TWO CARS BURN TWO PICKUPS CHECKED HERE

There was an unfortunate fire for several who suffered loss of automobiles through fire and damage. A 1939 Plymouth sedan burned completely Thursday night five miles from Sanderson on Highway 10. The car, a 1939 model, was owned by a man and wife and had two children of Baytown. The cause of the fire was not known. A 1938 model Buick belonging to J. A. Frazier was destroyed by fire about 45 miles east of Sanderson on U. S. Highway 90. The accident, the cause of which has not yet been determined, happened about 2:30 p. m. Sunday morning. The occupants of the car were not injured but were entirely helpless about putting out the blaze. The fire started in the back seat burning all of the upholstery and the rear of the car was scorched. The damage was covered by insurance.

A 1940 Dodge pickup belonging to Greene Cooke was overturned on the Sheffield road at Sanderson beyond the Big Canyon Sunday afternoon. The pickup was being driven by Mr. Cooke, and he was accompanied by Curtis Litt and Boscoe Yeates. Cecil was the first to reach the scene and carried the three to the Big Canyon where they were not injured seriously. The wreck occurred when the dirt was encountered at a sharp curve.

Another pickup, a GMC, owned by Col. Coates, was overturned when he tried to hit a bunch of sheep. The accident occurred Sunday near the Tip Frazier ranch. The pickup was badly damaged but P. C. was only bruised and shaken up.

Elect Honored With Breakfast Friday

Seth Davenport and Miss Arrington entertained a Good Friday breakfast for Miss Bess McAdams, the home of Mrs. T. R. Arrington, Friday morning. The living room was very nicely decorated with orange and white lilies. The Easter motif was further carried in the dining room where nests with eggs, baby bunnies and rabbits were on the table and desk. The center was a large rabbit drawing a cart full of colored eggs. Sprays of red and yellow flowers. Covers were laid with light colored Fiesta and Fl-silver. Each place was decorated with a tiny Easter basket filled with candy eggs, and a duck fully dressed for Easter parade.

Breakfast of pineapple juice, ham, baked egg apple, hot cross buns, coffee, jam jelly were served to the following school mates and very friends: Maybell Stavley Word, Bernice Vaughan, Deaton, Mrs. O. H. McAdams, Bess McAdams, the honoree, Beatrice Davenport and Arrington. The hostesses assisted by their mothers, Mrs. J. D. Nichols and Mrs. T. Arrington.

After breakfast Bess was given a large Easter basket which she found to be filled with packages brought by each guest. These packages contained fourteen tea towels.

Two-Headed Calf Born on Ranch; Lives Several Days

A two-headed Hereford calf, with four perfectly formed eyes, two noses and mouths, and in other respects apparently normal, was born last week on the M. C. Puckett ranch southeast of Fort Stockton.

Mother of the calf, found on the ranch Friday morning by ranch employees, was one belonging to R. H. (Uncle Bud) Price and being pastured on the Puckett ranch.

The calf appeared to be two or three days old when found. It was unable to stand up, and could not take nourishment, but despite this fact lived several days. It was brought to Fort Stockton by Mr. Puckett and kept alive until Sunday at the home of County Agent T. W. Hillin.

Two-headed calves are very unusual, ranchmen say, and rarely live long after birth.—Fort Stockton Pioneer.

'Gone With the Wind'
To Be Shown In Del Rio

"The Yankees are coming... we have lost the battle" These despairing cries on a motion picture set recently echoed the 75-year-old anguish of a beleaguered city. The city was Atlanta, Georgia. The time of its travail was the terrible summer of 1864 when General William Tecumseh Sherman began his march to the sea. The motion picture is "Gone With the Wind," production of the celebrated novel of the Civil War South, starring Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland and showing on the Princess Theatre screen of Del Rio, Texas, April 9 to 13. Filming and tumultuous panic scene of the flight, from the city took three days. There had, however, been months of preparation. The Atlanta set, three thousand feet long, the largest ever made for a color picture, was built from blueprints based on maps of the city drawn by Wilbur G. Kurtz, technical director. Photographs of individual buildings were used in designing facades.

A company of soldiers in battle-stained gray recruited and drilled by Ted DePuy, whose "Hollywood Legion" has impersonated the troops of a score of nations, was the first group of extras on the big battle set. Representing retreating Confederates, they marched unhurriedly past "Five Points," through the heart of Atlanta, while the mob of civilians fled in another direction. As they marched, they halted occasionally to make way for sweating horses, artillery caissons, ammunition wagons, ambulances, and the assorted vehicles of the refugees.

Share-croppers in straw hats and overalls, cracked whips as their wagons loaded with chairs, tables and the kitchen stove, rumbled along. Over the high sideboards of one wagon gleamed the polished surface of a melledeon, and a pale-faced woman in a buggy clung to the strings of a big concert harp. Set dresser Eddie Boyle said statistics of massed fights since the Hebrew children paused by the waters of Babylon show that people driven from home are inclined to save their musical instruments first of all.

One slow-moving equipage lent an artistic note of contrast to the scene of swift action. It was a huge mortar, moulder on a sled, its short barrel raised in sudden menace as a team of oxen dragged it along. The deliberate pace of the unwelcome farm animals made the rapid action all around them seem even dizzier in comparison.

Historic fidelity being required in all details, Fred Schuessler, casting director, was instructed to see that the hundreds of extras hired to work in the crowd scenes all had Southern accents. This precaution proved wise as "ad-lib" lines were unexpectedly recorded on the sound track in close-ups.

The climax of the evacuation scene came when Vivian Leigh darted through the shifting maze of traffic looking for Dr. Meade. It was a dangerous sequence but Miss Leigh refused to permit a double to do her work. She could not run fast enough in her hoop-skirts on the crowded side-walks, so she hurried along in the middle of the street. As she dodged a red fire truck on its way to the fire started by a bursting shell, she stepped directly in the path of a six-horse artillery team, hurrying to cover the Confederate retreat.

Graycoated gunners pulled the reins frantically as Miss Leigh's slim figure appeared before them. She stopped as a person should in heavy traffic. Her wide hoop-skirts flared in the face of the lead horse. He swerved aside, and the actress slipped by the rumbling wheels unharmed. Director Victor Fleming on the sidelines gasped and turned pale, but the cameraman held his focus and the thrilling and spectacular scene was saved.

'Four Wives' Makes Local Bow Monday
At Princess Theatre

The local debut of "Four Wives" will take place Monday, April 1 at the Princess Theatre. A sequel to last year's popular film hit, "Four Daughters," it has the same cast consisting of the three Lane Sisters, Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola, Gale Page, Claude Rains, Jeffrey Lynn, May Robson, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran. Added to the roster of stars is Eddie Albert, comedy star of "Brother Rat." John Garfield, whose "Micky Borden" met an untimely death in "Four Daughters," will be seen in "Four Wives," but only as a vision.

While the story of "Four Wives" is complete in itself, it takes up the fortunes and romances of the "Four Daughters" where last year's film left off. Gale Page and Lola Lane, who play the two oldest are already married to Dick Foran and Frank McHugh, respectively, when the story opens. Rosemary, playing the romance-loving middle sister, is still waiting for her dream to come along, while Priscilla, the youngest, and a widow, is preparing to marry the young concert musician played by Jeffrey Lynn. Already there are two prospects of a new generation, too. The girls all go to keep an appointment which Gale Page has with the doctor. But Gale's hopes are blasted when the doctor tells her she will never have children. The same visit reveals, however, that Priscilla is about to have a baby—the child of her dead husband.

Meanwhile Rosemary has found a likely matrimonial prospect in Eddie Albert, who plays the role of a bashful young doctor, and is busily engaged in juring him ajar-ward. Lola decides to adopt a little girl, but a few weeks after she is to have her own baby. Priscilla and Jeffrey are married, but the memory of "Mickey Borden" is clouding their happiness, until Jeffrey takes the situation in his own hands and gives her a memory she can cherish. The same warm feeling has been injected into the film as in "Four Daughters" by Michael Curtiz, who directed both.

Who's Who Among the Seniors

Way out among the Devil's River Mountains on July 26, 1923, a great event happened in the Earwood family. No, it wasn't the rise in the price of wool, nor was there a particularly rainy season that year. It was the birth of Vivian! She ran wild on the ranch until school age; then, a long-legged, snaggle-toothed little kid, she went to school in Comstock through the sixth grade. In the seventh she went to school in Kerrville. When a freshman, Vivian came to Sanderson and is now struggling through Algebra II, which is a constant nightmare to her; English IV; Bookkeeping; and Geometry.

Vivian likes newspaper work, good poetry, rain and Christmas. She dislikes to be called "Youngun," to wear silk hose and every kind of math. After graduation she intends to take a journalism course and be a second Jane Arden.

What is this we hear about Robert Shaw and Margaret Ruth Yeates?

We wonder what girl ran from first base to home in Junior baseball when Bill Cargile stepped across the street?

Who was Kathryn Nell Nance seesawing with Sunday night? Not James O'Connor by any chance.

We need Donald Smith for the Snooper. He knows all but whether he will tell it—that is a different thing.

Bernice and Earl are getting along all right. They have been seen at the show twice lately.

What certain place attracted Maurine and Marzee's attention Sunday night?

We hear that Lewis William is falling for Margaret Ruth.

Why does Maurine Frazier's heart stop every time she hears a Model A Ford? Could she be thinking of J. D.

Joe Ross waits out in the hall for Doris to come out so he can look at her.

What is this talk we hear about Doris being with Bill Cargile at the show Friday night? Where does Chookie come in?

Who could have been with Pat Harris last Saturday night? She was a senior and definitely blonde.

Girls' Phy. Ed. Classes to Write Term Themes

The girls in the Physical Education classes have been busy the past week working on term themes. The girls had a choice of subjects given them by Miss Rankin, any of which they could write a theme of not less than 500 words. Some of the topics were "Personal Cleanliness," "Tuberculosis," "Cancer" and "Social Diseases." They have found that this is a very interesting project. There will be cash prizes awarded for the best of these themes. First prize will be $2. Second prize, $1. The judges are Dr. Kern, Mr. Holt, Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Colwell.

Every student of the schools went through the dental clinic during the past week. A record of the condition of their mouths has been made and the parents have been notified. Dr. Robertson of Fort Stockton had charge of the inspections. All three of the schools took advantage of this opportunity. It is found that over half the students in school need urgent dental attention. It is hoped that the parents will follow these inspections up.

Wool Weaving Plant In Eldorado

Austin, March 29— Processing of wool in Texas, started on March 1 with the opening of a scouring plant in San Marcos, will be carried a step farther on June 1 when a wool weaving plant begins operation in Eldorado.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today was in receipt of a report on the Eldorado plant which is being constructed at a cost of from $15,000 to $20,000.

This new concern will buy its scoured wool from the Cen-Tex Wool and Mohair Company's scouring plant at San Marcos, and will make woolen blankets, ties and finished material in piece goods for men's suits, women's dresses, the Governor was informed.

Joe M. Christian, textile engineering graduate from Texas Technological College, and his father, J. B. Christian, are owners of the new plant.

Texas produced 77,290,000 pounds of wool and mohair last year. It is estimated that 60 per cent of this weight is represented to northern and eastern markets.

The scouring of wool in Texas is designed to eliminate that loss. The San Marcos plant, which marked the culmination of seven years planning on the part of H. C. and L. B. Rea of that city, will probably be able to supply wool to six plants of the size of the Eldorado concern, Governor O'Daniel said.
