R. D. HOLT

DUANE E. SMITH

RE-ELECTED

At a recent meeting of the School Board members re-elected Superintendent R. D. Holt and Coach Duane Smith to the positions they have held for the past several years. Mr. Holt was re-named superintendent and Mr. Smith principal and head football coach. Sanderson schools have enjoyed much progress under the capable management of these educators.

SANDERSONITES MAKE HONOR ROLL AT SUL ROSS

Alpine—Three Sanderson students were named on the honor roll of 70 students with outstanding scholastic records for the past semester.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goldwire, and Miss Margaret Gregory were listed in the upper ten percent level of the honor roll. Mr. Goldwire will receive his degree at Sul Ross in June. Mrs. Goldwire is a junior student and Miss Gregory a sophomore.

Mrs. Max Harrell underwent an operation in an El Paso hospital Wednesday according to reports here, and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Daniels, is there with her.

S. R. Ord had the misfortune of breaking his ankle and is in a hospital in Houston. Mrs. Ord remained there with him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Condon of Oswego, Kansas, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lea last week. Mrs. Condon is a sister of Mr. Lea. She formerly lived at Dryden and this is her first visit here in 18 years.

The people do not extend their hospitality merely as a commercial venture but as a custom arising from the need to establish friendships that will be helpful in times of need. Honesty and sincerity is the basis of this custom, and of all West Texas culture.

Knowing this, the appropriations committee has a new understanding and appreciation of West Texas. It is not only possible but highly probable that most of the projects sought will be approved. That is not a promise but a careful estimate based on the general comment of all the members: "They sure made us feel like one of the family".

The Ranch Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, February 19, at the home of Mrs. John W. Byrd. The educational talk was made by Mrs. Ben Arvin on National Defense. Each member gave a report on their goals to be accomplished this year.

Mrs. Malone Mitchell, Mrs. Sid Harkins, and Mrs. Ben Arvin were appointed by the president to serve on a committee to draw up a set of standing rules for the club.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Malone Mitchell, Mrs. Sam Culbertson, Mrs. Joe F. Brown, Mrs. Ira Deaton, Mrs. Ben Arvin, Mrs. Albert Appel Jr., Mrs. Sid Harkins, Mrs. Herman Couch, Mrs. J. M. Corder, Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, Mrs. H. C. Goldwire, Mrs. R. E. Corder, and the hostess, Mrs. John W. Byrd.

The Ranch Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, March 5th, at the home of Mrs. C. C. Mitchell at which time Mrs. Ben Arvin gave a report on the public library meeting held Wednesday of last week.

Dental Health Program in Sanderson Schools

Dr. E. A. Robertson spent all day Wednesday of this week in Sanderson giving the school children their dental examination. These services are given without charge and the objective is to find the defects early before correction is impossible. Those helping Dr. Robertson were Mrs. J. Newton, Mrs. Tony Gutierrez and Miss Edna Peterman, local Red Cross nurse.

Dental health is not a one day affair in Terrell County but is carried on throughout the year. For 9-months it is included in the school program in some of their class work. During the vacations it should be carried on in the homes by parents.

"We are prone when a child to be most neglectful relative to dental hygiene but those are the most important years" states Miss Peterman. "A well balanced diet during the prenatal period and childhood, regular dental care and good oral hygiene are necessary in building good strong teeth."

Masterpieces for Children Will Not Die Says Producer

No matter what may happen to the nationalities and countries of the world as we have known them, Clare Tree Major, founder-director of the Children's Theatre of New York, has the conviction that no force on earth can destroy such immortal children's literary masterpieces as Johanna Spyri's story "Heidi", the principal scenes of which are laid in the Swiss Alps. From her home at Chappaqua, N. Y., the Children's Theatre founder, who is to bring her dramatization of "Heidi" to the Sul Ross auditorium, March 13, 3 p. m., under the sponsorship of Davis Mt. Federation of Women's clubs, said:

"The dictators may burn all the world's great books, but they cannot destroy the world's classic childhood legends and stories with fire, any more than they can destroy the Bible. These works are immortal. Such stories as 'Heidi', 'Beauty and the Beast', 'The Secret Garden', 'Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates', 'Alice in Wonderland', and 'Robin Hood' will never die even if every printed copy in existence, including the original manuscript, were fed to the flames." Continuing, Mrs. Major said: "As in the case of ancient rounds and folk-songs, classics of literature will be passed by word of mouth from person to person, from generation to generation. My contribution towards keeping this literature always alive, will be to continue to produce theatre adaptations of such stories as 'Heidi', which I am bringing to Alpine, March 13."

"In 'Heidi', the children in the audience are transported from a modest mountain cabin in the Alps to a great mansion in the city of Frankfurt. In the mountain scenes, the young audience observes the habits and living conditions of a poor, lonely old man whose most valuable possessions are his goats. Then the scene changes from the rough cabin in the Alps to the big house in Frankfurt, with its luxurious appointments, butler-governess, tutor and a retinue of servants. The transition is no less startling to Heidi in the play than it is to the youngsters out front who are witnessing her adventures."

Mrs. D. M. Bennett, chairman of the Alpine D. M. F. committee which is sponsoring Mrs. Major's production of "Heidi" said "It is evident to all parents and educators that Mrs. Major looks upon the stage as something more than just a medium for make believe. Without in any way detracting from their amusement value, she injects into her plays moral and educational object lessons which strike home to the consciousness of even the most backward pupil. She is augmenting the lessons taught in the classroom by dramatizing them to capture youthful imagination."

J. W. Downum spent Thursday and Friday in San Antonio.

tions for a period of five years. After that time the preserve may be opened for hunting or it may again be restricted for a second period of time, as the association prefers. The work will be under the supervision of Dr. Fisher of San Angelo, Game Manager of the 4th Region of Texas.

Mr. Smith, who is the law enforcement officer working on the preserve, stated that deer, turkey and quail would be transplanted from other sections of the country so that it would be restocked for future hunters. He also stated that some 56 head of deer had already been trapped in South Texas regions and brought to the Noelke ranch which is included in the game refuge.

He also called attention to the fact that any person found trespassing would be subject to a fine of $200.00, and stated that to carry a gun across or on the territory was trespassing unless the gun was dismantled or in a case.

Mr. Smith stated that Independence Creek and Richland Creek, on the Chas. Callahan Ranch, would be closed to fishing and that the streams would be restocked. Both streams are within the game preserve, the Richland Creek forming the south boundary line of the refuge. He stated that re-stocking would probably be done within the next month, and that he hoped the residents of this section would join in helping make a sportsman's paradise of the preserve.

NEW BOOKS ARE PLACED IN LIBRARY

Just recently many new books have been placed in our library, most of which are fiction. Some which have been made into movies are: Rebecca, Northwest Passage, Sea Hawks, and Lost Horizon. Another new book in the library which at the time is being made into a movie is Victory, by Joseph Conrad.

The Yearling, by Rawlings, won the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction in 1939, and is popular with readers who enjoy a descriptive novel of American life in an almost forgotten corner of our country. Jody Baxter, the youthful hero of this book, has joined in the ranks with Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer.

Pecos Bill, by Dr. James Bowman, and Brazos, by Taylor, are among the books about the Southwest which are in the library. Pecos Bill, the greatest cowboy of all times, is a lover of tall tales, which makes this book very interesting. Brazos is a picturesque novel, full of adventure, hardships and chicanery which belong to the frontier in the Old Southwest.

Other books are "Oil for Lamps of China," by Hobart, and Let the Hurricane Roar, by Lane.

A book which will appeal to detective story-loving boys is Boys Book of Detective Stories. Too, there is a book containing a group of modern short stories edited by O'Henry called Prize Stories of 1938, which will appeal to those who like less gruesome stories.

to be a teacher; another time, to get married. Everyone we've interviewed has blue eyes as his favorite color, so why not Robert? He likes bananas and more bananas and lemon pie. He hates cabbage and any variation of it—sauerkraut. Robert's favorite tunes are "Frenesi" and "San Antonio Rose." He enjoyed wood-work the most out of all his other courses. He says that he likes All Quiet on the Western Front better than any other book. Can't you just see him settling down in a school desk in one of the famous poses (contortions would be a better word) behind that book? Maybe it was the conversation under cover of the book that he enjoyed the most! Robert's favorite pastimes are dancing and swimming. By the way, he's pretty famous around these "hyar" parts for his jittersbugging! His pet persons are Spencer Tracy, Hedy Lamar, and Betty Smith. Gee! Where've we seen them before!

Eaglets Win Trophy and Place on All-Tournament Team

By Pauline Bell

Once again, the Eaglets proved their worth and soared across the sky to win the consolation trophy at Fort Davis Volleyball Tournament Saturday.

At nine o'clock, the Sanderson and Fort Davis teams started with two fast and exciting games. After fighting hard the Eaglets lost to Fort Davis. At four o'clock the girls played Alpine and defeated them two out of three games.

With their spirits high, the Eaglets faced Valentine at seven for that pretty trophy sitting on the referee's table. After two games, which for a time looked bad for Sanderson, the Eaglets scored enough points to win the trophy. What a grin came on their faces, and what a thrill crept up their spines!

In the final game of the tournament, Fort Davis and Iraan played for winner of the entire day. Fort Davis took the first two games, thus winning the tournament with Iraan as Runner-up.

After the last game, every team and player was anxious to learn who had made the all-tournament team. There were six players chosen by the different coaches present. Out of the six picked, Doris Cochran was one. Each of these players received a gold medal.

Fort Davis placed two on the all-tournament team, with Iraan Rankin, Odessa and Sanderson placing one each.

Also at this time, the trophies were awarded, and the captains of each of the three winning teams went forward and received her teams respective trophy.

The ten teams participating in the tournament were: Fort Davis, Iraan, Odessa, Balmorhea, Valentine, Alpine, Marathon, Pecos, Rankin and Sanderson.

The girls making the trip were Pauline Bell, captain, Doris Cochran, Helen Harrell, Joyce Yeates, Eloise Stidham, Edna Mae McAdams, and Maurine Frazier. Miss Weimers and the players thank Mrs. Frank Harrell and Mrs. O. H. McAdams for furnishing rides to Fort Davis.

What I Owe America and What America Owes To Me

By Buster Babb

I think I owe a good deal to America. I think I should be truthful and honest to America. I don't think I should receive more than I work for. I don't think anyone owes me a living. I think America owes me a good job in the future if I get out in the world and work for it. I don't think I should be paid for more work than I actually do. I think I am honest to America, America should be honest to me.

-O-

By Ross Underwood

I think there are many things I owe America and a few things it owes to me. I think that I should never try to do anything against America that would harm it. Instead of breaking it down, I should always try to build it up. I should always vote and try to take part in the government as much as I can. I think I owe all my honesty and effort to America; to its welfare and to try to make it a better place in which to live.

On the other hand I think America owes me things such as freedom of speech and liberty of the press. I think that I should have just as many privileges as anyone else in America. America owes me quite a few things but I owe it more. Such as voting at every election so the best officers should be elected. I think that if everyone thought they owed America just a little more than it owed them, America would be a better place in which to live.

Old-Time Spelling Bee Is Held

Thursday, February 20, the students in high school went back to the "good-old" days and had a regular old-time spelling bee in assembly. This match was among the seniors and the spellers going out for bi-county meet. The idea in mind was to see how many seniors would be left standing. Doris Cochran and John Hardgrave chose sides, choosing first seniors and then the spellers. Both easy words and hard words were given out, and each one was given two chances to spell his word. Gradually one by one had to be seated, until Eloise Stidham was the only one standing on Doris' side, and Joyce Yeates, Margaret Pierson, and Margaret Ruth Yeates the only ones on John's side. However, the fatalword, acquiesce, came making both Eloise and Margaret take their seats. The spelling bee was finally won by Margaret Ruth and Joyce Yeates one a speller and the other a senior. Mr. Smith and Mr. Pickard, who is in charge of spellers for the bi-county meet, conducted this spelling bee.

"Silver Dreams and Copper Plates"

Miss Mae Featherstone, Sanderson High English teacher, wrote a very interesting historical account of the romance and legend of the hills of Mills County, Texas, which was published in the "Straight Texas" by Dobie Boatwright. The story, "Silver Dreams and Copper Plates" told of the old miners and gold seeking people who explored hoping to find or strike riches.

Thus:

Legions of pack trains moved slowly into the country; dozens of men hunting for buried treasure around Epley Spring, a fa-write watering hole on the western branch of the Chisholm Trail. Hostile Indians spread panic among them but still their courage swept on. A few of the men who hunted for these treasures were Uncle Jimmie Guthrie, Wiley Hall, Dutch Hollenback, and Monte Henderson. These men had very interesting and exciting times and excursions during their search for buried treasure.

Their belief was that Mexicans had buried much riches around Epley Spring and their aim was to find it. Time went on, and this story became old and so Epley Spring soon became an isolated field.

In 1932, Dutch Hollenback came to Mills County searching for the Mexican Treasure. He found a small copper box with a Catholic Cross and Spanish writing on it and inside a single piece of paper with very dim writing on it. After this discovery Dutch talked very little. One day several weeks after Dutch's discovery, Miss Featherstone and friends, laughingly called themselves Comonado's children, spent an entire day exploring places of interest near their homes.

They visited the home of Old Monte Henderson who showed them around the Old Dry Pond and where he said the third copper box of treasure was buried. Monte was waiting for a mineral claim to expire so he could unbury the box. After visiting a few more places, the group became thirsty and stopped for awhile.

Miss Featherstone stated that she visited the Old Dry Pond in 1934 and it was a very deserted looking place. Only a cool breeze whispered the past incidents quietly.

Sentiment Against Raiding Highway Funds Grows in U.S.

SENTIMENT against the raiding of highway funds is growing in all parts of the United States. Legislatures of 20 states at their 1941 sessions, a nation-wide survey discloses, will consider proposals to protect automotive tax funds from being diverted to non-highway purposes.

Last year the people of four states voted for such amendments, making a total of 11 states that have adopted such constitutional safeguards. These states, as indicated on the accompanying honor roll, include California, Michigan, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Missouri, Colorado, Kansas, Idaho, Nevada, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Encouraged by the victories in those 11 states, groups of farmers, motorists, motor truck owners and others interested in highway transportation are pressing for the adoption of protective amendments in another score of states. Gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration fees, they point out, were devised to provide funds to pull the states out of the mud. Roads built with those taxes not only are benefitting motorists, but they also are contributing much to the economic and social progress of the states. The practice of taxing the highway users for roads, and then using the funds for purposes having nothing whatsoever to do with

"Men Against the Sky" Brings Patrons Spectacular Thrills

Spectacular thrills in the air, tense drama behind the steel doors of an aircraft factory seeking a government contract, stirring romance and an exciting race to complete a high-speed pursuit plane are blended into excellent entertainment for "Men Against the Sky," which will have its initial showing Friday, March 14, at the Princess Theatre.

Ideally cast in the principal roles are Richard Dix, Kent Taylor, Edmund Lowe and Wendy Barrie, and their deft performances add greatly to the realism and suspense of this modern aviation drama.

The timely story deals with the efforts of Lowe, as an aircraft manufacturer, and his chief engineer, Taylor, to develop a model in competition with other companies seeking a foreign government contract. Mendy Barrie is seen as an ambitious draftswoman who falls in love with Taylor, her immediate superior.

Richard Dix's role is one of the most powerful of his colorful career. He plays a former ace whose reputation has been clouded by too many dives into the bottle. His valiant efforts to rehabilitate himself, aided by his staunch sister, Miss Barrie, afford him rare opportunities for drama.

The exciting experiences of this quartet, the romance of Miss Barrie, the frantic race to finish the plane on time, Dix's accidental crashing of the completed model during test flights, the manufacturer's struggles to finance a new model, and Dix's spectacular sacrifice which proves the air-worthiness of the speed ship and reunites his sister with her estranged sweetheart, are some of the thrilling events which make this offering one of the most compelling dramas of the season.

Granville Bates, Grant Withers, Donald Briggs and Charles Quigley are seen in other prominent roles in "Men Against the Sky," which Leslie Goodwins directed for RKO.

roads, it is widely believed, is unfair and unjust taxation.

Because taxing the people for one thing, and then using the proceeds for something else, is a new practice in public policy, present constitutions of the states do not cover the matter. The framers of the constitutions did not foresee the future. Since a legislature is legally free to act as it sees fit in matters not covered in its constitution, the only way that people of a state can express effectively their will against the practice is to bring their constitution up to date by voting in an amendment. That is exactly what they are doing. Public opinion definitely is repudiating the diversion of automotive tax funds to non-highway funds as an unsound and unjust public policy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lea and son, Bob, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Condon as far as San Angelo on their return to their home in Kansas. While there they visited relatives of Mr. Lea and Mrs. Condon and also attended the Fat Stock Show and Rodeo.

Robert Lea, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lea, has returned to Burbank, Calif., after a week's visit here. He will enter the Training Camp in MacArthur, California.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Savage and son, Jackie, and Mrs. Joe F. Brown spent Saturday in Marfa.

Misses Lysbeth and Erma Lee O'Neill of Uvalde were house guests in the W. C. Cargile home over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Williams and daughters left Thursday for San Antonio and Carrizo Springs for a few days visit.

Miss Edna Peterson, Red Cross Nurse, worked in the Independence school and community Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McAdams spent Wednesday evening in Del Rio.

Dr. and Mrs. William Aston, Miss Edna Peterman and Mrs. Toots Larson and son, David Lee, spent Sunday on the Milton Smith ranch 20 miles west of Dryden. Mrs. Larson tells us that the Dr. and Mrs. Aston know how to sit their horses and after a 12-mile ride they were ready for the "beans", goat meat with the trimmings, and black coffee which was served at the ranch.

"KITTY FOYLE" AT PRINCESS THEATRE WED. AND THURS.

Frequently motion pictures endeavor to make a famous fictional character come to life on the screen. Rarely are such endeavors as successful as they are in RKO Radio's sumptuous production of "Kitty Foyle" which opens at the Princess Theatre Wednesday, March 12, with Ginger Rogers doing a scintillant job of creating Christopher Morley's salty "white collar girl" in the cinematic flesh, and with a fine cast, story and direction.

As the many readers of Morley's widely-discussed novel will recall, Kitty is a forthright, spirited Irish girl from Philadelphia who sets out to carve herself a career as a business woman, after her hectic romance with a well-meaning but weak young socialite proves something of a failure.

But despite the earnest attentions of a doctor who wants to marry her, Kitty can't forget her first love, nor can she resist the appeal he makes on her. And her experience, happy and tragic and always human, and the constant conflict within her between her head and her heart, all lead up to the drama of the conclusion when she has to make up her mind between marrying the doctor or running away with the disillusioned society man as his mistress.

Giving the versatile Miss Rogers her finest characterization to date, the picture through its unique "stream consciousness" technique in expressing its story in the first person. By this device Kitty herself reviews the highlights of her career through her own eyes as well as those of the audience, and in this way invests the film with an oddly effective realism.

Dennis Morgan gives excellent support to Miss Rogers as the socialite, and the new "find" James Craig, proves himself valuable as the faithful young doctor, Ernest Cossart, Eduardo Ciannelli, Gladys Cooper and other well-known players do exceptional work.

Ann Sheridan and Brent Go on a "Honeymoon for 3"

Laughter, gaiety and romance make up the sprightly story of Warner Bros. new comedy, "Honeymoon For Three", which comes Monday and Tuesday, March 10 and 11, to the Princess Theatre. The picture is full of side-splitting situations and to make matters even funnier, the three slightly screwy people that are caught in a tipsy triangle are played by George Brent, Ann Sheridan and Oso Massen.

College romances may be alright when you're in college, but when a long lost sweetheart shows up six years after you've graduated and claims you as her one and only, it's liable to lead to complications, especially when you've just gotten engaged to your beautiful secretary. That's the position in which George Brent, who plays the role of a popular author, finds himself in "Honeymoon For Three." Beautiful Osa Massen plays the role of the amorous ex-college student who forgets that she is married to a very patient husband, played by Charles Ruggles. Ann Sheridan plays the role of Brent's secretary and is provided with plenty of snappy dialogue, which when combined with her special type of delivery, is sure to bring heaps of favorable comment.

Ann, who is a very practical girl, suggests that it will be much more inexpensive, if she becomes Brent's wife as well as his secretary and incidentally, she loves the guy. Things go along smoothly enough until Osa shows up and then the fun begins. They start on a romantic marathon that proves to be one of the season's greatest laugh hits.

More laughs are provided by William Orr who plays the role of an over serious-minded lawyer who is not too scrupulous in his methods for getting his cases (if any). His partner in crime is portrayed by blonde, vivacious Jane Wyman. Lee Patrick sup-humor as a woman that Brent chases.
