The beautiful flower arrangements and newly decorated walls and woodwork in white attracted the attention of the guests as they entered. On a console table, with a carved frame mirror behind, stood an urn-shaped white vase of pink and white roses between tall tapers in holders that matched the vase. On the mantle were white vases of white queen's crown Yellow chrysanthemums in a large low bowl were resplendent on the piano.

Miss Kate Frazier led the program and during the worship service Mrs. Jennie Freeman read a passage of scripture and Mrs. C. H. White read a poem. Mrs. Pat Beard gave the meditation and Mrs. John Deaton led the group in prayer. For study, Mrs. A. B. Gates discussed the work of Methodist women among migrants; Mrs. S. H. Underwood discussed the work among Indians on the reservations; Mrs. H. E. Ezelle, work with rural youth; and Mrs. Eliza Wade, work with the people of India.

When business was concluded guests were invited by the hostess to the dining room, attractive with arrangements of dahlias and oleanders. At the lace covered table were Mrs. E. McSparren and Mrs. Beard pouring from silver services.

District Conference of Western Texas Presbytery in Del Rio

The women of the 7th District of the Western Texas Presbytery will hold their annual conference in Del Rio Wednesday, November 5, with representatives in attendance from the four churches comprising the district.

Members will be in attendance from Uvalde, Rocksprings, Sanderson and Del Rio. The conference is held each year at Del Rio because of its central location by agreement of the churches of the district.

The theme for the program at the conference is, "My Utmost for Christ," and Mrs. Underwood, president of the Western Texas Presbytery, will bring a message on "Assembly wide Information."

The Sanderson Presbyterian Auxiliary will have several representatives present for the conference and delegates are urged to be on time for the registration which begins at 9:30 Wednesday morning.

This phase of work in the local church under the direction of Mrs. R. S. Wilkerson, who is Secretary of Assembly's Home Missions.

On Monday, November 3, an all day meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Lochausen. At this meeting the book "Why Stand Ye Idle," will be reviewed. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of that week a brief prayer service will be held each morning at ten o'clock in the home of Mrs. R. S. Wilkerson.

All members of the auxiliary are urged to attend these meetings.

HE IS TOP MAN

W. A. Nunn Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nunn of Sanderson, was credited with being top man in his new endeavors with an insurance company in Los Angeles, Calif. The official publication of his company reads in part: "Something in the way of a record for new men was made in the agency in September. Leading the entire field force, was a brand newcomer to the company, William A. Nunn, Jr." Bill had just completed his second month with the company.

LADIES ARE GUESTS AT ROTARY BANQUET IN SPANISH SCENERY

Members of the Sanderson Rotary Club were hosts Wednesday night at a Ladies Night Banquet held in the high school homemaker's banquet hall. A five-course dinner was prepared and served by homemaker students under the direction of Miss Frances Williams, instructor.

A Spanish motif, carried out in the programs and menu, gave the atmosphere of Old Spain, and serapes and charro costumes completed a colorful decoration.

The program for the banquet was planned and presented by members of the Rotary Club of Del Rio. Opening with the singing of "America" led by O. H. McAdams, and followed by the Invocation by Mr. McAdams, the program included a reading by Mrs. Paul Poag, a violin solo of "Stormy Weather" and "Estrellita" by Miss Gail Hamilton; and a piano solo, "Love's Dream" by Eleanor Miller.

Highlight of the evening came when, during the main course, the group was quieted and President Roosevelt was brought in over the radio in one of his fire-sides chat. The chat proved to be very satirical for Sanderson citizens, and citizens in general west of the Pecos. Snoopers later found the chat to be a reproduction of an imitator's voice on a phonograph record.

Among those of Del Rio presenting the program were Messrs. and Mesdames Paul J. Poag, J. Autrey Walker, Toastmaster, Thomas H. Graham Jr., John Rowland Sr., Carnell Hill, Mitchell Waldrop, Tom Miller, and Marshall Smith; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Johnson, O. R. Weinert, Mrs. Earl Miller, Misses Floy Cochran, Gail Hamilton, and Dorothy Dabney.

World of Fairy-Tale Enchantment For Children of this Area November 18

The world of fairy-tale enchantment will be brought to the footlights for the youngsters of this area November 18, when the Clre Tree-Major Children's Theatre presents "Sleeping Beauty" at Sul Ross auditorium under the sponsorship of the Davis Mt. Federation of Women's clubs.

The legend of the beautiful princess willing to a 100-year sleep on her 16th birthday and awakened by the prince who loves her is one that exists in folklore of almost every civilization, including the Hindu and Egyptian. Mrs. Major's stage adaptation is based on ancient version which has dramatic intensity not found in later French and English recordings of the tale. The prince, in the version used, arrives at the princess' palace on her 16th birthday in order to ask the king for her hand. Poignantly, the princess pricks her finger on the miniature distaff brought as a gift by the prince, who has come from lands so distant that he has never heard of the fate wished on the youngest, most cherished, member of his palace. How the prince induces the good fairy to see that after a hundred years he is neither aged nor changed is another dramatic element not

EAGLES PREPARE FOR HEREFORDS AFTER 32-0 SETBACK BY ALPINE

The Marfa Herefords will be the fifth Sanderson football opponent this season when they engage the Eagles in a game here Saturday. Scheduled at 3 o'clock, the game will bring together two relatively even-matched elevens. Both have been beaten by the Alpine Bucks by four and five touchdowns, respectively.

The Herefords went under first, at the very low end of a 26-0 count, and the Eagles fared even worse, losing 32 points to none.

Clear weather through the game is promised by the observers, and Art Weber predicts that the score should end about 14-6 with the Eagles as victors. Other experts failed to make comments except that they expect to see the Sanderson team up to form with the usual lineup starting. Ross Stavley, Sam Bell, Bill Cochran and Curtis Litton will handle the ball, and Bean, Davis, Perez, Allen, Hill, Duke, and McDonald will play the scrimmage line.

NATIONAL DEFENSE SECTION

With this issue of your Sanderson Times comes a special section which is published for your information and to lend encouragement in the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps.

This section was made possible through the business men of your community, in their efforts to get before the public just what Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps are; where they can be purchased, for how much, when they can be cashed, when they mature, what interest they will draw—in fact, everything that a person would want to know about an investment before he puts his money into it. These questions are answered in this section.

This also marks an effort to increase the sales of Stamps and Bonds in Terrell County, with more persons taking part in the buying. Even though there has been more than $27,000.00 worth of sales to date, there has been relatively few persons taking part in this effort. The business men and others feel that every person should do their part in the defense of America. They feel that even though you are able to buy no more than a 10c stamp daily, or one of the other stamps ranging from 25c upward to $5.00, each month, this would mean that you have "Bought Your Share in America."

Take your National Defense Section, read all the information about Defense Stamps and Bonds, note that the Sanderson schools are observing National Defense Week, as set by Governor Stevenson, with a program at the high school auditorium Friday morning, November 7, at 10 o'clock. Attend this program and also buy your part in America as you are able to do so. Do not destroy your National Defense Section. Put it away for future reference or place it in the hands of someone who does not have one so he may learn of the values of Defense.

It Happened in Sanderson TEN YEARS AGO This Week—Remember?

October 30, 1931

Large Enrollment at Night School, Classes in Typing, Short-hand and Bookkeeping Being Taught—The Sanderson Commercial Night School opened last Thursday evening with quite an increase in number over the group that first met to organize the school. Twenty were enrolled in the typing sections, fourteen in the bookkeeping class, and thirteen in the shorthand section. However, at the last meeting the typing section had an increase to its capacity. The bookkeeping and shorthand classes have not yet reached their limit, the first class of which begins at 7:45 o'clock, and the second class at 8 o'clock. All students are expected to be on time. * * *

Eagles Tie Alpine Bucks Saturday Eve.—The fans who saw Friday's contest between the Eagles and Alpine Bucks watched a well-matched game and well-trained teams. The plays were well executed. Sanderson showed more power in the line, as Alpine was unable to gain at the line and were forced to end runs, while Sanderson gained constantly at the line with Jack Hayre being principal plunger. Robey, Millam and Robertson made good gains at the line, and Robertson's plunges were good, but he did not seem to find the side line. * * * The entire Sanderson team played a good defensive game with Henry, left end, being the outstanding defensive man in the line. O. T. Schupbach proved his metal in this contest and made the local fans proud of him. He stopped Ezell in his tracks several times and made some of the hardest tackles of the game. * * *

A. E. Creigh, Jr. was a business visitor in Alpine Monday.

Bill Vaughan was a business visitor in Alpine Monday.

Mrs. Russell Dyer left Thursday morning for New York City where she will spend the winter with her mother.

WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

The Texas Mohair Weekly—Ray Winans has returned from Sanderson, where he assisted R. V. Raney at the Alamo Lumber Company there for quite awhile. Ray says, that while he likes that section of the country very much, yet he is glad to be back in Rocksprings at the Alamo and with his family.

The Fort Stockton Pioneer—The sale of 90,000 pounds of short wool at the prevailing price of 40 cents was reported here this week, the transaction being consummated Wednesday at the Stockton Wool & Mohair Co.

Selling at the same time was one clip of longer and lighter staple which brought 41 cents, being the highest that has been paid for wool this season. This clip was crossbred wool.

The Ozona Stockman—That the big ones don't always get away was proved by a party to Ozona fishermen who returned to Ozona the first of the week after a week-end trip to Devil's River lake north of Del Rio.

The party brought back a huge catfish weighing 53 pounds. The big fellow was caught on a trot-line and in the daytime.

Members of the party included Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank James, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Red Connell of San Antonio and Joe Corbell.

Bracketville News-Mail — A comment on the weather at that time in 1909: "Well, there won't be many more nights when you'll have to crawl out of bed about twelve o'clock to see if the pan under the refrigerator was emptied or not." Which meant that fall had tinged the air.

The Menard Messenger—Nineteen years ago, Mrs. Anna G. Bicknell, Los Angeles, then 78, made a bargain with Ben S. Hunter by which he was to pay her $35 a month the rest of her life as rent for a house she owned. At her death, Hunter was to become owner of the house.

Hunter died in 1940 and the court has just handed down a decision that his widow must continue the payments as long as Mrs. Bicknell lives, to gain possession of the house Mrs. Bicknell is 98 now and has already received more than $8,000 in monthly payments for the house, but a bargain's a bargain.

By WILL E. JAMES

LOYALTY
Webster says, is the state or quality of being loyal; devotion to duty; constancy; fidelity to state, a prince or sovereign, or to a husband or lover.

"He had such loyalty to the king as the law requires."—Clarendon.

Loyalty to anyone or thing, or cause, is not to be had through purchase. It is not a thing of barter, to be bought or sold.

But loyalty is something one may acquire through constant association, thought and practice. Then be loyal to the object of affection.

Whatever it be: your home, a town, your football team, your school, your lodge, your church, or your pursuits of recreation, fishing, hunting, boating or whatever it may be.

Believe in yourself, the things for which you stand, your friends, your business.

A town in which its citizens are united always forges ahead, one divided, where factional sides are fostered, may not fall in all its endeavors, but that town would reap a greater and more worthy reward, were the citizenry more closely united.

If you act because of the benefit accruing to yourself, not mindful of other fellow's gain, or the good of all—that's selfishness.

In the case of schools or other county or city interests, it always pays to consider the whole and leave one's personal gains out of the picture, for one's personal interests will profit in proportion to the benefit derived by the county or city, as a whole.

Another way in which to look at the matter of loyalty. Wherein lies the future of any country. It is or soon will be in the hands of the boys and girls of every walk of life.

How many citizens of the city and county can look back a few years when they were school children? Who then were guiding the destiny of the "ship of state?" Your fathers and mothers. And their fathers and mothers before them, and so on, down the vista of years.

If the future of Sanderson and Terrell County does not lie in the hands of the present growing citizens—the school children—in whose hands does it lie? Some stranger from the forks of the creek? No, siree!

As sure as little apples. The future of this section is the direct concern of the boys and girls—the coming citizens.

How well they carry-on must be the direct results of the education they are now acquiring. It is all up to them. How well do they put through the assignments given them in their school work? Watch them. Just that well will they finish the tasks that become theirs in manhood and womanhood. Are they loyal to their school duties, their clubs, their societies. What you learn in this stage, how well you perform your assignments writes failure or success in the affairs of your county, your city, or in any walk of life.

Just how loyal are the grown-ups of Sanderson today, those filling the responsible positions of our county, the "city dads," if you please, on down the line to the hublest citizen whose niche in life is to be a cog in the wheels of industry?

The school children of today not only deserve the loyalty of the citizenry, but they should have it! There is everything to be gained by the grown-ups lending them every encouragement and co-operation in all their endeavors. Because in them you may visualize the future of the city, the county, the state. How well you have stood behind them, denying nothing where the good of the country was concerned will come back to you ere you have passed from this vale of tears. And of course, do not want or look for your disloyalty to slap you in the face.

Then let's put everything in this fight for a brighter future. Let's get behind every good move concerning the activities of the boys and girls of the rising generation. Let's show our loyalty to their cause? By so doing the future of our country is assured.

What made Ross so sad Sunday afternoon?
It seems we have a poet in the school who likes to "listen to the breeze, blowing in the trees."
Wonder where Roy was when Maurine couldn't find him Saturday night? (as if the snoper didn't know).
A certain little boy seemed to be giving the pep rally a big "horse laugh." Cute, wasn't he? We think the Alpine Pep Squad is what caused the boys minds to be distracted from the game.
Sam Bell, we suggest you keep your hats a little cleaner, because a certain bunch of girls had to wash their heads.
Joan Anderson, we like your choice in that little Sophomore boy.
Why are two couples called lazy and crazy?
Marshall, how was the ride coming back from Virginia's Sunday? You certainly stayed far enough behind.
Snoper saw Betty Smith and Mickie walking on a certain street Sunday, who could they have been looking for?
James Albert needs someone to mend his shirt. Come! Come! girls.
When Bill Stirman takes his girl out for a ride, it's a long ride, Uvalde or other places.
Snoper went to the show Saturday night. The courting young couples were as good as the show. Snoper could quote names, but we won't this time.
Lloyd Deaton and Bill Stirman were in a terrific hurry to eat lunch at the Best Saturday—Alpine Pep Squad girls.
Flash! the latest romance—Mickie Corder and Lloyd.
There sho' would have been "war" if Maurine Cox had bumped into Sam and Betty Sunday night. We hear she does not like trifling, but who does?
Any boy who makes any kind of a team in SHS is a hero. Snoper guesses that is why Wilma Lois keeps throwing those heavenly smiles at James House.
Marilyn Blackweider goes in for blondes this week. Last week it was brunettes.

BOOK WEEK NOVEMBER 2-8

With Book Week almost before us we should pause to take stock of ourselves. How many books have I read this year? What kind of books have I been reading? How many times have I been to the library to look over the books and perhaps take one home with me?
The 1941 Book Week falls right in line with all of our other patriotic observances. Since we are trying to stress Americanism and to impress upon all our minds that here in America we are all free to read when, where, and what we want, the Book Week theme "Forward With Books" is very appropriate. Although several adaptations of this theme might be made, "America Goes Forward With Books" and "Forward With Books for Better Citizenship" seems to be more fitting. If we keep our democratic way of living, we must all read and read intelligently. This year let's all carry out the several adaptations of the theme of Book Week and become better citizens through reading.
Again let me remind you that the library in the Sanderson High School is here to serve the community and to serve you. Use it and become better citizens.

CITIZENSHIP STRESSED

Training of pupils in all the Sanderson Schools along the lines of American citizenship is being emphasized this year. All pupils are being taught the pledge to the flag, the patriotic songs, and respect for the American flag. In high school grades, pupils are required to take courses dealing with the principles of their government, the constitution of the United States and of Texas. In the elementary grades all pupils are taught daily the fundamental principals of patriotism.
In the Latin American School, especially are efforts being made to help the pupils become better American citizens. They are encouraged to speak the English language, to repeat the pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, to sing the national songs, and to salute the flag in a daily flag raising ceremony. Teaching and learning American patriotism is considered the most important single purpose for the Latin American citizens.

LIFE OF A SENIOR

On November 22, 1924, in Quitman, Texas, a baby boy was born and named Theron Horton. He lived in Quitman until last year when he moved to Sanderson, the last six weeks of his Junior year. Theron grew up to be quite a handsome young man. He has brown hair with a big wave right on his forehead, and the cutest dimples you ever saw. Notice them some time girls. Theron is quite a problem child in answering questions, so if I print something that isn't the truth, please don't blame me.
This year, Theron is taking English IV, Civics, Bookkeeping, and Commercial Law. Commercial Law is his favorite, and he wants to study law after he finishes high school. He likes to debate in Civics and Commercial Law. His favorite sport is football and he is a member of the Band, football team and the Eagle team. He is a member of the newspaper club. Asked his favorite people, he said, "I just like people." We've heard there is a certain little brown head mixed up in his likes, though. His favorite color is brown. He never uses a by-word, because when the reporter asked for it, he said, "Censored."
Theron's favorite hobby is hunting. Please don't go hunting and leave him at home.

ALPINE PEP SQUAD

The Alpine Pep Squad and Band visited Sanderson last Saturday. The band played the "High School Song," and the Pep Squad gave some yells for Alpine then gave 15 rah's for Sanderson.
At the half they marched on the field and two girls did acrobatic stunts while three wheels were formed by the rest of the girls.
After the game was over they marched down Main Street celebrating their victory.
The Pep Squad and Band of dear old SHS marched down the Main Street to the City Drug and then Band got on a truck and the Pep Squad in cars to continue to the Football Field.
The girls yelled for our Eagles several times then gave 15 rah's for Alpine. They continued to yell until the half, then, after Alpine's stunt, marched on the field and the Pep Squad formed the letter "A." The Band played "Alpine Will Pine Tonight," while the Pep Squad sang it. The Band formed an "S" and played "Sanderson Will Shine Tonight," as the Pep Squad sang.

HOME ECONOMICS

The H. E. Ia girls had a club meeting Thursday of last week. The topic of the program was "Good Manners." Articles were read and discussed by Marilyn Blackweider, Clara Alice Bell, Virginia Ruth Raney, Joan Anderson, Vima Cash, Billie Babb, and Virginia Byrd.
The girls now have curtains hung in the kitchen. These add much to the appearance and cut off the glare.

THE EIGHTH GRADE

The Eighth grade, Miss Wiemers and their sponsor, Miss Miss Willms, went out to the Jessup's ranch Saturday, 25th. The class members met at Mrs. Greene Cooke's at 6:00, and she and Mrs. Ogle took them to the ranch. At the ranch, games were played until 8:30, when supper was served. It consisted of barbecue, beans, salad, pickles, stuffed eggs, peaches, apple pie, doughnuts and tea.

Civic Classes Hold Session of Congress

The Civics class held a session of Congress, acting out the Senate.

In the real Senate there are ninety-six members, but since there are only twenty-three students in Civics, there were only twenty-three senators. Each member drew for states, and every senator represented two states, with some representing three.

The members elected a President and Clerk, who were Senator Theron Horton and Senator Billy Jo Corder. The president appointed different members to take his place so that everyone had a chance to act as president. The clerk called the roll, read the bills, and kept daily minutes. The Senate was conducted by parliamentary rule and Senator Holt acted as parliamentarian.

Every senator wrote a bill, which was read, discussed, and voted on. There were twenty-three bills. Eight were passed and eleven killed. Four were tabled or action deferred on them.

Texas Auto Drivers Rival Nazi Bombers In Destruction

Austin—Nazi bombers are doing very little better than Texas automobile drivers. For every 100 Britons the Nazis killed in September, autoist killed 82 Texans.

On Oct. 14 the British ministry announced 217 persons killed by bombs in the United Kingdom during September. Today State Police Director Homer Garrison announced that 178 traffic deaths were counted in Texas during the same month.

Continuing a trend which recently caused Garrison to predict an all-time high for traffic fatalities in 1941, deaths for the first nine months of this year totaled 1,370, a 13 per cent increase over the 1,213 persons killed in the same period last year.

Garrison found, on a basis of gasoline consumption, that the increase in travel has almost exactly paralleled the increase in fatalities. Privately owned vehicles have been driven approximately 13 per cent more this year, while no figures are available on the enormous increase in travel by Army and other government-owned vehicles.

Buffalo Grass Makes Good Lawn Says Specialist

Buffalo grass, sometimes erroneously called curly mesquite grass, makes excellent sod for lawns where a moderate supply of water is available.

On that account, says Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening of the A. and M. College Extension Service, it would be well to consider this grass for the home lawn. But she cautions not to give it "an abundance of water and fertilizer for that is likely to make it grow so rank it will require a great deal of mowing."

In areas of scant rainfall this grass will make a thin sod, but the sod can be improved by diverting from adjacent areas to the lawn and allowing to soak in.

Among the advantages of using this kind of grass, Miss Hatfield lists its ability to withstand prolonged dry spells better than Bermuda, St. Augustine and other lawn grasses; the ease with which it is controlled by cultivation when it spreads to gardens and fields; it grows closer to the ground than other grasses and thus requires less mowing; it has a fine texture, and a pleasing, soft green color.

Buffalo grass can be started from seed, but that is expensive and slow. Miss Hatfield suggests that a better method is to plant pieces of the sod about three inches square with a depth of about five inches. It is necessary to cover the roots but avoid smothering it by covering the leaves and stem with soil. Placed two or three feet apart, these plantings will make a complete sod in one good growing season.

St. Augustine sometimes is combined with buffalo for a lawn covering, the buffalo growing well in sunny portions and St. Augustine thriving in densely shaded sections where buffalo does not thrive.

Defense Bonds Bought

Recently the Terrell County Commissioners Court purchased

$100 worth of Defense Savings Bonds, series G, with funds from the Terrell County Permanent Fund. Money from this fund may be invested and the interest from the investment may be used for maintenance of the schools, although the principal in the fund may not be expended. Money for the purchase of the Defense Bonds was from the sale of school land and oil lease from other lands in Gaines County.

Terrell County, there has been sold a little over $27,000.00

worth of Defense Savings Bonds

since stamps sold, according to reports at the Sanderson State and at the local postoffice. In figuring these sales, those in charge have declared that the rate of sales is good, but that the number of people who have made the purchases is still a minority. It is urged that every person take some part in the defense program and do their bit, whether large or small, and purchase either Defense Savings Stamps or Bonds.

There are many people who are unable to buy

Defense Bonds, but these same people will be able to do their part by buying the smaller stamps or by buying Defense

Savings Stamps until they have accumulated a number to exchange for Defense Savings Bonds. They can be bought for 10 cents or for 25 cents, and those who feel that they cannot afford to do their part at the present are urged to do their part by purchasing stamps each day until they have accumulated enough to exchange for

WE FACE AN EMERGENCY. Marching across the face of Europe move the mechanized armies of Nazi Germany. Poland, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, France, Yugoslavia, Greece, all have fallen. We are not immune. Directly or indirectly, our way of life, even our independence is threatened. We must be on guard. Our task is to make America mighty, to make ourselves so strong that we can not only defend our nation, but can defy dictatorship wherever and whenever it dares to challenge us.

This need has come suddenly upon our peaceful country. It is regrettable that we must turn from the preoccupations of normal living to stress and strain of armament. We must, almost literally, beat our ploughshares into swords. This is unavoidable. We shall meet the need with the calm effectiveness characteristic of the American people.

Our undertaking is so vast that no single life can remain untouched by it. There is no section of our land into which it does not reach. It needs the active support of every man, woman, and child. Human imagination can hardly picture the outlines of this great project in its entirety.

We must maintain and equip an Army of two million men and be ready, if necessary, to double this figure. We must build a two-ocean Navy. We must build merchant ships, planes, tanks, motorcycles, scout cars, contact cars, troop transport cars. We must produce more munitions, more guns, more textiles for uniforms. We must construct buildings for additional plant capacity, and at the same time supply adequate housing for troops and civilian workers wherever needed. The towns and cities which are springing up, where men are being trained for military service, where workers for newly constructed plants must dwell, have to be equipped with necessary facilities. There must be public-utility services, stores, bakeries, cold-storage plants, laundries, hospitals, schools, recreation centers, and motion-picture theatres. Adequate arrangements for healthful living must be provided for the large groups of population which have been shifted to these new localities. It is only with these essentials that people can put forth their greatest effort in accomplishing their part in our national program.

Defense Costs Money
Ships, planes, tanks, cars, houses and the rest of the long list of defense necessities cost money. Present plans, according to the most recent available figures, call for the expenditure for defense purposes of more than 40 billion dollars. This figure, as it stands, is almost beyond comprehension. It is more easily understood when it is considered that a 35,000-ton battleship, such as the U. S. S. North Carolina, costs 70 million dollars; that it takes 50 million dollars to build an aircraft carrier; 20 to 30 millions for a cruiser. A single four-engine bombing plane costs nearly half a million dollars. We need large numbers of these flying fortresses, as well as lighter bombers, dive bombers, pursuit planes, and still other types of aircraft, for defense against present-day methods of aggression. In addition to paying the bill for all these and numerous other defense items, the Government is financing three-fourths of the new plants needed to fill defense orders.

How Funds Will Be Raised
The Government can raise this money either by taxation, or by borrowing, or by both methods. The Secretary of the

Defense Bonds

Treasury has recommended that we meet the larger part of expenditures out of current revenue. Higher tax rates, applied to the larger national income arising in considerable part as a result of defense spending, will greatly increase the Government revenues. This should make it possible to finance the major proportion of defense requirements on a cash or pay-as-you-go basis.

Additional funds needed can be borrowed either from banks and other lending institutions, or from private individuals. The Government has decided to go directly to the people for a substantial part of the money for its needs.

Why Borrow from Savings

Financing expenditures in large part by borrowing directly from the people will result in certain definite advantages, which may be summed up as follows:

1. Every individual will have a chance to do his part in the Defense Program, to feel a sense of personal participation in our united effort.
2. Every individual will have available a ready means for systematic saving to meet future needs.
3. Well-distributed holdings of Defense Savings Bonds will serve as a safeguard to the entire country in the period of adjustment which must eventually follow the reduction of defense activities and the return to a normal peace-time economy. Reduced earnings and some unemployment must be anticipated during this change. Holdings of United States Defense Bonds, redeemable for cash on short notice, will act as reserves quickly available in time of need.
4. By lending to the Government all that can be spared from current incomes, people will not only provide funds urgently needed for Defense expenditures, but also minimize a tendency toward rising prices by curtailing their buying competition with the Defense Program.

Prevent Price Inflation

5. Financing by means of Defense Savings Bonds will help in still another way to prevent an inflationary rise in prices. When banks make purchases of Government bonds, or when individuals or corporations borrow from banks to purchase Government bonds, demand deposits are likely to expand. This is true because banks usually pay for the bonds they purchase, not with actual cash, from their vaults, but by placing on their books newly created deposits to the credit of the Government. The result is the same if the bank is lending to individuals or corporations for the purchase of Government bonds; that is, demand deposits to the credit of the Government increase. When the Government draws upon these deposits to defray some of its expenses, the purchasing power of the general public is increased. Hence the purchase of bonds through the creation of new demand deposits has been accomplished without a decrease in anyone's spending, and purchasing power is increased at a time when the volume of goods available is limited by defense requirements. Under these circumstances, an inflationary rise in prices, with all its attendant disadvantages, might result. The purchase of bonds out of current savings, on the other hand, would not expand demand deposits. It would serve to reduce potential purchasing power, and thus to lessen a tendency toward higher prices.

Defense Savings Issues

Three new issues of United States Savings Bonds were offered on May 1, 1941. They are known as Defense Savings Bonds, Series E, Series F, and Series G. No limit has been set on the length of time during which these bonds will be offered for sale, but the power to end that period rests with the Secretary of the Treasury. To facilitate the steady accumulation of savings by small investors, a new Defense Series of postal savings stamps has been provided by the Post Office Department. When a sufficient number of these stamps has been purchased, they may be exchanged for Defense Bonds.

All of these Defense Savings Bonds, Series E, Series F, and Series G, are registered bonds, issued only in the name of the owner. The owner's name is written on each bond and it is payable only to the owner, unless he dies or is in some way disabled. Consequently, these bonds are not transferable, and may not be sold, or used as security for a loan. The Secretary of the Treasury may not call the bonds for redemption before their date of maturity. The owner of the bonds may, however, if he wishes, redeem them at any time before maturity, after a short initial period immediately following purchase. The amount of money which the owner will receive in redeeming a bond at any time before its maturity is printed on the face of each bond. The income from savings bonds of these three series is subject to federal income taxes.

Series E for Small Investors

Series E bonds are designed primarily to meet the needs of the small investor who is able to save some part of his current income. Consequently, only individuals may own bonds of this series. Holdings are limited to $5,000 in maturity value, originally issued to any one person in one calendar year. Series E bonds may be registered in the name of one person alone, in the names of two persons as co-owners, or in the name of one person, with another person named as beneficiary, who may inherit the bond in the event of the owner's death. These bonds are issued on a discount basis, that is, what the individual pays for a bond is only 75 per cent of its face value. The face value is payable at maturity, 10 years from date of issue. Thus a bond of this series, bought in June 1941 for $18.75 will be redeemable June 1, 1951 for $25. This is an increase of 33 1-3 per cent, equal to an annual interest return of 2.90 per cent, compounded semiannually. Series E bonds are issued in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, and $1,000. These are maturity values. The bond may be bought for $18.75, $37.50, $75, $375 and $750.

Series F Bonds

Series F bonds are intended for larger investors. They may be owned by individuals in the same manner as Series E bonds. Series F bonds may be owned also by corporations, associations or other unincorporated groups, or by trustees. Banks receiving demand deposits may not own these bonds. Holdings are limited to $50,000 cost price, originally issued in any one calendar year. This total may be made up entirely of Series F bonds, or may consist in part of Series F bonds and in part of Series G bonds.

Series F bonds like Series E bonds are issued on a discount basis. The issue price is 74 per cent of their face or maturity value. The amount is payable at maturity, 12 years from date of issue. A bond of this series bought in June 1941 for $74 would be redeemable June 1, 1951 for $100. The increase in value, paid at maturity, is equal to an annual interest return of 2.53 per cent, compounded semiannually. The denominations of Series F bonds are $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. These figures represent the value of the bonds at maturity. The bonds may be bought for $74, $370, $740, $3,700 and $7,400.

Series G Bonds

Series G bonds are intended for those who wish to receive a current income from their investment. They are issued at par, that is, the cost is the same as the face value. They mature 12 years from date of issue. Interest is payable semiannually, at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent, if the bonds are held to maturity. Like Series F bonds, Series G bonds may be purchased by individuals, corporations, unincorporated groups or organizations, and by trustees. Banks which receive demand deposits may not own these bonds. The limitation on holdings of Series G bonds is $50,000 cost price, originally issued in any one calendar year. Holdings may consist of either of Series G bonds alone or of Series G bonds in combination with Series F bonds. Series G bonds are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000.

The interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent, payable on Series G bonds, is figured on the 12-year period for which the owner, in purchasing such a bond, agrees to lend money to the Government. If an owner of a Series G bond redeems the bond before its maturity he will not receive, for this shorter period which the loan has run, so high a rate of interest as if he held the bond for the full 12 years. Consequently, an adjustment or refund of interest already paid is required in such cases. This is reflected in the fact that the redemption value before maturity is less than the face amount of the bond. There are two exceptions to this rule. If a Series G bond is held by an individual who dies before the bond matures, the bond may be redeemed at par before maturity. In the same manner, if Series G bonds are held by a trustee, they may be redeemed at par before maturity, if the trust is ended because of death.

Where to Buy Bonds

Series E bonds may be purchased for cash at Post Offices and at many other agencies, including banks and savings and associations. They may also be bought by mail from the Treasurer of the United States or any Federal Reserve bank.

Series F and G bonds may be purchased, either in person or by mail, from any Federal Reserve bank or from the Treasurer of the United States. Banking institutions may take orders for these bonds.

Defense Savings Stamps

For those who wish to buy Defense Savings Bonds on the installment plan, Defense Savings Stamps are available. These stamps are issued in denominations of 10 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents, $1.00 and $5.00. They may be purchased at United States post offices, at many banks, at department stores, and other convenient places. Purchasers of Defense Savings Stamps are given albums in which to mount them.

Defense Savings Stamps may be redeemed in cash at any time, or when they have been accumulated in sufficient amount may be exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds. Investors may purchase and hold any amount of these stamps. As a practical matter, however, there would be no advantage in accumulating more than enough to exchange for a bond. To do so would be equivalent to holding cash. No interest would be earned on amounts so tied up. There would be no redemptions if stamps were lost or stolen, if they are not registered.

Defense Work Brings New Trades for Laborers

When father was a young man, the buggy-whip and carriage factories did a big business. The coming of the automobile abolished those industries, and the makers of carriages and whips learned new trades.
 The same sort of thing is happening now—and much more rapidly—as our nation converts its peacetime factories to the production of a great stream of planes and guns and tanks and ships and ammunition for the defense of democracy.

Our supplies of raw materials for our factories are limited; we have not enough rubber, steel, aluminum, copper, silk and other materials to supply our defense industries and at the same time produce all the machines and gadgets which make the United States the most mechanical, the most luxurious nation in the world.
 "First things first" is our motto.

The United States is tightening up its belt. It is "cutting off the fat and hardening the muscles," as the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board explained in announcing the new all-out program to organize production to the limit.

Defense is the most important business and "defense business" distinctly is different from "Business as usual."

All this means that the production of peacetime gadgets must be curtailed to provide materials—and labor, too—and guns and tanks and ships.

For the duration of the emergency, some of the factories which have produced the luxurious machines which enable us to have the world's highest standard of living, face the same fate as the buggy-whip factories of father's youth. We'll get along with the old car, or fix the old washing machine.

Re-tooling of these plants, and the construction of the hundreds of new plants needed for defense production, takes considerable time. The mechanical task is complex and difficult.

Defense work will require re-training of many of these workers in the factories and shops of peacetime. Many non-defense plants haven't yet obtained defense contracts or sub-contracts.

Thus, the problem is a double one—how to convert more labor to defense, and how to convert factories to defense.
 The Federal government is making a double attack on this problem as a major phase of defense, to avoid the delays, the closed factories, the dead smokestacks, the empty market baskets, the wornout shoes of school children, which go with factory layoffs and "furloughs."

At the top, Washington defense officials are doing all they can. They foresaw the problems and made plans, starting more than a year ago, to meet it as it arose—to match men and women workers with jobs, as fast as they can be trained and as

He will work with State Chairman Nathan Adams and Governor Coke Stevenson, vice chairman, in the drive to raise $200,000 in Texas to aid sixty million unfortunate and suffering war victims in China. Money given by Texas school children will be used to aid the children of China, millions of whom are homeless, destitute and starving as the result of Japanese invasion. Chairman L. A. Woods urges that every school in Texas make a collection for United China Relief without delay and forward the money to Nathan Adams, president of the First National Bank in Dallas. The money will be sent overseas to aid the little Chinese children who are so badly in need of help. Every student and every teacher is asked to subscribe to this humane cause.

derly transfer of workers must be effected. It is in the vocational schools of each factory town and city that training must be arranged. It is in the 1500 state employment offices that the future demands for defense workers must be reported, analyzed, and translated into jobs at the lathes, the planers, the shapers, the milling-machines.

More labor dislocations are in sight. Whether the layoffs can be shortened and modified so that distress is reduced to the minimum, and defense is quickened correspondingly, depends upon the success of efforts now under way to mobilize employers, workers and government, at the community level.

Toward this goal on a national scale—the orderly and quick transfer of millions of non-defense workers and inexperienced young people into the new workbenches of a defense democracy where they are and will be badly needed—the Office of Production Management has been pointing its most earnest and energetic efforts.

QUADRUPLE PURCHASE OF DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS

Edna D. The store is one of 22,000 in the State of Michigan making Defense Stamps available to their customers. Michigan pioneered in store sales of Stamps

Labor Department in mid-August reported that the national defense appropriations and contracts authorized to that time would require the use of 19,000,000 man-years of labor—and at that time, only about 4,000,000 men and women were directly employed in privately owned and government defense plants.

Conservative estimates are that 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 more workers must be added to the working force of the defense plants within a year.

The problem faced by government, industry and labor is how the non-defense worker may be re-trained and re-directed into the defense effort, to us from having a community next to a community defense plant is seeking skilled and semi-skilled labor. The government has quickly through the Production Management Office these situations as they arise, in aluminum good weaving, automobile production and other "priority use" situations.

Americans To Have Fewer Comforts, More Defense

The defense effort is beginning to jolt us. To fight for democracy and against Hitlerism, we have turned our factories into arsenals—conscious that we are about to deprive ourselves of some of our most-prized comforts. We are diverting our iron and copper and aluminum to the making of guns and tanks and planes and ships to be used in the defense of democracy.

During the past summer our employment and production, stimulated by defense spending, were at peace-time highs, exceeding even the peak of 1929's boom.

Already the funds allocated for defense purposes have mounted to more than $60,000,000,000. This is more than all the wages and salaries paid in the United States during 1929, when wage and salary payments broke all records. It is more than the entire national income in any of the five depression years.

The impact of this tremendous program will mean more work, more pay, for Americans. Gradually, however, the impacts of defense production and spending, and the effect of conservation of materials imperatively needed for national defense, are beginning to hit some of us. In the few months before Christmas, everyone will feel it more and more. Santa Claus will be on hand, but he'll have to deal out Defense Bonds instead of gadgets.

A new tax law, adding more than three billion dollars annually to the government's revenue, will take a much larger proportion of everyone's earnings, starting back to last January.

The government, through its control over credit, has tightened up restrictions on installment buying, making it harder to buy luxuries and semi-luxuries, and easier to invest money in government bonds—part of a conscious effort to reduce excessive spending and its inflationary effects on prices. You now need one-third cash as down payment to buy a car.

Use of all silk for stocking and other civilian uses was cut off when the freezing of Japanese raw silk imports made it necessary to save our entire supply for powder-bags and parachutes. Some panicky women stormed the stores, but most of us are helping by depending upon American mills to provide nylon and rayon stockings when the need comes. Cotton stockings may become fashionable.

A shortage in transportation facilities, following transfer of tankers to Britain, resulted in an Atlantic Coast curfew in filling-stations and later in rationing of gasoline supplies by wholesale distributors. Atlantic seaboard filling-stations close at 7 p. m., and thousands of night-shift workers in them are either looking for defense jobs, or working daytime.

The automobile factories, after a year which established an all-time record production, have been told they must reduce their passenger-car production by 50 per cent. Moreover, they cannot be assured of the steel and other raw materials even for that. And although the first few 1942 models off the assembly line this month and next will have the usual chromium trim and gadgets, when these supplies are used up there won't be any more.

Also looking for defense jobs are the salesmen who have made their living from passenger cars, electric appliances, refrigerators, washing-machines, and other non-defense machines which are comfortable and useful but not now as essential as planes and guns and tanks and ships.

The factories which have been producing this rich stream of comforts are looking for defense contracts.

The men and women who have worked in the factories are preparing for defense jobs, too. Some of the men are in the armed services; some are already in training for specific defense work in their localities, nearly all of them are facing a drastically-changed scheme of things.

All over the country, these and other changes are happening, or are about to happen, to all of us in varying degrees.

In some communities the impact will be more severe than in others. In some localities where there are defense contracts the displacement of workers will be minor. In others, unless defense contracts are obtained quickly, the industrial workers in non-defense plants and the tradesmen and storekeepers who depend upon them, will suffer. The "one-industry" communities, particularly those which produce civilian goods using steel, copper, aluminum, and iron as raw materials, are especially alarmed.

There have been estimates that as many as 2,000,000 industrial workers may be affected in non-defense industries whose materials are needed for the mounting national defense program.

On the other hand, the U. S.

Women Can Practical Contribution

Station — Self-sufficiency farm families is a contribution farm women make in the Food-For-Government program, according to the chairman of the Defense Board.

Out many lines of production are now over-riding of heavier domestic and requirements of the Lease Program, he said. A small increase in individual farm would mean a small increase in the national supply of goods for the family's needs vitally needed are milk, eggs, pork and vegetables.

Texas farmers have been asked to increase milk from 4,488,000,000 pounds this year to 4,650,000 for 1942. The state goal for eggs is 203,775,000 dozen, compared with 185,250,000 dozen for this year. An increase in farm gardens from 296,647 to 352,800 is also being asked.

An extra cow, a flock of chickens, or a pig will represent a net gain in farm income without increasing farm overhead, he explained. Many farmers have feed available as a result of legumes and grasses seeded under the AAA farm program. Since feed crop allowances will not be issued under the 1942 AAA program, the additional acres can be planted to feed.

The increase of these foods on farms not only provides a sufficient diet to the farm family but at the same time releases food to families who depend upon commercial supplies, the chairman said.

Nutrition Program Adopted for State To Aid Defense

A unified state food and nutrition program designed to strengthen the total population for its defense effort, as well as to meet the state's long-range health needs, was adopted by the Texas State Nutrition Committee during a meeting in Austin, October 13-14.

Economic assistance for Texas

More Defense Foods Needed

"More milk, more eggs, more pork" is the food-for-defense appeal being made to American farmers by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Farmers are responding untedly, the Department says, and are turning huge quantities of feed from the AAA Ever-Normal Granary into energy-giving foods. Milk production is highest on record; egg production is higher than in any year except 1930; extra numbers of brood sows are being held over for fall farrowing. Nevertheless, the Department declares, even additional increases in these products must be made to supply the growing home demand and the emergency needs of Great Britain.

families unable to produce or purchase a well balanced diet was one objective of the broad program, so the committee endorsed an over-all price control bill, recommended legislation which would remove the occupation tax on dealers in oleomargarine and resolved to work toward adjustment of freight rate differentials.

To accomplish its objectives the group planned for the setting up of volunteer food and nutrition committees in every Texas county and incorporated town, according to chairman, Mildred Horton, who is vice-director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. She explains that these committees will be asked to assist with in-service training for people working in food establishments and to work toward expansion of the community school lunch program and the food stamp plan.

Other objectives included in the plan are: promotion of consumer and producer cooperatives, establishment of diet clinics in connection with hospitals and medical clinics, and cooperation in the Food for Freedom program of the state and county USDA Defense Boards to assure adequate food production for domestic uses and lend-lease needs.

Setting up of a state nutrition committee for negroes likely will be one result of the meeting, according to Miss Horton.

A sub-committee on research pledged to find new ways to increase use of Texas-produced food. Another sub-committee, one devoted to education in nutrition, will work toward helping all Texas school children know what constitutes a good diet and its importance to their physical and mental welfare. The necessity of universal education in the principals of nutrition was emphasized in an address by Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the University of Texas.

Dr. J. M. Coleman of the State Health Department, Austin; Dr. Erceel S. Eppright of the Texas State College for Women, Denton; Ruth Huey of the State Board for Vocational Education, Austin; and Jennie Camp, Extension Service specialist in home production planning, College Station, formulated the state program from recommendations submitted by seven sub-committees.

Nutritionists were urged to take a tip from Popeye in a panel discussion on "Propagandizing for Improved Nutrition." Speakers pointed out how the comic strip character has glorified spinach and helped increase its consumption. Educators were advised to keep their propaganda for good foods dramatic, and aesthetic if they wanted to capture the public imagination.

U. S. Workers To Be Re-trained for Defense Jobs

Additional national defense and lend-lease appropriations are coming up, and it now appears that 2,500,000 more workers will be required by the primary defense industries by next summer. This will double the present number.

The Labor Department has estimated that 19,000,000 man-years of labor would be required in primary and secondary defense production to meet the $47,000,000,000 in contracts and authorizations made up to July 5. (Since then contracts and authorizations have mounted to $60,000,000,000.)

The net annual addition to the nation's labor force, of young people growing up and leaving school and getting jobs, after subtraction of deaths and retirements, is little more than 500,000 workers.

So most of the immediate and imperative defense industry jobs must be done by the "non-defense" industrial workers of the nation.

The men from the filling-stations, the gadget-factories, the soldiers who are released from the army and the skilled workmen who have been producing automobiles, washing-machines and the other useful implements of a high-standard-of-living nation, are turning rapidly into defense workers. Plow shares are being converted to swords.

Plants that turn out tanks and guns and planes and ships—and the parts that go to make up these weapons of democracy—require skills which are different in most cases from those practised in peacetime factories. And most of their workers must have at least some training for the new machines of defense.

The need is for re-training of men for defense, for the training of "non-defense" workers to do the production work of a new defense economy with different machines, working on harder metals in most cases, but with the same American mass-production methods.

The efficient factories, which have been engaged in producing the semi-luxuries which have become almost necessities in this rich land, are the obvious sources of "defense" labor, especially since the defense needs for materials are restricting their output now.

The OPM's Labor Division a year ago set up a Labor Supply committee and a Labor Supply branch to meet this particular problem. It was a dual job—to aid workers to prepare themselves and to insure defense plant employers against a lack of labor force which would cripple their production.

The OPM went to work, under the guidance of Associate Director-General Sidney Hillman, on the theory that it should operate through existing agencies, Federal, state and local. The activities of the local public vocational schools were aimed directly at national defense training through the U. S. Office of Education, and Congress generously provided for expansion of their program and facilities. The OPM Labor Supply and Training program also tied together the training programs of the U. S. Civil Service Commission and the work experience projects of the National Youth Administration, the Works Project Administration, and to some extent the Civilian Conservation Corps. Within OPM there was established a training-Within-Industry Branch, closely associated with the apprenticeship program of the Labor Department and the states, which has worked intimately in the field with manufacturers in developing programs of in-plant training.

Specialists from private and public life were enlisted. Their aim throughout was to insure an adequate supply of skilled and semi-skilled defense workers for the national crisis. A necessary part of their effort was to utilize the resources available, to bring into the production effort the abilities of trained or available women, negroes, or other citizens whose industrial abilities have not been used and who contribute greatly if their usefulness is recognized.

Now comes the great test of this program. Factories producing non-defense goods are about to lay off their production workers. In some "one-industry" cities and towns, this may face many people with unemployment, or else the heartrending uprooting that goes with forced migration of working people.

A program of re-training and placement of such workers in defense jobs has been worked out, utilizing the combined efforts of local agencies, the state and federal employment services, employers, labor unions and OPM's industrial experts—all aimed toward the major goal. That goal is to match men with jobs, to contribute to the defense effort by increasing the effectiveness of manpower—woman-power—and prevent any "priority unemployment" which will throw workers out of jobs in one community in which no defense work has been placed.

The Federal government, having started the training program and subsidized its operations, is anxious and willing to promote and adapt training to any special situations.

Federal activities, however, depend upon local spark-plugs—public minded citizens of a locality who are ready to devote their time and their efforts to the mobilization of their schools, their camps, and their local activities, to the national effort to do something for defense—and for their own people.

HELPERS

Temple makes buying Savings Stamps a practice. She is with an album which is up faster than ever cooperates in Retail-Defense Week.

Freedom Worth? The defense effort even if most none can tell. We have watched the dynamic program of America rearming believe that the present production schedules will be expanded considerably before the end of the year. Events upon the continent of Europe and in the Far East undoubtedly will affect our efforts.

The price of freedom may prove greater than we now contemplate, but dollars spent for democracy may pay many times the dividend of dollars wasted in the era of false prosperity when economic planning was derided.

Dollars have played an important part in the development of our economy. Dollars can play a vital role in the mobilization of our resources for defense—in permitting the productive effort limited only by our ability to mobilize manpower and materials. However, dollars cannot supply the will to produce weapons, the will to resist an invader, the will to vanquish the most powerful armies the world has ever known.

America must summon plenty of that, too!

"FROM PLAIN TO PLANES IN 120 DAYS"

Above is a pictorial record of the speed with which Texas labor got the job done for national defense. The North American Aviation Ins. plant at Grand Prairie was started and put into production in 120 days—25 acres under one roof—America's first windowless air-conditioned airplane factory. The company pays tribute to the cooperation of Texas citizens and their enthusiasm.

The Dec. 17 photo shows the bare framework for the first of nine buildings on the grounds. On April 7, 1941, the plant was dedicated and delivered its first three airplanes. The later pictures are of a group of the training planes produced and of two sides of the mammoth main factory building. For the most part, Texans make up the vast army of workers employed in building the plant and the planes.

Where the Money Comes From for Defense Purposes

Although Congress appropriates funds, the Treasury must find cash through taxes, customs, or borrowing before the bills can be paid. When the Treasury speaks of cash income, it refers to money raised by taxation. Borrowed money is not income. The principal source of cash income is income taxes. Before the latest income-tax revision was passed, the Treasury estimated that $5,420,000,000, or 54 percent of the Government's expected cash income in fiscal 1942, would be raised through income taxes. The new law would increase this amount by about $2,527,000,000 in the calendar year.

The June estimate of miscellaneous internal revenue for fiscal 1942 was $3,135,000,000, or 31 per cent of the total cash income; but this will be increased by something like $1,027,000,000 in the next calendar year, it is expected. Miscellaneous internal revenue includes estate and gift taxes, levies on distilled liquors and fermented malt beverages, tobacco manufacturers, taxes on bonds of indebtedness and issues of capital stock, on telegraph and telephone facilities, on admissions to entertainment and club dues, and a large variety of manufacturers' excise taxes.

Now fiscal policy ties up very closely with the effort to avoid inflation. Prices are most likely to rise rapidly when the quantity of money people have to spend increases simultaneously with a decrease in the goods upon which they spend it. That is the condition existing today, and one of the important considerations in the offering of defense bonds in small denominations, along with defense savings stamps.

If a large part of the increase with the rise of employment can be channeled into defense bonds, the public will exert less spending pressure and thus relieve the upward pressure on prices.

The campaign to sell defense Treasury bonds began May 1. During the first month of effort $349,818,000 in defense bonds were sold. In the second month $314,527,000 worth.

Defense Savings Bonds, Series E, are available in denominations of $18.75, $37.50, $75.00, $375.00 and $750.00. All increase in value by 33 1-3 percent in 10 years.

Purchasing a $75.00 bond, provides the cash needed for one Navy chronometer watch; or nine crew's mattresses. The $750.00 bond will purchase 500 mess trays, or 3 sextants. In terms of Defense Savings Stamps a 10-cent stamp will buy five 45-caliber cartridges; a 25-cent stamp will buy seven 30-caliber cartridges; a 50-cent stamp will buy a 10-inch butcher knife, a 12-inch cooking spoon or a 2-quart bean pot.

The Marine Corps gives the price of one $18.75 bond as the cost of a winter jacket, 3 bed blankets or 2 ship and boat bells. A $37.50 bond will obtain 13 life preservers, 12 hammocks or one marine barometer.

In the Army the $18.75 bond will provide 550 rounds of .30-caliber ammunition, or 145 rounds of .50-caliber cartridges, or 104 rounds of .50-caliber armor-piercing bullets.

Legislation Supports Prices of Needed Defense Foods

Texas farmers answering America's call for increased quantities of vital foods in the Farm Defense Program have the protection of Federal farm legislation against price collapses of these commodities, B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas USDA Defense Board, said this week.

The new act of Congress, known as the Steagall amendment, requires that whenever it is necessary to encourage the expansion of non-basic agricultural commodities in the present emergency the Secretary of Agriculture must insure a public notice of the expansion.

Through the same law, Vance said, the Secretary of Agriculture supports the farm price of the commodity at not less than 85 per cent of parity. Before the price-supporting program can be discontinued, the Secretary must give sufficient public notice of the termination so that producers may make readjustments in production, Mr. Vance continued.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard has already given public notice covering hogs, eggs, evaporated and dry skim milk, cheese and chickens until December 31, 1942. Cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice are supported by law through loans at rates based on 85 per cent of parity, Vance declared, but he pointed out that surpluses of these crops already exist and no increased production is needed.

The new production is not needed now, the State Board chairman said, since the prices of the non-basic commodities named are well above the 85 per cent of parity level, but farmers can plan their 1942 production in the knowledge that prices can and will be supported should it become necessary.

Franklin W. Moore, president of the American Hotel Association, made the first Defense Bond purchase at the booth. All the nation's leading hotels are expected to sell Defense Savings Stamps.
