WAR ASSURANCE

Countless Americans who have seen Senator Walter Franklin George nor heard his name have an assured confidence in the Georgian. The name of Georgia has a substantial connotation. It suggests southern plantation architecture, heritage and comfort with not too much of the indelible appellation "Georgia" rightly attaches the state's traditional virtues to the man.

Senator George is the personification of diligence. For more than twenty years he has distinguished himself as a member of the senior body of our national legislature and has been described as the greatest mind in Congress. He is now the chairman of the Senate's very important committee on Post-War Economic Policy and Planning.

That's a large assignment for a small-town boy, for such he was. Senator George was born in Preston, Ga., population 2,063. I can appreciate the magnitude of these committees because Searcy, Ark., according to the latest census has only 3,870.

Anyone who is familiar with the full cycles of life and business and politics that run their course within the confines of a small community—such a person as before him patterns to measure proposals of broader and more profound import. I am not worried about his persistence. The chances are that he has seen more sides of the phenomena of life than his city cousins, who see more passing before their eyes but see it less completely.

Knows Economy

Senator George has a keen appreciation of the broad interrelationships of our national economy. He understands that a change in one segment means change to others. He has shown the broadest kind of statesmanship in guiding the work of his committee on Post-War. His committee has been giving intense study to those critical adjustments that will be necessary when the war ends, especially prompt reconversion of industry to peacetime production, coming from the agricultural belt which has had opportunity to see how closely tied together farm prosperity and high employment in industry.

In its recent report, the George Committee declared that through thousands of war contracts have been cancelled already, and disposal of surplus materials was already under way, there is so far no well defined policy on these subjects. The committee rightly urged Congress promptly enact legislation fixing the government's policy on these matters especially that machinery established for the coordinating of all these problems and furnishing over-all direction.

It gives me renewed confidence in our democratic ideals and system to know that we have in positions of high authority such leaders as Senator George of Georgia.

The committee very nicely points out also that in the disposal of government-owned war surplus and equipment the obvious should be to do this with a minimum disturbance to private industry, watching out, of course, that nothing is done to create a monopoly.

To the People of this Community

THINK IT OVER

How about doing a little cold turkey thinking after you lay aside this newspaper tonight? You've got a good job. The chances are there is someone else in your family, perhaps two or three, working. Your son or your brother—may be away at war.

This war must end sometime. Your whole family, your neighbors, are praying it ends soon and those fighting boys of yours will come home safely.

But will you be ready for whatever happens when peace comes? Will you have something laid away? We're all hoping there'll be jobs aplenty, jobs which mean making something for somebody's happiness and not for somebody's sorrow. That's where your War Bonds come into the picture. Sure, Americans own billions of dollars of War Bonds now; and before this 4th War Loan ends they will have put away billions more. But how about you? You're the one that counts. The bigger the pile of War Bonds you have when peace comes, the bigger chance you'll have to slip right into the post-war world you're dreaming about tonight.

So "Let's All Keep on Backing the Attack."

Nursing Not Just "Duration" Need Says Director

New Class To Be Started In March For Regular Students

Nursing is not a "duration only" professional opportunity for women—but a vital and satisfying long-range field of service, declares Miss Marjorie Bartholf, director of the John Sealy College of Nursing of the University of Texas.

"The need for nurses is not one that came out of the war," she explained. "It existed long before the war, and will continue when the war is over. Growth of industrial health services and of hospital insurance plans, together with expanding public health services, will afford a vast and varied professional field for women."

The University College of Nursing will admit a new class of students in March, Miss Bartholf pointed out. Members of the new class may enroll either as regular students or as members of the U. S. Cadet Nurses Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Burlison returned Saturday from a visit in San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth where they went to purchase merchandise for their store.

Miss Cornelia Wilson is at College Station where she is attending a meeting with other officials of the ACA.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY URGES COOPERATION

ADVERTISING IS AGAIN TO PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE

Business men and others of Sanderson were quick to respond to a plea by their government to sponsor advertising which boosts the sale of War Bonds during the Fourth War Loan drive which is scheduled to start January 18 and continue until the latter part of February. Addressed to the newspaper publisher, with the expressed hope that the information would be passed on to sponsors, the letter follows:

Again in the Fourth War Loan, we are going to depend heavily upon the newspapers, and upon the businesses who sponsor newspaper advertisements, to carry our urgent message to the American people.

As in the past, these industry-sponsored advertisements will again prove the backbone of our promotional campaign.

"I hope you will pass this information along to those businesses and industries in your community who can and will help sponsor this vital local newspaper advertising.

"The job gets more and more difficult as we increase the amount of money to be raised from individuals. We must reach and convince an increasing number of citizens. We need the help of a good newspaper campaign more now than ever."

The letter was signed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

COLLECTOR INTERNAL REVENUE URGES EARLY FILING OF TAX RETURNS

MILLION FORMS BEING MAILED TO TAXPAYERS

Frank Scofield, Collector of Internal Revenue, announced today that he has begun to mail copies of the 1943 Individual Income and Victory Tax Return to the estimated 1,000,000 Federal income taxpayers in the First District of Texas.

Collector Scofield said. "Although these returns are not required by law to be filed until March 15, I cannot urge too strongly that everyone prepare and file his return as early as possible."

"There are," he said, "two major points that are vital for everyone to understand. First, many will owe a substantial tax and should start immediately to find out how much they will owe and to make plans for meeting the obligation. I must emphasize this as a simple matter of fairness to those taxpayers who may have overlooked this phase of the change-over to the pay-as-you-go system.

"Second, although many taxpayers will find that they are substantially paid up on their 1943 taxes—some of them, in fact, being entitled to refunds—it is still necessary for them to file a return."

Collector Scofield explained that, under the pay-as-you-go system, all current tax payments

GOVERNOR NAMED HONORARY HEAD OF COMMITTEE

Governor Coke Stevenson has accepted honorary chairmanship of the State Committee for the celebration of the President's birthday. The Texas fund raising campaign begins Friday, January 14 and climaxes Saturday, January 29, Mr. Briggs announced. The campaign is to be carried into every County of the State under the direction of the County chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. H. C. Goldwire left Thursday for San Angelo where she went to be with her little five-year-old nephew who was seriously burned recently. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Dorsey of that place.

Mrs. Lee Sims is in San Antonio where she will visit for several days.

FROM TEXAS TO TOKIO

Word from Wm. H. (Bill) Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith of Dryden, is to the effect that he has been made a Turret Captain now and is an instructor at the Navy yard at Washington, D. C. Says that he will probably be transferred within the next few weeks, either to a post in Idaho or at Seattle, Washington. Bill has had more than eighteen months foreign service and will probably be assigned to shore duty for some time.

B. F. Davis, aerial radioman second class, U. S. Navy, writes from his base in England that he spent Christmas Day in London. Says he enjoyed the visit but he had much rather have been at home. He also writes that he has recently participated in a major naval battle but is getting along fine and likes England better than he thought he would.

Pvt. Joe Ross Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Phillips of Dryden arrived Friday of last week for a 15-day furlough with his parents. He is stationed at Ft. George G. Meade, Maryland. States that he missed his brother, Raymond, only a few hours in Dallas when he was on his way home. Raymond was enroute to Salt Lake, Utah, after a visit with his parents.

Robert L. Shaw, radioman third class, U. S. Navy, arrived Friday to spend a 21-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Shaw at Pumpville, and with other friends. Robert is stationed at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Pvt. Dick Sullivan, U. S. Marine Corps, has written home to his mother, Mrs. Maude Sullivan, that he is now somewhere in Hawaii. Says he is getting along fine since landing there but the mosquitoes are so bad that they have to sleep under nets.

Aviation Cadet Pat Sullivan, Jr., stationed at Vernon, Texas, where he is receiving his primary training, writes that he has already made his first solo flight.

Denny Sullivan, another son of Mrs. Maude Sullivan who has made his home at Junction for the past several years, reported for service in the army January 13th. He reported at the induction center at San Antonio.

The editor and wife are remembered by a former Sanderson boy who is now stationed in Australia. Clyde Morris, Jr., whose father was local manager of the Community Public Service Co. for several years, mails us a picture folder which shows twelve selected views of the city of Brisbane, Australia, and surroundings. Also included was a map of the city area of Brisbane which furnished us enlightenment as to why four of the twelve pictures were bridges. The Brisbane River does a lot of twisting through that town.

Seasons greetings were also received by the Times Staff from the Hawaiian Islands in the form of a calendar bearing a picture of a part of the beach with a background of palm trees. The sender was James Blackwelder, seaman second class, U. S. Seabees who has been stationed somewhere in the Islands for the past several months.

A card from Aviation Student Walter G. Downie tells us that he is now at College Station where he is attending A. & M. College. Says he finally got into cadets and has about two and a half more months of school before he starts his preflight. Also says "Finally started getting..."

BONDS OVER AMERICA

Children play in Esther Short Park of Vancouver, Washington, beneath a heroic statue dedicated to the pioneer women who came with their husbands and children into the Northwest country, newly opened after the Lewis and Clark expedition.

There is little cause for mirth in occupied Europe and even the children have little stomach for play. Millions have been orphaned by Nazi guns or labor camps; all are undernourished and will bear the scars of this war to their dying day.

In last week's column we reported that Sgt. W. J. Ferguson, Jr., had returned to officer's training. This was in error. He reported for active duty at the finance office at his new post in Independence, Kansas. Sgt. Ferguson has spent more than eight months in hospitals, and according to word from his new station, is receiving additional check-ups there.

In letters received from her twin sons, Cherry and Terry, Mrs. Lottie Miller received the information that they were both up for ratings of pharmacists mates, third class, in the U. S. Navy. They also report that their Christmas dinner was a good one but that they hope to be back in Sanderson for their Christmas dinner in 1944. They have been overseas for the past ten months. A letter from another son, Leonard Miller, gunner's mate stationed in Bremerton, Washington, contains the information that he has a new buddy in his barracks, Buster Holland from Sanderson. Leonard has been transferred to duty on a submarine chaser in the South Pacific.

Cpl. Lewis Welch, whose address is care of the postmaster Seattle, Washington, writes Larry Hogan that he would like to be back at his old job with the railroad. Says he thinks probably that he would be doing more toward winning the war, too. He says, "Larry, I believe you men who are running the trains all over the States are doing more good for the country than as many men, in comparison, are doing in the army."

"I received a letter from Gene Litton the other day. You know he is on the opposite side of the world from me. Bill Lea, Johnny Howell, and Durwood Hartsfield are real near me. Bill is the closest but I don't believe he knows where I am. We can't tell each other either.

"Larry, perhaps I will come to see you next fall. Understand, that is only what I think and hope for. I can think of no better place to be."
