of Sanderson high school, will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree.

GRADUATING CLASS, 1936-1937, OF SANDERSON HIGH SCHOOL

Convicts of 1937 Pass in Review

In September, 1926, when the roll was called for the inmates of the first grade of the high school Calasboose by Warden Williams, three honorable Seniors answered the call: Joe Kerr, in for safe cracking his penny bank; Sammie Carter, for murder of her blue-eyed doll, and Ethel Breg, for disturbing the peace with her squaw and bawls.

In September, 1927, these young "victims" were joined by Nelle Lea and Jack Bogusch, who were graduates from Mrs. Nation's Reform School. Miss Warden took over the job of teaching them this year.

In September, 1928, the same group answered roll call and, due to their dumbness and terrible conduct it caused the resignation of the late warden and a new one was appointed. Her name was Miss Swift. She had such a hard time controlling the convicts that she was given an assistant, Miss Miles.

The next year, 1929, the same group proved so uncontrollable that it was necessary to appoint a new warden. The new warden proved to be none other than K. C. Parker, and to assist him were three very capable assistants. One was the one and only Miss Margaret Martin, another was the songbird of the South, Miss Robinson, and last, but not least, Mrs. McMillian.

The fifth year in the old red jail proved a boon for the Senior Class. Besides these few unmodeled prisoners of the year before, that they could not get rid of, new mugs showed in the Mr. Albert Appel and Miss Dorothy Lewellyn found the bacon and beans so good that they decided to remain a second year in section five. Because its cell would no longer hold him, Comstock sent its most honorable citizen, Mr. Pat Sullivan, to join our ranks. During the early part of the year we had a visit from Number 777,777,777, Mr. Pat Harris, from Row 10, Cell 10, of Valentine. After about a month he declared the grub was not edible and returned.

K. C. Parker tried for a second year to get his pants back that were stolen during arithmetic class the year before. Miss Robinson again blessed us with the sweet notes of D's and F's. There too, were found trusty aids in Miss Jernigan, Miss Sandifer and Two-Gun Knight, who taught spelling with a board.

The sixth year found Ace Warden Parker still on the job. This year he received two more very capable assistants, Miss Eva Chaffin and Miss Glass.

In September, 1931, the membership was stirred up two places. The honorable Mr. James Allen joined us on the charge of stealing jackrabbits. The sheriff reported a long and hard chase out in the sticks before he could finally bring this outlaw to justice. The other new member was Miss Mildred Hurst. She had been in the reformatory, but due to her special dumbness and misconduct she was put back with the rest of us.

With the beginning of the seventh year, in September, 1932, this honorable bunch of pie-faced criminals were escorted to a new and modern play room, the Sanderson high school. Although they were a year away from being members of the high school, the principle and rules of the dictatorship of Miss Corinne Fox were neatly put into their heads. Her right hand man was none other than Cecil Cammack. And, also, this year, Lady Underwood becomes so very, very dumb that they put her with us so she would not be by herself.

May, 1933, this honorable group of young men and women passed from the frying pan into the fire. Due to the fact that we had been graduated from the dumbest to the dumb, we must have gotten the big-head, because our conduct became the worst in history. In fact it was so bad we were assigned seven wardens to watch over us. They were as follows: Miss Fox, Mr. Smith, Miss Williams, Mr. Cammack, Miss Chaffin, Mr. Morgan and, last but not least, Miss Morton.

FAREWELL

(An Editorial)

Another year of school has gone and another milestone in life is passed. The seniors will be missed, we hope, by the other students of the school.

As they marched down the aisle Wednesday night, a sad expression passed over their faces as they thought about this being the last time they would be together before an audience.

Some of them have accomplished much, and others have not, but they all feel the same about the Sanderson high school. As they pass from the front doors of the high school building into their future life memories and accomplishments will always remain uppermost.

FAREWELL, Sanderson High School!

And it is a fact that they were busy every minute.

As the thundering herd plowed through its ninth year, it again took seven wardens to keep its boys and girls in their right cells. Miss Fox again tried to keep the "aint's" and "taint's" out of the verses on the cell walls; Mr. Low and Miss Matlock told and taught us why boys and girls go to school; Miss Wilson taught us the language of the Tong; Misses Chaffin and Childers, the difference between the typewriter and adding machine, and Miss Robinson the mathematics of letters.

The tenth year brought a new member, while at the same time one of the old members dropped out. Pat Harris joined us again. Due to the overcrowded condition in the city of Valentine, the surplus prisoners were divided among other prisons and we were fortunate enough to get sly pick-pocket Harris.

Ethel Breg moved to Alpine to recover from a touch of water on the brain.

Since the history of the Senior Class of 1936-1937 is so fresh it needs no recording.

Class Poem

A goal in our lives has been obtained,
We are graduating from high School—
There are moments when we're happy,
Others—and more—when we are sad,
It is hard to leave our happy homes,
Say goodbye to friends and family;
But there are other goals ahead—and then
May the time come when you can point to our names with pride
And say, "I knew them when."
Won't we always remember,
Could we forget—
When on that first day
In the school building we set
Our wee feet and started out,
Knowing nothing but play,
But we tasted work soon,
You wouldn't call it work—
Just going to school;
You would call it play, all thru and thru.
But we were first graders, and how important we felt,
We were at school promptly on the stroke of nine,
With face, teeth and hair all sparkle and shine.
But we soon left the first grade,
And moved quickly along,
So happy and gay—to us
Life was a song,
But through teacher's aid we came to realize
That school is not all play,
And, that to be healthy and wise
One must study a few hours each day,
But we had heard the old proverb,
"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."
So, along with the work
We mixed plenty of joy,
There were picnics and parties,
And young love affairs,
And we even put tacks
In the school teachers' chairs.
Soon we passed up the 4th grade,
Fifth, sixth and seventh, too
And, wonders of wonders,
We were in high school,
And with that came long pants
And long dresses, too,
And studies were harder and
Good times were few.
The things that once made up our good times
Now seemed silly—
We were taking on dignified lines,
Can it be possible?
We started yesterday—it seems
We had thought of being seniors,
But that was only in dreams,
We are really Seniors now—
But, one moment, before we must run—
Let's add a few words:
First, it has been fun,
Someone said, "Your school days are happiest."
He was certainly one
Who had gone through school
And who hated to leave it—
Just as we do.
It's the way of the world
That all things must go;
And we, like all others,
Must find it so.
Our last year is now gone,
It will be a pleasant memory,
But, before we go,
Let's heartily thank those who have made it so,
So a "Thank you" to mothers,
Teachers and Friends,
And for your kindness,
We'll try to make amends,
We'll go out in the world
And do—just all sort of things;
And enjoy the happiness
That work well done brings.
May the time come when you can point to our names with pride
And say, "I knew them when."
—MILDRED HURST,

One of the happiest occasions of the year for the class was that of entertaining the pre-school children. Several valuable lessons were obtained from the activities necessary to prepare for the party—lessons in art, writing, and geography were emphasized. The party was given on May 21. The guests were Mildred Breg, Joe Neil Brown, Betty and Bobby Cooke, Doris Duke, Nancy Lou Holt, William House, Vivian McKnight, Betty Ann Peavy, Harriet Ann Pierson, Patty Jo Robertson, Carroll Talbot, Janie Louise Turner, and Betty Sue Yeates.

After several games and songs delicious sandwiches and cream cones were served.
