Suggestion Offered On Preparing Food For Overseas Mail

COLLEGE STATION, August—The war's end has not solved the problem of sending food to servicemen overseas, and "food from home" is the first thought of the boys when they are asked what they would like to find in their Christmas packages.

Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, Texas A. and M. College Extension Service Specialist in Food Preservation, says, "Experience last year taught us to use foods canned in tin cans if at all possible. At least, it is essential to pack the foods in tight metal containers."

Reports from servicemen indicate that food not sealed in cans was usually molded, infested with insects, soaked in oil or water, or it was dried out and old.

Proper canning will be even more important this year with the bulk of the packages going to the Pacific, where the climate and distance of travel will be harder on the contents.

"When sending food to the servicemen, it is best to send a variety of things unless he has asked for one specific food," says Mrs. Leverenz. "Some women planned a menu on this order: 1 can turkey, 1 can cranberry sauce, 1 can nuts, 1 can plum pudding. Another sent 1 can cheese, 1 can pickles, and 1 can crackers at one time. A meat, a vegetable, a fruit, a relish and a sweet which go together well might make a whole meal," recommends Mrs. Leverenz.

Fruit cakes were among the most popular items sent last year. It is one of the most desirable products; therefore, Mrs. Leverenz advises that we continue to send fruit cakes even if sugar substitutes have to be used.

Other items which have been canned and sent overseas successfully are: cookies, candies baked or fried fruit pies, breads preserves and jellies, well-cured meats, fritos and potato chips pickled boiled eggs and many other types of cake in addition to fruit cake. For details on packing and canning these items see your county home demonstration agent.

It later moved into combat position with infantry units along the Moselle River, on the German border, when Von Runstedt attacked. Early Release of Police Officers In Armed Forces Asked AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—Texas law enforcement threw its weight today behind a national effort to get trained police officers out of military service immediately.

"We need these men here at home now," said Col. Homer Garrison, Director of the Department of Public Safety and a vice president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. "The army and navy can get along without them. We can't."

Garrison pointed out that Texas crime has increased 25 per cent over last year and that traffic fatalities will jump 25 to 50 per cent within three months. "The International Association has been discussing this problem with Washington officials for months. It's time now for action."

Most police agencies are far below the strength needed to "keep things under control," declared E. A. Gormley of Dallas, president of the Texas Police Association.

"The average police and sheriff department did not have adequate personnel in peacetime," Gormley said. "It will not be enough to get back the men in military service. Local action should be taken now to reinforce police manpower, to select good men and train them properly. It will cost a lot less, in money and in human misery, if necessary precautions are taken while there is yet a little time."

The post-war crime and traffic orgy predicted for three years by police executives will be "even worse than we had expected," said Sheriff Jess Cariker of Waxahachie, president of the Texas Sheriff's Association.

"The sudden armistice with Japan found us, as a nation unprepared for peace," Cariker said. "There will be a terrific scramble for jobs during a frenzied reconversion period. Millions of people will be out of work at least temporarily, and that will mean a big increase in crime and traffic destruction. This isn't something that's going to happen next year. It's happening now, today."

"Any boy knows that if there's a policeman standing on the corner, the motorist won't run a red light and the burglar won't break into a store. It's as simple as that: either we have the men to prevent crime and apprehend criminals, or we don't. As things stand now, we don't."

METHODIST TO MEET WED. FOR PREACHING SERVICE

At a meeting of the official board of the First Methodist Church last Monday night, it was planned to have regular preaching services every Wednesday night at 8:00 p. m., according to Rev. John Klassen pastor of the church.

This service should be of special interest to the ranching people of the county, who bring their children to Sanderson for the school term and must go to their ranch over the week-end, said Rev. Klassen. In connection with the service will be a fellowship hour in the fellowship hall of the church.

The people of Sanderson are cordially invited to attend this service.

Mrs. John Klassen, and children, left for El Paso Tuesday of this week. She is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. J. Morris, and will bring back her daughters Josie and Margaret, who have been visiting there for the past month.

Miss Mary Frances Richardson visited Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grigsby here last Monday and Tuesday. Miss Richardson is to teach this term in Santa Maria, Texas.

Bill Savage and mother left Wednesday for Austin, where Bill will attend the University of Texas.

VINSON
Shortly after Fred Vinson was named Secretary of the Treasury he was quoted in the press as saying "the American people are in the pleasant predicament of having to learn to live 50 per cent better than they have ever lived before."

When he made this remark he was talking about a future day, one that had not then come and has not come yet, but a completely possible future day.

Hitler no longer was a menace, when the new Secretary spoke of a 50 per cent higher living standard in America, but Japan still clouded the Pacific. Now that has cleared up also and today's national problem is economic rather than strategic. The strain is no less, but in a different place. Ease felt in America as firing ceased was like the relief of changing hands with a heavy burden.

Load is on Vinson

About a month ago this column carried an outline of Mr. Vinson's tax policies which I frankly consider sound. Now, in view of the changed international picture, it is high time everybody knew more about this generalissimo of post-war finances czar of economics in the world's most important country. He is a key man on the team that has to win if liberty, civilization and enlightenment survive.

Fred Vinson is 55 years old. Half a century ago he was playing in the yard of the jailhouse in Louisa, Ky. His father was county jailer. The next year he started to school. His coarse hair is half gray now and he has some loose skin under his chin but he's recognized as the "best in his line" and on a job where everybody wishes him well, if that's success.

A Serious Student

Louisa, with some 2,000 inhabitants, is across the Big Sandy river from West Virginia. There young Vinson entered school there was elected district attorney and from there went to Congress in 1922. At Center College, Danville, Ky., he worked in the library to help pay expenses, took a leading part in athletics and averaged above 95 in grades all through college and law school.

Mr. Vinson is a penetrating thinker. He has years of experience in government and he knows taxes. He is a recognized fiscal expert. That's what put him on the Ways & Means committee and here his ability is still respected. He has been a Federal judge, the successful economic stabilizer of this country, also director of war mobilization and reconversion—the job that's known as "assistant president."

To Make More Jobs

Vinson has many prime qualifications for his present job. Aent his thoroughness, it came out a time or two in connection with his work as chairman of the tax section of the Ways & Means committee that he knew more than his witnesses themselves about testimony they submitted. Recollection of these incidents naturally tends to keep alive Vinson's influence among congressmen which is a big asset.

It is told that he studied beforehand the financial statements of big corporations whose officials were to testify, and his questioning them proved repeatedly that he knew more about certain aspects of a corporation's business than did its president. This is the man who planned a tax program to create the most jobs, instead of merely raising revenue for the government, something I have been shouting from the housetops for four years.

Harvey Nessmith left Wednesday morning, for Austin, where he will attend the University of Texas.

THE HUDSPETH COUNTY NEWS—The business section of McNary was almost wiped out by fire at 10 o'clock Sunday morning when five buildings burned with an estimated loss of $25,000.

The buildings destroyed were owned by Travis Irby and were only partly covered by insurance. Two stores, including one which housed the postoffice, a garage, a service station and a cafe burned.

The records, fixtures and mail were saved from the post office building.

McNary is a good trading center and will probably be rebuilt. Fred Stickens owns a business house there that didn't burn.

THE ALPINE AVALANCHE—Rains fell over a wide section of the Big Bend-Davis mountains country Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, breaking a serious drouth which has prevailed in this area since early July.

Reports indicate that the rainfall was general at least from Marathon on the east to Marfa on the west and from Fort Davis south as far as the O2 ranch country.

H. L. Kokernot Jr., reported two inches at the headquarters ranch and about the same at their Leoncita ranch, with the fall lighter in the country north, including the Limpia ranch.

A total of three inches was reported in the Vic Pierce ranch country east of Alpine and the fall in the Marathon country was said to have extended at least 20 miles south of here.

THE UVALDE LEADER—The first and also the best rain we have had in two months, was received here on Tuesday or last week. The total amount of moisture received here was 1.39 inches.

This rain, according to reports was not entirely general throughout this county. It is learned the rain extended only to about five miles or so to the north and northeast of here. To the area south of our community, the rain was as heavy, and in some instances heavier than that which thrilled us so much.

THE BIG BEND SENTINEL MARFA—Arrangements are rounding into shape for the 3-day Marfa rodeo, September 1-2-3, which are expected to make of that sports event an attraction that will bring hundreds of people to Marfa.

The parade at 5 o'clock, Saturday, September 1, will be the opening feature, as it is seen in the Marfa business district.

There will be one night performance, at 8:30, the first day (Saturday, September 1), and two afternoon performances, at 2:45, one on Sunday afternoon September 2, and the other on Monday afternoon, September 3.

THE OZONA STANDARD—Blistering heat which has plagued Ozona folk and burned vegetation on West Texas pasture lands for the past several days was pushed aside at least temporarily this week by the timely arrival of cloudy weather and scattered showers.

Ozona received a light shower Tuesday afternoon, with a heavier fall to the east all the way to Sonora. Sonora reported a fine inch rain. Other sections of the county enjoyed showers and the change in weather drove the thermometers from their perch well above the hundred mark to more moderate summer temperatures. Return of winds to this land of windmills, too, was a blessing for ranchmen, many of whom were running engines to keep up water supplies for livestock in the face of the dead calm of the last few days.

A new high for the season's wool was set in Del Rio Saturday when Jeff Solis, buyer for Wright Bros., paid the Producers Wool and Mohair company 26 1/2 cents a pound for 100,000 pounds of 12-months wool.

Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission

U. S. Civil Service Announces New Federal Employment Plans Concerning Returning War Veterans

All departments and agencies of the Federal Government have received from the United States Civil Service Commission details of a comprehensive program designed to provide returning war veterans and displaced federal workers with the maximum possible opportunity for future employment in the federal service.

The principal points in the commission's program are:

1. Applications for employment from disabled war veterans of World War I and World War II and from non-disabled veterans of World War II who file within one year of their discharge from active service or from hospitalization, will be received at any time. These veterans will be examined and will be assigned numerical ratings. Their names will then be entered on the commission's lists of eligibles in such a manner that they will be given preference to which they are entitled under the veterans preference act of 1944.
2. Except where needs of the service absolutely require it, no further applications will be received from other persons who are not now a part of the federal service.
3. Where federal employees are scheduled for discharge, arrangements will be made immediately for representatives of other agencies that are hiring new personnel to interview those about to be discharged. Where the appointing officers decide that persons interviewed meet qualification standards established by the Civil Service Commission, they will be authorized to hire such employees on the spot without the prior approval of the commission.
4. When present federal employees are not hired by another agency prior to their discharge they may file, within 60 days an application for reemployment in the federal service. Such employees will be examined and assigned numerical ratings. As they pass the examinations, their names will be entered in the proper order in the commission's lists of eligibles.
5. All vacancies in positions subject to the civil service act will be filled by persons whose names appear on the commission's lists of eligibles. These lists, as a result of this new program, will contain: the names of qualified veterans for whom examinations were reopened; names of federal workers who ment in the fourth civil service region or applications for not more than two fields of work in the departmental service.

"This program should not, however, result in raising false hopes in the minds of displaced federal workers. Literally hundreds of thousands of federal employees who have rendered outstanding service to their nation in time of war can not be placed in other federal positions. One reason for this is that the government of tomorrow is sure to be considerably smaller than the government of today. Another reason is that in the sarying out of its program there must be and there will be strict adherence to both the letter and the spirit of the veterans preference act of 1944. Government as an employer, like all other employers, must give first consideration to those who were uprooted from their normal pursuits and called upon to defend the nation on the battlefronts of the world."

Following are additional features of the commission's program:

A federal employee can not transfer from one agency to another unless he presents an official notice of his actual or impending separation because of reduction in force, an official notice of furlough, or an official release granted by his agency or the civil service commission stating that he is available for employment elsewhere.

War transfer regulations are no longer in effect. If, however an employee fails to obtain a release from his present agency or from the commission, he can not be hired by another agency until after a lapse of 30 days. In determining whether releases shall be granted, the commission will follow the policy of giving full consideration to the employee's best interests, as well as to the needs of the agency in which he is presently employed.

Appointment made under the war service regulations have been designated as war service appointments and authorized for not to exceed the duration of the war and six months. Since the termination of the war has been expressly defined to mean the

Their Jobs Will Be Waiting When They Get Back

NOW that the war has ended, we are looking forward eagerly to the time when we can welcome back our 144 employees in the armed forces.

They'll receive a double welcome from those of us here at home. We'll be glad to see them personally and we'll welcome their energy and experience in handling the big job of building a better post-war electric service.

Deferred maintenance, new construction and plans for expanded customer service assure plenty of jobs for all of our returning veterans. They'll come back to jobs as good or better than those they left, and with all their rights and privileges as employees preserved.

The best is none too good for the men who fought our battles for us. And we intend to see to it that the former employees who rejoin our ranks are given full opportunity to make the best use of their talents and abilities in building a better future for themselves and helping us build a better electric service for you.

CHANGES MADE IN RATIONING OF TRUCK TIRES

Central truck tire inspection stations will be eliminated September 1, and truck tire applications now may go through any of the official truck and passenger tire inspection stations in the OPA district of 60 counties including Terrell County, J. Kenneth Black, rationing executive of the San Antonio district Office of Price Administration, today advised Carl B. Cochran, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board.

The emergency Truck Tire Panel in the Transit Tower in San Antonio, made up of representatives from boards in each of the counties of the San Antonio OPA district and tire specialists from the OPA and ODT district offices, also will be closed. Big truck tires, sized 8-25 x 20 and larger, will henceforth be rationed by local War Price and Rationing Boards.

"The tire panels of some War Price and Rationing Boards have decided to continue, at least temporarily, the re-inspection of all passenger tires, even though truck tire re-inspection has been eliminated," the board chairman concluded.

Scene of Texas Regional Conference For United War Chest, Sept. 5 Uvalde's City Hall Auditorium

War chest leaders from this area who attend the United War Chest of Texas regional conference at City Hall Auditorium, Uvalde, Wednesday, September 5, 1945, will hear from one of America's prettiest and most talented USO-Camp Show entertainers a report on services being provided for our fighting men through agencies of the National War Fund.

At the same time, while laying the groundwork for October war chest campaign in Texas, they will hear from one of the nation's most outstanding battle heroes a personal account of the fighting abroad.

The USO entertainer, Miss Paula Bane, has just returned from a tour of both the Atlantic and Pacific fronts, during which she sang for thousands of American troops. She will appear at the war chest conference in uniform, to tell of USO work abroad in an informal talk entitled "This is The Foxhole Circuit".

Capt. R. G. Morere, twice-wounded battle veteran and holder of the nation's second highest award for bravery, will give a first-hand account of modern warfare.

Captain Morere is now a patient at McCloskey General Hospital, where he is recuperating from serious wounds, but volunteered to make a tour of Texas because of his intense interest in the success of the National War Fund drive in Texas.

Mr. Samuel H. Walk, chairman of war chest Region 12, will preside at the conference, at which Wayland D. Towner, general manager of the United War Chest of Texas, will discuss plans for another over-the-top campaign in Texas. The meeting will be attended by war chest leaders and workers from every county and community in the region. All local persons interested in the October campaign have been invited to attend.

The conference will open at 10 a. m. All delegates will be luncheon guests of the War Chest.

City Fat Saving Record Falls Under Town and Farm Push

Ever since our government asked town and farm women to save used fats, the record previously set by city women has taken a beating. We must keep up the good work! This country is facing a shortage of 1 billion, 500 million pounds of fats in domestic supplies, alone. Tons of vital war and home-front supplies requiring fats are still needed. We in towns and rural districts are in a better position to save fats than most city folks, so the government is depending on us. Save every drop, every scrap. Melt down solid fats. There's never too little to save! Butchers will give you up to 4¢ and 2 red points a pound. If you have any difficulty, call your Home Demonstration or County Agent. Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by Industry.

Diabetes in Texas Takes Heavy Toll During Past Year

AUSTIN, TEXAS, August 31.—Diabetes, a disease for which modern medicine can do so much, took a toll of several hundred lives in Texas during the past year, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"While the communicable diseases such as typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria, and smallpox are causing a decreasing number of deaths each year in this country, diabetes is now taking an appalling number of human lives, especially in the middle aged group," Dr. Cox said.

"Until recent years diabetes was not noted as a major health problem but it became accepted as such in direct ratio to the development of medical laboratory procedures, which made the disease more easily diagnosed."

Dr. Cox said that diabetes is generally recognized as a class disease. It seems to attack the white-collar class of indoor men and women much more frequently than it does the outdoor person whose work is more vigorous and calls for more exercise. Whatever the actual cause of the disease may be, vocational and economic conditions are factors since it seems a fact that those who do not indulge in luxurious living and whose occupations calls for manual labor are not frequently effected. Dr. Cox said that simple living, wholesome diets, sufficient exercise and sleep are factors in the prevention of diabetes, and an annual physical examination is important to determine whether or not the disease is present in the middle-aged group.
