Charles W. Thomas Dies Here Monday After Long Illness

Services Held In El Paso Wednesday; Interment There

Charles W. Thomas, 67, died Monday. October 11, at the Banner residence in Sanderson after an illness of several weeks The body was taken to El Paso Tuesday morning by rail where funeral services were held Wednesday with interment in Evergreen Cemetery beside the late Mrs. Thomas who preceded him in death by almost nine months.

Mr. Thomas had been visiting in Manitou, Colo., with his daughter, Mrs. Billy Smith, when he became seriously ill, and Mrs W. A. Banner, his only other daughter, left immediately to be with him. She returned him to Sanderson Friday

Mr. Thomas was born Sept. 20 1876, at Summerset, Texas. In 1915. he moved with his family to Sanderson from Devine and resided here until 1918 when they moved to Dryden. In 1935 they moved from there to Langtry where they lived until 1940. at which time they moved to El Paso where they lived until the time of Mrs. Thomas death. He had made his home here with Mrs. Banner and in Manitou with Mrs. Smith since that time. He was a retired railroad man, serving as section foreman at Dryden and Langtry.

Besides the two daughters he is survived by a son, Manton Thomas of Phoenix Arizona; three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

STEINBECK'S GREAT NOVEL | picture. EVEN GREATER ON SCREEN

A breathtaking example of filmdom at its finest "The Moon Is Down," the picturization of John Steinbeck's great novel which shows Sunday and Monday at the Princess Theatre, is a truly great motion picture.

Vivid. intensely moving and masterfully filmed, is this story of the Nazi invasion of a peaceful Norwegian town. The bitter destiny of the defeated overwhelms the people as the sudden appearance of the German troops takes them completely unaware. But freedom is a precious heritage and therein lies the story that a people's hopes, strength and spiriteverything that freedom stands for-even under the heel of the conqueror, will never be crushed The entire picture is a rare cinematic masterpiece. Not only has it captured the mood of the book, but the brilliance of the individual scenes has seldom, if ever, been surpassed. There remains in your reviewer's mind, for instance, the trial of a Norwegian patriot by a Nazi Colonel, convincingly played by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Mayor Orden, whose screen counterpart is Henry Travers, sympathizes with the native who has killed a Nazi soldier, but is powerless to help him. As the doomed man goes to his death the mayor

From where I sit ...

by Joe Marsh

Every time Lem Martin hears about another Jap battleship being sunk-or another Nazi city being blasted-Lem grits his teeth, and digs into his pocket for more War Bond money.

"With our soldiers over there doin' better 'n' better at their scorin'," Lem says grimly, "we can do the same at home."

It's easy to think that if the war is going well, we can afford to let down just a little instead o' realizing that the bigger our offensive gets the more our boys are going to need equipment and munitions.

From where I sit, here's the way it is ... It's up to everyone of us to put not only our spare money into War Bonds, but to figure out new ways of saving so that we'll have still more money to invest in Victory.

As Lem says: "We asked for plenty of action-and we're sure getting it. All over the world our men have got them Axis fellas on the run. Let's Back the Attack with War Bonds."

Those in the race are: Mary Agnes Frazier, freshman; Jimmy Davis, escort.

Doris McSparran, sophomore; J. M. Harrell, escort.

Billie Babb, junior; Allister Dishman, escort. Maurine Frazier, senior Frank Stavley, escort.

_EAGLE_ CANDIDATES FOR PRINCESS

The candidates for princess have been chosen from the grade school and students are eager to elect their princess from their respective classes.

Those in the race are: Donna Sutton, first and second grades; Tommy Mansfield, escort. Donna Rose Wooten, third grade; Jackie Savage, escort. Waynene Cade, fourth and fifth grade; Jimmy Bradford escort.

Betty Cooke, sixth grade Edwin Smith, escort.

Marjorie Ann May, seventh grade; Frank Harrell, escort. Betty Jo Beckett, eighth grade; Joe Neil Brown, escort.

EAGLE... THROUGH THE KEY HOLE

We saw a table full of girls and a boy at another table fighting over the window shades. It seems as though the girls won. Could this be a new romance with one of the girls? Ask a certain boy who sits at the table by the window.

We saw Mr. B. in his P. E. shorts. My! Isn't he cute!! On the bus last Monday, we saw a certain nosey boy get kissed by a very cute girl.

We see a lot of girls admiring our old pal-Jack Thomas. We saw Miss Lattimore and two other teachers with soldiers Sunday. We also heard that Miss Latt, had a date Friday night too. My! she is really getting a-

BOOK CHAT ARMY BRAT By Tommy Wadelton

This week the "Book Chat" column is given over to one book which should go on everyone's 'must read" list. You can read this charming little book in a very short time, and you will feel better for having read it.

"To civilian kids brat is a fighting word, but to Army families on the west coast or the east, in scattered garrisons throughout the mid-west, in posts from Florida to Alaska and Phillipines, kids born in the shadow of the flag flying over their homes are known lovingly as brats-Army Brat." You will thoroughly agree with this quotation taken from the blurb on the cover, for all little army brats will have a place in your heart after you have read this

Use One Large Bulb Instead of Several Smaller Ones

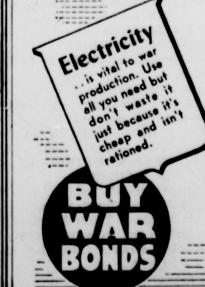

Offhand it would seem that four 25-watt bulbs would produce the same amount of light as one 100-watt bulb. But such is not the case. A 100-watt bulb produces as much light as SIX 25-watt bulbs, yet uses one-third less current. Therefore, when practical, always use one large bulb instead of several smaller ones of same total wattage and you'll get more light for your money.

OTHER WAYS TO CONSERVE LIGHT

- Remove and clean lamp buibs and lamp bowls regularly. Dry thoroughly before using again.
  - Keep shade linings light. Clean or brush regularly. Repaint or reline dark-colored paper or parchment shades.
  - Sit close enough to the lamp to get all the help it can give your
- Avoid direct glare from lamp bulbs by using shades deep enough and wide enough.
- Arrange furniture so one lamp can serve two people. But be sure lamp is not too far away from either person.
  - 6. Lamp bulbs use critical materials . . . Make them last longer.

Turn off lamps not in use.

AT THE PRINCESS

STEINBECK'S GREAT NOVEL picture EVEN GREATER ON SCREEN

A breathtaking example of filmdom at its finest "The Moon Is Down," the picturization of John Steinbeck's great novel which shows Sunday and Monday at the Princess Theatre, is a truly great motion picture.

Vivid intensely moving and masterfully filmed, is this story of the Nazi invasion of a peaceful Norwegian town. The bitter destiny of the defeated overwhelms the people as the sudden appearance of the German troops takes them completely unaware. But freedom is a precious heritage and therein lies the story that a people's hopes, strength and spiriteverything that freedom stands for-even under the heel of the conqueror, will never be crushed. The entire picture is a rare inematic masterpiece. Not only has it captured the mood of the book, but the brilliance of the individual scenes has seldom, if ever, been surpassed. There remains in your reviewer's mind, wegian patriot by a Nazi Colonel, convincingly played by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Mayor Orden, whose screen counterpart is Henry Travers, sympathizes with the native who has killed a Nazi soldier, but is powerless to help him. As the doomed man goes to his death the mayor

"Go knowing that these men will never again have any rest, no rest at all. until they are gone from Norway, or dead .

Again, Molly Morden, who is enacted by Dorris Bowdon, determines to avenge the death of her husband at the hands of the invaders. When a lonely, despondent Nazi Lieutenant calls on her, she reaches for a pair of sissors: "Soon there will be one less of this horrible horde!"

Irving Pichel, in whose able hands the direction was placed. has kept the action swiftly moving throughout. Crisp and sure, he has enhanced the book with the individual touches that mark an exceptional motion

From where I sit ...

by Joe Marsh

Every time Lem Martin hears about another Jap battleship being sunk-or another Nazi city being blasted-Lem grits his teeth, and digs into his pocket

for more War Bond money. "With our soldiers over there doin' better 'n' better at their scorin'," Lem says grimly, "we can do the same at home."

It's easy to think that if the war is going well, we can afford to let down just a little instead o' realizing that the bigger our offensive gets the more our boys are going to need equipment and munitions.

From where I sit, here's the way it is . . . It's up to everyone of us to put not only our spare money into War Bonds, but to figure out new ways of saving so that we'll have still more money to invest in Victory.

As Lem says: "We asked for plenty of action-and we're sure getting it. All over the world our men have got them Axis fellas on the run. Let's Back the Attack with War Bonds."

Use One Large Bulb Instead of Several Smaller Ones

Offhand it would seem that four 25-watt bulbs would produce the same amount of light as one 100-watt bulb. But such is not the case. A 100-watt bulb produces as much light as SIX 25-watt bulbs, yet uses one-third less current. Therefore, when practical, always use one large bulb instead of several smaller ones of same total wattage and you'll get more light for your money.

OTHER WAYS TO CONSERVE LIGHT

- Remove and clean lamp bulbs and lamp bowls regularly. Dry thoroughly before using again.
- Keep shade linings light. Clean or brush regularly. Repaint or reline dark-colored paper or parchment shades.
- Sit close enough to the lamp to get all the help it can give your
- Avoid direct glare from lamp bulbs by using shades deep enough and wide enough.
- can serve two people. But be sure lamp is not too far away from either person. Turn off lamps not in use.

VOODOO BACKGROUND FOR CREEPY DRAMA I WALKED WITH A ZOMBIE

An execeptionally arresting entry in the horror-film stakes is "I Walked With a Zombie." which shows at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday, October, 22 and 23 with James Elison, Frances Dee and Tom Conway heading the cast.

Its locale is a small island in the Caribbean. The story of this strange romance involves a wealthy sugar-planter, his wife, half-brother, mother, and a nurse who is sent there to take care of the wife and who tells the unusual story.

The wife is the victim of an odd tropic fever, according to the island doctor; a fever that has left her practically a robot, without speech or thought or feeling. The nurse soon learns that her condition is supposed to be the result of a quarrel between the two brothers, and learns further that while medical science cannot help her patient, native magic might do so.

Anxious, for the planter's sake, to restore the woman to a normal condition, the nurse tak. es her to a voodoo ceremony in the hills. Her well-meant action leads to a series of unexpected and dramatic consequences which discloses that the wife is really a "zombie," a person who has died but has subsequently been brought to her machine like state by native witchcraft. How the eerie situation is finally cleared up forms the gripping climax to this unusual chiller-thriller

Miss Dee turns in a compelling performance as the nurse and Conway and Ellison are excellent as the two brothers. Christine Gordon as the wife, James Bell as a doctor and Edith Barrett as the mother all stand out among the supporting
