

Seems the last couple of weeks have been pretty well filled by Tracks, with those same tracks leading us from the Panhandle to East Texas twice...

During both trips someone from this area has been involved in a fatal accident while I was away, so it is going to be a long time before we tempt fate again...

But--while down among the pine woods we enjoyed the tall pines and lush yards, along with the bluebonnets, Indian paint brushes and morning glories that were in bloom along the way.

And, believe it or not, it isn't too warm down there yet either, as a matter of fact we dangled near froze one night.

Expecting it to get warm I had to open all the windows in the bedroom and a northerly blew in about midnight, and awoke being accused of trying to freeze everyone the next morning.

But we were glad to get back to the Plains... and sorry to hear of the tragedies which happened while away.

Travis Hancock handed us a clipping from the Fort Worth Press last weekend and it has a picture of an old friend of ours, and a person known to all of y'all that is now in Fort Worth.

There standing beside a mechanical monstrosity with a right pretty gal was Bonnie Wilson (we wonder if his wife was looking) as he got a new automatic washateria on the go in Cowtown.

We enjoyed the picture of Bonnie--he and his family moved to Fort Worth recently after selling his interest in the local Piggly Wiggly store to Um Akens.

Tracks will confess, with a red face, to losing something for hizzoner Mayor Raymond Fleming.

A week ago the mayor left us a copy of a letter which he had received from the Castro County Judge thanking the people of Friona for their help during the tornado which struck Sunny Side.

We had intended to run the letter in the paper this week, and put it on top of the desk in our office.

The next time the subject was brought up was at the council meeting Monday night at the time we didn't remember getting it, but our girl Friday--June Floyd she gave it to me--so reckon it suffered the desk its semi-annual clearing.

We apologize to the Mayor, but thank Castro County for the letter which goes to prove a point we are proud of--you

Frionans 'Politik' For DA

Many Frionans have found themselves within the political ring this year as several busloads of local men have traveled to other towns in this judicial district plugging for the reelection of Friona's Bill Sheehan, candidate for his first full term as District Attorney.

The action, sponsored by several civic minded citizens got underway last week when the first busload visited Littlefield.

Since that time residents have visited almost every town in the district and a visit to all scheduled prior to Saturday's election.

Jackie Hight Injured In Wreck

Jackie Hight, a senior student in Friona High School, was injured in a car-pickup wreck about four miles west of Friona on FM 1731 Saturday afternoon about 3 p. m.

David Kelley, who works for Doris Buske, was traveling west on the road and stopped at the twin lakes to see how the fishermen there were making out.

While he was stopped on the road talking, Hight approached, also traveling west and according to witnesses the visibility was impaired by dust, and rammed into the rear of the pickup.

Investigating officer Don Tabor, of the Highway Patrol, says his investigation isn't complete as yet on the accident and no charges have been filed.

The Hight auto, a 1955 Chevy, was a total loss.

Hight was taken to Parmer County Community Hospital by George W. Jones where he was treated for head injuries.

Primary Comes Early; Polls Open Saturday

Saturday is election day. The Democratic primary (the only one in Texas) could hardly be called anything new, but this year it is bound to catch some people off guard.

For this reason, candidates at all levels are concerned about getting out a vote--and even more concerned about informing the electorate in such a short space of time.

However, fears that public interest has not yet had a chance to build up steam may be allayed when it is remembered that, (1) this is a presidential election year, and (2) local school elections a couple of months back have been the tipoff that enthusiasm will be keen.

were set in this part of the state. In addition to the change in date for the election, one thing that is sure to cause confusion--and possible consternation--is the new state law requiring poll tax receipts to be stamped "Democrat."

Persons who show up at the polls Saturday to cast a vote in the Democrat primary will be required to have their receipts so identified.

The stamping won't keep anybody from voting. This is the Democratic primary. If a person does not wish to declare himself a Democrat, he can wait for the general election in November.

have, from time to time, split party line voting. "True Democrats" have felt that they provided a haven for Republicans (and possibly others) in their loose party organizational lines at local levels.

Trucks Needed At Cemetery

A caliche hauling operation will be held at the Friona Cemetery Wednesday all day announced Jack Moseley this week.

"We will need about 150 loads of caliche in order to fix the circular drive in the new addition to the cemetery," Moseley says.

All residents of this area who are interested in helping move caliche to the cemetery are asked to gather at the Schlenker pit 12 miles west, two miles north of Friona next Wednesday.

Loading equipment will be at the pit ready to work at 8 a. m. The caliche will be donated by Mrs. Floyd Schlenker, who owns the pit.

Residents are asked to contact Moseley, O. J. Beene or J. C. Claborn if they can help.

Officials Recommend Selling Disputed Land

Word from the Santa Fe offices in Amarillo was received by City Attorney Richard Collard Friday that the area officials are recommending that the railroad sell the land to the city for construction of a new sewer plant.

Co-Op Meet Set Saturday

Buddy Lloyd, manager of Friona Consumers Fuel Association, has announced the completion of plans for the annual stockholders meeting. It will be held at the school cafeteria at 3 p. m. Saturday, May 10.

Cash door prizes will be awarded. There will be an election of directors and refreshments of coffee and doughnuts will be served. All stockholders are invited by Lloyd to attend the meeting.

ommending that the railroad sell the land to the city for construction of a new sewer plant.

This word may spell the end of a six-month long period during which the city of Friona has attempted to locate property on which to construct a new sewer plant for the city.

The property which was recommended to the city by the engineers belongs now to the Santa Fe Railroad and is located east of Friona at the Benger Air Park crossing on the south side of the tracks.

This site was deemed far enough from town, and looked to be usable only for grazing as it is down in the Frio Draw, to make a good site for the plant.

The city began dickering with the Santa Fe RR back last fall immediately after the passing of a bond issue to either purchase or swap for the land. After finally getting the railroad officials to talk about the land a deal to swap the land fell through and then an offer

KILLED IN WRECK SUNDAY-- Rites Held For Raymond Patterson

Funeral services for Raymond Patterson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Patterson of the Rhea community, were conducted at the Sixth Street Church of Christ at 4 p. m. Tuesday by M. B. McKinney, minister of the church.

Patterson was killed in a car wreck Sunday morning in Texico. Bob Peace, driver of the car, which went out of control and crashed into a tree in the front yard of the R. L. Luce home, his wife, Wanda, and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Vinson of Muleshoe were occupants of the car.

All four of the other occupants are patients at Clovis Memorial Hospital. Latest reports indicate that Mrs. Peace's condition is "much improved."

She received head injuries and a possible skull fracture.

Peace received broken ribs and possible internal injuries. Vinson has a broken leg and other injuries. His wife received broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

Patterson was born May 30, 1938. He moved to the Rhea community from Cotton Center with his parents in 1953 and is a former student of the Friona school.

Survivors include his parents; three sisters, Mrs. Peggy Cruse, of Pierre, S. Dak., Gloria and Barbara of the home; and one brother, Darrell Wayne, also of the home.

Burial was in the Friona cemetery under the direction of Claborn Funeral Home.

FIRST GRADERS 1948 MODELS--These three members of the Senior Class observed Kid Day 1960 by dressing like six year olds. The girls, Lawana Houlette and Geneva Floyd, were first graders in Friona in 1948. Charles McKenzie, shown here engaged in the age old practice of pulling a little girl's pigtail, has attended the local school the past three years.

City Aims Paving, Weed, Health Programs

Hearing for additional paving highlighted the regular meeting of the city council of Friona Monday night in a four-hour long session which broke up about 11 p. m.

Two groups of citizens met with the council and were both concerned with parts of the paving program which is slated to get underway next week.

One group, composed of Baker Duggins, George Treider, Frankie Allen and Sam Green, were concerned with the paving of Friona Street.

Duggins, Allen and Green were asking for the paving while Treider didn't want to go along with the program. In as much that all the other paving projects owners concerned had signed contracts for the paving the city told the three that the paving would be put down all the way on Frio Street.

Another group, composed of Oscar Baxter, Buster Davis and Walker Freeman were urging the paving all the way through on Grand Avenue.

Four property owners on the street have not signed contracts, but the city fathers said that there would be no leave-outs and assured the men that Grand would be paved all the way.

Al O'Brien, representative of Panning Construction of Lubbock who will put down the paving, told the council they would begin work Monday morning, barring inclement weather.

"Paving will probably begin on Grand Avenue," O'Brien said.

Bids for a new pickup for the water & sewer department were authorized to be accepted by the city manager. The new pickup is needed to replace "old blue" which has been in service by the city for over 10 years.

Bids will be taken on a short wheelbase pickup. Methods of mowing the city's property during the summer was discussed at length and the council instructed Albert Field, city manager, to find out costs and specifications on mowers.

A long discussion on mosquito control for the prevention of encephalitis was held during the meeting and the council decided to ask the county and city health officer to meet with the council in a special meeting to draft an enforceable ordinance concerning the keeping of livestock within the city limits.

With summer just around the corner the council discussed spraying mosquitoes and those residents of the city keeping livestock and poultry in the city and these animals as carriers for the "sleeping sickness."

According to doctor's reports from various cities in the Panhandle area surveys have shown that about 75 per cent of the chickens carry the sleeping sickness germs.

"We are going to do all in our power to prevent an outbreak of sleeping sickness here," the council says.

This meeting will be held as soon as Dr. Paul Spring, county health officer and Dr. George Anderson, city health officer; along with the city attorney and the council can get together.

An auxiliary power plant, designed for the purpose of providing emergency power for the radio at the city hall during times of need was discussed.

The power plant on the fire department pickup was in use at the hospital and the city without communication for about an hour during the recent twister.

The council voted to purchase a portable plant to provide power for the radio set during time of emergency.

Mayor Fleming told the council of receiving a letter from Castro County expressing the gratitude of the people in the stricken area for the aid provided by residents of Friona during the tragedy at Sunny-side.

Friona provided the first light plant at the scene and two carloads of nurses and doctors were in Dimmitt within an hour after the first call for help arrived.

The Castro County Judge, writing the letter to Friona, expressed the heartfelt appreciation for the help received during their time of need.

Members of the council present at the meeting included Mayor Fleming, Aldermen Glenn Reeve Sr., Billy Nichols, Danny Bainum, Deon Awrey and Eddie Mell.

In Farmer County $3 Per Year Elsewhere $4 Per Year

Saturday Is Important

Once every four years citizens of our country are asked to pick those men who they would have represent them in our government, policy makers who mould the world in which we live.

During the years of our nation's history we have had outstanding men picked over the years to guide our country through times of trial and tribulation.

In grandpa's day these men were picked apart and every minute detail of his character was scrutinized at the closest possible distance.

This is not true in our day. Today, we use the excuse of being "too busy" to bother with such unimportant things.

Then when the honest men discover, or expose such men in our nation as Jimmy Hoffa, and to bring it a little closer the scandal up in Randall county--you can hear everyone say "aren't those folks up there stupid to vote for someone like him."

Well, too often every day and in every election such men run, and get elected to office.

Why--because only about 15 per cent of the citizens vote, so it isn't too hard for a minority to get their favored "son" elected.

This Saturday is election day.

In the days not too long ago it was a long sought day--a day when the whole family went to town and after long final discussions of the various candidates they cast their ballots.

They took an election serious.

When are we going to have a revival of this spirit?

Saturday there is a man from Friona who is a candidate for reelection for the office of district attorney.

When you go to the polls we hope you will keep his name in mind.

Bill Sheehan is a man, who has proved to us to have the highest moral character and a man of honest convictions...as a matter of fact in the past year we have heard him accused of being too honest in some of his beliefs.

This, in our opinion, is hard to beat.

This job is a position calling for a man that will put the laws ahead of his personal interests and call the shots as he believes them to be according to the statutes of our state.

Bill Sheehan has filled this office in a manner to cast the highest reflections upon himself and his district and will continue to do so.

Saturday we hope you will see fit to vote for Bill Sheehan for district attorney.

On other state levels the platforms are varied and many of you have perhaps a better insight into these races than we do, so we won't hedge about the other races, and on the local scene these men have lived among us too long for you not to have an opinion of their value one way or another.

But--we urge you each and every one to vote Saturday and if possible to include Sheehan on your ballot.

MR. MILQUETOAST RAN ACROSS AN ARTICLE STATING THAT WEARING RED ACTUALLY MAKES A MAN STRONG AND DYNAMIC

I Give You TEXAS

BY BOYCE HOUSE

Dr. Walter Prescott Webb has been described as having one of the four finest intellects in Texas. He is the immediate past president of the American Historical Association and he is the author of several scholarly books which have won wide respect. For many years he has been connected with the University of Texas where he holds the title of distinguished professor.

So much for the learned educator--and now a little about the man.

The first time we ever met was at an autographing in Dallas for his first book. As I shook hands with him, I said:

"Dr. Webb, something is going to have to be done. I am the author of a book which came out a short time ago and the title of your book is very similar to mine. People are going to get confused and buy your 'Texas Rangers' thinking that they are getting my 'Were You in Ranger?'"

(Actually his volume was 400 pages and sold for $5; mine was less than 200 pages and was priced at $1.50)

I continued: "So I suggest that you change the name of your book."

His admirers gasped--but a slow smile lit up his face.

Soon afterward, out of the corner of his mouth, he murmured, "Let's slip out of here and get a cup of coffee"--which we did and had an opportunity to get acquainted.

He read my book on the Ranger oil boom and wrote, generously, "I envy you the ability to get the interest of the reader with your first sentence."

Dr. Webb was especially interested in Ranger because he attended high school there and earned his way by janitorial work. Once when I introduced him as having graduated from Ranger High, he said, "Boyce, they didn't give diplomas then."

He placed me on the program of the Texas Historical Society to speak on the Spindletop oil boom, along with savants.

One time a friend of mine and I entered an Austin cafe and I caught sight of Senator Ralph Yarborough and Dr. Webb at the counter. I said to Yarborough, "Judge, I believe you his make-up, you are exactly would be interested in meeting right. the man who was 'the boy chief of police' in Ranger during the boom."

The learned historian drawled, "What makes you think I wouldn't like to meet him, too?"

If, from all this, you conclude that--doctor of philosophy and all--Walter Prescott Webb is a real human being, with no snobbery of condescension in

Make A Note On It

From now until November the public will be bombarded with claims and counter claims from both Democratic and Republican national parties purporting to show why either party should have credit for progressive action in guarding the nation's safety and welfare.

The truth will, no doubt, be stretched many times by both parties. There is one particular exaggeration of the facts, however, that we are anticipating in advance and are making a mental note of in order to be prepared for the ballyhoo that is sure to come. The strike "settlement" in the steel industry which occurred late last year has been in many quarters marked up as a significant achievement creditable to vice president Richard Nixon. He is described as almost single handedly managing to bring both labor and management to terms at the bargaining table. First of all, we must not be deceived into believing that the strike was ended on honorable terms. There was no "settlement" at all. In reality, the steel industry was coaxed by Mr. Nixon into capitulating to the demands of organized labor. The thirteen steel companies involved in the dispute had held fast to their principles until Mr. Nixon, undoubtedly mindful of the political opportunity of such a problem, came upon the scene.

After the smoke has cleared away, we see that the steel workers were granted an increase in wages amounting to about 40 cents per hour. Does this sound like a settlement? Hardly. What did Richard Nixon offer the steel industry to meet the union's terms.

Remember these facts this fall whenever Richard Nixon, who probably will be the Republican nominee for president, is given credit for "settling" the nation's steel strike of a few months ago.

Social Security Benefits Paid To Totally Disabled

In order to receive social security disability benefits, only those are eligible who have a permanent disability—that is a disability which is so severe that it prevents doing any substantial gainful work.

Hal Geldon, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security office emphasized, "The disability which the claimant has must be a condition which is expected to last indefinitely and one which will not likely improve with time or medical treatment."

Many people believe that the social security disability payment is a "stop-gap" income on which they can depend until they are well enough to return to work. Geldon stressed that such a provision is not a part of the social security law.

"Rather," he said, "social security benefits are intended to provide some relief from loss of income due to a permanent disability." If the disabling condition will improve with time; or with medical treatment; or if the claimant can work at a job that is less demanding than his usual work, he will not be considered to be disabled under the social security law, and should not count on receiving disability benefits.

District was created for Farmer, Lamb, and Bailey Counties. He was Parmer County attorney before that.

Jesse Osborn of Muleshoe has Bill Shelby of Hart and Clarence Hamilton of Earth running against him for state representative of this (the 96th) district.

Beyond those races, interest ebbs and flows. The public is well aware of the struggle for the attorney general's and governor's offices. Will Wilson seeks re-election as the state's top lawyer. Waggoner Carr and Robert Looney want the job too.

Price Daniel wants another term as governor, and Jack Cox is trying to keep him from getting it.

was made by the city council to buy the land for $100 per acre.

This was turned down by the railroad, and the city instructed Collard to prepare a condemnation suit for the land.

This effort culminated in the phone call Friday afternoon and it seems that the city may get the land without a court battle.

No word in writing has appeared in Friona from the railroad as this paper goes to press, but Collard says that as soon as the railroad informs the city of their intent in a letter bids can be let and construction can get underway.

The actual deed to the property may be sometime in getting through channels to Friona from the Chicago headquarters of the Santa Fe.

expected to give so much trouble as the mere fact that citizens are required to bring their receipts with them when they go to the polls.

Lee Thompson, tax assessor-collector, expects a lot of mix-ups in Parmer County on this account. He pointed out Tuesday that residents need to make a special effort to remember the little slips of paper. If they get to the polls without them, an affidavit will be required that will certify the needed information. The best thing to do is to remember.

In precincts affected, the local commissioners races are drawing the greatest interest. In Precinct 1 (Friona), Wesley Hardesty and Tom Lewellen are running against incumbent E. G. Phipps.

Johnny McDonald, commissioner of Precinct 3 (Farwell), is opposed by Guy Cox. Duane Curtis is also running, but his name isn't on the ballot.

Lee Thompson, assessor-collector; Hurshel Harding, county attorney; and Charles Lovelace, sheriff; are all going back into office without opposition. That leaves the race for district attorney as the one drawing the most interest all over the county.

Bill Sheehan of Friona, who is seeking his first full term, is being opposed by Jack Young of Muleshoe. Sheehan took the job on appointment when the 154th

TOLERANCE: "The privilege of making yourself obnoxious to your neighbors."

Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts. —(Psalm 139:23)

When we pray to God to search our hearts, we humbly place ourselves in His hands, knowing and admitting our weakness, seeking His love and guidance and strength—seeking to know and obey His law and His will. It is only through our humility and prayer that God, ever present and willing, can enter our souls.

We are told of a very small insect that is able to create a sphere of air about him that enables him to be submerged in water without the water getting to him. This protective sphere of air is a good illustration for Christians. We are promised the protection of the Lord when we pray and read His Word the Holy Spirit is able to so protect us that even in a world that would destroy all that is good we are not harmed by it's destroying power. May the Lord grant us the faith and courage to pray and seek Him that we may live in this sphere of protection which He provides. "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the Godly out of temptation." SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS--Members of the third grade classes presented the play in the auditorium Thursday afternoon. Janie Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lane, played the part of Snow White. The Old Woman was played by Tresa Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Taylor. Other members of the cast are shown in the background.

After viewing the day's rushes, the temperamental movie actress complained to the chief cameraman, "You're not photographing my best side."

A TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

Abraham Lincoln said, "All that I am, or ever can be, I owe to my mother." And that, we think, sums up what all of us think about our mothers. It isn't only on Mother's Day that we should revere the name and memory of Mother. Every minute of every day we should unstintingly show our love and endeavor to make her life easier and happier. If your mother has passed on, show that her memory still lives in your heart. Visit the cemetery frequently and lay lovely living flowers on the sacred spot where she sleeps forever. This will be a token payment of all she did for you.

Thefts, Burglaries, Robberies Cleared Up

The Parmer County sheriff's department has been busy during the past week with thefts, burglaries, and a robbery. All have been cleared up.

Charles Blagg, 19, a one-time resident of Bovina, is in custody after being picked up Thursday evening of last week in Las Cruces, where he and a 15-year-old juvenile companion were riding in a stolen car. The car belonged to Walter Hardage of Farwell.

This arrest clears up break-ins at Bovina Implement, Bovina Wheat Growers, and two Dimmitt businesses. The young men also admit stealing Bud Crump's pickup in Bovina which they abandoned for the car.

Charles Hamilton, 17, Amarillo, and Eddie Ray Langkeit, 27, Clinton, Okla., are charged with the strong-arm robbery of Watts No. 2 station on Highway 60 in Farwell Thursday night.

Hamilton, pretending to be a hitchhiker, entered the station and asked Al Taylor for some change. When the attendant opened the cash register, Hamilton slugged him from behind and grabbed the paper currency. Hard cash was left.

Langkeit, in a red 1957 Cadillac, picked the "hitchhiker" up and they drove toward Amarillo. Taylor was not knocked unconscious, and he called the neighboring Cory Penn station, which in turn relayed the story to Sheriff Charles Lovelace. Others had noticed the red car cruising suspiciously.

A pickup was put out on the police radio. When the men neared Friona they passed Ed Duke of the city police department and Carol Parker, highway patrolman, who were investigating a collision near the Elk Drive-in.

Duke, who heard the alarm on the car radio, spotted the red Cadillac as it whizzed by. Both Duke and Parker then pursued the robbers, and cornered them near the Golden Spread Restaurant in Friona. Hamilton and Langkeit, who had no firearms, surrendered without resistance when they were hemmed in.

Their early arrest is probably the result of a delay in their flight. The couple stopped on the road a moment or two to change clothes. That made their timing just right for Duke to spot them.

Bond on the men was set at $5000 by Judge Roy Thornton Friday morning. Of the loot, $62 was recovered. The men claimed to be on their way to California and "needed money." Taylor's head was cut but he was not hurt seriously.

It is the third time in recent years that the station has been robbed.

Clarence Monroe, 24, farmer near Hub, was charged with theft of gauge wheels from Gordon Massey April 19. The tools were valued at $125.

Monroe has made $500 bond and been released. He was picked up last Friday on his farm after Massey spotted the missing equipment. The theft occurred at night. Monroe awaits grand jury action.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Local Wheat Farmer Makes Own Tests

Probably the only "private agricultural testing station" on the High Plains is a 25 acre plot on the farm of W. L. "Preach" Edelman of Friona.

Edelman, who farms eight miles east of Friona, planted 12 varieties of wheat on the field for the benefit of himself and area farmers who are interested in the results.

To the surprise of Edelman and a number of Farmer County wheat farmers, striking differences are already apparent in the different varieties of the small grain. Some varieties have a stiffer stalk, and some have a shorter stalk, and a few varieties are already heading.

A school teacher from 1929 when he graduated from Texas Tech until 1938 and superintendent of Friona Schools from 1938 to 1942, Edelman also raises barley and maize. He has been successfully experimenting with Johnson grass eradication by planting infested land in barley.

The 12 wheat varieties he is experimenting with include Cheyenne, four rows, Concho, 8 rows; Crockett, 8 rows; Triumph, 16 rows; Wichita, 8 rows; Westar, 8 rows; Aztec, 8 rows; Bison, 32 rows; Kiowa, 12 rows; Tascosa, 12 rows; Knox, 12 rows; and Comanche, 16 rows.

The Farmer County farmer summer tilled the field and fertilized with anhydrous ammonia at an angle across the field, so the field would be evenly fertilized.

"During the time it was being summer tilled, weather and moisture conditions gave us almost perfect planting weather," Edelman says. He feels summer tillage helps destroy Johnson grass.

The Tascosa variety was developed by the Texas Experiment Station and released for the 1960 crop year for the first time. Aztec was developed by New Mexico.

Bison is a selection of Kiowa chosen by the Kansas Experiment Station. In Kansas, Bison has taken the place of Kiowa. Edelman explains that Bison is not a variety since it is not a man-produced species.

"Knox is grown extensively in the Mississippi Valley and Midwest and some in Texas," he says. It is a soft red winter wheat, while all other 11 are hard red winter wheat.

Concho is Oklahoma developed. Edelman says it is most susceptible to rust of all the varieties. Cheyenne is grown in Wyoming.

Wichita is the biggest seed planted, but the planting rate is not greatly changed, he says. Triumph is the most widely used variety in Texas with about 52 per cent of the present wheat acreage planted with that type.

Comanche, which Edelman has grown extensively in the past, is the variety with highest milling quality of all winter wheats, according to the Texas Experiment Station. Crockett is a Texas developed wheat. "Out of the Tascosa, Aztec and Bison, we hoped to get a shorter straw," He thinks the shorter stem will eliminate some cultivation problems.

Edelman says he has been asked most often about the purity of seed when different varieties are planted side by side. He says that since wheat is a self-pollinating plant, crossing of breeds cannot occur.

"The field was watered before the first snow on Dec. 14 and has been watered one time since. It was not pre-watered in the fall."

The Friona farmer has been tilling his present 600 acres since 1942. He first started raising wheat in high school during the 1920's.

Although he does not have signs up yet, Edelman plans to erect markers and signs showing what variety each of the different strips include, so other area farmers may see the results and differences in the various varieties.

Edelman had four varieties planted last year. They were Wichita, Crockett, Triumph and Comanche.

W. L. "PREACH" EDELMON of Friona stands in a section of the 25-acre field in which he has planted strips of 12 varieties of wheat. The strip he is standing in is planted in Tascosa, a variety developed by the Texas Experiment Station. This is the first year this variety has been available to farmers.

Offer Contracts For Texioca At Continental

Farmers who are interested in growing Texioca grain sorghum under contract now have a local contact. Continental Grain Company of Friona is offering a guaranteed price of $1.63 a hundred for the light-colored sorghum, delivered to the elevator, and under 15 per cent moisture content.

G. "Preach" Cranfill made the announcement this week that their firm will accept a "limited" number of acres for Texioca sorghum in this area.

Texioca produces a special type of starch called "waxy" starch which is especially suited for some industrial and food uses. It has been grown under a similar arrangement in the Coastal Bend area for many years, and around Plainview for about five years. An increase in production is being sought.

Dr. Nick Kramer of the Lubbock Experiment Station reports that Texioca is a medium early maturing white grain sorghum having a good resistance to lodging, comparing favorably with older varieties. The yield is usually 10 to 15 per cent greater than Martin's milo, but not usually as good as modern hybrids.

Texioca is grown only under contract so that the purchaser can be assured of getting this special type grain and so that he can be assured of minimum contamination.

Texioca-54 usually blooms one or two days earlier than Martin and is ready for harvest as soon as Martin. The heads dry as the grain matures, making it possible to harvest dry grain early. Texioca-54 usually grows a few inches taller than Martin, but it has about the same exertion of the head above the leaves and combines equally well. Although Texioca-54 is sometimes called a kafir, the heads are usually less compact than those of Martin.

The yield of grain produced by Texioca-54 varies with locations. In the Coastal Bend it usually produces less grain than Martin; at Lubbock it has produced nearly exactly the same yields as Martin; and in the Plainview area Texioca-54 is reported to out-yield Martin regularly and to more-nearly approach the yields of hybrids than it does at Lubbock. Texioca-54 has a high yield potential, and yields of 5000 and 6000 pounds per acre are common on good land with good management practices. Data for the past five years at Lubbock show Texioca-54 to lodge relatively little.

Cotton Price Outlook Not Bright Says Co-Op Leader

A price slash of about $40 per bale of cotton is ahead during the next three years for Plains cotton farmers under existing price support legislation, says Dan Davis, general manager of the Plains Cotton Cooperative Association in Lubbock.

By 1962, it appears that allotted acres for all growers will be down to the "Choice A" acreage and the price will be supported at the "Choice B" loan level, he predicted. Unless the present law is changed, the 80% of parity support of the 1959 crop will skid to 65% by 1962. In addition, a change in the quality base for computing support prices will chop some $7.50 from the price of cotton from 1961 onward.

The present price support schedule for Middling 1" cotton at Lubbock is: 1959-34¢; 1960-31¢; 1961-27¢; and 1962-25¢. These projections are in round figures based on the minimum levels authorized by the present law.

The 23 Plains counties have been producing about two million bales annually. A cut of $40 per bale will reduce the value of the Plains cotton crop by some $80,000,000. There are no indications at present that the upward trend in such production costs as labor, machinery, fuel, taxes, etc., will be reversed.

Few have realized the impact of such a calamity, either farmers or people whose business depends on buying power of the producers. There is a general feeling that the outlook for cotton is bright. For the farmers who grow it, the outlook is certainly dark, a heavy reduction in price with no increase in acres, Davis says.

THE PARMER FARMER

By W. H. Graham, Jr.

John C. White says the vague outlines of Washington farm legislation for the 1960's is beginning to appear dimly in patterns of controversy, and a better idea of what to look for next might be gained by glancing at what has happened in the past three decades.

Each of these three decades has been marked by different and distinct attitudes in Washington toward the problems of agriculture.

Going back to the 1930's, the decade of the Great Depression, there was an economic disaster that stifled the entire economy and pushed one out of every four farmers into bankruptcy.

The problem then was strictly a dearth of markets instead of excessive production, and the Washington remedy was to plow up crops, kill little pigs and put the government into the cattle-buying business.

The beginning of the 1940's saw the technological revolution in farm production coming to the front, producing what at that time appeared to be huge surpluses. But there was war and post-war recovery that took up these apparent surpluses, with high prices encouraging maximum production. Prices went up from 38 per cent of parity in the 1930's to 123 per cent of parity in the 1940's.

But in the 1950's the vast increases in production again developed serious surplus troubles. Eventually, in 1955, a Democratic congress gave the Republican secretary of agriculture the authority to flex price supports between 75 per cent and 90 per cent of parity for basic crops.

This was done on the theory that since high supports had encouraged excessive production, lower supports would cause farmers to reduce production.

The theory, however, has not been borne out by the facts, with total farm production continuing to set new record highs year after year.

Farmers who are a little bit swept off their feet by the changes that are taking place in agricultural production have no reason to feel a little bit breathless trying to keep up with what's going on.

Revolution in agriculture is not confined wholly to the farm itself. In fact, the things happening to the farmer's product after he produces it are probably a little bit more awe-inspiring than the changes taking place in producing crops themselves.

We all know how rapidly America's eating habits have been altered in just one generation and we are all well aware of what quick freezing, pre-packaging and the other fancy food preparations have done to the food market.

However, are you aware there is actually a largescale effort being made in the Chicago area to sell frozen meats through the mail? If this isn't one for the books, we don't know what is!

According to Food Mart News, the newspaper of the food industry in the Midwest, the plan isn't going to sweep the nation like wildfire but they do point out it has some far-reaching implications.

For example, Wilson and Company has announced it will start distributing some of its food products April 1 through a special food catalog of Montgomery Ward and Company! The products being offered by Wilson were previously available only to hotels, restaurants and institutions.

If you farmers think things are hard to keep up with, you can just thank your lucky stars you aren't in the food retailing or processing business. The outlook for our farms around these parts is downright stable compared with such conditions as these.

Sheep and goat producers should be interested in a new publication recently released by the Agricultural Extension Service. Its title--"Common Internal Parasites of Sheep and Goats" was written by J. A. Gray, extension animal husbandman and Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that Parmer County will accept bids at the office of the County Judge until 10:00 o'clock A. M. on the 23rd day of May, 1960 for the purchase of a new Motor Grader with the following specifications:

One Motor Grader with not less than 150 H. P. diesel engine and tandem drive. The grader is to be equipped with 14:00x24 tandems rear, and 14:00x24 front tires, 14 foot moldboard with 2 foot extension, steering booster, cab, cab heater, rain traps, windshield wipers and lights.

Successful bidder will be required to accept as a trade in a used No. 12 Caterpillar Motor Grader which may be inspected at Bovina, Texas.

Parmer County reserves the right to reject any and all bids, or to accept the bid deemed the most advantageous to Parmer County.

Farm accidents are on the increase. As the tempo of farming and ranching activities pick up speed, the chances for accidents increase, points out the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. The Council urges agriculturists to take that extra few minutes and play it safe. There's no profit in any kind of accident especially one which disables and causes losses in time and equipment.

Feed Market Program Expansion Studied

Grain leaders from throughout the nation were in Amarillo last week to confer with directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association regarding the grain sorghum market development program which the Association is administering in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Officials representing interests of hybrid corn seed, hybrid grain sorghum seed, grain export and both independent and cooperative grain dealers were present, as well as government officials from Washington, D. C. Nelson Urban of Des Moines, Iowa, chairman of the Hybrid Corn Division of the American Seed Trade Association, reported that his group had followed the foreign market development activities of the grain sorghum association and are impressed with the work being done toward building new markets for U. S. Feed grains.

John McCracken of the Foreign Agricultural Service, Washington, D. C., who has travelled both in Europe and South America studying the feed grain export situation, reported that U. S. exports of grains have increased from 7 million tons to 12 million tons since 1958.

He indicated that this increase was due to several factors such as near-record drought in Europe and policies encouraging freer trade by our Department of Agriculture, but pointed out that these situations could not have been taken advantage of to this full an extent without the promotional activities such as those which are being conducted by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Walter Goeppinger of Boone, Iowa, President of the National Corn Growers Association, who was a member of a feed grain study team in South America along with Texas grain sorghum officials, reported of the vast shortage of adequate supplies of grains in the Latin American areas and the prohibitive foreign government tariff and trade practices which prevent the admission of U. S. feed grains. He pointed out the need for all segments of the feed grain production and marketing interests to attempt to correct this situation through unified efforts.

The Des Moines, Iowa Farmers Grain Dealers Association head, Fred Maywald, reported similar trade barriers and the need for unified U. S. action, both of which he observed recently as a member of an European trade development team. It was the opinion of a former Minneapolis, Minnesota grain merchandiser and now a consultant to the United States Department of Agriculture, Dr.

Julius Hendel, that the grain trade stands ready to assist with the obligations and to enjoy the opportunities of an accelerated U. S. feed grain promotion program.

These leaders, along with R. G. Peeler, director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association of Hereford, Texas, are members of a U. S. Feed Grains Council Planning Committee who have, since a February meeting in Washington, been studying methods of coordinating market development activities by the various interested groups. The committee plans to meet again within the next 60 days to give further consideration to formation of such a council.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Conservation of our irrigation is more important now than ever before. Landowners are realizing that every effort must be put forth to reduce the amount of waste of our irrigation water.

Loss of tail water is not the only way that water can be wasted. Many farmers have rows that are too long. In order to get the water out the lower end of the rows, it has to stay on the upper end longer than necessary. The result is that the upper end is wet deeper than the roots will go.

All water that goes deeper than the root zone is wasted water.

Most fields have a good crop at the upper and lower ends, with a poor crop in the middle. The poor crop in the middle is probably due to lack of moisture. More than likely, had the water been used properly, there would be a uniform crop throughout the field.

In other words, enough water is being wasted at the upper and lower ends to properly irrigate the middle. This is not true in all cases; however, it quite often happens.

There are many types of systems that can be used to conserve our underground water. Some methods are proper length of rows and level rows, to prevent loss of rain and get an even distribution of irrigation water; water when needed and apply only the amount of water needed.

There may be some changes that you can make to improve your irrigation system. It's for your own benefit to save water. Conservation does not cost--it pays.

Land Values Still Rising

The decade of the 1950's saw a boom in Texas farm land prices which prompted frequent and free predictions from many an old-timer that a bust could not be far behind.

There was nothing approaching a bust, of course, even in the drouth-ridden middle '50's. And as the new decade of the 1960's gets under way there are no real signs to indicate that the boom actually has even reached its peak.

Farmers may and probably will continue to complain of lower farm prices and increasing costs--which is well justified by current facts and figures. Some farm families probably will continue to forsake the land and its discouragements, although the number driven away from the farms to the cities is not nearly as high as during the drouth years.

But the value of the land itself appears to be holding a remarkably steady upward trend, and this is observed in nearly all areas of Texas. Prevailing prices of farm and ranch land generally is higher than can actually be justified by its value for crop or livestock production.

The factors combining to produce this situation also have developed another over-all condition which is often observed and pointed out in many sections of Texas. The condition is this: More and more land over the state is becoming tightly held and to all practical purposes taken off the market altogether, automatically cutting down the quantity of biddable land available to influence any market fluctuation.

The top strengthening factor in price determination of farm and ranch land, not only in Texas but in most other agricultural states, is the vast increase in population to be considered against the fixed amount of land available. In Texas, this more or less simple situation of supply and demand is intensified because of the more than normal growth in population.

The boom-and-bust predictions of the old-timers are not likely to get more verification in the 1960's than in the 1950's.

During the past two decades, the trend of farm folk flocking to the midsized and big cities in Texas also has had a reverse reaction--a notable rise in week-end farming and ranching. Money from Texas industry and commerce in the cities has found its way back to the land in an ever-increasing volume--no accurate measurement has yet been taken of just how large the volume might be, but the effect on farm land values is bound to have been considerable.

recommended books for children of different ages.

A dictionary or other reference books are recommended. Local librarians can advise on these, too. After these basic books, a child's home library should be custom-built--chosen according to the growing interests of youth as well as the special interests of each child as an individual. Living with books allows the child to have a close, personal feeling about his reading. Even the smallest home library, if well chosen, can build lifelong friendships with books.

GREEN SALADS ADD SPRING-TIME SPARKLE AND NUTRITION.

Serve crisp, green salads with your springtime meals, suggests Maeona Cox, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College System.

You will add sparkle and zest and some important vitamins to the menu. Choose many greens, not just one. In that way, you get different shades of green, different shapes and sizes, and variety of flavors.

Try lettuce--leaf or head--romaine, endive, chicory, escarole and watercress. If you don't know these salad greens, get acquainted with them. Try some of the other leaves that add dark green color and flavor--tender spinach leaves, kale, beet leaves, turnip tops. These are rich in vitamins and tangy in flavor.

Select greens that are young, crisp and tender. The darker the green the greater the iron and vitamin A and C content. Wash greens under running water in a sieve or colander. If they need crisping, let them stand 10 minutes to a half hour in ice water. Drain and shake to remove excess moisture. Dry lightly between towels. Store in the refrigerator in a damp cloth or waxed paper or in the hydrator.

To prepare salad, tear leaves into bite-size pieces. Drizzle French dressing over them and toss together lightly until each leaf is coated. Tomato wedges, onion rings, radish slices, green pepper or carrot slivers--all these add interest in color and flavor to green salads.

Birds have an appeal to most everyone because of their natural beauty, sprightly actions and pleasing songs. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, says much can be done to attract song birds to the home surroundings. Providing food, water and protection and favorable nesting facilities will attract to the areas of the yard.

AFTER INCOME TAX RETURNS.

Now that the tax returns are in, most of us have a better picture of last year's family living expenses. Extension home management specialists say it's an ideal time to analyze the overall financial situation, and perhaps make some changes in the personal or family spending or savings plan.

Speaking of savings and investment--were you able to hold your own or make progress in that respect? And, did fixed expenses for items such as food, clothing and living costs leave you with a safe margin for operating and meeting possible emergencies?

If you are not happy about the way your money is going, check your records to see what's happening. Try listing the expenses that are fixed for every month in the year--the insurance premiums, your housing mortgage or rent, debts or installment payments and property taxes.

Analyze your records with the family, so you can plan what to do with what is left after the fixed expenses. Get the members to agree on one or two areas of living that can be managed on less money. It could be that a saving can be made by watching the use of utilities or the family car.

Perhaps it means using less credit, planning more family fun at home, to cut recreation costs, or dropping certain magazines and taking others.

Whatever the decision, make a workable plan to carry it out, and take stock occasionally to see how the plan is working.

"Money-Family Style," an extension bulletin, gives some ideas for making a money management plan. You can get copies from your county home demonstration agent's office. BOOK GIFTS FOR CHILDREN.

Next time you are shopping for a child's gift, why not choose a book? Children need good books just as they need toys and games during each period of growing up, according to Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life specialist of the A&M College System. The influence of a good book often lasts long after the toys are discarded and forgotten.

To please the child you have in mind, consider his or her age, interests and abilities. Nursery rhymes in a book with large clear print, and clear color in illustrations often serve as a "first" in a child's book collection. Later he will be ready for collections of famous stories--fairy tales, legends, myths, nature or animal stories. The librarian at the nearest school or public library will be glad to suggest

Read The Label And Follow The Rules

One way to safeguard against excessive fungicide and nematode residues on harvested crops and protect those who handle the materials is to follow the recommendations of the manufacturer.

Harlan E. Smith, extension

No other resource so directly affects the welfare, comfort and happiness of so many people as does water. Water conservation is featured on a commemorative stamp which was issued in Washington, D. C. on April 18 for the first time.

plant pathologist, says the labeling of all fungicides and nematocides shipped interstate must be registered with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

All applications for registration or labeling are thoroughly examined to remove or modify any directions for use on particular crops which do not seem to meet the requirements of the law. Among other things, the USDA determines whether any treatment is likely to leave excessive chemical residues on the harvested raw agricultural commodities.

Smith suggests that the following rules be closely followed. Use a plant disease or nematode control chemical only on the crops for which it is recommended and in the amounts specified on the label. Applications of the pesticide should also be made in accordance with the label directions.

If a crop is not named on the label of a particular fungicide or nematocide, it may mean that no residue of that pesticide is permitted on that crop; and hence the treated crop could not be shipped if it contains a residue of that chemical.

Growers who follow the recommended time and rate of application can be assured the pesticide will not contaminate the edible part of fruit or vegetable, or will have been removed or decreased enough by weather, decomposition, or other process so that the residue will not be excessive at harvest time.

If custom applicators, including those using airplanes, are employed, be sure they too follow the rules or directions listed by the manufacturer of the pesticide used, emphasizes Smith.

Judge Owens is a Democrat. He, his wife and Children are Baptist.

JESSE OWENS
The Peoples Candidate.

Judges are elected by your vote so that the people may control the development of the law.

Some politicians and a few lawyers are proposing that judges ought to be appointed. I am opposed to such a proposition.

The people know as well as lawyers if a candidate is qualified to be a judge.

My finance is too limited to do a lot of advertising in this campaign. However advertising does not add to a candidate's qualification.

I often wonder where so much money comes from in expensive campaigns for public office.

When I am elected I will be obligated only to the people as a whole.

Be sure to vote! That sentence is being echoed and re-echoed all over town. None of us fully realizes the importance of intelligent voting. Too many of us are too indifferent toward governmental affairs. We fail to pay any attention to what is going on in state or national level until something displeases us then "yell" our heads off about it.

Nothing is more futile than such action and yet we continue to follow the same pattern year after year. Perhaps some good could be accomplished if we'd begin with ten year old children and teach them the importance of being well informed voters. It is too late now to begin to try to learn what the score is in Saturday's election, but it isn't too early to start finding out what to do before the next election.

In driving down to the Hub City of the Plains Saturday, we were greatly impressed with signs alongside the highway as we drove through Littlefield. Apparently that city has a wide awake Chamber of Commerce or other civic organization.

The first sign that attracted our attention read "Are you sure it isn't in Littlefield?" A few miles farther down the street another one came into view with the words "If it isn't in Littlefield, it just isn't."

Of course, the rapid growth of the City of Lubbock never ceases to amaze those of us who have been going there twenty years or longer. Think the Chamber of Commerce there says Lubbock has doubled its population in the past 20 years and expects to double it again in the next ten.

Whether that prediction comes true or not, it is going to be interesting just watching the progress of the town in the next few years.

Many times in recent years all of us have heard the expression that in order to be able to interpret various papers it would be necessary for one to be a "Philadelphia lawyer." The term is used over and over and perhaps no one stops to wonder where it originated.

This term takes on special significance when it is remembered that it has a close connection with one of the most important cases in American legal history—the seditious libel trial of John Peter Zenger in 1735.

Zenger, the printer and publisher of a paper known as the New York Weekly Journal, made the unhappy mistake of criticizing the administration of Royal Governor Cosby of New York in his publication.

Governor Cosby had Zenger jailed and thus began a dramatic and important event in American history. Zenger had editorialized that the Governor had deeds to lands destroyed, judges arbitrarily displaced, new courts established without the consent of the legislature and had denied the right to vote to certain landowners. All of these accusations were based on fact but truth was held to be no defense in a prosecution for seditious libel, which was defined as "a written censure upon public men for their conduct as such."

Inconceivable as it is today, the English courts had taken the position that the greater the truth the more serious the nature of the libel.

Publisher Zenger was brought to trial for his published remarks and almost immediately his New York counsel were disbarred because of the resistance they offered in his defense.

After disbarment they secured the services of Andrew Hamilton of the Philadelphia bar to continue the defense. Hamilton was the foremost lawyer in the American Colonies and the term "Philadelphia lawyer" was long used as a special compliment in his individual honor.

Hamilton offered his services to Zenger without fee. Displaying great moral courage he defied the judges who were controlled by the governor and told the jury that it was not considering the cause of just a poor printer. Instead, it was considering the cause of "the liberty both of exposing and opposing arbitrary power by speaking and writing truth."

At the conclusion of the trial the chief justice instructed the jury that the printed words of Zenger were libelous and that if the jury found he had published them, as he had, then Zenger should be found guilty. Under such circumstances it was obvious that Zenger would be convicted.

Fortunately, the jury, which was not controlled by the governor, defied the court. Zenger was found not guilty. America had a free press and as Governor Morris, one of the members of the Constitutional Convention was later to remark, "The trial of Zenger in 1735 was the germ of American freedom, the morning star of that liberty which subsequently revolutionized America."

Many persons today feel the need of a "Philadelphia lawyer" to interpret various papers for them. Maybe it will be interesting for them to know that had it not been for a "Philadelphia lawyer" Americans might not now enjoy the freedom of the press.

Ed Boggess, Rene Snead, Eugene Boggess, Nelson Welch and J. M. Watson of Friona and Clyde Watson of Belton spent several days this week fishing in northeastern New Mexico.

Lions Club Broom Sale Grosses $1200

Members of the Friona Lions Club attempted a "clean sweep" of Friona Friday, but due to shortage of merchandise had to settle with total sales of $1228.40 for their efforts.

This money, used for two needy organizations, the Lighthouse for the Blind in Fort Worth, who supplies the merchandise, and the Friona Lions' share which will be used toward construction of the Little League baseball field.

Members of the Lions got underway at about 3:30 Friday morning with 28 members meeting at the city park.

The city was divided into sections and teams worked the city as well as the Black and Hub communities.

Again this year, many push brooms were sold without the handles, but the handles are in Friona and may be picked up at the Friona Star office.

The Lions Club wishes to express their appreciation for the support of the community during our broom sale, said Boss Lion George W. Jones.

MENS CLUB MEETS

Rhea Lutheran Men's Club met Thursday night for their business meeting and topic discussion.

Walter Schueler, president, presided at the business meeting.

Raymond Schueler led the group in the topic discussion.

Refreshments were served by Ray Martensen to Floyd Schueler, Melvin Sachs, Raymond Schueler, Walter Schueler, Eldon Garber, Robert Schueler, Herbert Schueler, Florian Jarecki and Pastor Stroebel.

Several community children were among the future first graders attending school Friday.

Those attending were, Carlene Schlenker, Danny Garber, Dianne Schueler, Vickie Schueler, Rhonda Bauer and Bryan Hall.

Regular first graders having a holiday were Kathy and Dale Schueler, Debbie Mears, Sammy Drager, Darrel Schueler, Roger Martensen, Sylvia Dyke and Dwayne Bauer.

Melvin Sachs attended a meeting held in Austin the past week.

Clad Mears and Jack Patterson spent several days the past week at Conchas Lake fishing.

Congressional spenders are pushing a crash program to speed action on their pet legislation.

The reason is that the civil rights debate delayed some of their spending proposals, and everyone is hoping Congress will adjourn in time for the July 11 meeting of the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

Thus, time remaining for action is much less than it was last year when Congress did not adjourn until Sept. 15.

Conservatives are fearful that, in such a situation, ill-advised legislation might be approved without adequate consideration.

Pointing up the battle between spenders and economy forces is the measure to provide a $1 billion "emergency" fund to aid the housing industry. Nine members of the House Banking Committee opposed the bill as fiscally irresponsible and because "there simply is no emergency".

President Eisenhower is expected to veto the bill if Congress approves it.

The Bible Teaches ...

that life continues. Death of human beings is a separation of the body and the eternal spirit. Man's history is a brief existence here, then death. Since death is only a change of location for man's spirit, it behooves us to look beyond life as we know it here.

Actually, then, our serious preparation is for that which lies beyond what we see of life. Some desire to depart this life in order to avoid the problems encountered, but they are not ready to die until they have prepared to live here. When one is weary of life he is not yet prepared to change worlds.
