It Happened in Sanderson TEN YEARS AGO This Week—Remember?

(Feb. 8, 1928)

This week Sheriff Banner had installed at each intersection on both the north and south side of all streets going into Oak street, our main street, stop signs. The signs are the latest of their type and are made of rubber. Each one is set in concrete thus making them solid in the ground. Contractor C. M. Breeding had charge of placing the signs.

Favorable reports complimenting the home economics work that has been done in the Sanderson High School this year have been recently received from Miss Lillian Peek, state supervisor of home economics, who visited here on Monday of last week.

A fire alarm was turned in early Tuesday morning about 5 o'clock when an oil stove which was used for heating the office in the rear of the Loma Alta Service station, exploded. The fire was confined to the office and practically everything in it was destroyed.

Jeff B. Atwood of Roswell, New Mexico, was a visitor in our city on Tuesday. Mr. Atwood is the District Governor of Rotary International of the 42nd district and met with the local Rotary Club at special luncheon meeting on Tuesday.

LAMB CHOPS FOR FEBRUARY PARTIES

Lamb chops definitely is the "party" for within its twenty-eight days, there are three grand excuses for parties—Lincoln's birthday, Saint Valentine's day, and Washington's birthday.

Lamb chops, garnished in keeping with the spirit of the day, make an attractive and delicious dish to serve at any or all of these entertaining events. The lamb chop platter garnished with rose tinted apples as shown above makes an ideal party dish for the Saint Valentine's day luncheon or dinner, with the color of the rose apples blending perfectly with the red and white color scheme of hearts and flowers. For the Washington's birthday dinner, fill the centers of apples with a mixture of chopped cherries, nuts and honey, and garnish the platter more elaborately with red cherries. For the Lincoln's birthday dinner, serve lamb chops with corn bread, baked in log or corn shaped pans, and a log cabin salad, made by piling asparagus tips, one on top of the other to form a log cabin in appearance.

How to Broil Lamb Chops For broiling, have the lamb chops cut thick. Thoroughly pre-heat the broiling oven with the regulator set high. Place the chops on the broiler rack so that there is a distance of about three inches between top of chops and source of heat. If this distance must be less, reduce the temperature accordingly. When the chops are nicely browned on one side, season them with salt and pepper, turn them and finish the cooking on the second side. Chops cut 1-inch thick require about fifteen minutes for broiling.

Menus featuring lamb for each of the three holidays are suggested by Inez S. Willson, home economist.

(Editor's note—This column represents the views of an Austin newspaperman who is making a close study of the situation there and will report developments from week to week.)

AUSTIN—Governor O'Daniel reminded his listeners Sunday morning that he had accomplished one of his proposals already—abolishment of the State Tax Commissioner's office at a saving to the taxpayers of approximately $50,000 annually!

"You can't say that it can't be done," he laughed. "And the legislature is at work. While there are phantom killers who tan my hide and there may be skunks about like down on the farm, yet we are doing things."

Abolishment of the tax office put 26 employees out with only two days salary for February.

Governor O'Daniel's assertion that his now famous statement granting the 30-day reprieve to a condemned negro at Huntsville was "misunderstood" met with response from Legislators that the governor "had got into a spot and that was his way out." Nevertheless, the incident has centered attention and interest on the capitol punishment statute which will have further reverberations. Many people do not believe in the death penalty.

Also holding the spotlight this week is the truck situation. While lobbyists for both the railroads and the truckers swarm about Austin, fruit haulers from the Lower Valley started "something when they began running blockades of weight inspectors along the Valley highway, near Fairfurlias and Alice. Representative Homer Leonard of McAllen and Senator Rogers Kelly of Edinburg led the fight to "open up the highway and let trucks through to save the citrus crop before a freeze hits it," with outspoken indorsement from Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald (the latter asking the governor for martial law), state weights inspectors were told by Col. Homer Garrison to stop all trucks and make them unload if they carried over the 7000-pound limit. It looks as though the whole incident will react in favor of the bills to increase the load limits, a hearing due this week. While the truckers are reported as out of state men, yet they are helping move a perishable Texas crop worth many millions to Texas people. Some believe the incident may have been inspired in an attempt to damage the sentiment prevailing for increase of the load limit. Representative Galbraith of Wharton, the only blacksmith in the House, declares there are a few justices of peace in this state who are fighting this load limit increase bill for very obvious reasons—they collect the fines."

An emergency loan law to avoid cutting old-age pension checks to below $9 average next month was in sight as the House voted 118 to 5 for the bill to let the Old Age Assistance Commission borrow $900,000 to supplement revenues to continue present payments the next three months. The bill will await Senate action this week.

Land Commissioner Bascom Giles started something when he asked for an emergency appropriation of $9000 to make up for a deficit he said he found in a fund in the land office, saying the former commissioner had spent $17,948 of the fund from September until January of the past year, leaving only $8000 for use in eight months, or until next September. 1st State Auditor Tom King says Former Commissioner McDonald "acted within his legal rights" although Giles was asked by the legislative committee to present the matter to the grand jury. McDonald says he employed special help during the period.

Short shorts—Rev. John E. Roach, retired Methodist minister of Forney, is a member of the House. Speaker Emmett Morse and his family live at a hotel rather than in the furnished apartment on the west side of the Capitol, back of the House, which is always allowed for use of the Speaker and his family. Lieutenant Governor Coke Stevenson and his family occupy the furnished apartment at the other end of the Capitol. Major General M. J. Bonner of Fort Worth, Confederate veteran, asks the House for $7000 with which to finance the "final Reunion of the U.C.V. in Fort Worth this year." Dr. Homer Price Rainey, new prexy, visited the University this week. He will take over his duties in June. Former Senator V. A. Collins of Livingston says if the liquor laws are liberalized, state wide prohibition will come back. Raymond Dillard of Mexia has been named as a new member of the State Park Board to succeed Judge Tom L. Beauchamp. Dillard is said to be enthusiastic in his zeal for more improvements in the parks system. His hobby has been restoration of old Fort Parker on the Navasota River. He will be a valuable asset to the parks system. No one will predict what the Senate will do on further appointments, including the labor commissioner job. Legislators will be guests of the sulphur interests Friday at a barbecue picnic near Wharton. Nuf sed!

ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES

When Warners set out to make a gangster picture they know what they are about, as witness "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse" and plenty of films before it. In "Angels with Dirty Faces" they have provided showmen with a surpassing demonstration of their unquestioned ability in the field of cinematic criminology.

Number 1 criminal in this documentation of the truism that crime doesn't pay is James Cagney, the James Cagney of "Public Enemy," functioning with throttle wide open and mainly as a lone wolf. He's never done this kind of thing better, if as well. Opposite him is Pat O'Brien in a role as his gutter dealer to receive more than one commission on a transaction to make it necessary that all orders be in writing, to require the dealers to divulge whether or not they are working for the buyer or the seller, and to keep records on prices paid and prices received.

Enactment of this law will save stockmen of the state thousands of dollars, Mr. Cauthorn feels. He declares that he has been assured the support of a large number of livestock dealers over the stock country who feel that their business through this law, will be cleared of its undesirables.

P. T. A. Donates to H. E. Girls Fund

Vivian Earwood
The Parent-Teacher's Association donated $10.00 to the H. E. classes to be used in buying equipment for the department. The State suggested putting drapes in the living room, and furnishing a bed room. The girls bought material and made a bed spread and covering for a vanity, made by Wilma People as a home project, and built from orange boxes. The bed room is very attractively carried out in the Mexican colors of orange, green, and black. The gingham curtains are to be made of solid green.

The girls bought the cloth at 15c a yard. This shows that any room can be decorated attractively with very little cost.

"Listen, Darling" to Show Fri.-Sat. at Princess Theatre

In their last pictures, Freddie Bartholomew in "Captains Courageous" and "Lord Jeff," and Judy Garland in "Everybody Sing" and "Love Finds Andy Hardy," both young players have been shown to favorable advantage. In this, "Listen, Darling," while they will have the benefit of a quality supporting cast, the pair will be given the opportunity actually to carry the show. The theme of the plot in which they are the principal workers is intriguing. He and she dislike the man, a cantankerous, irascible small town banker who would marry her mother. Legal minded Freddie becomes the "brains" behind a plot to find the right kind of man. Their machinations, which become hilariously complicated as the result of the antics of Freddie's pestiferous younger brother, not only give the mother one man to think of, but three as she finds on her hands not only the banker, but an eligible whom the youngsters picked out and a third who butts in on his own accord. In essence the picture looks as if it will fall into the "family" idea of films which presently seems to be sweeping the country.

The mother will be played by Mary Astor, who was seen in "Hurricane" and "Woman Against Woman." Gene Lockhart, out-standing in "Algiers," will be seen as the penny-pinching banker suitor, Alan Hale, also featured in "Algiers" and "Adventures of Robin Hood," will be seen as the swain who butts in while the man whom the youngsters picked out for Miss Astor is Walter Pidgeon, who was featured in "The Girl of the Golden West." The boy who several times upsets the well prepared plans of Bartholomew and Miss Garland is Scotty Beckett.

Jack Cummings, who produced "Born to Dance," "Broadway Melody of 1938" and "Yellow Jack" again is serving in that capacity. "Listen Darling" is coming under the direction guidance of Edward L. Marin, who handled the recent comedies, "Married Before Breakfast," "Everybody Sing" and "Hold That Kiss."

Time to Transplant Shade Trees Says Landscape Specialist

"We don't usually think of it during winter, but now is the time to remember how much shade trees were needed here and there about the home last summer," says Sadie Hatfield, landscape gardening specialist of the Texas A and M. College Extension Service.

Trees transplanted now from nurseries or the woods will have an opportunity to settle into the soil and be ready to grow by the time spring arrives, she pointed out. She recommended that trees be pruned back heavily and shaped up at the time of transplanting.

"If trees are planted where they are needed and with consideration for the size they will attain within a few years, they usually fit nicely into the landscape picture," Miss Hatfield stated. Generally they should not be planted in straight rows as this gives an artificial and mechanical picture, but should be placed so as to look as if they grew naturally where they were planted.

DEATH RATE IS STILL TOO HIGH

Motor vehicle accidents snuffed out one human life every five and one-half hours on Texas highways, streets, and roads during 1938.

More than $25,000,000 loss is the estimated economic loss in the state due to motor vehicle accidents in 1938.

The facts and figures were revealed today by Harry S. Phillips, Traffic and Safety Engineer of the State Highway Department, who declared that although there is more than a one per cent reduction in the daily average of fatalities and also a marked decrease in the number of motor vehicle accidents for a year's period, the number of traffic fatalities in Texas is still far too high.

He called attention to the 8.8 average daily death toll for the ten-day period, December 23, 1938 to January 1, 1939, that included an all time high fatality mark of 25 deaths on December 24, when one person was killed every 57 and one-half minutes.

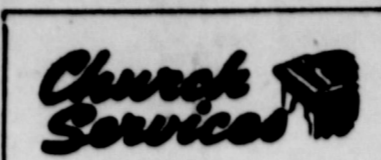

The seventy-six fatal accidents on the streets and highways of Texas during the Christmas holidays," Mr. Phillips said, "took a toll of 88 lives, inflicted personal injury to 105, and resulted in an economic loss of approximately $1,087,150.00."

According to statistics compiled by the traffic division, "the driver had been drinking" in twenty-one, or 27.6 per cent, of the 76 fatal accidents, and fourteen, or 18.4 per cent, of the accidents were the result of vehicles traveling "too fast for conditions."

Bad weather was largely responsible for the great increase in accidents during the holiday season, Mr. Phillips explained.

"Sometime prior to the ten-day period in question, very little rainfall was recorded throughout the state, and a film of dust and oil had accumulated on pavement. Immediately preceding and throughout the holiday season, the entire state had almost constant rainfall that came in a slow drizzle. A hard rain would have washed the dust and oil from the road surface, but the slow drizzle created and prolonged a slippery film," the traffic and safety engineer pointed out.

Of the 1610 fatalities recorded for the year, January 1 through December 31, 1938, 453 per cent were attributable to the primary causes, "driver had been drinking" and "driving too fast for conditions." Mechanical failure of vehicle resulted in 122 per cent of the fatal accidents, and responsibility rested on the pedestrian in 13.7 per cent, Mr.

Phillips said. Drivers were cautioned to refrain from drinking when operating a motor vehicle and to keep their vehicles under control at all times that an appreciable reduction in traffic accidents may be attained during 1939.

Dick Powell Has to Really Go Some in "Going Places"

When the hero of this forthcoming picture finds that his own faking, boasting, bragging and love making have got him into a situation that requires that he ride a vicious horse in a steeplechase, his hopes and ambitions crash about him. Then he learns that the wild steed likes music, and that when the strains of a swing tune called "Jeepers Creepers" ring in the beast's ears it is as docile as a dole can be. So in the big race which is going to settle lots of things of romantic and business nature, he arranges with a trumpeter to play the tune along the route of the race. When the road and route part, he sings the song until he is breathless and the horse, reverting to type, is a hellion on hoofs. But the band catches up with him again, plays the tune, the girl is won and so is new business success.

Narcotic Offenders Prove Big Problem to Law Officers

AUSTIN—Legal trafficking in narcotics is one of the biggest problems facing enforcement officers in Texas as well as other states, according to Captain J. B. Wheatley, veteran Texas ranger who heads the comparatively new narcotic section of the public safety department. "There is no such thing as a 'small-time' narcotic offender," he tersely declared, pointing to a newspaper account of the apprehension of a band of addicts and peddlers described in that manner. The old-timer, who served many years along Texas' crime battle fronts before his selection as chief of the narcotics enforcement section of seven inspectors, said that addicts aid peddlers, "whether they use or sell a fraction or an ounce of dope" are the back bone of the narcotics market.

Wholesale distributors, Captain Wheatley continued, remain stagnated without the thousands of channels for marketing their smuggled quantities of heroin, opium or morphine. "If an addict or peddler disposes of one cigaret of marijuana or one grain of white narcotics at a time they contribute largely to the support of the wholesale dealers," he said.

Then, too, addicts without funds obtain the required money for supplying their needs from sales of stolen articles. Captain Wheatley estimated that 50 percent of minor thefts are committed by dope addicts. Major criminals, too, find nerve to commit their heinous offences under the influence of narcotics. He described illegal narcotics distributions in Texas as "alarming," but declined to specifically locate distribution centers except to say: "You'll find the greatest number of peddlers and addicts where there are oil booms and large payrolls."

Roy Barksdale, rancher from near Dryden, has been in town several days receiving medical attention.

Sheriff Jim Nance and Deputy Andy Anderson were Del Rio visitors Thursday.

Bob Lea, Bill Lea, Jack Pope and Jack Hayre were visitors to Van Horn Saturday. Bob Lea remained and took charge of a service station there and the others returned Sunday.

M. H. Goode, Sr. was in Sanderson Tuesday from his ranch in the Geddes country.

Chas. Callahan, ranchman from Geddes, was a visitor to Sanderson Monday.

Mrs. E. L. Sweeten of Anthony, New Mexico, and Mrs. Laura Cockran of Tucson, Arizona, visited here Monday and Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Lue'la Lemons. They were returning to their homes after several weeks visit in other Texas points.

Mrs. Sue Douglas of San Antonio arrived here last Friday for an extended visit with her brother, W. E. Lea and Mrs. Lea.

Mrs. Helen Downie of San Antonio visited here Wednesday and Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Creigh.

Mrs. F. B. Pyle and son returned home Tuesday after several weeks visit in Los Angeles and San Francisco, California.
