pointed out by Rev. Klassen to be evidenced in reliance on both human and mechanical services, and in reliance in the strength of God. Credence in things unseen but heard of, which is the basis of logic and love and knowledge of God, is also substance of faith, said Rev. Klassen.

Using as an illustration the dark scourge of the Nazi movement, powered by belief in coercion as a means to gain for self, Rev. Klassen went on to show that faith can be laid on wrong instead of right, and that it can be unjustified in many things often depended on as complete solutions to human problems.

The faith in right, in goodness, in God, exemplified by the philosophy of Christ, "is the way to a better life for the individual and for the world," concluded Rev. Klassen.

To the People of this Community

The 7th War Loan objective is four billion dollars in Series E Bonds. At this time last year Americans had oversubscribed two war loan quotas, each three billion dollars in Series E War Bonds. It is obvious your personal share must be the greatest of any of the war loans. And yet it may be no higher than or even less than the combined amount you invested in bonds in the 4th and 5th War Loans. Why should you continue to put every dollar above the cost of the necessities of living into extra bonds? 1. Uppermost you owe an obligation to your fighting men and women to back them to the limit as long as any enemy military strength remains. 2. Think about two Jims for a moment—sacrifice on the battlefields is still a way of life for your relatives and friends in uniform. 3. The self-interest motive is at a new high. Civilian goods are now scarcer than ever before. Every dollar you spend for non-essentials works for higher prices.

ECONOMIC SECURITY

Back in 1865 senators and representatives in the Congress of the United States began drawing $5,000 a year; $100 a week. That was good pay 80 years ago but a first-class welder can do better now. Congressmen have had two raises in salary since then. The last one was 20 years ago when they started earning $10,000 a year, which was, at the time, a comfortable living for them.

A great many executives in private enterprise earn more money than senators do although they do not claim superior ability. Why do our legislators not earn more? Because their salaries are fixed by law and they themselves are the gentlemen who make the laws. They could vote themselves a raise in pay but there is always reluctance to introduce such a bill.

Throughout Government

There are politics in it, of course. Revenue measures never are popular. Congressmen who vote for a dip out of Mr. Taxpayer's pocket come to regret it on election day sometimes, even when the expenditure was a wise one. That's exactly why employees in the Post Office Department haven't had a boost in pay since the congressmen did, a matter of 20 years ago.

Wage rates in private industry have advanced from 42c to $1 an hour in the last 20 years. They have more than doubled. Informed authorities say that living costs have gone up 30 per cent or more during that time. Doubled pay for workers in private industry offsets the living costs that are about 1-3 higher but what about government people from mail clerks to senators? Ask for Consideration

One of the biggest newspapers in my state published an advertisement recently, calling the attention of the people of Arkansas to the unhappy plight of the postal employees who serve them. The display advertisement was bought and paid for by the postal workers themselves. In a diplomatic way they are asking their neighbors to help them ask Congress for better wages.

I want to see the postal people earning more money. I favor the passage of currently proposed legislation to boost the pay of senators and representatives 25 per cent better. I hope to see the day when a self-respecting poor man can afford to represent his state in costly and wealthy Washington. These are details however. It is wrong in principle that government employees wait 20 years for a raise.

Dangerous Bureaucracy

The important thing is that every workman who quits a job in private industry to enter government employ gets his wage scale frozen. He may get a raise in pay but that's temporary. Whoever works at that job a generation from now will probably be earning the same amount and spending a lot more to live. Remember that the laborer of today is earning senatorial pay for 1865.

These facts are understood well by men of industry and leaders in labor movements. It is encouraging to observe how the Labor-Management Charter signed in Washington last March by labor union executives and prominent men of business deals with the subject. In brief it states: Private enterprise is the necessary foundation for the welfare of labor as well as management.

Mrs. Roy Haley was an Alpine business visitor Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Pecos High Bridge fell to Sanderson Sunday afternoon when the local ball club battered the servicemen's team 7-5 in a good, fast game on the site of the old Legion ball park.

THE EAGLE NEWS

EDITED BY STUDENTS OF THE SANDERSON HIGH SCHOOL

"EL AGUILA" OFF PRESS IN JULY

The school annual "El Aguilá" will be ready early in July. Further announcements will appear later. Those who are moving must leave a forwarding address. The annual will cost only 75 cents more per annual. Please leave the amount with one of the following: Bill Savage, Billie Babb, Doris McSparran, Doris Lee Cooke—Members of the staff.

The annual, first in the history of Sanderson High, attractively bound in white leather, will contain 96 pages.

A great deal of credit is due the entire staff for their untiring efforts on a job that was certainly a new one.

HOBO BARBECUE

Saturday, May 19, Mrs. Ben F. Anderson, and Mrs. Sam Bell were the hostesses to a Senior Hobo barbecue honoring their daughters, Joan and Clara Alice. The members of the class, dressed as hobos, met at the home of Mrs. Bell where they received hobo bags of food. They then went to the Anderson's where they received another bag. The guests thumbed rides as far as "five-mile hill" where they were served delicious barbecue, potato salad, fruit salad, beans, doughnuts, and iced tea.

After the barbecue, the senior hobos were joined by others to dance at the Masonic Hall to which the high school was invited. The Hall carried out the idea of Hobo Land with a camp fire in one corner and signs on the walls indicating the distance to Langtry, Longfellow, Marathon, and other places.

Piano music for dancing was furnished by Doris Duke and Jeanette Cobb.

ORCHIDS TO—

To the "El Aguilá" Staff for their untiring work on the annual.

To the faculty members who helped on the annual—Misses Conger, Brieger, Mrs. Holley, and Mrs. McMillan.

To Mr. Holley for the delicious barbecue prepared for the Hobos.

To Mesdames Anderson and Bell for a swell time Saturday night.

To Mrs. Jim Kerr for the flowers for Baccalaureate.

To the Juniors for a swell job of ushering Sunday night.

To those on the Baccalaureate program.

LOCAL TEACHERS ATTEND MEETING IN ALPINE

Misses Una Lee and Margaret Lattimore and Mrs. M. H. Greenwood attended a tea at Lawrence Hall, Sul Ross College, last Saturday.

This meeting closed another year's work for Delta Kappa society. Miss Lee made the annual report on the progress of the organization. Mrs. Greenwood, chairman of the publicity committee, reported for her committee.

A state officer reported on the recent meeting in Dallas. Officers were elected for the coming year.

The past presidents and the present one cut the birthday cake with ten candles and made a wish for the organization.

FIFTH GRADE NEWS

The fifth grade has had a successful and pleasant year's work. The first six weeks we had only two on the honor roll. Now we have five.

Herbert Saegert and his mother spent the week-end in Seguin with Herbert's grandmother.

We wish to express our thanks to Mrs. House (our room mother) and Mrs. Word and Mrs. Saegert for the enjoyable picnic last Tuesday.

Probably we are slow in some ways. We have our first case of chicken pox. Barbara Rose is absent this week.

Nancy's father and Mary Ann Hasty have gone to Springfield, Missouri, to visit Mr. Hasty's parents and his brother, who has been wounded in foreign service.

SEEKING THE SENIORS

Last in our series of "Seeking the Seniors" we present Emma Yvonne Oberling who was born in New Orleans, Louisiana, February 25, 1928. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Oberling.

Yvonne has brown eyes, blond hair, and she is about five feet two inches tall. She spent her grammar school days in New Orleans, Louisiana, and her high school days in Sanderson.

Yvonne's ambition is to become an actress; and her hobby is traveling and meeting new people.

Some of Yvonne's favorites are: Pastime, Dancing and swimming, Food, Mulligan stew and crab Gumbo. Movie star Van Johnson. Book, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." Song "Heaven in a Pair of Wooden Shoes." Subject, chemistry. Picture Show "Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Yvonne plans to go to college and to travel in South America after graduation.

Her pet peeve is waiting for a late train.

Her activities during high school days were: Choral Club, Dramatic Club, Pep Squad, Volleyball, Tennis.

SENIOR ASSEMBLY

The last assembly of the year was prepared by the graduating class. It was called "Gypsies for a Day."

As the curtain opened three of the Juniors of the Klan of the Sanderson Eagle tribe—Dorislee Cooke, Mary Allen, and Helen Holmes—were seen decorating the woodland spot where the Senior Klan was to meet at twilight.

During the second scene the Senior Gypsy Klan met with the Chieftan, Al Dishman, presiding; Billie Babb, secretary called the roll; Yvonne read the history; Hazel Bergman offered the Senior pledge; Bill Savage read the class will; Betty Jo Kerr told the fortunes of each member; Joan Anderson, the treasurer, and Clara Alice Vice-President, presented the gift to the room mother, Mrs. Will Savage.

At the close of the program the entire Eagle Tribe sang

Women in your 40's

Do these symptoms Betray your Age?

Do you—like so many women between the ages of 38 and 53—suffer from hot flashes, nervous tension, irritability, are a bit blue at times—due to the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women? Then start at once—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. This great medicine helps nature. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such "middle-age" distress.

For almost a century—thousands upon thousands of women have reported benefits. Also grant stomachic tonic. Follow label directions.

Health Officer Urges Immunization Against Typhoid

AUSTIN, Texas.—"If you have not been immunized against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, go to your doctor now, and be protected against it," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advised prospective campers, Boy and Girl Scouts, summer vacationists, and all other users of the open road—whether for business or pleasure—as the out-of-doors season approaches.

"Typhoid fever," he continued "is unnecessary and preventable. Every case is due either to community negligence or to the ignorance or carelessness of some individual."

"A typhoid carrier is a person who has had typhoid at some time and who even after recovery carries the germs of the disease in his body and may pass them on to others. Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers who didn't even know they could spread typhoid, having fully recovered from it."

"Typhoid germs are hitchhikers. They are picked up and spread from person to person by water, milk, flies, fingers, food. Every case of typhoid is con-

The State Department of Health and the local health departments can be depended upon to continue their fight against the disease, but there will still be sources of infection that can be guarded against only through the protection afforded the individual by vaccination against the disease."

C. Hopkins donated five sacks of buckwheat cornmeal, two new products company had recently produced. The "Alliance Review" prepared a series of half a dozen page advertisements appearing twice weekly for a month and followed up with and stories.

Contributions ranged from baking powder filled with dripping to 10 gallon cans of chick. Distributed to used fat the 30 days were 411 bushels of flour, 263 bushels of cornmeal, besides 12000 pounds of regular cash and point reward.

Okinawa Battle Delayed to Days of Indian Wars

By Sgt. Elvis Lane
OKINAWA (Delayed)—Motobu peninsula is filled with rugged mountains, pastoral valleys, and hidden death.

The fighting is like that of the Indian wars—stalking the enemy, ambushes, long periods of waiting.

The Japs may be hidden on the next hill, or the following one. There is no definite front.

There may be two Jap snipers peering from a hillside in the distance, three enemy machine-guns and Japanese mortars where on the ridge on the next.

There's not a sound. Suddenly the air is filled with rifle fire, machine-guns and mortar shells. As suddenly as it started the noise ceases.

A runner emerges from the brush. "A Jap machine-gun 300 yards ahead. We lost three men—two killed, two wounded."

Area Heavily Wooded
The commanding officer orders another patrol up an adjoining hillside. The patrol disappears, Indian-file, into the heavily-wooded area.

"Say, Mac," a youthful Marine says close to the runner, "who you killed?"

"Tommy," the tired runner replies.

The news passes up and down the ranks. "Tommy's beer killed." Yesterday it was Willy, the freckled-faced youngster from Georgia. The day before the husky lieutenant from Pennsylvania and Charley, the bowing sergeant, died in an enemy ambush.

American fighter planes hover overhead waiting for word from the ground forces that there's a concentration of Japs on a particular hill. Offshore, Navy destroyers keep their guns leveled on the mountainous coast, ready for the moment the Marines appear where.

Hand Grenades Heard
Rifle fire, the explosion of hand grenades. A communications corporal picks up a telephone.

"Enemy machine-gun destroyed. Eight Japs killed."

Then a message from the patrol on the left that enemy mortars are set up behind the next ridge. A few minutes later American fighter planes dive-bomb, strafing the spot. The planes leave and Navy ships shell the area.

Two enemy mortars knocked out. One crew escaped up the hill," reports the patrol.

The patrol is ordered to pursue the Japs.

Sunset and the hills turn pinkish green. The hills look like those in Kentucky and the Missouri Ozarks. But the valleys, with their rice paddies and straw-roofed huts, are foreign.

Canned Rations Opened
The Marines dig foxholes and open canned rations. "Cigarettes out in 15 minutes," an officer yells.

The men try to make themselves as comfortable as possible. "Joe!" someone calls, "don't have a nightmare tonight. I almost tossed a hand grenade at your foxhole last night when you screamed."

Soon it's dark and there's not a sound. Then a snap of a twig and a machine-gun lets loose two bursts. Then quiet until midnight, when enemy mortar shells explode nearby. A few seconds later, one of our searchlights up the hillside. Our artillery rumbles. Thirty minutes later silence has returned.

Dawn comes. Another day more patrols. The lines move a few more miles. Maybe Motobu peninsula will be secured in a few days.

Wouldn't we save a lot of time if so much time lost in hurrying wasn't wasted.

PRAISES WAR PRISONERS AID

Lt. E. S. Proctor of Port Arthur, who spent months in Axis prison hospitals after being shot down over Italy, basks in the smile of his small daughter, Rebecca Ann, at McCloskey General Hospital, Temple, Texas, where he is recuperating. Books and other materials sent through by War Prisoners Aid, the National War Fund Agency, meant everything to the captive Americans in keeping up their morale, Proctor says.

WOUNDED VETERANS TELL OF LIFE IN PRISONER OF WAR HOSPITALS

TEMPLE, Texas—"That's what it's like to be wounded and a prisoner of war," said Lt. E. S. Proctor of Port Arthur. "You just lie there and try to keep from thinking, but you can't because there's nothing else to do."

"You wonder what they're going to do to you, and if you're going to see home again. And then you'd almost give anything for something to take your mind off your troubles."

Proctor glanced around at the circle of other disabled officers who sat with him in the ward at McCloskey General hospital here. All are convalescing from wounds since their return from Axis prison camps a few weeks ago.

Lt. Proctor was co-pilot on a B-25 and lost his left foot when he was shot down over Italy on April 25, 1944. He was taken to a small Austrian hospital, staffed by Italian doctors.

"And there wasn't a thing to do but lie there and look at the fellows in the other beds and think," he shrugged. "After a while, even the sight of the others wears you thin."

"That was the way it was in the Austrian hospital where I was taken," nodded Lt. Ernest Davis of Dallas. Davis was a co-pilot on a Fortress which was shot down over Austria on February 24, 1944. He lost his right arm.

"Then they moved up to the big prison camp at Obermaasfeld in Germany," Davis continued. "There was a lot of stuff there that had got through from War Prisoners Aid, the National War Fund agency. Books and some musical instruments. Some sports equipment and religious stuff. We found out we could have had it in the Austrian hospital if we had demanded it."

"After a while some stuff got through to us, also," Lt. Proctor said. "Through Switzerland. Some novels and technical books. The boys ate them up. I never was quite clear on how the plan worked."

The reporter explained that War Prisoners Aid is one of the agencies of the National War Fund, and that part of the $4,797,000 contributed by Texans in last fall's state war chest drive went to help finance the aids against "barbed wire sickness."

"A fellow just couldn't make it without those things," commented Lt. F. A. Brumeloe of Midlothian, Fortress pilot who was shot down over Bremen, Germany, in the blazing raids of November, 1943.

"For the first two months nothing came through to us at our prison hospital. Then the parcels and books arrived and we all took a new lease on life. That stuff means just as much as food packages. It all goes together to help a man hang on."

In a few cases, where prisoners were without anything to take their minds off themselves, German officials allowed them to make what they could, said Lt. Ralph Norsworthy of Dallas who was wounded and shot down over Yugo-Slavia.

"Some of the British prisoners in our camp made golf equipment—all of wood," he recalled. "The clubs and even the balls were of wood. It was almost funny to see them hopping around in crutches, smacking a wooden golf ball around like they'd play croquet. But the stuff was poor makeshift at the best."

Our Merchant Marine

ACTION IN THE PACIFIC

Pacific successes stem from revolutionary supply methods, overcoming the obstacle of distance. Our secret weapon, Admiral Nimitz reveals, is the Fleet Train.

The FLEET TRAIN consists of merchant-type ships, operated by the Navy or by private shipping firms under government direction. One of its chief services is re-fueling and supplying naval vessels at sea.

"Not once did they fail," Admiral Nimitz declares, speaking of our commercial tanker fleet.

Merchant ships have transported over 4/5 of our planes used in the Pacific. A majority of the 1,400 ships used in the Okinawa invasion were cargo vessels.

MR. TWO BY FOUR

OKINAWA (Delayed) — Mr. Five by Five has a rival here. He is Gushiken Kokue, four feet tall and two feet wide. Gushiken, who has spent all of his 24 years on Okinawa, came through Marine lines looking for a place to sleep. Dressed in child's size kimono, the little man was carrying a bundle of American cigarettes given to him by Leathernecks as he trekked along the road from the front.

Unlike Five by Five, the diminutive Okinawan was not on the mellow side. He was bored, he said, with the cave life he had been living since the American landings on Easter Sunday. He was fed and turned over to military government authorities until he can return home reports Sgt. Walter Wood, Marine Corps combat correspondent.

MATCH THEIR SPIRIT in the MIGHTY 7TH WAR LOAN DRIVE

YES, despite their long months and years of privation and suffering, those gallant men, just released from filthy Jap Prison Camps, still have their good old fighting spirit. They're itching to get back into the fight and give the Nips a taste of their own medicine.

Let's show them that we're not quitting either! Let's match their spirit with our dollars! Let's make this MIGHTY 7th War Loan the mightiest of them all!

But to come even close to matching their sacrifices, everyone here at home must buy War Bonds until it hurts. Buy double or treble the extra War Bonds you've bought in any previous drive. Remember, this is really two drives in one. In the same period last year, you were asked to subscribe to two War Loans.

So let's go, Americans. Our hard-fighting Soldiers, Sailors and Marines are giving their ALL. The least we can do is to lend our dollars.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

MARY: "Jim, didn't you say you wanted to ask the Judge something about grain, the next time you saw him?"

JIM: "That's right, I did, Mary. Is it true, Judge, that distillers recover part of the grain they use in making war-alcohol?"

OLD JUDGE: "That's absolutely true, Jim. Wherever the government has permitted distillers to purchase the equipment necessary to reprocess the used grain, at least 50% of the feed value (25% by weight) of the whole grain is recovered. It comes back to farms like yours in the form of premium-quality livestock feed... rich in vitamins B₁ and B₂."

JIM: "Is the same thing true when distillers are permitted to make whiskey, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Yes, every bit as true, Jim."

MEAT SUPPLY FOR CIVILIANS CONTINUES SHORT

LOS ANGELES UNION STOCK YARDS—May 25, 1945—Figures just released by the Department of Agriculture show that April slaughter of cattle under Federal inspection was 4 per cent heavier than in April 1944 and 2 per cent over April 1943. Slaughter of calves, however, was down 17 per cent from March and 14 per cent from April last year. Hog kill was only 49 per cent of the record slaughter for April 1944. Sheep slaughter was 13 per cent under March but 9 per cent larger than April 1944. The all-over picture, based on these slaughter statistics, is not calculated to raise hopes for greater supplies of meat for civilian consumers.

During the past week markets were well stocked with cattle but other classes of meat animals were light in supply. Los Angeles drew approximately 9000 cattle for the period, compared with 8324 the previous week and 6820 corresponding week a year ago. At 12 markets 168,300 cattle were received, versus 187,602 the previous week and 179,187 a year ago.

Cattle trade displayed some unevenness. A comparatively liberal crop of steers sold largely on an even level, though some of the commoner kinds were slow and mildly easier. The practical top was $17.25, though odd had touched $18. Major end of the fed steers sold at $15 to $16.60. Grass steers ranged mostly $13.75 to $15.50, with common Mexicans down to $11.50 and under. Feeder buyers took quite a few thin steers around $12.75 to $14 with a few fleshy sorts up to $15.

Good cows were wanted and relatively firm, strength developing in spots but medium and common grass cows suitable to sell under $11.50 were dull and unevenly lower, and as much as 50c to $1 under the recent high time. Heifers were steady to 25c lower, the decline on medium and plainer sorts sold at $15.50 to $16.50.

Hogs held fully steady at established ceiling level. Meager supplies of butchers sold at $15.57, and sows and stags at $15. A few medium to choice feeder pigs cleared at $20 to $25 the latter price on 112 lb weights.

Sheep and lambs were slow and prices steady to 5c lower. No lambs sold above $14 and indications are that $14.50 would be about an outside figure on choice springers. Common to good ewes ranged $5 to $7.25 with culls and throwout $2.25 to $4.50.

This year the 7th War Loan has to raise just about as much as was raised by two loans up to this time last year.

Scholarships In Physical Therapy Are Offered Now

How young men and women of Sanderson and Terrell County may prepare for postwar careers in an uncrowded profession through free scholarships in physical therapy at leading universities and medical schools was described today by W. W. Sudduth, chairman of the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Some of the funds contributed by the people of Terrell County in the annual March of Dimes are being used for the $1,267,600 nation-wide physical therapy training program. "While students who accept these free scholarships are under no obligation to specialize on infantile paralysis cases after graduation," said Sudduth, "the National Foundation feels that if it can overcome the acute shortage of trained physical therapists all over the country, this will be of great importance if there should be an epidemic of infantile paralysis here or in some other section."

The scholarships, of nine and twelve months duration, cover transportation to the medical school, tuition, books and laboratory fees and living expenses, as needed. Applicants must have at least two year's college training, with emphasis on biology and other sciences, or be graduates of accredited schools of nursing or physical education. Inquiries should be addressed directly to The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 120 Broadway, New York 5, N. Y.

TIRE DEALERS REQUIRED TO KEEP RECORD

In order to protect the nation's supply of tires for the public, and in an effort to prevent too many tires getting into the hands of a few unscrupulous applicants, tire dealers' record-keeping requirements have been tightened, Carl B. Cochran, chairman of the Terrell County War Price and Rationing Board has been advised by Eugene Kurtz, tire rationing officer of the San Antonio district Office of Price Administration.

Starting June 1, tire dealers will be required to maintain current records and to take a monthly inventory to establish accountability for tires and tire certificates, Cochran explained.

Old tire certificates dated prior to December 1, 1944, recently were cancelled, he recalled. Also tire manufacturers are now required to turn in certificates to OPA verification centers for a monthly screening. This new move will complete a program calculated to stop illegal tire sales and transfers, and it will help OPA enforcement agents to uncover illegal practices, Cochran added.

Other requirements include a registration report, showing each dealer's total supply of Grade I and Grade II tires in stock, and other details of his working inventory. Transfer of Grade I tires between dealers is prohibited except when a dealer is going out of business. Both dealers and manufacturers, between now and June 20, must destroy—as scrap—all tire certificates and receipts dated prior to December 1, 1944. These certificates and receipts are now invalid.

MARINES DRESS FOR SLEEP

OKINAWA (Delayed) — Two months ago, Marines trained for jungle fighting were sleeping with no cover other than a thin mosquito netting.

Now their normal sleeping garb in this temperate island includes two sets of dungarees, a sweat shirt, a woolen khaki shirt, a blanket and a poncho.

The change in temperature has another drawback. In addition to bringing chills to shivering Marines, it keeps them scratching for fleas which are attracted by the warmth of their bedclothes, according to Sgt. Joseph P. Donahue, Marine combat correspondent.

Raymond Davenport was here Thursday from his home in San Antonio to visit friends.

Marshall, King Pledge Victory to 'Bond Front'

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Army has overcome what in the past would have seemed to have been insurmountable obstacles and the Navy has promised full unconditional surrender, Chief of Staff General George C. Marshall and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King said today, in commenting on the Mighty Seventh War Loan.

MARSHALL

"We in the Army have overcome what in the past would have seemed to have been insurmountable obstacles. So have you. That is where the enemy miscalculated—for to Americans, nothing has ever been impossible. Yours is a hard task—a heavy responsibility. But we of the Army have confidence that you will again achieve the impossible."

Admiral King said:

"We have had two wars to wage. One of those wars is just beginning. That means that your own labors, far from over, are also just beginning. The Navy, like the Army, has one objective. The unconditional surrender of the enemy. We will attain that objective because of people of good faith. People who have demonstrated their patriotism and their willingness to undertake the most gigantic financial task ever undertaken by a free people."
