The first Victory Concert, a series of which are to be put on to boost the sale of War Stamps and Bonds in Terrell County, was held last month and brought a total of $1,862.35 from the sale of both stamps and bonds. ## NEW INSTRUCTIONS RULE PRODUCERS OF MEAT AND WOOL TO BE DEFERRED

Announcement was made Friday by J. C. Mitchell, chairman of the Terrell County Selective Service Board, that information had been received by the board which instructed that all persons engaged in livestock production be placed in a deferred classification. The statement made by Mr. Mitchell is reproduced here for benefit of those interested:

"Decisions on appeals to the Appeal Board and to the President of the United States, which have been pending for some time, were received Friday morning by the local draft board. The facts set out by these decisions were that all persons continuously engaged in the production of meat and wool are subject to be placed in class II-C and III-C. Single men so engaged will be placed in class II-C and married men so engaged will be placed in III-C. This ruling applies to employers and employees alike.

"In compliance with above instructions the local board has reversed its decision on the classifications of certain registrants who were recently classified in I-A and requested by the board to make appeals. This was done for the sole purpose of obtaining authentic instructions as to classification. All men of like status will be classified accordingly until instructions are received to do otherwise."

Readers will note that Mr. Mitchell has pointed out that only those registrants who are engaged continuously in the production of wool and meat are qualified for deferment. Persons who are only employed in this industry a part of the time will not fall in this category. The question has been voiced by several as to whether sheep shearers will be deferred. The new rulings clarify this in this manner. If the shearers follow that occupation during shearing season and then are employed either as a producer or as an employee in the production of meat and wool the balance of the time they will be subject to deferment. If they follow the shearing during season and the balance of the time are employed in some other occupation than livestock production they will not be eligible for deferment.

TIME FOR CORRECTION

During April and May, 1942, hearings were held before Subcommittee No. 3 of the Committee of the Judiciary, House of Representatives, Seventy-seventh Congress, Second Session, on H. R. 5218, H. R. 6752 H. R. 6872, and H. R. 7067. The intent of these several bills was to bring labor unions under the regulation of anti-trust statutes, and within the provisions of the anti-racketeering law of 1934. The bills were bitterly fought by the labor unions on the ground that they would handcuff labor in bargaining with employers.

Anyone who reads the testimony or looks at the pictures included in the record, would be horrified by the waste and destruction that was caused by strikes and boycotts involving into canyons or on the ground because of packing house strikes and secondary boycotts. Farmers who worked a year to raise, irrigate, cultivate, harvest and ship the crops, then worked days to dump them because of secondary boycotts.

The Hobbs bill, one of the measures which organized labor attorneys violently objected to, does not even mention the word labor; it does make guilty of a felony anyone who in connection with any act affecting commerce obtains or attempts to obtain, by the use of or attempt to use or threat to use force, violence or coercion, money or other valuable consideration; or who "commits or threatens physical violence to any person or property" in furtherance of such plan. Could a bill seeking protection of the public in this manner, be truthfully called a threat to "peaceful" labor activities?

Since those hearings early in 1942, our nation has seen inexcusable work stoppages in all manner of industries—either by order of labor leaders or by so-called wildcat strikes. The public has suffered and our armed forces have suffered and the perpetrators of such outrages have gone unpunished, and have even gained in their power to call strikes, slow up production, or create work stoppages as they see fit.

Congressman Hobbs of Alabama, on January 6, 1943, introduced H. R. 653, which seeks to remedy conditions shown in the hearings held in 1942. Correction of such vices is no attack on organized labor. No group in this nation should be permitted to cause such depredations and loss to the public as shown in the 1942 hearings, without just punishment such as would be meted out to any willful lawbreaker or promoter of antisocial acts.

During the coming months, all of us will be called upon to do without things to which we have long been accustomed. Each must make sacrifices in one way or another, but all will do it cheerfully so our great nation and its cherished institutions may be preserved.

New Conditions----

During the coming months, all of us will be called upon to do without things to which we have long been accustomed. Each must make sacrifices in one way or another, but all will do it cheerfully so our great nation and its cherished institutions may be preserved.

Many things will go on much as before, and, on these, we may learn to place higher value. As in the past, your local bank will be ready to serve you, and we shall endeavor to keep our service attuned to the times.

SOME WILL DIE

A brief news item from a Western city reports an auto accident. The driver was burned to a crisp. In his car were found heat-sealed containers that had held gasoline. Before gas rationing these containers would not have been there; that man would not have died.

A five-gallon can of gasoline in the home, in the garage or in the back of a car can bring almost instant death to anyone in the vicinity. Gasoline does not merely burn. Its fumes in a confined space have the force of dynamite. They will explode without warning; the detonator often being an invisible spark incurred by static electricity.

As spring and summer approach, the temptation will be strong to "save" a little gas for a trip to the mountains or the seashore. A percentage of those who succumb to this temptation will meet a horrible death. In all probability there will be cases where entire homes are destroyed and members of families killed or maimed. They will have learned about gasoline—too late. But there are millions of others who will avoid tragedy by heeding the warnings of fire prevention experts; experts who have studied the dangers facing the gasoline hoarder. These experts have pointed out that no gasoline container is really leak-proof. A little water in the bottom is sufficient to rush through the rust can. They also point out that gas fumes in a basement in which a furnace is operating are nothing less than a time bomb. Even pouring gas into the car tank may prove disastrous, for here again static electricity flashing from tank to funnel could result in instant oblivion.

These warnings have been issued in an endeavor to save lives and property. They are not appeals to patriotism. Good excuses by the gas hoarder might avoid the issue of patriotism. But no amount of rationalizing can avoid the prospect of death.

WHERE ARE THOSE FUSES?

Keeping EXTRA FUSES handy can shorten "homemade blackouts"

You may go along for months or even years without having any trouble with the fuses on your electric circuits. But when one does burn out because of a defective appliance cord, overloaded circuit or some other cause, it may happen at night, so it pays to be prepared. You can save yourself annoyance from "home-made blackouts" by keeping extra fuses on hand and knowing how to use them. Then you can restore service quickly without waiting for a serviceman, who may be delayed in answering calls because of wartime restrictions on the use of cars and trucks. Be sure to buy only fuses of correct size (15 amperes is right for most household branch circuits) and keep them handy where you can find them when you need them. Better stock up now as the scarcity of metals may limit the supply. Extra fuses for your electric circuits are even more important than a spare tire for your car.

COMMUNITY PUBLIC SERVICE CO

We'll gladly show you how to locate and replace a burned-out fuse if you'll phone our office. We can't make a special trip for the purpose, but we'll answer your call as quickly as possible on a regular trip.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Sure been a great year for crops, Judge... but we've had a quite a spell." "That's true, Henry... all over the country. As a matter of fact, there's been quite a surplus supply of grain according to some figures I saw in one of your farm papers the other day. But that surplus is being used to supply good advantage and is making the contribution of you farmers to the war effort more important than ever. Here's just one example of what I mean. The beverage distilling industry alone will use 100,000,000 bushels of this surplus to make alcohol seriously needed by the government for gunpowder, synthetic rubber, chemicals and medical supplies. Now entering the mystic corridors that hold the lives of our sacred seniors, we see before us Master Don Allen, that curly haired boy who was born on his father's ranch near Sanderson on November 13, 1926.

Don has hazel eyes and (as I've said before) curly brown hair. His education has been carried on entirely in Sanderson. After his collegedays, Don plans to follow in the footsteps of his father and be a ranchman.

As far as school is concerned Don is apparently interested in sports since his favorite pastime is basketball and he has been on the team one year. He also has been in football, track, and was the president of the sophomore class.

Now for his favorites. In food it is fried chicken, and in color it is red, a color which is becoming a close rival of blue in the favorites of the senior boys. His favorite star is (can't you guess?) yes, Betty Grable. When Don feels like reading he likes "Sea-hawk" and he likes to hear "Wabash Cannonball" anytime. Don's favorite subject is rather unusual it is math. His pet peeves are cold-hearted teachers and cold weather and don't we all agree.

SANDERSON DEFEATS FORT DAVIS

The Sanderson Eagles defeated Fort Davis 44 to 22. Joe Bean and John Louis Whistler tied for high point man. The team left Fort Davis about six o'clock and went to Alpine where Mr. Holley was to attend a meeting of District 65B. While Mr. Holley was at the meeting the boys played pool.

The boys didn't have anything to do coming home except complain about Mr. Holley's car's muffler. Although this was a bothersome thing the boys all had a nice trip.

SENIOR PARTY

The dignified Seniors, minus the dignity, enjoyed a Bingo party in the High School Banquet Room last Saturday night. The party was supposed to be an occasion on which the Seniors could put into practice all the good manners that they had been learning about. Whether it was successful from that standpoint or not is definitely a question, however from the social standpoint the party was a success.

After a series of games, delicious refreshments were served. The guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Bradford, Mr. Long, and Mr. Holley. Mrs. Frazier and Mrs. Holley prepared the food. It is whispered that the next party will be held the first of March.

Your Income Tax

WHO MUST FILE A RETURN

Every single person must file a federal income tax return whose gross income for the year from all sources was $500 or more; that is as much as $9.62 per week. Widows, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, are classed as single persons.

Every married person, living with husband or wife throughout the year, must file a return if his or her gross income, together with any income of the spouse, was as much as $1200 for the year; that is, as much as $23.08 per week. If husband and wife both have income, they must both make a return. Such return may be made separately, or if they are both citizens or residents, they may make a joint return. A joint return may be made by husband and wife even though one has no income, and a joint return is advisable in the case of persons, one of whom has no income, who marry during the year, since the personal exemption attributable to each spouse during the period of premarital status is allowable in a joint return.

A joint return must be signed by both husband and wife and verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury. Where separate returns are filed by husband and wife on Form 1040, the joint personal exemption allowable ($1200 where the married status has existed throughout the year) may be taken by either, or divided between them in any proportion agreed upon. If separate returns are filed one may not report income which belongs to the other, but must report only the income which belongs to him (or her).

No person is exempt from filing a return if his gross income is equal to or greater than the amount specified above for his classification. Neither the President of the United States nor the Vice President, nor Federal Judges, nor Members of Congress, are exempt from filing returns.

Moreover, all income from whatever source, unless specifically excluded by statute, must be reported in the return. The types of income specifically exempt are listed in the instructions accompanying the return form.

A person whose gross income does not exceed $3000, and consists wholly of salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities, may make a Simplified Return on Form 1040A, in which the tax due may be readily ascertained by reference to a table contained in the form.

A husband and wife living together on July 1 of the taxable year may file separate Simplified Returns if the gross income of each is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3000, or they may file a single joint return on that form if their combined income is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3000. A taxpayer may not, however, file a Simplified Return if the other spouse files a return on Form 1040.

Two views of the first American-built counter-rotating airplane propeller to fly in this country, a product of Hamilton Standard Propeller Division of United Aircraft Corporation, are shown above by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America. The propeller, which is 12 feet in diameter, actually consists of two three-bladed props mounted one behind the other on co-axial shafts and driven by one engine. One prop turns clockwise, the other counter-clockwise. Use of the counter-rotating propeller, company engineers declare, gives increased blade area without increasing breadth or depth. It removes the torque reaction or twisting effect developed by a single prop rotating in one direction, a certain amount of rotational energy in the slip stream of the front prop is also recovered by the second and converted into useful work, and the slip stream is straightened out to lessen resistance to the plane.

THRILLS, EMOTION, HUMOR MARK FILM VERSION OF "PIED PIPER"

Hailed as one of the best films of the year, 20th Century-Fox's filmization of Nevil Shute's great novel, "The Pied Piper," is due Sunday and Monday at the Princess Theatre. Monty Woolley, Roddy McDowall and Anne Baxter are featured in the enthralling story of the Englishman who led a band of helpless children across embattled France to England and safety.

The novel, which first appeared serially in Colliers' magazine and later in condensed form in Readers' Digest has won the highest kind of praise from the book reviewers. And the film is said to have faithfully reproduced all the original warmth, tenderness and humor of the book while adding a few touches only the screen can give.

Under the directorial aegis of Irving Pichel, the film tells in graphic detail the difficulties in their perilous journey. Starting in the South of France at the gigantic German attack was launched in the tragic month of June, 1940, the Englishman manages to make his halting way home, shepherding his straggling group of youngsters right under the very nose of the dreaded Gestapo.

Monty Woolley, who scored so heavily in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," essays a new dramatic role in "The Pied Piper." Cast as the crotchety Englishman, the bewiskered former Yale drama professor is at his best as he outwits the Gestapo, while the children often outwit him!

Roddy McDowall, the memorable Huw of "How Green Was My Valley," and lovely Anne Baxter also received praise for grand performances from preview.

The supporting honors are carried off by Otto Preminger and J. Carrol Naish while the production was in the capable hands of Nunnally Johnson who also wrote the touching screenplay.

Combining the breath-taking pathos the rich humor and the warm romance of the book, "The Pied Piper" looms as one of the outstanding pictures of the year.

"BERLIN CORRESPONDENT" ELECTRIFYING NEW FILM HIT

It is generally known that the Gestapo and, indeed, Hitler himself fear American newspaper men above all others. And for obvious reasons. American reporters are traditionally trained to search for the truth and, when necessary, even to fight for it. Now 20th Century-

Fox pays tribute to these intrepid newshawks in a film that thrillingly reveals that Herr Hitler's fears were well founded. "Berlin Correspondent," coming to the Princess Theatre Tuesday. Here is a picture that should prove to be a veritable headline bombshell. It concerns a courageous Yankee reporter who is lured into a Nazi trap by the Gestapo's loveliest blonde bait. He lives through a nightmare of cruelty, until his big chance comes to avenge himself and the world of conscience as well. How does a journalist strike back? By telling all he knows, of course. And this journalist knows plenty. That's why "Berlin Correspondent," which tells his inside story, is said to live up to its claim of "exciting entertainment, dispatching chills up and down moviegoers' spines."

Lovely Virginia Gilmore, who will be remembered for her work in "Tall, Dark and Handsome" and "Western Union" has her first big dramatic lead, as the confused Nazi Mata Hari, Dana Andrews, recently seen to advantage in "Ball of Fire" and "Swamp Water," appears as the fighting reporter, while Martin Kosleck and Mona Maris play a Nazi agent and his secretary, roles with which they distinguished themselves in the memorable film of last year, "Underground."

Eugene Forde directed "Berlin Correspondent" from an original screenplay by Jack Andrews and Steve Fisher. The film was produced by Bryan Foy.

"GUNGA DIN" SPECTACULAR ROMANTIC, UNFORGETTABLE SCREEN EPIC RETURNS

Vivid, suspenseful turmoil in the history of British rule in India, revolving around a native outbreak along the Northwest Frontier in the Nineties is spectacularly staged in the screen epic based on Rudyard Kipling's famous poem, "Gunga Din," which comes to the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday, February 19 and 20 with Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Joan Fontaine in the top roles of a cast numbering a thousand players.

It is a coincidence that Grant and Miss Fontaine, co-stars of RKO Radio's "Suspicion" appear together in the top roles of the earlier "Gunga Din". Miss Fontaine since has won the 1941 Academy Award as the year's best feminine star, while Grant has zoomed to new heights.

Grant, McLaglen and Fairbanks are seen as a happy-go-lucky trio of sergeants of the British Army, stationed near the Khyber Pass. The three modern musketiers clash with a murderous group of stranglers and barely escape with their lives after a thrilling hand-to-hand battle.

Once more the trio go out this time with an ample force of men. With the party is Gunga Din, a native water carrier, who is well aware of Grant's long-standing hope of finding buried treasure, while Fairbanks, whose enlistment expires in a few days, wants to get back to the base and marry Miss Fontaine.

After a quarrel with McLaglen, Grant and Gunga Din leave and, hunting treasure, make their way to a hidden temple, which turns out to be the stranglers' headquarters. Grant is captured, Din escapes and brings the other sergeants with a rescue party, but the party gets besieged in the temple. The battle with the frenzied natives, and Gunga Din's sacrifice for his white friends, make for the gripping climax of this action-charged picture.

Filmed with thousands of players in the huge Indian settings built on a vast scale on the flanks of the California Sierras, where the landscape bears a striking resemblance to the mountainous ramparts of the Khyber area, "Gunga Din" ranks as a notable achievement in film history.

Against this grim but picturesque background, the romance between Fairbanks and Miss Fontaine and the martial and playful adventures of the three sergeants are deftly woven to create a memorable thread of romance comedy and adventure. Along with the heroism of the native bhisti and the gripping realism of the battle sequences.

Sam Jaffe, in the title role of Gunga Din, Eduardo Ciannelli as the ruthless Master Thug, Robert Coote as a rival sergeant, Abner Biberman as a Thug leader, Mantagu Love and Lumsden Hare as a pair of army officers and Cecil Kellaway as Miss Fontaine's father, all have important roles in this major RKO Radio picture.

VERSE BY PAUL PATTERSON TELLS OF OMITTED WORD

An item recently received from Paul Patterson, formerly "Sly Si" of our weekly sheet and now of North Africa tells of an important word which has been omitted from Webster's dictionary. The word is "Yank" and he feels that the word has a lot of meaning and that it is known the world over. The verse follows:

"YANK"
 The word should be in Webster's
 It's just a simple syllable
 And the name of it is "Yank."

It's a synonym for freedom
 And an antonym to slave.
 It's a word for liberation
 And another word for brave.

Now, Yank can mean an Irishman,
 A Frenchman, Pole or Greek;
 A Chinaman, a Cherokee,
 A Seminole or Creek.

It may be a Gonzales,
 A Rikoski or a Hill
 Whose blood for our Old Uncle Sam

He's willing for to spill.

It may mean Joe from Kokomo
 Or Pete from Old St. Paul;
 Or maybe Sam from Alabama
 With a lazy southern drawl.

Now, Yank means every living man
 Who is for Uncle Sam,
 And no longer to the Rebel
 Does the word begin with damn.

Old Reb now holds his verbal fire
 At all the boys in blue.
 It simply would be sabotage
 'Cause he's a Yankee, too.

He may be any color
 But he wears the Yank "O. D's,"
 And people know his meaning
 Across the seven seas.

He may be any color
