Due to unforeseen need for additional man power, men 20 to 40 years of age have an excellent opportunity for assignment to the arm of service of their choice.

Of interest to men who want to combine thrills, adventure and good pay with service to Uncle Sam, the age limit has recently been raised for parachutists. Such men must be between 18 and 32 inclusive, weight not over 185, have good but not necessarily perfect eyesight, and normal blood pressure. Parachutists receive regular Army pay of their grade plus $50 a month bonus.

To men who can qualify as engineer specialists in this man's Army, and want to get to work quickly at jobs which civilian training fits them—where you can pull your own weight and more in licking the Japs and Germans—then contact the nearest Army recruiting representative right now and get all the information on openings for the Corps of Engineers.

If you are not yet 27, physically fit, and with a reasonably good education, your place may be in the Army Air Forces. If qualified, you can enlist immediately and go into the Air Forces in grade of Private and be learning useful things about the planes you are going to fly. Then when your time comes, you will be promoted as Aviation Cadet and sent to school. Or, if you can qualify, be enlisted in the Air Forces Enlisted Reserves, and remain at home until called to active duty for training as an Air Man. If you are a college man, you can qualify for Aviation Cadet training, be enlisted in the Army Air Forces Enlisted Reserve and be deferred until graduation. Unless circumstances require, the Army will not call you until you have finished your college work.

If you made a grade of 65 or more, but less than 80 on the screening test for Aviation Cadets in the Air Forces, here's good news for you! The West Texas Recruiting and Induction District has a quota to fill for glider pilots in Class A—that is the men who have had previous aerial experience, are between 18 and 35 years of age inclusive, and otherwise qualified. Interested men should go to the local Army Recruiting Station and present an affidavit attesting to flight experience. Students, when graduated, will be Staff Sergeants, and outstanding graduates will be commissioned. This is the chance you have been waiting for!

Vacancies exist for radio operators and radio repairmen in the Army Signal Corps. If you are an operator with an amateur or commercial license, between 18 and 45 and can meet physical requirements, Uncle Sam wants you. Radio repairmen may be enlisted if they have one of the following qualifications: (1) Member of the Radio Servicemen of America. (2) Member of Radio Manufacturers Service. (3) At the time of application, are employed in radio repair service. Men volunteering for this service have the satisfaction of knowing that they are being enlisted directly into the Army Signal Corps as radio repairmen or operators. Enlistments of qualified men, 20 years and over, in the draft age are welcome in the Army of the United States, Unassigned. The Army is taking every possible step to insure that specialists entering the Service are assigned where their abilities can best be utilized. Every effort is made to use each man's qualifications to the utmost.

It appears that every able bodied man in America will soon be in the armed Service of this great Nation. The earlier this is accomplished, the sooner the Stars and Stripes will again wave over Corregidor, Bataan and Wake Island. We will then feel that, in a measure, the her-

Fort Stockton Pioneer—Rapid progress is being made in the construction of Miller Field buildings, which will be future site of the activities of the Pacific Air School, Ltd. Bottlenecks in materials supply, labor and financing have been overcome, and favorable weather also has contributed to the progress.

Fort Stockton Pioneer—Members of the Fort Stockton Rotary Club present at Tuesday's meeting voted to disband and surrender their charter as a unit in Rotary International. Conflicting activities and increasingly heavy work of members affected attendance radically in recent months, and resulted in the decision to disband the club at this time, announced Lloyd D. White, president.

The WPB reported the dollar value of war shipments from 430 automotive industry plants totaled $350 million during April, an increase of 46 percent over February. Army Services of Supply Commander Somervell instructed civilian guards at 11,000 war plants to organize an auxiliary to the Army's Corps of Military Police as a further protection against enemy saboteurs.

THE WAR FRONT

The "Flying Tigers" of the American Volunteer Group were placed under the Army Air Corps command in China and opened their operations with heavy raids on three key Japanese bases at Hankow, Nanchang and Canton. Six Japanese planes were destroyed without loss.

A Navy communique reported Army bombers scored hits on an enemy cruiser and sank a transport in the Aleutian Islands. In addition, Navy submarines sank three destroyers. The situation in the Islands "has not changed materially," however, in the past two weeks, the Navy report said. The Office of Indian Affairs announced all of the Aleutian Islands west of Dutch Harbor, as well as the Pribilof Islands, have been classified as parts of a total evacuation zone. The Office said nearly 1,000 civilians have been removed from these areas by the Navy and transferred to the American mainland.

The first communique from U. S. headquarters of the European theater reported six U. S. Douglas light bombers manned by U. S. pilots successfully attacked targets by daylight in German occupied territory in an operation with RAF bombers. Two American planes were reported missing. The navy said U. S. bombers carried out a second attack on Japanese-held Wake Island. The Navy also announced the U. S. aircraft carrier Wasp carried aerial reinforcements to the British island of Malta in the Mediterranean. Gen. MacArthur's Australian headquarters reported repeated air raids on Japanese-held territory in that area. The sinking of 17 more United Nations merchant vessels by enemy submarine was announced.

The name of the story is derived from the situation where in Taylor makes love to Miss Shearer to ward off the affections of George Sanders. It's just a game for the wealthy lady but she ultimately discovers that when two play it, it's for keeps. Included in the dramatics is a fist fight between two men who know nothing about fighting. They wind up in jail and Miss Shearer decides who she wants by paying his bail.

Materials to be sought in particular are iron and steel, rubber and waste fats.

The rubber scrap salvage campaign will close at midnight, July 10. CONSERVE FOR VICTORY

Longer Life for YOUR RADIO

You depend a lot upon your radio these days so take good care of it and make it last, as no more will be manufactured until the war is over. Here are some suggestions that will help.

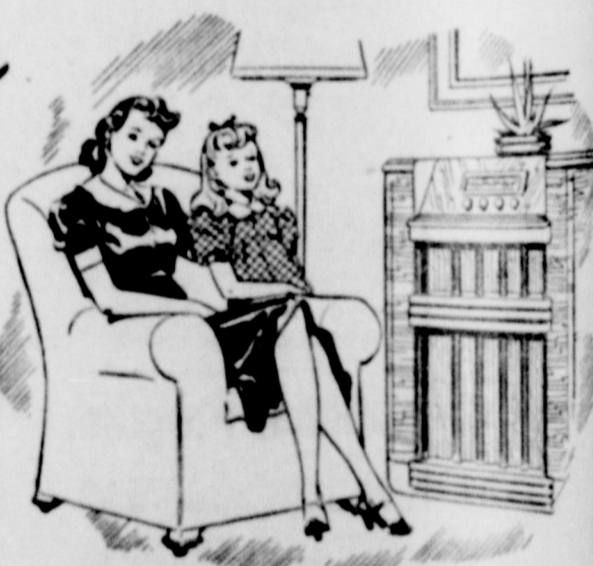

Is your radio located near a window? Then move it before you forget. An open window—a sudden shower and the cabinet may be damaged or the wiring short circuited.

Is your radio near a heater or fireplace? Too much heat may warp the cabinet—may dry out the insulation—may shorten the life of the set. Better move it to another spot.

Don't clean out back of radio with dust cloth. You may loosen tubes or disturb wiring. Dust won't harm your radio. If you must clean it, use vacuum cleaner attachment.

Young children ought not to operate the radio-phonograph. They may damage the player mechanism or put it out of adjustment. Load it for them and avoid trouble.

Be careful in moving your radio from one location to another. Hard shocks or jars may damage tubes or connections. Radios are delicate instruments. Handle with care.

PRODUCTION...

Is the Present Need...

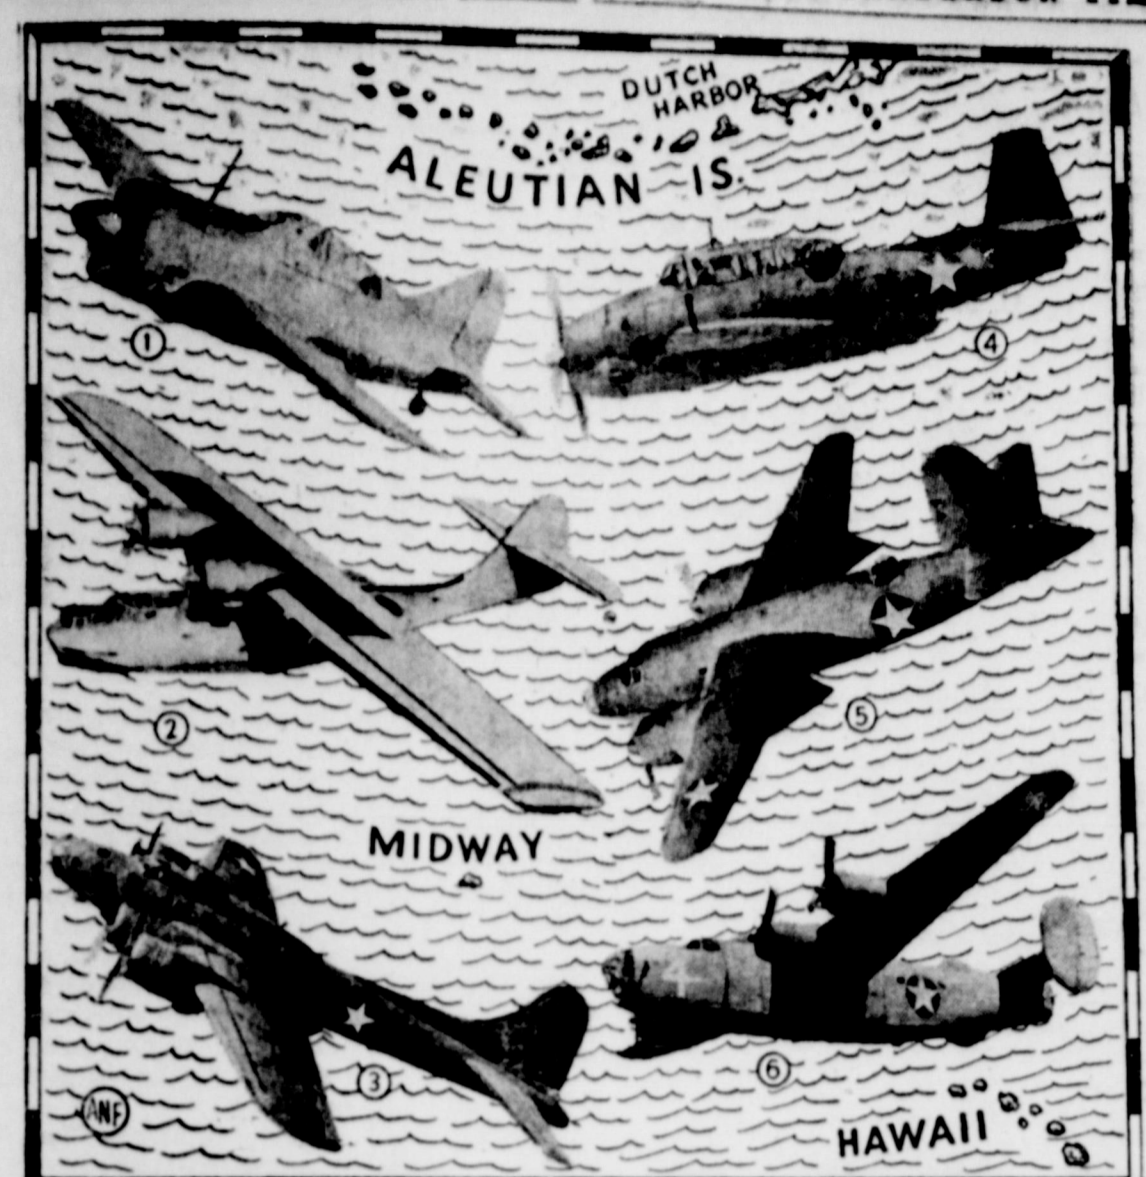

"This is a war of machines... Our national need calls for the best efforts of every man in industry. My message consists of one word, PRODUCE! Produce all you can, as fast as you can. Our entire war effort depends on how well you do your job." — Lieut. Gen William S. Knudsen Munitions are important, but so also is the production of food and other essentials. Without well-planned production all along the line, the most hopeful plan for victory must fail.

The Sanderson State Bank is ready to do its part in increasing local production. We have faith in the future of America, and we shall welcome any opportunity to be of service.

Manned by highly-trained crews of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps air forces, at least six types of American warplanes joined in the surprise air attack which crushed the Japanese invasion fleet in the epic engagement of Midway Island and halted what was probably an all-out attempt by the enemy at a grand assault on Pearl Harbor. The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America here presents illustrations of the warplane types which thus far have been identified by the armed services. They are: 1—Brewster Buffalo (F2A) single-seat fighter, powered by Wright Cyclone aircooled engine and used by both Navy and Marine Corps; 2—Consolidated PBV-5, Navy twin-engine patrol bomber, powered by Pratt & Whitney aircooled engines; 3—Boeing Flying Fortress (B-17-E) four-engine bomber, powered by Wright Cyclone engine; 4—Crewman Avenger, heavily-armed Navy torpedo bomber, powered by Wright Cyclone engine (official U. S. Navy photograph); 5—Martin B-26 twin-engine bomber, powered by Pratt & Whitney engines; 6—Consolidated B-24 four-engine bomber, powered by Pratt & Whitney engines (official photograph, U. S. mainder elsewhere. He and Oliver Loving, joining their herds, started to New Mexico with 14 men. "We drove the cattle by way of Fort Belknap, to Fort Sumner, New Mexico, opening what has since become known as the Goodnight trail," he explained. They sold the entire herd for eight cents per pound, and headed back toward Texas to purchase and drive another herd to market that same season. "Turning back on the trail, with the proceeds of our sale loaded on our pack mules, an incident occurred which came very near wrecking our new-found hopes," he related. While in the roughest and most dangerous part of our journey back, and when we were using every precaution to prevent giving notice to the red skins of our presence, a mule bearing six thousand dollars in gold in the pack, broke away in the darkness, scattering the provisions she carried in every direction. "The gold, however, was saved.

for I grabbed a rope that was dangling from the pack and checked the frantic animal after being dragged quite a distance down a rocky slope at the risk of a broken neck. The gold was saved but our provisions were entirely lost, and there was no way to get them renewed. We traveled for eighty-six miles without anything to eat until we got to the Pecos River, where man who divided his meager stock of food with us."

RADIO OPERATORS NEEDED
Radio operators with amateur or commercial radio operator's licenses are urgently needed in the Army Signal Corps. The Recruiting Service reports a shortage of qualified radio operators. Men who hold licenses, are between the ages of 18 and 45, and can pass physical examination, are urged to apply at the nearest Army Recruiting Office.

As I Was Saying

By Aynah Nemus

"What," posed someone at the Tuesday morning straggler forum, "Should be most closely guarded if the war should come to Sanderson?"

"Of course," quickly spoke the manager of the utilities. "It's the water supply."

"Huh!" answered the undertaker. "We could do without that easily. With your rates, a lot of people are doing without it now, and they ain't giving me any business. I personally think the fuel supply is paramount." The last word came out slowly until he was sure of it, and he repeated it, "Paramount."

"Yeah. We all know how important gas is," said a cafe operator. "But we usually let you fill our tanks anyway after you finally do realize we've been out for days."

"My tourist camp doesn't matter, I'm sure," said the owner from behind a cigar. "Half the people don't know where it is."

"You should advertise it," I said. (The editor appreciates these plugs.)

"I believe," came a quip, "The wool house should be preserved. Sanderson needs at least one firm with a big long name."

"I think, and I think you should think," and the cleaner became involved. "The most vital part is that which keeps the people alive. And who can live without eating? And at the same time, that part that allows us to exercise, makes us hurry and runs us around so's we perspire. To me the most vital part of our community is the dinner time siren."

"Let's all King Bee," said the highway engineer the third time that morning.

U. S. SOLDIERS ARE GOOD MIXERS IN FOREIGN LANDS

A newspaper correspondent, an Englishman, who has recently returned from Egypt and had a good opportunity to watch United States Cargo ships as they were unloaded, is a bit enthusiastic about the way United States soldiers and engineers adjust themselves to the countries and the people of the countries to which they have been sent.

President Roosevelt has stated that at the present time U. S. citizens are to be found on thirty-one fronts in this global war.

The above map of Texas shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of July, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the state is $33,677,000. With the National quota total placed at a billion dollars, the nation goes into high gear in its support of the War financing and to give our fighting forces adequate implements of war which will bring ultimate Victory. American Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen are on every front. They are giving 100 percent for their country. What are we doing here on the home front? Are we lending at least ten percent of income to help them? It's very little. But to fight this war successfully our country needs a billion dollars in War Bonds every month from us—the People. Let's Go, America.

Highway 90 Counties

headed that way. It will be the largest playground in the world, covering an area which will be greater in size than some of our smaller states combined. Highway 90 is the only paved highway at this time leading directly to the area, and there can be no estimate made as to the number of people who will go there just as soon as possible after they can again get all the tires and gasoline they need.

"I think the counties along the line should get up some kind of movement to boost the park and do what they can now to lay the foundation for getting the bulk of this coming tourist trade to travel Highway 90."

"We have eight here at our front door, in Garner Park, a fine example of what tourist trade will do for a community. Although Garner Park is relatively small, it is being filled almost constantly with out-of-county residents as well as local people who, this year, are finding they are having to spend their vacation near at home. The monetary benefit that Uvalde gets from Garner Park is no small item, and seeing what it has done, we can readily see that there will be an even greater return when tourists start to roll toward Big Bend Park."

"I think the local chamber of commerce should get busy at once and cooperate with officials of the Big Bend Park Association in developing highway improvements where they will be needed and making other necessary preparations for this great influx of tourists which is certain to come."

The item attracting Fulenwider's attention follows:

Fort Worth—Enlargement of the Big Bend Park into an international vacation land by extending it over the border and deep into Old Mexico may be accomplished this fall.

This information was given Saturday to the Texas Big Bend Park Association by M. R. Tillotson, Santa Fe regional director of the national park service, who recently returned from Mexico City.

Tillotson conferred with members of the Mexican commission of national parks and Carlos Villas Perez, chief of the Mexican national park service. Perez has agreed to visit the Big Bend area with members of his staff this fall.

Tillotson went to Mexico as a member of a commission working out plans to establish the Coronado international memorial on the border in Arizona.

Perez told Tillotson the government of Mexico is very much interested in the Big Bend project and is anxious to establish on the south side of the river a national park contiguous to the Big Bend National Park. He suggested the boundary line might be established to include the main scenic features on the Mexican side such as those found at Santa Helena, Mariscal and Boquillas canyons as well as all of the Del Carmen and the Fronteriza mountains.

Mrs. James F. Daniel and baby daughter, Charlotte Ann, are here visiting with her parents. Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lester.

Mrs. Dorothy Mey, secretary of the Terrell County ACA, is a business visitor in Del Rio this week.

For Appeals Court

Judge Harry N. Graves was elected four years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge O. S. Lattimore as a member of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas. He has actively participated in the work of the Court since that time, and has written his share of their opinions.

This Court has disposed of the cases submitted to it, and is up with its docket, and he requests a second term at the hands of the voters.

Would it be wise to change the personnel of this Court at this time?—(Political advertisement)

National Program—

as this is over, the General Salvage Campaign will swing into high gear and will be broadened to include the collection of all other scrap needed for War Production.

Beginning this month, the 12,000 State and local salvage committees will have new forces at work to help them, provided by private industry working in cooperation with the Bureau of Industrial Conservation.

One of these forces is a national advertising program, sponsored by private industry and aimed at telling the public the facts about what we need, why we need it and what each person can do to help.

Another new force is the joint assistance of the farm implement industry which has been offered for the movement of farm scrap in a "National Scrap Harvest."

Through these various arrangements salvage committees will be able to step up their all-out continuing effort.

While the Bureau of Industrial Conservation considers the new campaign as an integrated whole, it has the following clearly defined parts:

1. An intensified campaign to collect metals, especially iron and steel and rubber and other waste materials which will flow through regular channels of trade.
2. A waste fats campaign, in which housewives will be urged to sell their waste kitchen fats, such as bacon drippings, to meat dealers who will send them back through the normal channels of trade. Waste fats are needed to stimulate the production of glycerine, which in turn is needed for war and industrial explosives.
3. A tin can collection campaign which is to be carried out only in selected localities, and then only when local announcements are made.

Officials of the Bureau made it clear that all organizations which have taken a part in the program to date would continue to be used—the volunteer workers of local defense councils, the various charities who have collected waste materials, and the youth organizations which have already done an outstanding services to the nation in the collection of scrap and waste materials. For example, the Boy Scouts have already announced a national "Treasure Hunt" for scrap which aims to "build a bridge between the homes of this country and the yards where materials are sorted, graded, processed, packed and shipped."

Jimmy Goodykoontz, who is a senior student at the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., stopped here Tuesday and is visiting his father, J. R. Goodykoontz and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Peavy and other friends. He expects to leave Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Haley were visitors in Austin from Saturday until Monday.

Care of Clothes Now as Essential Says A&M Specialist

College Station—Wardrobe demands longer work hours. Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, specialist for the A. & M. Extension Service, suggests for keeping wardrobe in good condition. Wash dresses are most practical for wearing summer she says, and these should be laundered often. Be sure fabric is washable. Check zippers and remove all washable trim before ironing. Look to see if buttons are iron immediately.

Cotton and washable rayon dresses should be worn—never hot—water specialist suggests use Squeeze in the wash tub or rub or wring them in a bath towel. Then squeeze them and hang outdoors in the shade to dry—never sun—for the color might fade.

"When ironing, wash iron temperature. Some such as nylon, will melt under hot iron. All materials scorch. Fabrics with weaves or textures look ironed on the wrong side. Barnes advises.

Here are some tips: Do not yank when taking off. Don't crowd your dresser closet. Hang up a dress as you take it off, and before you put it away.
