Medical Society Meets in Alpine

The Big Bend Medical Society met at Alpine Tuesday of this week with Dr. Walter Reedy, Lieut. Medical Corps, Fort D. A. Russell, Marfa, discussing "Circoid Aneurism."

"Animal Borne Disease, Transmission to Man" was the topic discussed by Frank P. Matthews, D. V. M.; Ph. D., pathologist in charge of the Experiment Station, Alpine.

The resignation of President Dr. J. C. Kern Sanderson, was submitted for the reason that he will pursue his fellowship at Vanderbilt for the next year. The resignation was courteously declined since the Doctor will continue his connection with the organization. Dr. L. A. Laventure, Marfa, was chosen vice-president to carry on through this year.

The secretary was instructed to secure commitments from prominent doctors over the state to appear on a program to be held about the first of August at Fort D. A. Russell. The secretary was also instructed to invite the wives of the doctors to meet with the Society at that time with the purpose of giving them the opportunity to organize an auxiliary.

The paper of Lieut. Reedy was of especial interest because of the rarity of the disease and the ingenious disposition of the Doctor made in his treatment of the case reported.

Dr. F. P. Matthews made a scholarly presentation of Rabies, Tuberculosis, Bangs' Disease, Equine Encephalitis and other diseases which are too often transmitted to man. The Doctor dwelt heavily on the losses of life and values by the presence of rabies in the United States and showed that the stray dog habit in America is the sole enemy to be destroyed if we get rid of rabies whose toll in human life is heavy from a most horrifying death. Strangely enough during the evening one of the doctors had a long distance call reporting the head of a dog which had bitten a person as positive for rabies. The Doctor also dwelt at length on the futility of effort to relieve the public from the danger of Malta or goat fever, without disposing of the infected animals.

There is another Hemispherical development which can be interpreted as infringing the Monroe Doctrine. That is the activities of Nazis and Fascists in South America. If these German and Italian Nationals should overthrow a government or governments, the territory of such government or governments, would be available for enemy operations against the United States. Therefore, it will be incumbent upon us to support the existing authorities. This we are doing by naval demonstrations. That such demonstrations are necessary is proven by the threat of the German Government to break off relations with Uruguay, should that country expel leading Nazi plotters. Pan-American Conferences have discussed this matter of American aid to menaced governments, but fear of the Colossus of the North has prevented any real authorization of such action. It is not at all certain that the coming Conference will adopt a resolution granting authority of this kind. If done, there would be assured effective intervention without danger of a local movement against it inspired by the German and Italian Governments.

VISITING MINISTER TO CONDUCT SERVICES SUNDAY

Announcement has been made by the Rev. J. Y. Bowman that Dr. L. B. Craven will have charge of the services at the Methodist Church Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. He also will be in charge of services at Dryden in the afternoon.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. Steve Stumberg was taken to a Del Rio hospital Tuesday where she underwent a major operation. She is reported as doing as well as can be expected Thursday.

OGLESBY'S OGLES

By Whitfield Oglesby

Carrying out the terms of the resolutions unanimously adopted by the two Houses, the Belligerent Governments have been notified that this Government will not recognize or acquiesce in the transfer of any French, British or Dutch territory to a non-American power. This notification, the first of its kind since the current war began, declares the attitude of our Government, executive and congressional, relative to the maintenance of the status quo in the Western Hemisphere Heretofore, the President alone has expressed our determination to keep the Americas free from European conquest. Now the Congress has reiterated the Monroe Doctrine. Thus fortified, at a new Pan-American Conference which has been called, the President's representatives will speak with authority of the Government. This Conference will be requested to adopt a resolution which will be a repetition of that Congress has approved.

It is clear from the action we have taken, and the Pan-American States will take that the Union in which they are combined, will not tolerate any attempt to invade and occupy the Dominion of Canada, or the European territories which stretch from Greenland along our Atlantic Coast to the Caribbean Sea, the Caribbean Coast of South America, British Honduras and the Falkland Islands off Argentina. A claim by Germany or Italy to any of these lands would not only be denied, but to demonstrate that it will not be permitted, American troops may be sent to occupy them. This would be true particularly of the Caribbean Sea, the strategic area from which an enemy could launch bombers against the United States and the Panama Canal.

British and French troops recently were debarked in the Dutch possessions for their protection from occupation by German forces brought across the Atlantic by blockade runners, or from submarine attack. It is to be assumed that once France has made peace, the French contingents will be withdrawn. A question may arise through German submarine use of French Islands, and there is always the possibility that a Dictatorial Government established in France in reaction to the fallen Republic would defend such use. In that case, the United States would be compelled to take over the Islands which could be done only by force. Thus, it is not at all impossible that we would be drawn into war with France, which would be a matter of satisfaction to German strategists.

There is another Hemispherical development which can be interpreted as infringing the Monroe Doctrine. That is the activities of Nazis and Fascists in South America. If these German and Italian Nationals should overthrow a government or governments, the territory of such government or governments, would be available for enemy operations against the United States. Therefore, it will be incumbent upon us to support the existing authorities. This we are doing by naval demonstrations. That such demonstrations are necessary is proven by the threat of the German Government to break off relations with Uruguay, should that country expel leading Nazi plotters. Pan-American Conferences have discussed this matter of American aid to menaced governments, but fear of the Colossus of the North has prevented any real authorization of such action. It is not at all certain that the coming Conference will adopt a resolution granting authority of this kind. If done, there would be assured effective intervention without danger of a local movement against it inspired by the German and Italian Governments.

Weather Clearer: Motorists
Are Urged to Use Caution

Roads dry; weather clear. Motorists are advised to drive with extreme care and caution while these dangerous conditions prevail.

If you were to read this report in the paper you would surely believe somebody was joking, but statistics indicate the advice is sound.

More than 86 per cent of all fatal motor vehicle accidents in 1939 occurred when the weather was clear. Only 1.3 per cent happened when it was snowing, 2.2 per cent during fog, and 9.8 per cent when it was raining. Contrary to popular belief, the vast majority of fatalities occurred when the road surface was dry, rather than when rain, snow or ice covered the pavements.

These pertinent facts are revealed in a booklet "Smash Hits of the Year" just published by The Travelers Insurance Company as the tenth in its annual series of analytical bulletins issued in the interest of safety on the streets and highways.

The figures indicate that clear weather and dry roads encourage speeding and carelessness, the booklet asserts. Slippery streets bring on a bumper crop of broken bumpers and other minor mishaps, but fatalities and serious injuries are comparatively infrequent.

Sealy Stadium. Monahans high school's athletic plant, this week, as the board of trustees indicated that two new stands would be constructed on the east side of the field, one on the west.

Laugh-Getters
Head Cast of New Comedy

Martha Raye and Charlie Ruggles, two of Hollywood's front-rank laugh-getters head the cast of Paramount's "The Farmer's Daughter," which is slated to open tonight, Friday, June 28 at the Princess Theater.

With two such zanies in the top roles, the film settles down to accumulate laughs, and its success in that direction is indicated by the unusual story angles. Charlie is a Broadway producer with a backer for his new production, who adds two conditions to the sum of money needed.

The "angel" insists that Charlie star an ex-love, and keep the show out of New York for three months. Charlie agrees, and sets out with his company for an unsuspecting barn, which suddenly blossoms out with a balcony and orchestra.

Gertrude Michael, as the ex-love proves difficult to handle, and Charlie assigns Richard Denning, his leading man, to soothe her. Martha, in the title role, has already set her cap for Denning. Rehearsals proceed in everything but smooth style.

Press agent William Frawley has to keep a straying play-wright happy for importing Broadway noises and scents. Gertrude discovers her boy friend has eloped, and Martha, who has left a trail of accidents behind her ever since she broke the doctor's spectacles at her own birth, commits jinx after jinx.

On opening night, Gertrude deserts the troupe, pursuing her fleeing boy friend on his honeymoon. With a multitude of misgivings, Charlie allows Martha to try the leading role in the production.

Martha's awkwardness, mistaken by the audience for meant comedy effect, makes a smash hit of the show, and, with Gertrude out of his way, the arms of Denning are open to her.

Martha gets a chance to sing both sweet and swing songs in "The Farmer's Daughter." "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair" gets smooth treatment, while a new tune, "Jungle Jingle" finds Martha really "singing".

Sanderson Girls Are Busy at Waldemar
Summer Camp

Hunt, June 26. (Sp)—Down a gangplank from dinner on board the good ship Waldemar, summer campers walked into the southern isles Friday evening, June 21, bedecked in grass skirts and colorful leis. The Texas and Comanches assembled for the first all-tribal dance of the season, going Hawaiian instead of Indian for the evening.

Mary and Wilma Corder were among the guests. The girls are members of the Comanche tribe.

The camp dining hall was transformed into an ocean liner. Travel placards told the traveling world about travel, and growing palms marked the orchestra pit. Out in the camp's new Play House poles were embanked with tropical flowers, and colored lights made it a night for dancing. The Waldemar orchestra furnished the music.

Tropical fruits predominated in the dinner menu, and pineapple fruit punch and tootsie rolls were served to the dancers.

Waldemar's tap class presented the floor show. Three campers, turned native, did a grass dance, while a chorus in the rear carried out the theme.

Thursday evening Mary and Wilma helped present the all-senior stunt program in Cactus Lodge. Each "kampong" or camp cabin gave an original skit.

Roaches Can Be Controlled With Sodium Fluoride

College Station—Sodium fluoride, either pure or mixed with equal parts of flour, is the ticket for killing cockroaches.

Roaches will tackle almost any kind of food and usually polute several times more than they actually eat. The pests hang out in the kitchen or pantry or other places where food is kept.

For control, dust sodium fluoride in the places frequented by the roaches, especially along the edges of the rooms. The best results will be obtained by use of a dust gun which will force the dust into cracks and crevices.

The insecticide is most effective when applied in the evening, since roaches do not move around much in the day time.

"Sodium fluoride is toxic to man and animals and should not be used where children may get it," warns Cameron Siddall, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

"It can be swept out each morning, but I recommend ground pyrethrum in homes where there are small children." Pyrethrum is not poisonous to humans.

The entomologist says commercial sprays are not effective unless the insects are actually hit by the spray.

Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell
Dancing Together in "B'way Melody"

Fred Astaire, Eleanor Powell, George Murphy in "Broadway Melody of 1940"

When the two greatest dancers of the contemporary stage and screen get together in a single production, it's news. Such news is verified in "Broadway Melody of 1940" coming to the Princess Theatre Monday and Tuesday, and starring Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell.

Spectacular in all of its departments, these two stars are given a suitable send-off for their first co-starring feature. Nine dances, ranging in type from tap to ballet, six Cole Porter song hits, gigantic sets, a notable cast, Norman Taurog as director, all add up to the prediction that "Broadway Melody of 1940" is due to take its place as the year's most entertaining and eye-filling film.

The story strikes a novel note from the very beginning. Astaire and George Murphy, a dance team temporarily unemployed, are working as professional hosts in a ballroom. Through a novel set of circumstances, Murphy is mistaken for Astaire and given a try-out as leading man for the dance darling of Broadway, portrayed by Eleanor Powell. When he wins the assignment things begin to happen notably among them a badly swelled head eventually leads to the downfall and Astaire's triumph.

The cast, in addition to the three dance stars, Astaire, Powell and Murphy, features Morgan, Ian Hunter, Rice and Lynne Carver. Morgan finds new vent for his battles two shortcomings, memory and blondes. Powell's Broadway production plays the Broadway production of Powell's musical shows, since Rice is the secret Morgan who has her hand untangling his many affairs the heart.

Rich in production values sets topping in size and peculiar qualities those of any previous production, "Broadway Melody of 1940" brings a conceivable type of dancing to the screen. The most notorious number, which finale is Cole Porter's "The Beguine." The set covered an entire sound stage introduces something new form of a sixty-foot mirror swings to constantly change background behind the dancers.

With seiners being allowed to take minnows from the lakes and streams of Texas and allowed to transport them out of the state, as they are under the present state-wide law, there is bound to be a shortage...

Others states have found it necessary to clamp restrictions on the seining of minnows and the answer to the problem in these states has been the operating of minnow hatcheries...

Remembering that these scrapping little fish are bottom feeders, the artificial lure addict rigs up fly rod with light line, a small leader, a tiny trout fly and to this he attaches a piece of pork rind more narrow than a paper match and approximately a half inch long...

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

More practical application of the research work done by game and fish commission and an educational program to teach conservation to the youth of the land were urged by the Outdoor Writers Association of America at its recent annual meeting in Washington.

John M. Phillips, former president of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, in an address to the writers and the National Wild Life Federation, urged practical educational activities

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

In the present day, people place great stress on having things convenient. Many conveniences are taken as a matter of course—especially those of an intangible nature, such as the services of a modern bank.

If a merchant has no calls for an item, he no longer continues to stock it, but he is always glad to keep things for which there is a steady demand. When you buy from him, you make it possible for him to keep on hand the things you want, and thus, you add to your own convenience.
