November Ballot To Ask Five Changes In Texas Constitution

Voters of Texas will pass on five proposals to change the Constitution of the State at the general election in November this year, the changes ranging from constitutional authorization of payment of a $75,000 obligation of the John Tarleton Agricultural College to a highly important amendment to put the State on a cash basis through a bond issue to wipe out the general fund deficit and require the legislature in the future to keep appropriations within the limits of expected revenue.

Perhaps the most important of the five proposed amendments is that relating to the fiscal policy of the State. This amendment, House Joint Resolution No. 1, proposes a new section to Article III of the Constitution "requiring all bills passed by the Legislature on and after January 1, 1945, appropriating money for any purpose, to be sent to the Comptroller of Public Accounts for his approval, and fixing the duties of the Comptroller with reference thereto."

The amendment would further authorize the legislature to provide for the issuance, sale, and retirement of serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding obligations owing by the general revenue fund as of September 1, 1943, and bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent and maturing in 20 years.

This amendment would require the Comptroller of Public Accounts to prepare in advance of each regular session of the Legislature for submission to the governor and the legislature a statement showing the financial condition of the State Treasury and an estimate of probable receipts and disbursements for the then fiscal year. The amendment would also forbid the legislature to pass appropriation bills in excess of the cash and anticipated revenue, "save in the case of emergency and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each House."

House Joint Resolution No. 23 would amend the same article to authorize the lending of two million dollars of the permanent school fund for the construction of a State office building or building by a state bond issue of two million dollars to be sold to the permanent school fund.

Another amendment, Senate Joint Resolution No. 20 would authorize accounting officers of this State to draw and pay warrants for salaries to officers of the United States Army, Navy or Marine Corps who are assigned to duties in state institutions of higher learning.

House Joint Resolution No. 24 proposes an amendment which would authorize the legislature to create additional courts having exclusive or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters in counties having populations in excess of 200,000.

The amendment, Senate Joint Resolution No. 21 to pay off the $75,000 obligation of John Tarleton College at Stephenville would authorize this appropriation for the construction of a building on the college campus pursuant to deficiency authorization by the Governor of Texas on August 31, 1937.

Openings Still Exist Eighth District Quota For Womens Reserve

New Orleans — Despite the fact that there have been numerous applications filed for service in the Women's Reserve United States Navy, Lieutenant Katharine Luna, head of the "Waves" for the Eighth Naval District, announces the quota for the district is not yet filled and many openings exist for women who desire to serve their country. There are in particular many opportunities for technically trained women.

After this information is reviewed at the "Waves" headquarters the applicant will be sent the necessary application forms and the required report of a physical examination to be made by the applicant's personal physician.

It is pointed out that by enlisting in the "Waves" women can serve their country as well as can any man on the firing line. They will provide qualified personnel to release officers and enlisted men of the Naval Service for duty afloat.

Qualifications for nomination to appointment as officers require that the applicant be a citizen of the U. S., not less than 21 and under 50 years of age, have no children under 18 years of age, be of good standing in the community, meet physical requirements, possess the required education.

Fatten Your Calf For Home Beef Stock Advises Specialist

Producing beef for home use is a real contribution to the wartime program. If some families are to have meat they must produce it, says Roy W. Snyder, animal industries specialist of the Texas A&M College Extension Service.

Even the nondescript, pot-bellied, small, rough-haired Jersey type calf can be made into satisfactory beef for family use, Snyder says. It needs to be fed a fattening ration for four to six months before being killed. Feeding not only makes more beef, but improves the quality to an almost unbelievable degree.

If a milk-pen calf is available it should be started on feed at once. Use the feeds grown on the farm. It may take 1,200 pounds of corn or milo, 1,200 pounds of hay and two sacks of cottonseed meal for the average inexperienced feeder to develop a calf into good edible beef, but the feed will be used to good advantage.

Feeding the calf until it weighs at least 500 pounds when it is ten months old, is a good mark to shoot at Snyder suggests. Feed it all it will eat so that it will put on fat as it grows. A good practice is to feed grain as soon as the calf will eat it. Oats is best to get a young calf on feed, but if it is not available, feed corn milo or some other grains. After a few weeks begin decreasing oats and add corn or milo.

When the calf receives less milk later in the feeding period, add cottonseed meal or cake to the grain at the rate of one pound of meal to five pounds of grain. If it is not on pasture, give it plenty of good bright hay. Fresh water and salt also should be kept before it. Let the calf have all the roughage it wants, but add all the ground grain and cottonseed meal mixture it will clean up in 20 or 30 minutes twice or three times daily.

Employment Service will recruit additional workers for farmers in areas where there are seasonal shortages of labor. AT THE PRINCESS

THE GREAT MAN'S LADY (Sunday & Monday)

Romantic drama played against a background of adventure is the theme of the weekend picture which co-stars Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea with Brian Donlevy in chief support.

The story opens in 1848 when Barbara Stanwyck, a girl of 16, elopes from her staid Pennsylvania home with Joel McCrea, a Lochinvar in Buckskins, whose dream it is to build a big city on his western prairie land. McCrea, with the help and vision of his wife, becomes a great man. She, however, lives apart from him, unheard of by the world that honors him. It is not until 1942 that their amazing story is revealed. How they met Brian Donlevy, honest gambler and adventurer, whose love for Barbara changed the course of their lives; how McCrea struck silver and became a millionaire; and how his dreams were ultimately realized.

TORTILLA FLAT (Wednesday & Thursday)

This is the picturization of a group of people, and not so much a story. It tells how they get along with one another or how they don't get along. So the cast was picked to fit those characters just as John Steinbeck had pictured them.

There's Spencer Tracy as Pilon, leader of the carefree Pailanos; Hedy Lamarr as Sweets, made famous by a vacuum cleaner though she had no electricity to run it; John Garfield as Danny, dreamer, a Knight of the Round Table.

Mix these up and add to them Frank Morgan as the Pirate; Akim Tamiroff as Pablo, ever present right hand man to Pilon; John Qualen as Jose Maria and Allen Jenkins as Joe Portagee, and the people on Tortilla Flat are at hand.

SECRET AGENT OF JAPAN (Friday & Saturday)

Many people have tried to guess at just what happened in Japan leading up to Pearl Harbor. There have been a lot of machinations about German cooperation and Chinese intrigue; but the first to come out in the motion pictures is this story of the spy den in Shanghai, where British, German, Japanese and Chinese fight and foil one another.

Preston Foster, owner of a night club, gets into the middle of things when he discovers a British spy murdered. Lynn Bari is a mystery woman; Noel Madison, a Japanese agent; and Sen Yung, Janis Carter, and Steve Geray have important assistant roles.

A WEEK Of the War

Admiral William D. Leahy, the President's Chief of Staff, in a radio broadcast August 9, marking the first anniversary of the Atlantic Charter, said "This war will probably be long. It will be the toughest, hardest, most merciless war we have ever fought. It calls for the united power of every American, in uniform and out of uniform, on the firing line and on the production line. I have no doubt of America's decision."

President Roosevelt, in a message read on the broadcast, said "great progress" has been made in the battle of production, but "in terms of what will be required to defeat our enemies we have only just begun to get into our stride." Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, said America's conversion job has largely been completed; the emphasis now must be transferred from finished goods to the raw materials from which they are made. "We will get them—by full use of existing facilities, and by tapping new, or marginal, or abandoned sources of supply. We will develop new processes, eliminate waste, and work for full salvage by every citizen," Mr. Davis said.

Vice Chairman Batt of the War Production Board, on the same radio program, said the public must see to it that all waste and scrap metal is collected and "sent to the mills—quickly. There is plenty of iron and steel scrap . . . that must get back to the furnaces if the steel needed for the war is to be produced. You and I can help by keeping our eyes open."

In a general review of the war situation, the Office of War Information said June production of military planes fell slightly behind schedule, despite the fact that the U. S. made more planes than any other country in the world. The same was true of tanks, of most types of artillery, and of naval vessels, the OWI said. Because of enemy submarine activity, the Office said, it will probably be well into 1943 before we equal merchant shipping as of December 7, 1941.

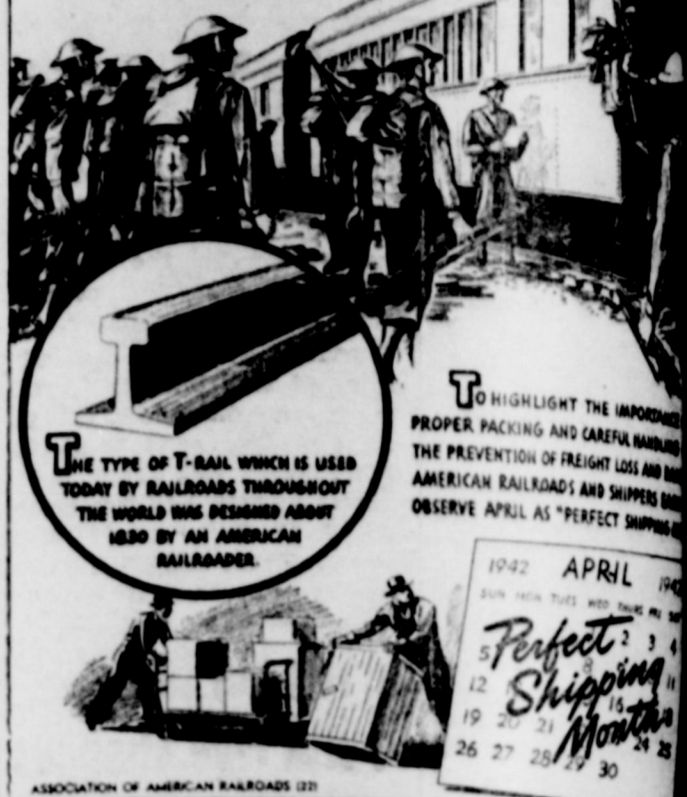

The WPB announced inauguration of a nationwide inventory of used construction machinery to be made through WPB field offices in an effort to place an estimated 500,000 pieces of vitally needed construction equipment into use. A complete inventory of available equipment will be kept up to date at the regional offices for the information of war agencies and private contractors engaged in war work.

have attacked enemy installations in the southeast part of the Solomon Islands in force and the attacks are continuing." Later the Navy said "considerable enemy resistance has been encountered and it is still too early to announce results or to estimate either our own or enemy losses." General MacArthur's Headquarters in Australia reported August 10 that Allied planes from Australia were maintaining a 24-hour-a-day offensive over the entire invasion zone in support of the attack against the Solomon Islands. The Navy also reported U. S. Naval Forces "bombed enemy ships and shore establishments at Kiska" in the Aleutians, simultaneously with the beginning of the attack on the Solomon Islands.

Major General Clark, commanding General of U. S. Ground Forces in Britain, said the U. S. Army is sending "picked combat divisions" to Britain and "the sooner a second front could be opened the better." He said "obviously we are not here to sit on the defensive." The Pacific Coast, from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, was ordered dimmed out beginning August 20 and for the duration by Western Defense Commander Dewitt as a precaution against enemy attack at sea and on the shore. The Navy announced the torpedoing of 14 additional United Nations vessels.

SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES

The White House announced six of the eight Nazi saboteurs landed in this country by submarine were executed in the district of Columbia jail. The sentences of the others were commuted by the President to life and to 30 years imprisonment, "because of the stance to the Government of the United States in the opinion and conviction of the President." The First Ground Force Command in New Guinea announced the discovery of enemy agents in the eastern airfields and factories. The markers, from the ground, were averted and the danger to the bases averted, the command said.

RATIONING

President Roosevelt's three-man committee, headed by Bernard M. Baruch, announced the entire synthetic rubber program. The President's Committee's finding will be the basis for future action with respect to synthetic rubber, but also such nationwide gas rationing for motor transportation." He said it is planning a ration book to be put in the hands of every American part of its machinery rationing of many commodities which do not require rationing at present.

A&M Specialist Suggests Few Means Of Saving Rubber

Now that this nation's enemies control 90 percent of the world's area where rubber can be grown, the current shortage is far worse than many people think.

Louise Bryant, A&M College specialist in home management, explains that "our biggest stock of rubber is in tires on the country's roads and highways," so taking care of tires is one of the best ways of prolonging the rubber supply.

"When you drive," she says, "hold your speed under 40 miles look out for bumps, holes, and curbs." It pays, too, to start and stop the car slowly.

Garage attendants can help keep the wheels in line and see that the brakes are properly adjusted. They can assist also in keeping the correct amount of air in the tires, repairing the tires properly and checking the valves often.

Aside from these tips, the specialist urges car owners to use their cars as little as possible, plan their shopping and marketing to save rubber and to "share and swap" rides and hauls with neighbors.

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

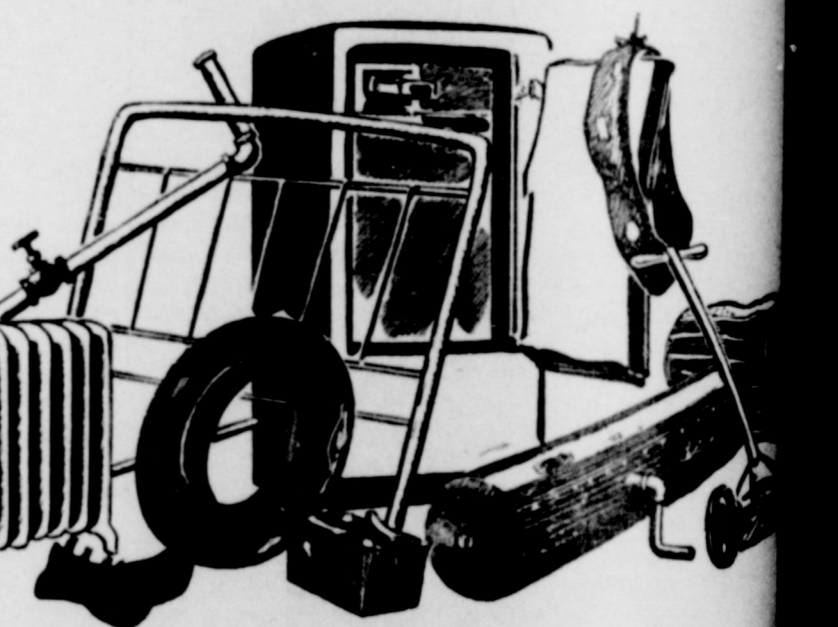

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help? First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS

One old radiator will provide scrap steel needed for seventeen 30 calibre rifles.

One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells.

One useless old tire will provide as much scrap rubber as is used in 12 gas masks.

One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

MATERIALS NEEDED

Scrap iron and steel. Other metals of all kinds. Old rubber. Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags. Waste Cooking Fats—store in large tin can and when you get a more, sell to your meat dealer. NEEDED ONLY IN CERTAIN LOCALITIES. NOT NEEDED at this time! Razor blades.
