Coghlan, seeded eighth ranking of United States players, was found unconscious on Highway 90, about 4 miles east of Dryden Monday about dark. Coghlan was in a Studebaker 1936 coupe, which was practically demolished, over five times, when it made a sharp curve on that point. Coghlan was from the car, where he was picked up by R. H. and brought to Sanderson hospital. On gaining consciousness Coghlan requested as was broken, he be taken to Dryden. He was taken to the home of Mrs. Bertha Whisnand treated the injured star. Examination showed that his injuries consisted of a wrenched neck, a bruised right leg, as well as bruises about the head and his personal effects in Mr. Ware, to be forwarded to Coghlan boarded the mid-P. P. train for Los Angeles. The car was hauled to a local garage and is practically beyond repair.

Coghlan took part in the Sugar matches last Friday, and that he had been at the wheel of his car since midnight last night, in an effort to be on for several important tournaments.

WEEKLY Health Letter

PNEUMONIA BIO KILLER

Austin.—Pneumonia is a seasonal disease, in that the incidence and mortality is much increased during wet, cold weather, states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. It is more prevalent and serious in towns where contacts with people are more common. Pneumonia is always dangerous, but especially so to persons in a run down condition. This accounts for the number of cases following illness with some other disease.

The germs that cause pneumonia are spread by careless coughers, sneezers, spitters, and the things that they thus infect. The first symptoms are usually a severe chill and fever, a very sick feeling, loss of appetite, rapid breathing, and a heavy sensation in the chest. Sometimes coughing brings up blood from the inflamed lungs. Any of these signs should be the signal for going to bed at once and sending for your doctor.

The familiar rules for the prevention of other respiratory diseases apply to pneumonia. These rules should become personal habits and not to be put off or on at times of prevalence or absence of disease. Persons should avoid careless coughers and sneezers.

Pneumonia ranks second as a cause of death in Texas.

Colossus at New York Fair

NEW YORK—The largest portrait statue executed in modern times will honor George Washington at the New York World's Fair. It will be 65 feet tall and will depict Washington as he arrived for his inauguration exactly 150 years previous to the opening day of the Fair, April 30, 1939. Its mass will be 500 times that of a man.

Bombing of U S Panay At Princess 19 and 20

What is hailed as one of the greatest action pictures of modern times has been booked by the Princess Theatre for showing on Wednesday and Thursday, January 19 and 20.

It is not an action flash, nor a so-called "short," but 4500 feet of film brimful of action—war, in all its horrible phases, climaxed by the bombing and sinking of the U. S. S. Panay on the Yangtze river. The pictures were taken by Norman Alley, Universal Newsreel cameraman, who was aboard the Panay when the Jap bombing planes, without warning, swooped down on that little vessel, whose sole mission was to remove refugees from the danger zones, and dropped bomb after bomb, until the Panay, mortally damaged, began to settle in the muddy waters of the Yangtze. It shows the valiant crew, who took their stations, ready for action, remaining there until the order was given to "quit ship." Not only is there evidence of direct bombing from the skies, but the Alley pictures show the riddled sides of the Panay, inflicted by machine guns on land and water, who could not be mistaken as to the nationality of the ill-fated gunboat.

In the Panay incident Mr. Alley missed nothing. His pictures reveal one side of the Panay blasted away. According to witnesses he was the last one to abandon the gunboat, cranking away to bring to the world the REAL facts of one of the most momentous international incidents.

Don't fail to see the "Bombing of the Panay," at the Princess January 19 and 20.

HENRY SCRUGGS ILL

Henry Scruggs, employed on the West Cattle Co. ranch, was taken to San Antonio Monday for medical treatment. Mr. Scruggs was taken ill suddenly at the ranch Sunday. He was accompanied to San Antonio by Buck Pyle. Reports Tuesday were that he was improved, but would have to remain in that city several days for further treatment.

"BABS" BOWS OUT

The former Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth millions created a storm of controversy recently when she renounced her American citizenship to join her Danish husband, Count Haugwitz Reventlow.

Compensation for Highway Workers Is Now in Effect

Compensation insurance protecting employees of the Texas Highway Department, the largest employing agency in the state government, was put into effect on January 1, it was learned thru officials of the department, and relayed by resident engineer of the respective districts.

Such protection was provided by the legislature as the result of a constitutional amendment voted upon favorably last summer. The department workers, henceforth, will be protected financially in case of injury in the line of duty. Formerly it was necessary to sue the state for relief, and that was permissible only by and act of the legislature.

SEE OWLS DOWN COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Creigh and son, Al, and Edward Downie motored to Dallas last Friday where they witnessed the Rice-Colorado football game in the Cotton Bowl New Year's day. They returned home Sunday, and Edward went to Austin to resume his studies at Texas University.

Column Right

Best calendar of the year. Put out by Frank's Super Service—the last of a series of a boy and his dog. The first of the series, put out two years ago, shows the boy and his dog awaiting a train. The second finds him on the train with the dog, covered by the lad's coat. Can he make the trip with his dog, or will the conductor order the pup to the baggage car? The conductor is "blind," and boy and dog are shown in this year's calendar making a happy landing.

Biggest lie of the month: Heard a ranchman say that he had too much rain on his range.

Worse case of ingratitude: A certain business man, can name him (in the drug business) who met the Santa Clara team at the train, ate up half their prunes, and then bet against them. It was poetic justice that he elost.

Just couldn't read the President's message. Waded out in it about ankle deep, and realized the country's in a mel of a mess. That's all we wanted to know.

The holiday figures for tragedies is appalling. For the two week period beginning Christmas Eve. We gnash our teeth and rave about the ruthless Japanese, who, in their undeclared war, have taken heavy toll of women and children. We can't see much difference when a man places his women and children in a high-powered car, and then tries to shatter all outstanding records, and on traffic jammed highways.

"Bubbles will scare away man-eating fish," is the latest discovery of scientists. So, whenever you fall overboard, be prepared by having a bowl of soap-suds and a clay pipe in your hip pocket.

At the recent foot ball game between the Rice Owls and Colorado, played in the Cotton Bowl, Gov. Ammons of Colorado bet Governor Allred of Texas, Pike's Peak against the Big Bend Park that "Whizzer" White would win. Ammons lost. We understand that the removal of Pike's Peak to Texas will be a PWA project.

The administration isn't doing much of a job toward balancing the budget. On the other hand they're working miracles juggling it.

This examination for auto licenses has some queer kinks, like everything else. An applicant, to get a license, must be able to drive, by actual test, and at all times have complete control of the car. One applicant said just howinell am I going to get a license I bought a car, can't do much of a job driving it, though. If I don't drive it, I'll never learn, if I do drive it I'll get pinched. Well, it's beyond us; another case of the young lady who wanted to go swimming. She asked her mother, who broke out in that old rhyme:

Yes, my darling daughter;
Hang your clothes on a hickory limb—
But don't go near the water!

Quite a stew over a broadcast by curvacious Mae West. Mae said some naughty things, and inferred a lot more, and the righteous rebelled. What the heck did they expect Mae to do, quote poetry or sing a hymn?

"Recession" seems to have the larger part of us stumped. Just like going to school—recess, see how simple it is. Prosperity has recessed, and classes will again take up when, and if, the bell rings.

Highway Department Plans Extensive Improvements in Terrell County

More Boys Than Girls Born Here During Past Year

In checking over the records of the justice of the peace, of the births and deaths in Terrell county during the past year, a very interesting report is shown.

During 1937, the reports shows that 25 deaths had occurred in this county, which was more than offset by fifty-nine births. Of the latter 33 were boys and 26 were girls.

Another interesting fact shows that marriage is a revered institution in Terrell county, as there were 21 marriage licenses issued, against three decrees for divorce.

Vital Statistics for the month of December were as follows:

Births
Dec. 3—To Mrs. Jose Barrera, a boy.
Dec. 16—To Mrs. Miguel Hidalgo, a boy.
Dec. 20—To Mrs. Dario Cardenas, a girl.
Dec. 22—To Mrs. Pedro Flores, a boy.
Dec. 23 — To Mrs. Fidencio Chalembaga, a girl.

Deaths
Dec. 4—Jack McKee, 61.
Dec. 16—John T. McKee, 84.
Dec. 29—Mrs. Luz Cosillas, 18.

COURT TO MEET

Next Monday the Terrell county commissioners will meet in regular monthly session to transact routine, or any other business that may be brought before them. At this time the quarterly report of the county treasurer will be presented for approval.

Mrs. W. F. Bohlman and son, Vincent, returned last Thursday from Giddings, where they spent the holidays with their daughter and sister, Mrs. John Simmang. Vincent left Sunday for Austin to resume his studies at St. Edwards University.

The Shorter Route?

(An Editorial)

Time and again the question arises on distances from Sanderson to El Paso, via Highway 90, or Highway 285.

One of our holiday indoor sports was to make a disinterested study of two maps, considered reliable—one issued by the Texas Highway Department, (considered official), the other by the Texas Company. Though there is discrepancies in the mileage as recorded by each agency, the difference in mileage, in both instances is just one mile, favoring, in each survey, the route via Highway 285.

However, a difference of a single mile is not even considered in this, the speed age. On both routes there is but one unpaved gap, of about equal distance—between Sanderson and Fort Stockton via Highway 285, and between Marfa and Van Horn on Highway 90. Both gaps are hard-surfaced, and can be traveled under all but abnormal weather conditions.

Herewith we present a table of distances recorded by the State Highway Department and by the Texas Company, for comparison:

Via Highway 285
Distance From	Texas Co.	State Hy.
Sanderson to Fort Stockton (not paved)	63	63
Fort Stockton to Davis Mt. Sta., Hy 90 intersec.	77	76
Davis Mt. Station to Van Horn	46	46
Van Horn to El Paso	118	122
Total	304	307
Via Highway 90
Sanderson to Alpine	85	85
Alpine to Marfa	27	26
Marfa to Van Horn	75	75
Van Horn to El Paso	118	122
Total	305	308

The idea of ascertaining exact mileage of the respective routes was born the past week, listening to a couple of our citizens debating the matter. Their surmises were so far astray, we figured information from authoritative sources might help them—and maybe others. Sanderson is situated on Highway 90, we are a part of it, and it is the source of much of the tourist trade enjoyed by those who cater to the traveling public.

Barbara Stanwyck Has Greatest Role Of Her Great Career in "Stella Dallas"

The Samuel Goldwyn production of "Stella Dallas," with Barbara Stanwyck in the title role, is the next big attraction at the Princess Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 12 and 13. It is a tense drama of a mother who sacrifices her own right to happiness for the sake of her daughter. It gives Miss Stanwyck the strongest role in her screen career and one coveted by every actress in Hollywood.

Co-starred with Miss Stanwyck is John Boles with a distinguished supporting cast, including Ann Shirley, Alan Hale, Al Shean of the famous team Gallagher and Shean, Barbara O'Neil, and Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt.

"Stella Dallas" is without doubt one of the most poignant, gripping stories ever filmed. It was originally a best-selling novel, later a Broadway stage and silent picture play produced by Goldwyn twelve years ago, and scored a sensational hit.

It brought to attention such noted stars as Constance Bennett, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who played his first adult role in the production, Lois Moran and Alice Joyce. Ronald Colman, who picture career had just started, leaped to box office prominence, and Belle Bennett, in the characterization of the mother, was catapulted from obscurity into the star class by her performance.

In the new sound version Mr. Goldwyn has utilized every facility of his huge production resources in the creation of what is regarded as one of the more important pictures of the current season.

3 Popular Mirth Makers Feature Monday's Picture

With an unique theme for its sparkling comedy and delightful romance RKO Radio's "There Goes the Groom" presents Ann Sothern in the feminine lead; as Burgess Meredith, the star of last year's "Winter set," displays remarkable mirth making talents as the harassed millionaire-hero, and Mary Boland as a gushing mother.

"There Goes the Groom" will be shown at the Princess Theatre one night only, Monday, Jan. 10. Amnesia, the medical term for loss of memory, plays a part in the plot of this uproarious screen romance. Meredith portrays a young college man who has gone to Alaska to seek his fortune and returns with millions, only to find the girl who promised to wait for him now engaged to another man.

Embittered, Meredith finds he is in a position where he has to propose marriage to the faithless damsel's younger sister, Miss Ann Sothern—but he doesn't want to marry her. An automobile accident gives him an excuse to evade his responsibilities by pretending he has amnesia and doesn't know anybody—but this, in turn, leads to unforeseen complications that involve all the principals in a continuous gale of hilarity.

Louise Henry has the part of the faithless older sister. Onslow Stevens is her doctor fiance, Wm. Brisbane the role of the suavely promoting brother, and Roger Imhof that of Meredith's "sourdough" friend. Supporting in the lesser characterizations are Geo. Irving, Leona Roberts, Adrian Morris and Summer Getchell.

Mrs. Mata Wheeler returned to her ranch home near Rocksprings Monday after a visit here since last Thursday with Mrs. Grace Wheeler and son, Edward.

Robert and Bernard Kerr returned to San Antonio Sunday after a visit during the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kerr. They are attending St. Mary's University.

Roy Deaton, following a holiday visit with his parents Mr. and Ira Deaton, left Sunday for San Antonio, where he is a student in the University of San Antonio. His mother and brother, Jack, accompanied him to the Alamo City, returning home Tuesday.

"SAVED BY A DEADLY SNAKE" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY! Here we are again, boys and girls, worshipping at the dangerous shrine of the Goddess of Adventure. Old Lady Adventure sure does some interesting things in real life—stranger than anything the fiction boys can think of. For instance: who ever heard of a snake saving anyone's life? And yet it did happen. Edgar Bell of Mountain Lakes, N. J., says that a big copperhead snake saved two lives and, by golly, he can prove it.

On a blistering hot day in August Ed and a chum of his decided to explore an old canal that, in the towpath days, connected the Ohio river and the Lake Erie ports. The canal, long since out of use, ran through a lonely, uninhabited, densely wooded country. The boys paddled along enjoying the scenery until they came to a ramshackle houseboat moored to the bank, and then trouble started.

Well, sir, they were floating along lazily a few feet from the houseboat when the cabin door banged open and a wild eyed, bearded giant staggered out with a double-barreled shotgun in his hairy hands. The man was obviously crazed with liquor, and Ed says he must have thought they were pink elephants or something, because he suddenly covered the boys with the gun and tried to draw a bead on them.

He Was Determined to Shoot Them The boys tried to reason with him, but he seemed to be beyond reasoning. Fortunately, Ed says, the man was so unsteady on his feet that he couldn't keep the gun pointed at the canoe long enough to get a shot, but it was plain that he was trying to do his best to do just that. Ed says, too, that every time that gun swung his way he thought he was looking into twin entrances to the Holland tunnel. Ed admits that he and his chum were scared to death. Their canoe made such an easy mark that they didn't dare start to paddle away, for, while the drunken man seemed to have some difficulty aiming, he was still able to keep the muzzle of that shotgun pointed in their general direction. He couldn't have missed at that distance. And there wasn't a soul within five miles of them.

The man must have had some insane idea that the boys were attacking him, Ed says, because he kept jabbering curses and trying frantically to balance himself for a shot. Finally, with the muzzle of the gun still pointed in their direction, the maniac leaned again the cabin to steady himself and squinted along the sights.

Copperhead to the Rescue Gosh! What a spot to be in! Ed says he felt powerless to move a muscle as he saw the muzzle of the gun grow steeper. He had about decided to overturn the canoe and swim for it when he saw something on the houseboat roof that made him forget about his own danger and cry out in alarm.

A deadly copperhead snake lay poised in position to strike—just a few inches from the man's face. Look out! Ed screamed.

The drink-crazed man raised his head for a moment at the sudden cry, then he grinned evilly and squinted along the barrel again. Ed saw by his tense expression that this time he was going to pull the trigger. A nerve-wracking second passed. And then the snake struck! Once, twice, three times that vicious copper-colored head flashed in the sunlight, and each time those poisonous fangs found their mark in the man's face. The victim's gun clattered to the deck. His hand went to his cheek and he turned and looked in a dazed manner at this new enemy.

Ed says the sight of the poisonous snake seemed to steady him and, as the snake drew back to strike him again, the man deftly caught it behind the neck and killed it with his bare hands.

Venom Brought him to His Senses And now, boys and girls, comes the strangest part of the whole adventure. Ed says that the deadly venom from the snake seemed to bring the houseboat man back to his senses. He thinks the poison had some chemical effect on the man's blood because, when he turned and looked at the boys, his entire expression had changed, and they knew that they had to deal now with a sane man. He gave them a sad smile.

"I'm sorry, boys," he said. "Guess I've been doing a little too much drinking. That copperhead brought me to my senses. Come in. Well, sir, the boys went into the houseboat and helped their erstwhile enemy doctor himself. They knew that in many cases the bite of the copperhead means a quick death, and they watched him closely. "I'm all right," the man said weakly. "Whisky acts as an antidote. And it did. Aside from a little sickness the man was soon as well as ever, but Ed couldn't help feeling sorry for the copperhead. "That snake should have had a Carnegie medal," he says, and I agree with him. Don't you? (Copyright WNU Service)
