Results Here Same as State Except One Race

With only about 20% of the voters of Terrell County turning out last Saturday, six candidates for state offices fared much the same here as throughout the state. The single exception was in the race for railroad commissioner. C. V. Terrell carried Terrell county, 84 to 65, but Jerry Sadler was victor in the state-wide contest.

Terrell county voters followed the suggestion of Governor-nominate W. Lee O'Daniel in five races, or at least their vote coincided with his choice. The single exception was in the race for attorney general, in which Gerald Mann was named over O'Daniel's favorite, Walter Woodul.

There were no run-offs in any local or district races.

Results in the county were as follows:

Lieutenant governor: Brooks 49, Stevenson 101; attorney general: Mann 89, Woodul 61; associate justice of the supreme court: Critz 97, Davidson 48; judge of court of criminal appeals: Graves 89; Stephens 56; railroad commissioner: Terrell 84, Sadler 65; Commissioner of general land office: McDonald 52, Giles 96.

State returns stood, at latest report, as follows:

Lieutenant Governor — Brooks 393,607; Stephenson 436,938.

Attorney General—Mann 484,583; Woodul 354,586.

Railroad Commissioner — Sadler 457,421; Terrell 379,899.

Land Commissioner—Giles 440,288; McDonald 371,389.

Supreme Court—Critz 479,312; Davidson 330,053.

Criminal Appeals—Graves 434,199; Stephens 362,052.

Dale Vuelta

By W. G. (GG) Downie

During the past week, three cars of goats and four cars of sheep have been billed out of Sanderson by C. J. Watts, agent, the goats going to Standart, Texas, and the sheep to Fort Worth.

"Shorty" Robertson and P. C. Coates, Sanderson ropers, "cleaned up" at the recent Sheffield rodeo. They won first money the first day in the wild cow milking event. "Shorty" placed first each day in the calf roping and second on the first day in goat roping. In the final average, he placed first in both the calf roping and the goat roping.

P. C. Coates defeated Billy Stewart of Fort Stockton in a matched roping, each roper tying six calves; and "Shorty" beat Vay Black of Ozona on four calves.

Charlie Turk, Sanderson roper, was a contestant in the Mason rodeo.

Jake Yoas, Sanderson ranchman, does his traveling in a modern way. He has cleared a landing field on his ranch, and flies a red airplane over the country.

With this issue of the Times, Dale Vuelta will have to quit. He must go off to absorb a little "book larnin'". Many thanks for the help given us in gathering livestock and rodeo news. We hope that you will continue to phone in your news to the Times.

J. M. Corder sold 308 old ewes to Al Duman, sheep buyer from Fort Worth.

Malone Mitchell bought 700 mixed lambs from Cam Longley at $3.25 per head.

Clarence "Al" Jennings, of San Antonio, was a business visitor in Sanderson Wednesday, and visited a short time at the Downie Ranch.

W. E. STIRMANS ENTERTAIN WITH BARBECUE SUN.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stirman entertained at their ranch Sunday from 11 a. m. until 3 p. m. with a big old-time Western barbecue.

Besides the regular barbecue dinner, which included plenty of barbecue for everyone and all the trimmings that go to make up a real dinner, Mr. Stirman had a number of his registered sheep and goats to show to his friends.

Mr. Stirman is a breeder of registered stock and has some of the finest that can be found in this part of West Texas. He has purchased breeding stock from prize winners in the biggest stock shows and it can easily be seen that the results has been more than satisfactory with the display of fine animals that was shown after the guests had enjoyed the dinner. It has become an annual affair with Mr. and Mrs. Stirman to have their friends out to such an occasion each year, and he says that they will have another next year at about the same time, and hopes that he may have all his friends back with him again.

Some 75 guests were served the sumptuous dinner and admired the fine showing of livestock.

Good Rains Are Reported In All Sections Terrell Co.

According to reports from different sections of Terrell County rains ranging from three quarters of an inch to almost two inches fell Monday. Sanderson received one and three-quarter inches.

Reports were to the effect of precipitation falling from Del Rio to Marfa, rain falling in Marfa Tuesday morning. This moisture, coming at the time it did, will make the already green ranch lands come out in full dress. The rains received in June caused a green carpet to cover the mountain sides and the valleys, although it was beginning to get dry. The fall Monday revived the grass and weeds and did much to encourage ranchmen throughout this section.

You will find all your school needs at our store, Friend's Variety Store.

VOTING BONDS FOR SCHOOL IMPORTANT; GO VOTE

Property owners of Sanderson and Terrell are urged to go to the polls Thursday, September 8, and vote for the bond issue which will mean that the Mexican school children will be afforded ample room in which to attend classes and seek an education.

The Sanderson High School boys and girls are also entitled to dressing rooms and showers in the gymnasium. The bond issue, if carried, will give students these necessities. For the students' benefit remember to go to the polls on the 8th and vote for the bonds.

Moulage Casts Used to Preserve Criminal Records

Austin, Aug. 15.—Moulage reproductions are destined to have an important part in modern crime detection, state police crime experts said today.

A reproduction of the head of a negro woman found shot to death at Houston was completed today for identification purposes when relatives are located. Laboratory technicians also cast models of hands, fingers, feet and other objects for study in criminal cases.

UPPER BED OIL DEVELOPED

TO TOTAL OF 7,499 FEET SPECIAL LEVEE

Oklahoma, Aug. 15.—Oil prospecting underneath the Mississippi River levee was opened today when the Oil Company brought in a flow estimated at 204 barrels a day in St. James Parish near Vacherie, La., through the first well ever drilled inside the river levee.

The discovery well, known as Realty Operators No. 1 is located on the eastern side of the river about 55 miles northwest of New Orleans at a point where the bottom ground or "batture" between river and levee is about 1,600 feet wide. Protection from possible flooding of the well site required the building of a separate circular levee 10,000 feet in diameter and 14 feet high, inside the main levee.

Continental officials revealed that 40 foot pilings had to be sunk in the swampy soil to support the drilling rig and that equipment was brought over a specially constructed plank road. Due to the nature of the project, the company took unusual precautions in maintaining secrecy during drilling and practically nothing was known about the type of formations that were encountered until today's announcement that the well had begun to produce.

Ordinarily, the test samples of soil from the drill hole are opened on the derrick floor in sight of the crew and any by-standers who may pass their opinion.

In Realty Operators No. 1, Continental took test samples every 25 feet after they reached a depth of 2,500 feet but used a locked core barrel which was taken directly from the well and pushed through an opening in the wall of the field laboratory to be opened in private by the geologist charged with checking the progress of the well.

The well was reported producing a 43.2 gravity crude through tubing perforated from 6,358 to 6,364 feet, with a tubing pressure of 2,350 pounds. The well was drilled to a total depth of 7,499 feet, but plugged back to 6,364 feet to a sand laid down in the Miocene age. The well is also producing 4,131,000 cubic feet of gas daily. The new field is known as the Hester Dome area, where Continental and Shell have about 10,000 acres under lease.

Mrs. Mary Lou Kellar and Mrs. W. D. O'Bryant, Jr., left for San Antonio Wednesday where they will visit several days with Mrs. A. A. Jenschke and Mrs. Winnie Kellar.

Laying hens need a diet with 16 to 17 percent protein in the summer poultry husbandmen of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service say.

New Owner of Goodnight Ranch To Preserve and Protect Buffalo Herd

Clarendon.—Assurance has been given by Mrs. Mattie Hedgecocke of Amarillo, who recently purchased the famous 11,500-acre ranch of the late Colonel Charles Goodnight, near here, that the historic buffalo herd of 170 animals, included in the sale, will be preserved and protected. The property was bought from an insurance company with main offices in Dallas.

The nucleus of the existing buffalo herd on the ranch was trapped by Goodnight in his big pasture, more than 40 years ago. During most of his life this pioneer of the plains made a study of the buffalo and he was widely known as the greatest authority on its habits and history. Shortly before he died a few years ago, he described briefly some of the things he had learned about these animals which were ruthlessly slaughtered for their hides by the millions during the 70's by professional hunters.

"In 1845 when we first came to Texas, when I was a boy, we first came in contact with the buffalo on the Trinity River, where the city of Dallas now stands; from there to the Brazos and even to the Colorado River were many small bands and bunches of buffaloes," Colonel Goodnight said. "I have never seen or heard of any large herds. They probably sub-divided on account of the timber, as Central Texas has much timber. These herds or bands of buffaloes were either killed out in a few years or left the country.

"At that time, comparatively speaking there were few cattle in the state, and no large herds of cattle. This annoyance of the settlers no doubt caused the buffaloes to leave that part of the state. In any event they were unheard of, so far as the settlers of Texas knew, until about 1854 or 1855, when they made their appearance along the western boundary of what is known as the 'Western Cross Timbers,' in the prairie country. These so-called cross-timbers commenced in Western Kansas and extended in a south-eastern direction to the Rio Grande.

"So far as I have knowledge, no one knew how long the buffalo has occupied this country, as it was unknown and unexplored all along the border of the settlement which was confined to the edge or border of the cross-timbers. But few, if any knew the country 40 or 50 miles out from there. The Comanches and Kiowa Indians claim, however, that the buffaloes occupied the country between the timbers and the staked plains as far back as they have tradition.

"In the fall and winter we came in contact with these buffaloes, but they did not seem to be so numerous until from 1860 to 1865. In striking west and northwest from Fort Belknap on the Brazos River, we came into the herd about 40 or 50 miles out. They seemed to travel in nearly a solid body. It was not common to find bunches detached from the main herd.

though we sometimes did so. From 1862 to 1865 I passed these buffaloes each year for four years; the herd then would probably average 120 to 125 miles long and 25 miles wide. They were about as thick as they could conveniently graze, and there was not a particle of grass behind them.

"They kept their course from the northwest to the southwest, and went as far as the Colorado River. I have no knowledge, and history does not show, that they ever went farther. At the starting of grass they turned north, and never until the grass did start.

"While buffaloes are very smart, and have more sense than an ordinary animal, they do have the habit of going into rivers, wherever they can get in, even going down bluffs that they could easily go around, and swimming against high bluffs where they couldn't get out, and trample each other under and drown by the hundreds. This did not happen in Texas rivers, however, as they are broad and shallow and have little or no banks; but it did happen in Arkansas and Missouri rivers. This means that the Northern herd suffered greater from this cause.

"And I do know that there were two different herds and should be termed the Northern herd, or the Southern buffalo; while they are no doubt the same species, there is enough difference in the two animals for any judge of animals to observe it at once. I positively know that the Southern herd, or the buffalo proper, never went as far north as the Arkansas River, but did go as far as the Wichita Mountains and to the north of them. I also know that the Northern herd, or bison, came as far south as the Wichita Mountains and then turned and drifted back.

"The buffalo hunting proper didn't begin until about 1870, 'til after the Kansas Pacific railway was built. These hunters, of course were working on the Northern herd. I have been on the road when the train would have to stop 15 or 20 minutes for great herds to pass, as when they once started in great bodies, nothing human could cause a break or stop them.

"The Texas hunters commenced on the Southern herd in 1870, winding it up about 1878. Many of the Kansas hunters came down here to the Southern herd also.

"I have talked to some of the marksmen who claim to have killed as many as a hundred in one day. I know myself, I have seen great piles of the carcasses, and in riding out here, when I first settled here, I would hardly ever be out of the sound of the guns from sun up to sun down."

UNIVERSITY A WEALTHY SCHOOL, MYTH SAYS PREXY

CALHOUN CITES NEED ADDED OPERATING FUNDS. OIL MONEY UNDEPENDABLE

Austin, Texas, August 9.—Far from being a wealthy institution as many people seem to think, The University of Texas is actually in financial straits, declared J. W. Calhoun, acting president of that institution, in a recent address before a local luncheon club. The financial situation, as it affects the teaching staff and student body is so acute as to demand the earnest attention of all persons who are interested in the University's progress, Mr. Calhoun pointed out. The erroneous belief of the wealth of the University is due to the large income to its permanent endowment fund that it has received from oil from its land. None of this permanent fund can be spent.

Mr. Calhoun explained that the institution is dependent for running expenses on legislative appropriation. He said that there were far too many students for the present faculty and that money for research and graduate work was badly needed.

Calhoun compared the University's $2,500,000 budget with that of $6,500,000 for the University of Michigan which, he said, is like the University, an institution of 10,000 students.

The acting president pointed out that while the University has a substantial endowment, probably the largest of any state institution in the country, which it shares with A. & M. College, it is not available for running expenses. That endowment, he stated, amounts to approximately $40,000,000, including $10,000,000 worth of land in West Texas. The University borrowed from this several years ago $4,000,000 for a building program.

"We are paying this debt off at the rate of $500,000 a year," he explained, "from income of invested bonds, which is just enough to meet the annual payments. It will not be paid back until about 1944."

Four years ago, he added, the University borrowed $1,200,000 from the Public Works Administration and secured a grant of $433,000 to build the new administration-library building. "Security for this loan," he said, "comes from the income from grazing leases. The debt will be paid off about 1947."

Special Highway Unit Watches For Overloaded Trucks

Austin, Aug. 15.—Arrests of truck drivers hauling excess loads and other wise violating registration laws have increased 25 percent since the Department of Public Safety created a special detail of state police for that type of enforcement work last June, according to Captain Homer Garrison, Jr., assistant public safety director.

While the special unit of plainclothesmen was directing attention to load law violators, state patrolmen, relieved of that responsibility, brought about a 14 percent reduction in traffic deaths on Texas Highways.

The license and weight inspectors, all veterans in that type of work, lodged 1,562 complaints against commercial vehicle operators in July. Violations of the 7,000 pound load limit law were charged in 1,395 of the cases; 39 were for improper registrations; 14 for failure to have chauffeur licenses; 33 for speeding, and 70 for other motor code offenses according to J. W. Longley, chief inspector of the new division.

Until the new unit was assigned to duty recently, patrolmen had divided their activities between the weighing of trucks and enforcement of moving traffic law offenses. Under the new operating plan mounted patrolmen direct their activities toward assisting motorists and reducing speeding, careless driving and other violations to which most death-dealing accidents are traceable.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

At the hospitable ranch home of Mrs. Helen Downie, the Presbyterian Woman's Auxiliary was entertained on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Downie and her mother, Mrs. Gregory.

After a brief business session conducted by the president, Mrs. W. E. Grigsby, Mrs. W. H. Savage took charge of the program. "Vacation Spots for Missionaries in Foreign Lands" was an appropriate topic for a summer meeting. All the songs used were nature hymns, and a special number, "For the Beauty of the Earth" was sung by Mesdames Kessler, Charlton, Grigsby and Adair Edmiston, with Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson accompanying. A solo was also given by Adair Edmiston.

Mrs. Grigsby gave a devotional in keeping with the above topic on "Physical Rest and Resting All in the Heavenly Father." In introducing her subject, Mrs. Savage said all vacations left us either "Rested, Rusted, or Wrecked." Then various mountain resorts and beaches in China, Japan, Brazil, Africa, Korea and Mexico where the missionaries go for a month each summer for physical rest and spiritual refreshment, were described by Mesdames Kessler, McCall, Charlton, Lochausen, John Nichols and McKee.

After an open discussion by those who had been away for summer vacations, Dr. McCall closed the program with prayer.

A luncheon plate, "delectable both to behold and taste" was enjoyed by the guests.

The following members and friends braved the falling elements and drove out in the pouring rain: Mesdames N. E. Charlton, W. E. Grigsby, McDuffy Kessler, J. H. Lochausen, J. W. McKee, J. V. McCall, John Nichols, W. H. Savage, R. S. Wilkinson, A. E. Creigh, Monty Wallace, Dr. McCall, Adair Edmiston, Roberta Lochausen, and Jackie Savage.
