"Two Girls On Broadway" Here Mon.

Something new in the way of Hollywood musicals will be sent Monday July 22 night when "Two Girls on Broadway" opens at the Princess Theatre for an engagement of 2 days.

Tops in entertainment and fast-moving action, the film introduces a new dance team to audiences in the persons of Lana Turner and George Murphy. This is a happy teaming. Their romantic scenes are delightful and their numbers sensational.

If we ever become a Mexican politician we're not only gonna vote an absentee we're gonna run on an absentee ticket.

However, if we ever run for anything in Mexico, it'll be the Rio Grande.

This is the reason Mexico politicians just make stump speeches. If they get around a full grown tree to speak somebody hangs em on it.

That old simile "sweatin' like a nigger at election" is bein' revised. Now it's beedin' like a Mexican at election.

In the U. S. the politicians pass out the cigars and in Mexico they just pass out.

We don't blame native Mexico with these things but the foreign element of Nazi and Facists down there tryin' to stampe democracy.

As to Texas politics Ernest Thompson can't be worried about the present war situation on account of bein' still worried about the other war—and whether W. Lee was in it or not.

(ADVICE TO W. LEE) "Just keep ignorin' Ernest like old peoples' pensions and you'll beat the heck out of him. Politics ain't like regular fightin' the more you attack the more apt you are to get whipped.

Yes, just keep yourself above pretty bickerings, W. Lee and you can beat him with loaded cigars.

In this country our new president may be the one with the strongest voice. They say Wendell Willkie can make an Arkansas hog caller sound like an Englishman in Berlin.

However, he'll have to talk pretty stout to drown out his connections with utilities and big business. The majority of the voting public want their candidate to have had as much heck makin' a livin' as they have. In other words, they want their Candidate to be an awful little business man but big enough to handle an awful big business.

We know Stalin is still Stalin but we don't know who he's Stalin' for—Adolf and Benito or the British.

Weather forecast for July. (Europe). Sky overcast and dark with warplanes followed by torrential downpour of bombs, etc. Rivers swollen with human gore, ect.

(America) Rocked from coast to coast by terrific political winds. Scorching hot air currents, noticeably in the vicinity of Austin. Dense fogs enveloping various portions of the U. S. particular candidate's platform.

RANCH DAY MEETING SET FOR OCTOBER 14

October 14 has been selected as the date for the annual State College-Forest Service Ranch Day on the Jornada and College experimental cattle ranches. Prof. J. H. Knox of the committee in charge of arrangements has announced.

The October date was picked following the decision of the members of the executive board of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association to hold their next open quarterly meeting at Las Cruces, adjacent to the College, on October 15, with a closed committee meeting scheduled for the evening of October 14. Prof. Knox said with the two meetings set for successive days it is expected that the attendance at both will be increased.

An innovation for this year's Ranch Day Program, designed especially for women visitors who do not care to spend the day on the ranch, is being planned by Mrs. Helen D. Crandall, State Home Agent, and other members of the home economics section of the College Extension Service. With the women's program on the campus in addition to the regular ranch program a special invitation is being extended to stockmen's wives and daughters to come and take part in whichever program they prefer.

As is customary in alternate years, this year's program calls for the visiting ranchmen and others interested in experimental ranch work to spend most of the day on the College ranch. Last year, the major portion of the program was conducted on the Forest Service Jornada range.

Although details of the day's program are not yet all arranged, members of the arrangements committee representing the three agencies sponsoring the meeting are Prof. Knox of the College Experiment Station, Fred N. Ares of the Forest Service, and George F. Ellis, livestock specialist with the College Extension Service.

Running Mate

Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Wendell L. Willkie's running mate on the Republican ticket. The candidate for the vice presidency has been a senate leader for a number of years and a strong advocate of farm relief. He is said to have been Willkie's own choice for second place and is expected to be a strong running mate.

WHAT IS MALT?..

and how is it used in making beer and ale?

BARLEY

Answer: Brewers' malt is barley that has had its starches modified. The barley is first permitted to "sprout" by the addition of moisture. At the right instant, the growth is checked by heat and the sprouts are removed.

What remains is malt... the essential base of all good beer and ale.

Every step in the brewing of good beer and ale has been taught by centuries of experience. Today, amazingly expert brewers—using only the purest ingredients—make beer and ale the mild, tasty, wholesome beverages that they are.

Now the brewing industry is taking action to keep the retailing of beer as wholesome as at the source. A plan to eliminate abuses is being extended. Ask us for our interesting free booklet.

The conservation activities of the AAA are closely with the maturing acres to this and in any other part of the farm-land combine. The soil conservation program is the most far-reaching on farming modes and Next First Lady?

mainder is called as "neutral" or "soil conserving acreage."

The average allotment leaves about one-fourth of the acreage as "soil conserving." On it must be carried on some practice that does not weaken the soil—such as the planting of green manure crops, terracing, contouring, planting of legumes, et cetera.

Thus, the farmer has before him a rough sketch of what to do with his farm. He doesn't have to follow it all the way through. He must only see to it that no more cotton is planted than the allotment allows, no more wheat, and no more of any other commercial crop. If he is allotted 50 acres for cotton, he may plant any amount less, but no more.

On each farm a several year's history has been kept, showing the average production of various crops both in pounds or bushels and acres. It is on the basis of past acreages that the allotments are allowed. It is on the basis of past production in pounds and bushels that payments are made.

For example, John Smith has a farm embracing 200 tilled acres. He is allotted 50 acres for cotton, 20 acres for wheat, 80 acres for general soil depleting crops, and 50 acres for soil conserving activities, these being figured on the basis of past plantings and production.

John Smith has had in the past an average yield of 200 pounds of cotton per acre, and 15 bushels of wheat.

Thus it is likely that he will produce 10,000 pounds of cotton and 300 bushels of wheat.

Provided Smith plants no more than 50 acres of cotton, 20 acres of wheat, and 80 acres of other commercial crops, and carries on soil building practices on the 50 acres remaining, he will get these payments.

On his average prospective yield of cotton, he will get 1.8 cents per pound (this exact figure applicable on 1939 program). Thus, his 10,000-pound yield would draw a dividend of $180.

On his average prospective yield of wheat, within the allotment, he will get 17 cents per bushel prospective yield would

Opera Star Gives Slumber Hints

Summertime sleeping presents the problem of keeping cool and yet adequately covered. Jean Dickenson, lovely soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, has discovered that using two sheets for covering is the most satisfactory solution. Thus three sheets are the only elements in your bed-making. Two top sheets are light and cool, but furnish enough protection for the sleeper against the drafts and chills which often lead to summer colds. Miss Dickenson chooses the second covering sheet in color—mist-green or marbled-pink—giving the effect of covers, protecting the white sheets, and adding an attractive color-note to her room. The first covering sheet is one of the revolutionary new ones with beauty-hems woven right into the body of the sheet in a border of handsome damask-like stripes instead of the usual folded and stitched hems which only make for extra weight.

And for keeping cool and collected during the daytime chore of making the beds, Miss Dickenson suggests bedlinens equipped with permanent projecting size-index tabs which, even when the sheets are folded on the shelf, enable you to find exactly the size you need without your having to unfold them first. Double tape selvages are another desirable feature for they provide reinforcement where the sheet is exposed to the greatest strain.

many representatives as they desire. Each young lady will make her appearance by number and the honor will be awarded by three unbiased and well qualified judges who will place the "Stetson Crown" upon her head and she shall rule over the gay festivities of the World's Largest Goat Show and Sale, for four big days.

This pageant of the old West will be staged in the Rodeo Arena as the free feature attraction of the show.

SCHOOLS WILL GET MORE FUNDS

Terrell County will receive $356,000 more from the state this year to operate its schools than it did last year, State Supt. L. A. Woods estimated in Austin. This is based on the assumption that the county will have the same number of students next year as it had last year.

Supt. Woods said the action of the state board in raising the per capita from $22 to $22.50 was another step toward bettering the educational facilities of Texas.

He pointed out that increased state assistance to schools, plus more efficient management and improved teaching methods have been largely responsible for Texas being raised to 18th educational rank in the union from the low mark of 36th which it held in 1932.

It is not expected that the additional per capita appropriation will increase state expenditures as a whole, Woods pointed out, since the scholastic population has decreased in some localities.

Eagles often build nests six feet across. Many this size have been found by Texas Game Wardens and biologists.

bring in $51 in government payment. Total income from this source $231.

Immediately you want to say: "Isn't that equivalent to paying him $4 per acre on the 50 acres he took out of commercial production?"

No. These payments are based on historical yields as shown by past records. The good farmer is given encouragement; the bad farmer is penalized. What would have happened to John Smith if his average yield of cotton in past years had been only 125 pounds to the acre? His payment would be only $112.50 instead of $180.

Mechanically, then, the payment is a subsidy for producing cotton, rather than a compensation for not producing cotton.

Soil conserving activities on this land, to qualify for the above mentioned payments, may consist simply of planting the land to some green manure crop, turning to lie fallow. Or it may be planted to certain other crops, such as cane or sudan grass, which may not be sold commercially.

In addition to this, the farmer may carry on various soil conserving practices of a more definite nature on his farm to earn additional payments, up to 50 cents per acre maximum. These practices include building terraces contour riding, contour plowing, digging tanks, et cetera. In following this detail, Taylor country farmers have dug 500 or 600 tanks in the last three years, for example.

In studying this much of the methods Uncle Sam uses in farming, one should have noted this much:

1. That these payments are not made as charity—but rather as subsidies. The bigger the farm, the bigger the payment.

2. That payments do not serve alone to discourage production; they act only to limit acreage, but encourage maximum production on allotted acreage.

3. That the farmer does something to earn the payments, the payments, and benefits in ratio—although this method of disbursing the money may merely be a means to an end.

4. That the farmer's participation in the program is voluntary, thus far at least. He could refuse to follow the program, plant his farm as he pleased, market what he pleased, and still receive no penalties from the government.

Man, Not Machine, Chief Cause of Traffic Deaths

In the majority of automobile accidents throughout the country during the past year the driver and not the car was at fault, according to research experts of The Travelers Insurance Company.

They estimated that 93 per cent of all automobiles involved in fatal crashes in 1939 and 95.5 per cent of those in non-fatal accidents were in good mechanical condition.

Of 37,000 cars dealing out death, only 670 were found to have defective brakes and 510 had faulty lights. A puncture or blowout was reported as the primary cause of accident in but 440 cases.

While it stressed man-failure rather than machine-failure as the chief cause of accidents, the report was careful not to minimize the importance of keeping vehicles in good condition.

"It is known that many accidents attributed to some failure on the part of the driver would be averted if the car were in perfect or near-perfect condition," the report stated. "As an example, an investigating officer writes in his report as the cause of an accident: 'Operator drove off the roadway.' The driver may have been inattentive; however, is it not possible that with perfect brakes, perfect steering mechanism, and good tires he could still have pulled himself out of the hole into which his inattentiveness placed him?"

In other words, the report concludes, mechanical failure is often cited as a contributing cause but not the principal cause of accidents.

"Til We Meet Again" Makes Local Debut Wed. at Princess

"Til We Meet Again", co-starring Merle Oberon and George Brent, makes its local debut Wednesday-Thursday, July 24-25 at the Princess Theatre. Featured in the stellar cast are Pat O'Brien, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Binnie Barnes and Frank McHugh.

The poignant and tender love story begins in Hong Kong. At the Bar of All Nations Dan and Joan, (the roles played by Brent and Miss Oberon), meet over a cocktail. It is a hail and farewell meeting, for she is sailing back to San Francisco immediately. They part, and Dan runs straight into the waiting hands of Steve Burke (Pat O'Brien), a detective who has trailed him all over the world since Dan, sentenced to death for murder, had escaped on his way to San Quentin. So Dan and Joan meet again on the boat, but she does not know he's a prisoner, for Burke allows him the freedom of the ship. He on his part, doesn't know that she has a heart ailment which may cut her life at any moment. Both know, however, that every moment they have together is breathlessly important. The romantic, intriguing and tragic implications of this situation are fully realized in the brilliant production, under direction of Edmund Goulding.

Others in the cast besides those already named, include Eric Blore, Henry O'Neill, George Reeves, Frank Wilcox, Doris Lloyd, Marjorie Gatenon and Regis Toomey. Warren Duff wrote the screen play based on an original story by Robert Lord.

Eight Thousand At Short Course

Eight thousand farm people took in the annual Farmers' Short Course at Texas A. and M. College last week.

The number was made up of three thousand 4-H boys and girls who registered for the junior section during the first two days of the week and of that many farm men and farm women who registered for the adult section. In addition, it is estimated that 2,000 people from surrounding counties attended without registering for rooms.

Frozen food lockers, land use planning and conservation headlined the program with speakers divided about equally between men and women of national importance and farm people.

Special groups who made the short course the occasion for meetings included the Texas Home Demonstration Association, Texas Agricultural Writers, Texas Agricultural Workers, Master Farmers of Texas and Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association.

County agricultural and home demonstration agents gathered for their annual conference, as did workers of the Agricultural Experiment Station. Several hundred members of land use planning committees and some 500 AAA county committeemen also attended. The Texas County Agricultural Agents held a business session.

Snake Brought Angler Fish

A sportsman whose veracity is above reproach, but who is publicity shy, recently related an odd experience to the Game Department. While fishing in the Colorado River he saw a water snake swimming toward a sandbar upon which the angler was standing. The snake had a twelve-inch catfish in its mouth. Upon reaching the sandbar, the snake when only three feet away from the fisherman, apparently because alarmed, dropped the fish at the sportsman's feet and darted back into the water. The angler dropped the catfish into his creel.

Only persons using artificial lures are required to have a license. However, the Game Department is now taking a census which probably will determine the approximate number of anglers in the Lone Star State.

In addition to that information, the Department hopes to determine the kind of fish favored by Texans. At this time the order named, are well out in front.
