HOTEL GETS COAT PAINT

The Kerr Hotel and its lobby will be impressed with a light paint which will brighten up the atmosphere created by the coat of paint on the lobby and the coffee room.

The Duke was hostess at a party honoring Mrs. E. D. Wright, Tuesday of the week. Mrs. D. B. Pollock was a visitor in the party.

Miss E. Darcy, with the department, at Austin, Texas, with the Old Branch at San Antonio, returned to their homes from a visit to the silver mine near Marfa.

Mrs. Jim Burdwell and her family, who live on the Dr. Langtry, were on Monday for a visit to the Burdwell's sisters, Mrs. R. R. Elyson, and Mrs. A. Shelton, returned to their Monday afternoon.

Mrs. John Reininger returned today from San Antonio, where she received medical attention. Mrs. R. Elyson, Mrs. Reininger, also returned from Marfa to be with her family.

NEW HOME FOR SANDERSON

Modern in every respect is the recently completed home of Mr. and Mrs. John Neal located in the northwestern part of Sanderson. The home is of frame stucco with interior walls of sheetrock. The home contains living room, 2 bedrooms and kitchen. The exterior is painted white and carries a red trim. A portion of the double garage is shown at the left.

Bulletin States Botanical Paradise Found in Big Bend

Rugged mountain slopes, hills and canyons of the Big Bend, with the growth of vegetation little hindered in the spread of Brewster County's 6,000 square miles, constitute a botanical paradise, according to the recent science issue of the West Texas historical and scientific society. Author of the bulletin is Dr. Omer E. Sperry, head of Sul Ross State College department of biology, and collaborator with the National Park Service on plant life in the Big Bend National Park area.

The science issue contains an addition of 57 species and varieties of plants to the first check list of plants in the park area, published by Dr. Sperry in 1938, as well as a section devoted to plants in Brewster county in entirety, including the national park territory. Co-author with Dr. Sperry for the Brewster county material is Barton H. Warnock, of the department of botany, University of Texas, who is assistant to Dr. Sperry during the present summer session of Sul Ross College.

Outside of a few disturbances, such as grazing, inroads of highways, railroads, towns, conservation projects and ranch headquarters, plant life in the Big Bend has the right-of-way in vast settings. In the science bulletin, the authors announce the collecting and cataloging of over 1150 plants in Brewster county. Vegetation of the southern portion is predominantly desert scrub that of the northern portion, desert plains grassland. Desert scrub ranges from such lowly plants as the creosote bush, thorny cacti, sotol and burro bush, to exquisitely flowering herbaceous plants which bloom luxuriantly following rains.

Of vital concern to the thriving livestock industry of Brewster county is the grassland growth over the range area. The science bulletins lists 135 species of grass in the county, including 15 members of the gam-

TEXANS ON RANGE TOUR IN IDAHO—Texas ranchmen and AAA officials who attended the recent National AAA Range Conference and Tour in Idaho inspected range conservation work in that state and compared it with work done in their home state. Here Charles McCann, ranchman from Victoria, extreme left, is seen with M. C. Puckett, ranchman and state AAA committee member from Fort Stockton, R. M. Evans, national AAA administrator, and Howard T. Kingsbery, ranchman and state committeeman from Santa Anna.

Local Poet Wins Place In Important Volume

Miss Reba Taylor, member of the Sanderson school faculty, is one of the authors whose poems are included in The Book of Modern Poetry, 1941 (The America Forever Edition), an 800-page volume just published. More than 12,000 writers in every part of the United States and Canada competed for a place in this important volume and only a small percentage of these were found to write poetry of sufficient merit to be accorded a place in the book.

The volume contains the work of little-known authors as well as that of writers who have been published in many magazines and books. A similar volume is now being compiled and poets who are interested in having their work considered for the new book should write the publishers, Avon House, 1107 Broadway, New York City, for information.

Mrs. W. P. Peavy, mother of C. P. Peavy, and his sister, Mrs. Winnie Flook and sons, Billy and Cecil Jr., all of Garland, have been visiting here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Peavy. Mrs. Flook and sons left Friday for their home and Mrs. Peavy remained for a longer visit with her son and his family.

Judge R. S. Wilkinson and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Arrington were visitors in Fort Stockton Sunday of last week. Judge Wilkinson went to meet W. D. Black, who had been holding a revival meeting at Telephone, Texas, and returned him to Sanderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Arrington visited with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walker.

Woodlands of the Big Bend include among the more prominent growth, the Mexican piñon pine, the Chisos red oak, Arizona Cypress, found only in the Boot Spring region and its canyons, ponderosa pine, and the bigtooth maple.—Skyline.

YOUR TEXAS DEFENSE GUARDS!

All over the State of Texas can be found units of the Texas Defense Guards. These units, which were to be limited to a total membership of 15,000 in the beginning, have already reached that amount and many towns and communities are asking that additional members be allowed so other units may be organized. Everywhere the organization is receiving the highest of praise and fullest support and rightfully so because the Texas Defense Guards are being organized and trained for protection in case of an emergency.

Company "C", 46th Battalion of the Texas Defense Guards, located at Sanderson, which was approved by Major George D. Thomas last week, is a unit of this organization. Citizens of Sanderson should feel proud of the members of this unit. They should put forth every effort to aid the movement and support them in their endeavors. As is known, the organization is strictly a volunteer one—no member is forced to enlist and any member can obtain an honorable discharge any time they like simply by requesting such an instrument from the local commanding officer. He issues the discharge himself and it can be done at once, without any red tape or permissions asked. The members voluntarily get in and can voluntarily get out if, and when they choose.

Company "C" has 45 members—50 are needed, and 75 is the full quota. It seems that there should be enough men in Sanderson between the ages of 18 and 64 to complete the Company. There should be that many who really want to get in, that many who should be patriotic enough to offer themselves without having to be approached and pleaded with by men who are trying to build the Company into a unit of which the entire community should be proud, and which will be of so much benefit should the occasion ever arise. Ten men trained to work together can do more than 100 men working in confusion. Why don't YOU do your part?

Texas Game Limits Are More Liberal Than Others

Austin—I'll take my hunting in Texas," exclaimed a sportsman recently after perusing a story issued by the Pennsylvania Game Commission which noted that the season and bag limits on most game will be more liberal than usual.

The reason for the exclamation was that while Pennsylvania has long been noted as the leading game state in the nation, its bag limits are far below those of Texas for almost every species of game. It was found that Michigan, another of the leading game states in the nation, also has far more stringent regulations than does the Lone Star State. Michigan, for example, generally ranks second in deer, Texas fifth, and in all species of big game Michigan is generally second and Texas sixth.

Yet the sportsman reads, to his amazement, that Pennsylvania allows the hunter only one buck deer during a two-week season. Michigan also gives the sportsman the privilege of killing but one deer. Texas' bag limit is two per season and the season is six weeks long.

Hunters in Texas are allowed three turkey gobblers during a six-week season under the general state law, but the Pennsylvania hunter legally can take only one and Michigan's nimbards do not even have that pleasure, there being no open season on the great American bird in that huge state.

Quail hunters who pursue their sport in Texas can take almost two and a half times as many birds in one week of the six-week season as Pennsylvania hunters can legally bag all season. The Keystone state allows its sportsmen to kill 5 quail per day and not more than 15 in a season. Should a Texan be lucky enough to get his limit of 36 birds each week during the season he could legally take 216 quail. Michigan has no open season on quail, but allows its grouse hunters to take 25 birds per season.

An even more liberal bag limit is allowed by Texas laws on squirrel. Pennsylvania nimbards can bag 20 of the little nut eaters during a season which extends from Nov 1 to Sept. 30. Michigan is a bit more liberal, allowing the taking of 25 squirrels. Texans, believe it or not,

DEFERRED MEN ASKED TO AID DEFENSE AGENCIES

All Selective Service registrants in Texas who have been deferred from military service were urged today by General J. Watt Page, State Director, to offer their full assistance to State and local civilian defense agencies.

Many young men have been granted deferments because of their occupations, because they have dependents, or because they are not physically capable of undergoing service in the armed force, General Page said. Nevertheless, he added, they are qualified to perform same work in connection with civilian defense activities and should offer their services to existing agencies or those which are being organized.

By granting certain men deferment, Congress, when it adopted the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, gave no indication that it intended to excuse these men from the obligation which rests upon every young man—that of helping his country in times of emergency. General Page pointed out. Every man is expected to do his share, in one way or another, when a crisis threatens the national security. He said:

"Many of our young men have entered the armed forces, leaving at home others who for one reason or another have had their military training deferred. Those who remain owe it to those who have been called and owe it to their country to help in its defense when and wherever they are needed."

"They can do their part offering their service in the interests of civilian defense. In the near future almost every community will be engaged in civilian defense activities, of course, cover a wide range and should include tasks for all young men who are deferred from military training."

No young man should shirk his responsibility if it is humanly possible for him to take part in the increasing civilian defense activities, General Page said.

Members Sanderson Rotary Club To Fort Stockton

John T. Williams, president of the Sanderson Rotary Club, with the Rev. John W. Byrd and O. H. McAdams, members of the program committee of the club, went to Fort Stockton Tuesday to present a program for that club. They were accompanied by Miss Edna Mae McAdams.

Miss McAdams rendered several piano numbers which were followed by a resume of the Rotary Institute meeting held recently at Del Rio by Mr. McAdams. The talk was concerned with present world situations and events as pertaining to Rotary International.

The Rev. Mr. Byrd gave a discussion on "Rotary Opportunities for Service," explaining the things that could be done with proper co-operation and the thing that could befall a club if every member was not willing to do his part.

DISTRICT COURT OPENED MONDAY WITH NO CASES

Judge Brian Montague and District Attorney Roger Thurman were here Monday from Del Rio when the 63rd Judicial Court was convened, and will remain in session for 3 weeks.

No cases were on the docket for trial and the grand jury was empaneled at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, reporting back at 3:00 p. m. with two indictments.

Appropriation Of Funds Is Made For Road Maintenance

Austin—The State Highway Engineer announced today that the Highway Commission has made the customary annual appropriation of funds for regular maintenance of the State Highway System during the fiscal year beginning September 1, and ending August 31, 1942. The amount provided was $7,825,957.92, and it will be distributed to the 25 field districts to cover the cost of roadway maintenance, bridge maintenance, center-stripping, maintenance of highway signs, roadside parks, et cetera.

A year ago the appropriation for regular highway maintenance was reduced ten per cent over the previous year in order that the amount of the reduction might be used to make needed improvements to the riding surface of existing highways, and surface gaps in the state system. Federal funds now available to the State Highway Department are required to be spent on the roads designated by the War Department as being of strategic military importance, and all available State Highway funds are needed for the majority of mileage of highways in the state that are not part of the strategic military network. This appropriation is a reduction of eight per cent over 1939, and is an increase over 1940 of but two per cent to maintain an increase of 262 miles taken over for maintenance since September 1, 1940. There are now 23,004 miles being maintained, and traffic has increased in volume and weight, due to the establishment of many military camps, bases, factories, and the traffic between these points necessary to the training and equipping of thousands of soldiers.

It is the intention of the Department to maintain the State System at its usual high standard but to practice every possible economy to accomplish the result at minimum cost.

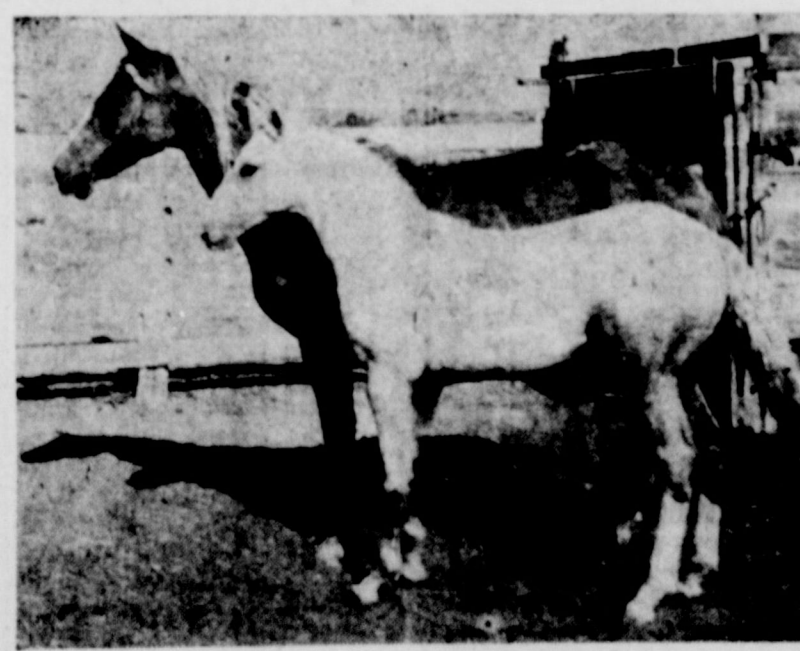

BREAKS LEG IN FALL

Jim Weaver suffered a broken leg Saturday morning of last week when a bronc he was breaking fell with him. He is employed on the George Turner ranch and his left leg was broken in the fall. Treatment was received in Sanderson and he is getting along fine.

AUXILIARY CIRCLES

The Presbyterian Auxiliary Circles will meet on their regular days as follows: Circle No. 1 at the home of Mrs. Lee McCue and Circle No. 2 at the home of Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson.

Will Hold Palomino Show At Fair

Texas leads the nation in the production of fine Palomino horses.

Prize money in the 1941 Palomino Show which will be one of the features of the $150,000 Livestock Show, has been increased to keep in step with Palomino production in Texas.

With the increased prize money, the State Fair is expected to have the finest Palomino Show ever held in the Southwest.

Miss Fay Griffith of San Antonio, arrived here Saturday for her mother, Mrs. R. E. Griffith Sr., who has been visiting Mrs. J. B. Harrell and Miss Myrtle Harrell. They returned to their home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walker of Fort Stockton were week-end visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Arrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walker of Fort Stockton were week-end visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Arrington.

Mrs. W. M. Dyal and three sons of Houston arrived today, Friday, for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harrell. Mr. Dyal has been working out of the local yards during the rush of business.

Mrs. Max Harrell and son of El Paso are here visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniels.

The Princess Theatre, which has been closed for the past two weeks in order to make improvements in their sound equipment opened again for business this week.

An entirely new sound equipment has been installed. Mrs. Elouise White, the manager, stated. An all A. C. electric equipment being installed. More acoustical treatment has been given the Theatre and many other worthwhile changes have been made.

Instead of three changes of pictures a week as they have done in the past, in the future there will be four changes a week with a Western or action picture, selected shorts, and news reels being a Saturday feature.

Mrs. Clyde Deaton and children returned from Del Rio where they have been the past few weeks visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. J. A. Russell and daughter, Marian, arrived Wednesday from their home in Del Rio for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCue at their ranch home.

As the Society Editor Saw It—During a village fire in Ohio, the editor of the local paper, being unable to locate the regular reporter, sent out the young lady who "did" the society gossip. Here is her report as it appeared: "A brilliant fire was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Sopp, on Crown Hill avenue. A large number of people attended the function.

"Mrs. Sopp, who recently had her hair shingled made a charming escape in an exceedingly handsome silk blouse, the pattern of which appeared in our woman's page last week.

"The firemen, who presented an attractive appearance, were suitably garbed in blue, the tunics being cut full.

The weather was quite delightful for an affair of this kind, a strong wind blowing. It is rumored that the fire was on a larger scale than any affair of similar kind for years. It is also rumored that it cost Mr. and Mrs. Sopp about $25,000."

Mrs. Dixie Schupbach and daughter, Miss Mable, and son, O. T., and Miss Miriam Carpenter, attended the barbecue supper and dance which was held at the Charlie Chandler ranch last Saturday afternoon and night.

This and That, by Jimmy—Nice world, this. In a temporary economic slump, but things are happening in a big way—some amusing, some confusing.

Rattle of the Rail—When the west-bound Sun-set limited pulled out of here last Saturday with Engineer G. R. Lees, he was making his final run, having been in the service on the El Paso division since December, 1887 or for more than 43 years and 7 months, with previous service on the H&TC. His total service would, no doubt run close to 3,000,000 miles or more.

WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

The Iraan Herald—The purchase by the county of radio station for the Iraan Home Defense Guard was announced this week. The station consists of a transmitting unit plus a communication type short wave receiver.

When the equipment arrives the Defense Guard will be able to work into a Defense Radio Net which is very active on the 160 and 80 meter amateur bands.

This equipment will allow or permit either code or voice communication, and can be very valuable in times of emergencies. If at any time, the communication lines to the outside world were cut, Iraan would be without a means of communications.

This station is to be operated within the 160 meter amateur band, as no special commercial frequencies have as yet been assigned to the Home Guard Units over the nation Weldon Butler, W5LJ, local amateur operator will operate the station until he goes to college. Then it is expected that Burton Laneheart, local radio repairman, will have his license and will take over the station.

The Asherton Tribune—Fair warning given by a Missouri farmer: "If any man's or woman's oxen or cow gets these oats, his or her tail will be cut off, as the case may be."

Santa Anna News—Too many drivers find that just because they see its tracks is no sign the train has just passed.

Baker's Dozen, Fort Stockton Pioneer—No doubt you've herd of it raining "bull frogs and little fishes," or even "nigger babies and bull yearlings." This week, in one of those periodic and persistent thunder showers, it rained crayfish or "crawdads" in Fort Stockton yards and streets.

Monthly Bulletin, Texas Game Fish and Oyster Commission—Stories of two ducks which had contact with civilization, but which escaped have reached the Game Department office. One duck was seen waddling down the main street of Aransas Pass and was captured by two women. However, they decided they were unlawfully in possession of the fowl and released it. They found it had been slightly injured, which accounted for its inability to fly. When last seen the duck was waddling contentedly down the street.

The other duck, a big mallard drake, apparently mistook highway 87 northwest of Dalhart for a river and landed on it with a bump which must have jarred his ancestors, as the editor of the MatadorTribune puts it. A light snow had fallen, but had not remained on the highway, although covering the countryside. The sheen of bright moisture probably made the road look like a river and the mallard dived onto it. However, he was able to crawl off into the weeds and disappeared.

The Grandfalls Gazette—Gordon Mitchell went to Sanderson Tuesday to meet his mother, Mrs. Ben Mitchell, who was returning home from a visit with her sister in Sabin.

The State Observer—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel last week called a special election for August 30 to fill the vacancy in the 64th Representative District, Milam County, caused by the resignation of Rep. Reese Turner. Reese resigned to take a state job.

Menard News—Federal Highway No. 83, from Canada to Mexico, which runs through Menard and Junction, will have another link completed in about a month when the strip from four miles south of Menard to the Kimble county line will be completed. This will leave only one link of the Highway without paving that is the part through Real County north of Leakey.

This will make the distance about ten miles shorter as that much is cut from the usual mileage between Menard and Junction.

Plans are being formulated to celebrate the opening of the new part of the highway which will be finished in about thirty days and the date will be set as soon as it is ascertained exactly when the work will be finished. People from Menard and Junction who have long sought the completion of this road are all interested and will be glad to present and see the completion of their labors.

The Big Lake Wildcat—Another deep oil pool for Reagan County was in the making late yesterday afternoon as Amerada Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 University, on Bob Ferguson's place 7 and a half miles southeast of here headed better than fifty gravity oil when being clean out.

The well had been shut down after setting 5 and a half inch casing at 9,018 feet and was cemented. Total depth is 9,080 feet in the Ellenburger Lower Ordovician. The well is located in section 3, block 48, and is about 20 miles east of the deep Big Lake field west of here.

According to reliable information the well should make a commercial producer in its present stage. If it fails, then drilling deeper or acidizing would be of aid in developing better production. Two storage tanks and a separator have been erected and the well is due for a thorough test early this morning.

The possibilities for oil in the well has revived leasing activity, and one ranchman got two dollars an acre for his lease twelve miles from the well. Other deals are in the making.

Company officials of Fort Worth, on the lease yesterday morning, were of the opinion that a good producer would result. It is understood that Amerada will drill another deep test at an early date regardless of the outcome of the present well.

a filling station, for the benefit of interested patrons who stop for a few minutes to have a car serviced, or for other reasons. But in Sanderson Hal J. Rowlett, who operates the Border Station on Highway 90 has on display a nice collection of not only old coins, but Indian arrow heads, and other curios, gathered from various points. Numerous coins in Mr. Rowlett's collection date away back. One, believed to be of about the value of an American penny, bears a date of 1865 and the inscription around the edge reads: "Napoleon III Empereur." The value mark of the coin has been worn away, and is unintelligible. Then there are a number of bills ranging in value up to $20, (most Mexican coinage), and the Mexican silver coins include a "Peso."

One of the interesting pieces of money on display is the "Peace dollar (American), although it bears a recent date (1934), quite a number of people never saw one.

Mr. Rowlett has his coin collection in a show case, under the top glass are pasted several coins, and on top of the glass, and where it would be easy to pick up, is kept an ordinary silver quarter. At one time he kept a half dollar lying around on top of the case, but someone, maybe not quite as honest as Mr. Rowlett thought him, swiped the piece of money.

Then there are other amusements at the station. If the servicing of your car has not been completed, or you just want to hang around for awhile longer, you may try your skill with a "pistol"—hit the swinging cork or red ants scurrying across the pavement, or even try hitting the flies which alight on the window or door framing.

A brace of "pistols" are provided by the genial station master. No, they are not what you imagine. No cartridges are used, the guns are practically noiseless. They are so made that a rubber band provides the power behind the small shot, and it is astonishing the distance a red ant can be knocked with a shot, if it hits, and in the hands of Mr. Rowlett, who is a marksman of no ordinary skill, the ant is generally sent on a "foreign and unexpected journey.

Hitting the cork, suspended from a crossbeam of the station, gently away by the breeze, is another thing, one which tests a fellow's steadiness of nerves and good aim; but it is all fun and whiles away many a dull moment.

Maureen O'Hara, James Ellison in Colorful Film

Replete with sprightly songs and colorful dances of the pampas, "They Met in Argentina" brings Maurine O'Hara, James Ellison and the new Latin discovery, Alberto Villa, to the Princess on Friday and Saturday August 15-16 in a gay story of a young American's romantic adventures below the equator.

Miss O'Hara is seen as the spirited daughter of a wealthy Irish-Argentine rancher and Ellison has the role of an oil company geologist with Villa as a young Argentine sportsman. The romance begins on Pan-American day at the Turf Club at Buenos Aires during the running of the Pan-American Handicap. The race is won by Lucero, a horse belonging to Miss O'Hara's imperious old father. Robert Barrat, Ellison's Texan employer has ordered him to buy Lucero.

Through another young American who knows Barrat's head gaucho Ellison arranges to visit Barrat's big estate and poses as a cattle buyer rather than reveal his real purpose. But daughter, who at first thinks Ellison has followed her to the estate for romantic reasons, learns his true objective and sets about defeating his plan.

The conflict between the romance and the business deal, and the added complications of a handsome young Argentine rival for the daughter's hand, all make for the picture's stirring conclusions.

The featured cast includes Buddy Ebsen as Ellison's companion, Joseph Buloff as the head gaucho, Diosa Cotello as Buddy's girl friend at the estate. Ten sparkling Rodgers and Hart tunes are woven through the fabric of the story, all of them written especially to fit the key sequences. Several spirited dance numbers, including a genuine tango and a spectacular gaucho "Chaco" dance, enhance the gaiety of the film.

The picture shows for the first time on the screen the perilous

Argentine game known as "El Pato," a free-for-all battle on horseback that was banned for many years in the South American republic because of the high percentage of fatalities among the participants. The game sequences are said to set a new high in thrills for theatre audiences.

"Tom, Dick and Harry," Romantic Comedy at Princess

Vivacious Ginger Rogers, whose deft portrayals of the typical American girl have made her one of the most popular and best-loved stars of the screen, delivers another excellent characterization in "Tom, Dick and Harry" which has its initial showing Wednesday and Thursday, August 13 and 14 at the Princess Theatre.

In contrast to the versatile Ginger's last film "Kitty Foyle" which won her the famous Academy Award, the current vehicle is light, whimsical romantic comedy and presents the talented young actress as a very romantic, highly imaginative telephone girl.

George Murphy, Alan Marshall and Burgess Meredith are seen in the title roles, turning in a triple-threat performance that further reveals their propensities for sprightly comedy.

The happy pot rotates on the unique situation of a pretty girl getting engaged to three men at the same time. Murphy is Tom, a live-wire auto salesman who, after going steady with the telephone girl for three years, catches her in a weak moment and proposes—and is accepted.

Meredith is Harry, a happy-go-lucky garage mechanic and the antithesis of Tom. He is irresponsible, delightfully lazy, has no illusions about success and is charming. Ginger accepts a date with him under the impression he is the son of the town's wealthiest man, but when she learns her mistake, she carries on like a good sport and after an exciting night on Harry's $1.80, she ends up engaged again.

Marshall, of course is the rich boy in the case and Ginger's passion. She maneuvers herself into a date with him and after a whirlwind evening of flying and night-clubbing the two likewise become affianced.

The hilarious scenes which link these three episodes together make for riotous comedy. It wouldn't be fair to di-

QUINCIE BOLLIVER
By MARY KING

Quincie Bolliver is a little girl who drifts into a Texas oil town with her father, foot-loose and fancy free in the back of a truck. The two of them have come from nowhere. The little girl is skinny and smart, but she is also very sweet. Her father is on the shiftless side, but between the two they get along. It is a tough world—of sweaty roughnecks and oil-drillers thrown together into a boarding-house—but Quincie manages, and learns to give back as good as she gets. The oil town itself, soon becomes as familiar as the inside of one's own hand. The understanding of the people in the town and the sympathy for them is deep, and getting to know them is a lively experience. It is an unusual novel—and a first one at that—full of the fire and vigor of the strong, with a little of the decaying sweetness of the weak. Quincie, herself, is a number 1 Texas girl—as rare and attractive a personality as is to be met in many a moon.

Lupino and Garfield Star in Dynamic Film Monday-Tuesday

On Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12 the Princess Theatre will present "Out of the Fog," a dynamic new Warner Bros. film that co-stars Ida Lupino and John Garfield, the pair who made so great an impression earlier in the season as the star-crossed lovers of "The Sea Wolf."

"Out of the Fog" has a modern setting and deals with the turbulent romance between an excitement-hungry girl and a ruthless young man, determined to "get ahead" in the world, at no matter what cost. An excellent cast has been lined up in support of the two stars. It includes Thomas Mitchell, Eddie Albert, John Qualen, Aline MacMahon, George Tobias, Leo Gorcey and Odette Myrtil.

The unique setting for the drama is Sheephead Bay, a cheap seaside resort near New York. The story begins just after the summer season ends, and the year-round residents of the little community draw together for the long, lonely winter ahead. Two gentle old men, friends of long standing, forget the cares of their workaday lives fishing at night from their little row boat. They dream of the day when they will have saved up enough money to buy a bigger boat and sail down to Cuba to fish. Their dreams are rudely interrupted by the sudden appearance of a sinister young man who extracts five dollars a week "protection" money from them.

Not only does this opportunistic young man play havoc with the lives of the two old men, he also breaks up a romance of long standing. Meeting the pretty daughter of one of the old men, he fascinates her so completely that she forgets all about her steady boy friend, an underpaid speller for one of the boardwalk concessions. Her new admirer seems to open a vista to new life—the champagne and orchids kind she has always dreamed about.

They hit a few high spots together, then to make him jealous, she tells him that a man offered her a trip to Cuba. Pressed, she admits that the man is her father who is anxious to get her away from the man's sinister influence. She doesn't know, of course, that her "go getting" boy friend is extorting money from her father. Before he leaves her that night he has her promise to go to Cuba with him. Then he goes to the two old men, tells them he knows they have some savings and makes them turn the money over to him. Driven to desperation, the old men decide to murder him. They get him aboard their boat by a ruse. About to strike the lethal blow when his back is turned, their courage fails. He detects their purpose, jumps to his feet, draws a gun, stumbles and falls overboard into the bay.
