BEING VIGILANT

That the price we pay for liberty is eternal vigilance may seem like old stuff to some of us. We are prone to relax after being vigilant for five years during a hard war. Like the next man, we pay more attention to signs of optimism than to those danger signals that are likely to call to vigilance.

As modern-day Americans, we indicate by our actions and interests that we are concerned about a lot of things—perhaps least concerned about playing Paul Revere roles. Samuel Adams and John Hancock and Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry and Abraham Lincoln and all the others stay their history books. We won freedom in 1776, and we've kept it since. So why take the trouble to worry about being vigilant in 1947?

During the war we were told that to be vigilant against so much of what we were fighting for. Even particular freedoms were enumerated. We knew too which particular freedoms were giving us trouble. Today Hitler is gone. Mussolini's ambitions are dust. It is a lot of trouble, but we used to finish the job. We were strong enough to do it, and we are still strong.

It is always a lot of trouble to have a mind toward our freedoms. With three-fourths of the world embracing doctrines which oppose our cherished freedoms, and with many of the nations of the world scorning our kind of Republic, we shall have to keep taking trouble to defend our way of life. This is true, in when we know that our public is the best and most prosperous anywhere in the history of civilization.

We have called America the melting pot, the place where the cradle of liberty was first rocked, the refuge of all the persecuted of hundreds of kinds of minorities. We have been a thrifty people, an active people, a people building a nation—all the while warding off tyrants from abroad having a care at home for freedoms and mine.

How is it, then, that we have caught napping? Have we not, in times of confusion at home and trouble abroad, allowed doctrines to creep in which would chain our minds, shackle our bodies as well? Fighting, misleading, boring within, state socialism at home and abroad presents to the kind of curse that tyrants always been to free. Inroads have been made in some sectors of the American mind.

Do you know that polls have shown that 51 per cent of our people do not know what a budget is? That virtually do not have no conception of meaning of "free enterprise"? That many of us think that we owe a huge national debt to ourselves? That we are something Congress has let out. That inflation is something because it creates things that there are ways more by doing less? These things are fallacies. These fallacies they will just as surely as any other. We must make our freedom. Can there be more constructive program than that of free men? We will have a dynamic, realistic philosophy. Such a philosophy can never permit a tyranny, either of lack of capital, any more than it can permit a political tyranny. Americans everywhere prepare the defense of their minds against the danger of enslaving ideas.

Dr. W. H. Savage has returned to the University of Texas, at Austin to resume his studies pending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Savage.

Rain Follows Snow and Sleet of Past Week

The nine-day cold wave which gripped Sanderson as well as all of Texas and most of the nation, was broken on Tuesday if this week when the temperature started climbing and the snow that covered the ground began to melt. Cold and unsettled weather prevailed through Thursday.

Citizens, as well as water pipes, have thawed out from the severe cold of the past week and while the sun did not shine any partly cloudy weather prevailed.

By ten o'clock Thursday morning 40 inches of rain had fallen since during the early part of Tuesday night. Showers, intermingled with snow and traces of sleet, which melted as it hit the ground, fell practically all day Thursday.

As we go to press Friday morning clear weather prevails, the sun is shining and very few clouds are in sight. However a cool westerly to north wind prevails, which makes the weather somewhat uncomfortable.

Reports reaching here Thursday from places west where that snow was falling and that the temperature was at the freezing point. While Sanderson did not have freezing temperature, the thermometers stood in the low thirties most of the day Thursday.

Funds raised in the Texas 1946 campaign will be used to award scholarships to graduate nurses to take a two-year training course in the Kenny method of treating infantile paralysis. County Treasurer Omitted from List Of Those Taking Oath

What! Doesn't Terrell County have a County Treasurer? Such has been one of the many and varied questions that has been asked of this writer, since the January 3rd issue of the Times has been published.

In that issue of the paper we failed to mention the name of Ben F. Dawson, as being one of the county officials to take the oath of office on Wednesday January 1.

Mr. Dawson, was re-elected to that office in the primary election last July as well as in the general election held in November, and did not have an opponent. He is going on his fourth term in office having been elected in 1939 and commenced his first term of office on January 1, 1940.

We regret this omission of Mr. Dawson's name from the list of officers and now list him among the county's officials who are launching on a new term in office the first day of the new year.

Once again, then, here's the list of officials, this time we hope a complete list, who took the oath of office Wednesday for two-year terms: County Judge, R. S. Wilkinson; County and District Clerk, Ruel Adams; Sheriff, Assessor and Collector of Taxes, J. S. Nance; County Attorney, Jack Hayre; County Treasurer, Ben F. Dawson; County Commissioners, R. E. Corder, B. Carson, Sid Harkins, and Charlie Turk; and V. I. Cargile as Justice Peace, Precinct one.

Mr. Miller was stricken while working east of Federa, suffering a heart attack and was taken by one of his men to his home.

William Lewis Miller was born in Wallace County, at Sealy, Texas, on January 27, 1886. Prior to moving to the Federa section on September 1, 1928, he was employed by the T. & N. Veterans' News

Q.—Do I lose the subsistence allowance that has not been paid to me because of my failure to report my earnings promptly?

A.—No. You do not lose any of the allowance due to you. If your report shows that you are entitled to subsistence allowance, you will receive everything due you since the date of suspension.

Q.—I am a foreign-born American citizen, a veteran of World War II and would like to know if I will continue to receive my disability compensation if I visit the land of my birth?

A.—Yes; but you may have to report in due course for a physical examination to determine whether it should be continued.

Q.—Will Veterans Administration provide me with quinine or atabrine tablets because of my service in malaria infested countries, even though I have never made application for compensation?

A.—Yes. For the time being, if you will present your discharge at a Veterans Administration office and it indicates that you saw service in a malaria infested country, VA will provide you with quinine or atabrine tablets. However, it would be well to establish your rights as of record.

Q.—While I was in a Veterans Administration hospital, my clothing was damaged so that I could use it no longer. Is there any way that I can collect for the damage done?

A.—You should make application to the manager of the hospital who will appoint a qualified disinterested employee to inquire into the matter informally and make recommendations. The manager is authorized to dispose of the matter locally or to make formal investigation when the size or circumstances of the loss warrant such action.

Texas Leads In Highway Projects

The Texas Highway Department is further advanced on its farm-to-market road program than any other highway department in the United States according to Tom K. Epien, president of the Texas Good Roads Association. This statement is based upon a report just released by Thomas H. McDonald of the Public Roads Administration in which Texas is listed in the top three highway departments in number of contracts awarded and the total number of miles involved in these contracts.

On total miles under contract Texas led all other states according to Mr. Epien. Pennsylvania ranked first with 1,117 highway projects under contract between January 1 and December 28, 1946. These projects comprised 1,715 miles of road construction costing $57,700,000. California awarded contracts for 344 projects on 1,025 miles of highway at a cost of $53,700,000. Texas let contracts for 685 projects costing $52,500,000 on 4,650 miles of roadway.

"A large portion of the mileage placed under contract in Texas," Commissioner MacDonald said, "was for improvements on secondary or farm-to-market roads."

The three-year program on federal aid secondary road system in Texas contemplates the expenditure of $60,000,000 for these much needed roads. The total sum of $52,000,000 reported in the contracts executed last year in addition to state highways provided for the construction of 2,073 miles of farm-to-market roads under this federal aid program.

"WAKE UP, AMERICA!"

Are We Headed for Socialism?

Moderated by
FRED G. CLARK
 Chairman American
 Economic Foundation

As debated by

Dr. Maynard C. Krueger
 Professor of Economics, University of Chicago; National Chairman of the Socialist Party

Laurens Hamilton
 Former Assemblyman, New York
 State

DR. KRUEGER OPENS: By Socialism we mean the social ownership and democracy control of the material means of production. The criterion of success becomes public service, not private profit. It is not the New Deal but the capitalist economy itself which prepares the way for Socialism. (1) The size of the business unit has grown far beyond the possibility of leaving it entirely under private control. This growth has been partly due to changes in technology. (2) The large corporation has divorced industrial ownership from control and rendered owners functionless. Life ceases soon after functions disappear. (3) Private enterprise has largely abandoned competition in favor of combination and monopoly. The public interest in private corporate affairs is then asserted through increased public controls. The private corporation becomes quasi public. (4) Organized labor has now arrived as a permanent power, and already seeks increased voice in management of the economy though yet unwilling to assume full responsibility. (5) Whatever security most people have they now get through public action, not through acquisition of private property. (6) Capitalism gets one more post-war chance to solve the unemployment problem. It will fail. It will then become evident that for many years fundamental forces have been preparing the way for a Socialist economy. The major task is to make sure of its democratic controls.

MR. HAMILTON CHALLENGES: Answering Professor Krueger: (1) Every business operated by government becomes bureaucratic monopoly. (2) Is there anything more functionless than the owners of government bonds, who, under Socialism, would be the tool owners? (3) If competition is dead why can we buy increasingly better goods at constantly decreasing prices? (4) If government owned business, it would have to control labor. (5) At least 50,000,000 individuals participate in the private ownership of corporation tools. (6) If private ownership "fails," it will be because government interference makes success impossible. Professor Krueger admits, in his "major task" that "undemocratic" Socialism (which is the only kind history records) is always the shoe-horn of dictatorship.

DR. KRUEGER REPLIES: (1) Every large enterprise tends to become bureaucratic. Public controls are the alternative to irresponsible management control. (2) Let functionless bond holders be eliminated by confiscatory inheritance taxes. (3) Technology has thus far improved productivity faster than monopoly has damaged it. Let technology be unleashed. (4) Social ownership by public corporations or by cooperatives is quite compatible with free choice of consumers' goods, free choice of occupation and freedom of association, though these freedoms would be embarrassing to managers of socialized enterprises, as they should be. (5) If we march face forward into the future of collectivism instead of stumbling backward into it, we can pattern it after the cooperatives and TVA instead of the Soviet Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Dyeche returned last Friday from Gatesville, Texas, where they

MR. HAMILTON OPENS: If we are headed for Socialism it is because of our economic ignorance. Socialists theorize that public ownership of tools would lower the cost of goods and services. When asked how, the Socialist will go into a tirade against the power of big business (whether exercised for good will or evil). Let's talk sense! Profit is nothing but a payment for the use of tools and is, therefore, a cost of business that must be paid for by the customer whether the tools are owned by "private" individuals or "public" individuals. Everything government has taken from individuals so in order to legally acquire the tools, it would have to issue government bonds. Individuals holding the bonds would be the tool owners and receive payment for their use just as individual corporation stockholders own them and get paid for their use under private enterprise. Profit would become interest on government debt and remain a cost to the customer. If history teaches us anything, it is that without the stern compulsion of competition the cost of goods and services go up and quantity and quality go down. Under private ownership the customer forces efficiency. Under government ownership this freedom of choice is destroyed.

DR. KRUEGER CHALLENGES: A flat interest rate may be justified as a payment for savings or tools, but only as a payment to those who actually did the saving, not to their heirs. Profits over and above flat interest cannot be so justified. They are the result of exceptional foresight, good luck, avarice and very commonly of restriction of output. The last three outweigh the foresight factor. Payment for use of tools must be accounted as a cost of production in any economy, public or private. Such payment can be made to the public account for public uses under public ownership or to private account for private uses under private ownership.

MR. HAMILTON REPLIES: Tool users (workers) are permitted to bargain for payment for their energy; why should tool owners (who number twice as many) be denied that right? Professor Krueger admits that payments for use of tools are inescapable production costs. The only argument then is under which would the tools produce the most—private management or political management? There is not a single case on record in which political management has been as efficient as private management. The reason is obvious—there is no incentive and little opportunity for individual incentive and efficiency under political monopoly. As Max Eastman, a former Socialist, said, "There is only one trouble with Socialism—it just doesn't fit human nature."

WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

The unusual cold weather of the past week made the headlines in all the exchange papers received by the Times this week.

Fort Stockton reported 8 to 10 inches of snow had fallen in that area, but was so dry and light that it yielded only 3/4 of an inch of moisture. Sub-freezing temperature was recorded in that city each morning of last week. No major accidents were reported.

Marfa reports sub-freezing temperatures prevailed there, with the thermometer hovering around 10 to 20 degrees all week and with some roads leading out of the city blocked. No major accidents were reported there.

Uvalde reported a low temperature of 24 degrees with sleet falling on New Year's Eve and New Year's day.

Alpine's snow fall was officially recorded as 7 and one-half inches and was heavy enough to stop traffic for 24 hours or more. On Tuesday morning the thermometer stood at eight above. Moisture from the snow amounted to .69 inches.

Eagle Pass reported the temperature hit 17 as sleet and snow hit that area. By Thursday morning a total snowfall of 1 and one-half inches had been recorded. Spinach and onion crops in that area were damaged.

Brackettville reported below freezing weather in that city with some moisture.

The Hudspeth County News, published at Sierra Blanca reports a real blizzard for that county, with 8 inches of snow.

In Ozona the Stockman reported six inches of snow with the temperature reaching 19 degrees.

Freezing weather with some snow and sleet was reported by the Del Rio News-Herald. Icy pavements being the cause of a few accidents in and around the city.

The expected election on a civic issue of vital import—the question of the City's buying the U. S. half of the now privately owned international bridge from Eagle Pass-Piedras Negras Bridge Co., with bridge revenue bonds which are never to be supported by taxation—has been announced for January 20. The Eagle Pass City Council set the date this week, passing an ordinance and providing for the election, which will be by legally qualified city-property-owning, city-tax-paying voting residents.—International News-Guide.

A series of recent meetings of Alpine young men were held for the purpose of organizing a chapter of the Order of DeMolay. Those so far contacted have shown much interest and enthusiasm in the new chapter. Twenty-two have paid the necessary fees for initiation in the first class which leaves only a very few places yet to be filled. The commandery of Knights Templar of Alpine is to sponsor the new chapter—Alpine Avalanche.

Friday, January 17, 1947, the Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Anna Lions Club will sponsor the annual F. F. A. Boys and 4-H Club Boys Livestock Show. The show is to be held in the Santa Anna Wool Warehouse Building with A. T. Edwards and G. L. Richardson as judges.—Santa Anna News.

A net reduction in indebtedness by $1,372.37 during 1946 and an expectation of being debt-free by February 1 was reported this week for the Chamber of Commerce by L. L. Warner, secretary, who has been in charge in that position since May, 1946.—Big Bend Sentinel.

Bosco Yeates, who is stationed at the U. S. Naval station at San Diego, Calif., arrived in Sanderson Friday morning for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Mabel Yeates and with other relatives.

HEALTH NOTES—

AUSTIN, Texas, January 9.—Now that the winter season is here and pork products are more freely used, warning against insufficient cooking of pork is given by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Trichinosis is caused by a parasite in the muscles of pigs. This parasite may occur in large numbers in infested meat.

Dr. Cox explained a disease condition known as trichinosis is caused by a microscopic organism called the trichina or muscle worm. The young worms, or larvae are found in the muscles of infected pigs. When this meat is eaten raw or is undercooked, the unharmed larvae grow in the human intestines into adult worms which are carried by the lymphatic tissue and blood stream to the muscles where they become encysted. This period of invasion gives rise to the symptoms of the disease. The severity of the illness is dependent upon the number of trichinae originally consumed.

"While the adult parasites are in the human intestines they may cause acute diarrhea," Dr. Cox said, "which at first can be mistaken for typhoid fever or dysentery. This may start anywhere from the first to the fourth day after eating the infested pork and may last one to several days. Later a puffiness of the eyes may appear together with various degrees of pain in the muscles, particularly those of the calf of the leg, the upper arm, the shoulder and the jaws."

Dr. Cox declared that since no adequate treatment is yet known, prevention is very important. The worms cannot be seen by the unaided eye, so inspection of pork cannot be depended upon to protect from this type of infection. The only sure safeguard is to be certain that all pork and pork products are thoroughly cooked, whether processed at home or purchased. Many of the more serious and fatal cases have been traced to eating raw smoked sausage or raw pork pudding.

Since it has been estimated that approximately five percent of all swine are infested with trichinae, it is being emphasized that the invariable rule before consuming any pork or pork product is to see that it is cooked until all natural color is gone and no evidence of blood can be detected. This is the only safe rule to follow, according to the State Health Officer.
