Cattle Hit Top Prices on Chicago Market This Week

Choice cattle pushed to their highest level in months early this week as demand continued heavy and receipts at the major markets showed slow. Steers went to $31.50 a hundred pounds, their highest since Jan. 8 when they sold at $35.00 and compared with the record peak of $39.00 last Nov. 29. Heifers joined the upward march to $29.50, a new high since the $30 paid November 14 and compared with the record of $32.00 last Oct. 23, shortly after removal of price controls. A general upward trend for the last six weeks has sent better grades of cattle $3.00 to $4.00 a hundredweight higher, more than a fourth of it within the last week. Average steer prices last week went to $27.63 a hundredweight, a new highest-in-history average.

Mitre Peak Meeting Plans Summer Camps For Area Girl Scouts

The new permanent Girl Scout camp at Mitre Peak was the scene of area-wide activities Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday the business meeting began with a short talk by Benjamin F. Berkeley, of Alpine, about the camp. After that the meeting was conducted by Mrs. George Ramer, of McCamey, area training chairman, to plan training for the area and for the local councils. Following the meeting everyone was given an opportunity to inspect the camp site. Forty-seven were registered, including guests. Eight towns were represented, including Alpine, Wink, Kermit, Fort Stockton, McCamey, Monahans, Pecos and Odessa. Twenty-four persons spent the night at the camp, some leaving the next morning while others remained to participate in the Sunday meeting. Miss Mary E. Adams, regional camp advisor, was present for the meetings and remained in the area until Tuesday of this week. The Sunday meeting was for the area board members with several local council members also present. Discussions of policies and arrangements for the camping season were held. The board decided that the use of the camp should be restricted to Girl Scouts activities only. The camp will be open for troop camping the rest of the summer and troops wishing to make use of its facilities should make application through the area office.

Drive Started to Raise Funds For Scout Camp Site

A campaign is under way to raise funds for the purchase of the Mitre Peak guest ranch site as a location for a summer encampment for the Girl Scouts of the Permian Basin Area Council, it was announced this week by Mrs. Ted Baker, local committee member representing the Junior Woman's Club, sponsors for the Girl Scout group. Mrs. Baker says the registration of the girls for the group is under way and a charter will be requested as soon as a sufficient number of girls has been registered. The local committee has been asked to put on a campaign to assist in raising funds for the new camp. This camp will be available for the Girl Scouts of the Permian Basin area which includes the territory from Midland west to Culberson County and east to Terrell County, together with two or three counties north of the T&P railroad. An option has been taken on the site, located on the Tippit ranch about 13 miles north of Alpine in the Davis Mountains. Y., and Robert Peiffer, of Dayton, Ohio, rested at headquarters of the Big Bend National Park Wednesday after completing the strenuous project on Tuesday night. The three made the 400-mile trip in two light kayaks in one week, one day and 20 minutes. They began on the journey at Presidio on July 7 and landed at the Adams Ranch, below the mouth of Boquillas Canyon. They shot the Colorado, Santa Elena, Mariscal, San Vicente and Boquillas Canyons. Peters remarked that the trip was exciting and the scenery superb, but added: "I wouldn't do it again for anything." His companions nodded agreement.

The supplemental per capita payment of approximately $6.00 was voted for Texas schools by the State Board of Education in Austin this week, according to word received from the capital city Wednesday. The supplemental was based on an estimate by State Comptroller George H. Sheppard that there would be a surplus of $9,441,535 in the available school fund as of September 1. The board adopted a resolution distributing on a per capita basis the entire amount of all that accrues in the fund before that time. Phillip M. Stevenson, board member who sponsored the resolution, said he understood the increase would amount to $6.11 per scholastic. Texas has approximately 1,500,000 scholastics.

T. E. Buttrill, Spry Despite Age, Pays Times Visit

T. E. Buttrill, 87, of Andrews, Texas, paid the Times office a visit Monday while in Sanderson visiting his son J. W. Buttrill, and family. The elder Buttrill was "fit as a fiddle" and explained to the Times representative that his long years and happy, healthy life could be attributed to the fact that he never indulged in "frivolous, foolish things that most folks do." "I have never seen a ball game nor a picture show", says Mr. Buttrill, "and I never smoked or drank liquor," he said. "I had cotton to chop and all the hands would take off to see a ball game while the weeds grew higher than the cotton, so I just stayed with my work and got disgusted with ball games," he continued. He was reminded that there was to be a ball game Monday night and since he had no cotton to chop he was asked if he would care to go. "No", he said. "I have missed them this long so I don't care to go now." Before leaving the Times office Mr. Buttrill did a jig for the office force to show his youth.

FUGITIVE WANTED IN SANDERSON ON MURDER CHARGE SINCE OCTOBER, 1945

Legion Completes First Year of Post-War Service

With the sending of Marshall Cooke and Berkley to the state convention on July 27 and 28, the Clarence Hallie Mulkey Post of the American Legion will have completed its first full post-war year of progress and community service. Cooke and Berkley have been designated delegates to the Department of Texas American Legion convention to be held in Fort Worth at the end of this month. Berkley is the newly elected adjutant of the post, and Cooke is a member of the post's executive committee, having served the past year as sergeant-at-arms. Last year's convention in Galveston was attended by Commander Bob Kerr and Adjutant Jolly Harkins. The post is now approximately $3,000 nearer its goal of funds for a home, which, according to present plans and opinions, will take the form of a building that can be used for community affairs as well as for purely Legion functions. A membership numbering 167 has made the Legion the largest organization in Sanderson.

With the able assistance of the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, the Legion has been the sponsors of two free barbecues during the past year, held on the patriotic holidays of November 11 and July 4. Net proceeds of the last barbecue fund drive, ending July 4, were in excess of $3,000.00 according to Post Finance Officer Wilton Dishman. According to old-timers in Terrell County, this barbecue was the first 4th of July barbecue in the history of the county. On July 2 and 3 of this year, the Legion conducted an intensive spraying campaign, using DDT solution in all insect breeding places in Sanderson. Results of the spraying were very evident at the July 4 barbecue, in that flies were absent from the gathering. Marshall Cooke, who is in charge of the campaign, which was in the interest of public health. The Legion stood the expense of all labor and equipment; the county furnishing the DDT. Cooke was assisted by Wilton Dishman, John Lewis Whistler and Richard Haley.

The second week in June, Robert Joe Dishman, senior in the local high school, was in attendance at the American Legion Boys' State, annual affair held in Austin to familiarize Texas high school boys with the workings of the state government. Expenses of Dishman's trip were borne by the local post. In conjunction with the Lions Club, the Legion shared the expense of uniforms for the Teen-Age softball team. Teen-Agers will reimburse the two organizations with proceeds from the sale of soft drinks at the softball games.

Another public function put on by the Legion during the past year was the memorial service held on May 30 in the high school auditorium. Rev. Lawrence Menefee was the guest speaker for the occasion, which was dedicated to the dead of all wars of the United States. Mrs. Tip Frazier, president of the auxiliary, was in charge of the program. Graves of veteran dead were decorated in the local cemetery. Auxiliary members conducted the annual pre-Memorial Day poppy sale, half the proceeds remaining in Sanderson for relief of suffering and hardship that may arise among local veterans.

The Legion, first in cooperation with the fire department, and later by itself, has sponsored numerous public dances during the year. Proceeds from the dances were practically negligible, due to the high cost of the music. With routine expenses Culminating a period of waiting to bring a fugitive to trial for murder, a Latin-American identified as Eleuterio Zomora Estale, was shot to death by a posse of peace officers after he resisted arrest early Thursday morning.

Sheriff Jim Nance and Deputy Sheriff Andy Anderson, Ranger Captain Gully Cowser and Ranger Joe Bridge, acting on a tip that the wanted man would be crossing the Rio Grande sometime Wednesday and would be heading north near Dryden, apparently in the direction of San Angelo, the officers maintained a careful watch throughout Wednesday and Wednesday night. About day-break Thursday morning their vigil was rewarded as they located the man getting water at a windmill on the Paint Mare ranch, about 6 miles north of Dryden.

Waiting under cover until the man came within about one hundred yards of the officers they were able to identify him and ordered him to surrender. The man answered by firing at them with a pistol and then breaking to run away. Sheriff Nance said that the officers returned fire as he ran and two shots felled him where he died instantly.

One shot struck the man in the right hip and another passed through his chest.

Estale had been at large since October 28, 1945, when he was charged with the fatal shooting of 14-year-old Francisca Hernandez, a local girl, in the south part of town. The girl was shot twice with a 30-calibre Luger. Officers at the time were unable to find Estale after he escaped over the hills south of town. A general search was made at the time but officers were unable to cut off his escape into Mexico where he has been residing ever since.

At the time the girl was killed here in 1945 Sheriff Nance was in a Del Rio hospital and Deputy Sheriff Anderson with other officers made an area-wide search for the wanted man.

Young People Go To Methodist Assembly

Misses Barbara Anderson and June Davis, Barbara Clark, of Dryden, Joe Albert Nessmith, and George Fisher left Monday for Weed, N. M., to attend the Sacramento Methodist Youth Assembly there. Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Menefee, and daughter, Glenda, and Rev. Duncan, of Marathon, accompanied the group. They will return Saturday.

MARGARET ELOISE FARLEY BORN IN BEEVILLE FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Farley are the proud parents of a baby girl weighing 6 pounds and 12 ounces, born July 11, in Beeville, Texas. Mr. Farley went to Beeville July 4th and returned Sunday. He reported that Mrs. Farley and the baby are getting along nicely but will not return to Sanderson for about a month. The baby was named Margaret Eloise.

such as printing and rent on the dance hall, and with the reduced admission rates, the dances have done little more than break even. However, they have been successful in that they have furnished entertainment for the public. Members of the auxiliary have cooperated in decoration of the hall. Hal Rowlett, Jr., and Troy Druze have engineered the dance arrangements.

As the Legion year draws to a close, plans are underway to entertain delegates to the 16th district convention, which is to be held in Sanderson in the fall. Responsibility for the success of this convention will fall on the shoulders of Bob Kerr, who will be serving his second term as Commander, and Mrs. Troy Druze, newly-elected president of the women's auxiliary. New Legion officers will take office in August.

LISTEN TO LUKE

This will be a pitiful world when we get to the point where honesty isn't rewarded. Our faith in the human desire to "do unto other as you would have them do unto you" was inspired this week when we heard of a man here who lost his billfold and rewarded the young girl who found and returned it with a very liberal reward. The girl was made happy in being able to return a piece of property to the owner and the gentleman was happy to show his appreciation by giving the girl a nice gift for her honesty.

The second half of the softball season is now under way and we have stuck our neck out and picked a second-half winner. The Legionnaires just barely nosed out the Teen-Age team and the Lions Club for the first half championship so now your guess as to the winners for the final half will probably be as good as mine. This softball season has furnished good entertainment and recreation for the town these hot summer nights and it has been carried on in a real sportsmanlike manner that has meant for wholesome associations and pleasant rivalry. No, I didn't say who I had chosen to win—wait till it's over.

Mr. Williams and little daughter were in from the ranch last Monday. The little girl had a two-weeks old javalina pig following her like a small puppy. We have seen lots of grown javalina hogs but never a pig so small. Mr. Williams chased the mother off after she had almost killed one of his dogs, then took the pig home where they have been feeding it and petting it. We were amazed at the little animals affection for the new-found mistress.

Possibilities for new enterprises in Sanderson are numerous. Recently we had a communication from a firm asking about the possibilities here for their particular line. We would hesitate a long time before we would advise a business be established here unless we actually could see that it would prove profitable for the owners and an asset to the town. The need here for a hospital is not doubted and it is understood that the need is in the process of becoming a reality in the near future. Another need here is for a day and night nursery. Some cities have day nurseries where working mothers may leave their small children. Sanderson needs a place where couples with children may leave their offspring while the parents live in apartments rented with the "no children" agreement. The young people of Sanderson need some sort of meeting place and recreation. We fail to provide the most essential things for the youth and then we start finding fault with their activities. Let's encourage anything that will add to the clean entertainment and amusement of the young folk of the town.

You know, it's time to get the U.S.A. back on the beam — time to talk turkey — time to cut out being a prodigal spendthrift. Our cost of government away up there to nearly 30 thousand million, is too much. We've been sitting by and not paying any attention as the government splurges with 100 million or 300 million dam on a river some place or on a wire fence to keep out "wet backs". Day by day she looks more and more as if Sambo needs a guardian, like the Italian gentleman said. He had just helped complete a lighthouse for Uncle Sam. Here is Uncle Sam, says Tony, he builds a nice bigga lighthouse and when she issa finished and he toota the horn and ringa the bell, what happens. Well, he says, the fog she come in just the same.

American tradition of fairness and justice, labor and management alike are awaiting the proving and testing of the new law.

Most historians agree this is the best kind of government that civilization has yet developed. Naturally it cannot be as fast moving, nor as aggressive as the dictatorships and monar-chies. In our kind of set-up, the people are given credit for being able to think for themselves.
The facts are easy to get hold of. Viewpoints may be freely expressed. We make up our own minds, and our representatives at the seat of our government to carry out our wishes.

Economics used to be a big word. Now, nearly everybody understands it to mean the way we use our resources and consume our wealth. This includes production, buying, and selling.
It includes the activities of labor and of management. Traditionally, in this country, we have allowed our economy to remain free of artificial barriers which would hamper its natural laws, like that of supply and demand, for instance.

The important thing is: free trading and buying and selling (that is, an economy which freely belongs to the people), works best when we have a truly representative government. They go hand in hand. Tyrants and dictators never let these things go free. A restricted economy and non-representative government, you'll find, are always part and parcel of the totalitarian method. This method never pays high wages. In America we have a great land. We pay the highest wages men ever earned.
Let's keep it that way! And free!

WHY PRICES STAY HIGH

According to official indexes, the cost of living reached its postwar peak last March. Since then, there has been a slight decline. The wide-scale price cuts which some forecast for this summer have definitely not materialized.

We should have learned by this time that the price problem is enormously complex, and there is no pat and easy solution to it.
Such well-meant schemes as the Newburyport plan failed for the reason that they were economically unsound. The average merchant's profit is so small that a ten per cent across-the-board cut, if maintained, would ruin him. The stores which followed the Newburyport idea could not replace their stocks at wholesale prices which would make the lower retail prices possible. They were forced to re-price their goods at levels which reflect today's costs.

The point of this is that it is ridiculous to assume that price control can be effectively exerted at the retail end. Prices are high because the productivity of labor per man is low — because many kinds of goods are still in short supply — because industry's operating costs have gone up all along the line — and because many government policies feed inflation. Prices will remain high so long as this is true.

Industry — both manufacturing and retailing — knows that prices within the means of the masses of the people are essential to its own welfare and existence. But it can't reduce prices until its costs are reduced.

With a final payment to the U. S. Treasury recently from the St. Paul Land Bank, all of the 12 land banks in the U. S. became completely owned by the farmer and ranchmen patrons.

Four Controlled Antelope Hunts Set for October

Four controlled antelope hunts have been scheduled for October by the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. The first hunt is slated for Brewster, Jeff Davis, Pecos and Reeves Counties on October 2, 3, and 4. The second hunt is set for October 6, 7, and 8 in Presidio County, that part south of the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks. Jeff Davis County, gets the third hunt on October 9, 10, and 11. The final hunt will be in Hudspeth and Culberson Counties on October 13, 14, and 15.

Present plans call for the issue of 600 antelope hunting permits. This number may be increased or decreased after a count of the antelope is made in August.

Application forms for antelope hunting permits may be obtained from the Austin office of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. The hunting permits will cost $5.00. If more than 600 applications for antelope hunting are received, the lucky 600 hunters will be determined by a drawing.

Under the rules promulgated by the Game Commission at its meeting last week, 1946 hunt alternates and those who withdrew from the hunt after obtaining a hunting permit will be given priority this year. Next in line for the special permits will be those who did not participate in the 1946 hunt. And if there are any permits left they will be rationed out to those who did participate in last year's hunt who want to hunt antelope this year.

Owners of the land on which the antelope are to be hunted are authorized to charge each hunter not more than $40.00 for the privilege of hunting on his premises.

Rules of the hunt are the same as they were in 1946. Antelope may be stalked, but not chased by an automobile, or shoot blindly into a herd of antelope. Only antelope bucks can be shot and one buck is the bag limit.

Gable, Tracy Star in "Boom Town"

The biggest parcel of exciting and thrilling action, played by a spectacular, all-star cast, is offered patrons of the Princess Theater this week in "Boom Town," M-G-M masterpiece reprint, which tells a dynamite-packed story of two devil-may-care men who fought for girls and gold. Some of the most amazing scenes Hollywood has ever filmed are seen in this picture, which is a sure-fire, recommended for everyone, young and old.

Not only does "Boom Town" give audiences fast action, but it parades a cast unparalleled in popularity. Stars of the picture are Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert and Hedy Lamarr.

To review the work of the cast would be a hollow effort for any viewer. Suffice it to say, none of the stars was ever better cast.

The story cannot be told briefly, but it is the story of two pals who battle together, become enemies, are reunited and arrive at a pulsating climax when one of them must take a long gamble to send his friend away from a siren and back to his wife—the girl they both love. Through the story speeds one piece of action after another. The two pals fight three husky bruisers, bring in a water geyser, strike a gusher that will lift you out of your seat, battle a blazing well in one of the most dynamic scenes yet filmed, do a hilarious scene in diving head-first into a sea of mud and follow it up with a screaming scene in long "underwear."

The scene in which Gable and Tracy fight it out with bare fists in a swanky office is nothing short of sensational. Through all of this there are lovely girls, two of the loveliest and most talented of which are Miss Colbert and Miss Lamarr, as the wife and the siren. When this is served up with a plentiful dish

Fewer Ewes, More Grass, Better Fleece

College Station, July 16.— In Howard County sheep raisers this year saw the value of culling to prevent overstocking, as demonstrated at shearing time by J. W. Overton, stockman of Forsan.

Howard County Agricultural Agent Durward Lewter reports that the entire county had "a fair clip" at shearing time but some ranchers had very light wool yields due to the dry summer and hard winter. Overton topped the county with an average of 10.1 pounds of fleece from his 400 ewes. He explained to the county agent and his neighbors that his high shearing was due to the fact that he sold off 40 per cent of his ewes when the weather became so dry in the summer of 1946. With that much extra grazing for the ewes he kept, they went ahead to put on good fleeces.

Spraying sheep out of the shearing pen is another smart practice that is getting started in the county, says Lewter, and many ranchmen in the county plan to add that feature next year.

New Revenue Source From Candelilla Wax

PRESIDIO, July 10—The Casner Candelilla Co. here has opened up a new source of revenue to the ranchmen along the Rio Grande, according to the San Angelo Standard-Times. The company is shipping one million pounds of the refined Candelilla wax annually.

The little plant, a few hundred yards north of the river, processes crude wax brought in from the ranches and pays the ranchmen 42.5 cents a pound for the crude wax.

The wax is obtained through a boiling process in which the whole Candelilla bush is thrown into the treated water in makeshift vats at the ranches. It takes about one ton of the brush to make 40 pounds of crude wax, according to S. W. Casner, who with his brother, Jim Casner, of Alpine, operates the wax company.

Many ranchmen are using full crews to rid their pastures of the bush, which is found to grow only below the rimrock in the counties of Terrell, Brewster, Presidio and Hudspeth, says Casner. Moody Bennett, Marfa ranchman, once had a crew of 75 men employed gathering the bush on a full-time basis.

The Candelilla has no value as a livestock feed, and, where it grows, it becomes so thick nothing else can grow. Casner says the Candelilla can be utilized as a stock feed after it has been processed and has about the same value as Johnson grass.

SAVED BY A RATTLESNAKE

All afternoon the two cattlemen, crouched in the cane brakes of the Pecos, had kept the Indians at bay. But the redskins' numbers had been increased to over a hundred now, and the men wnen themselves to be completely surrounded.

They had left the Goodnight-Loving-Wilson herds two days ago in order to hurry on to Ft. Sumner and bid on the government party returning from south of the mountains beef contracts. But they had run into a big hunting party returning from south of the river and were having to fight it out.

And then it was that Oliver, guarding their approach from the river itself, was shot. The bullet went through his left arm and into his side. He felt that it was fatal and so made his way as quickly as possible over the forty intervening yards to his companion.

"Here, Bill," he panted, throwing his guns and ammunition. "I am killed; you do the best you can for yourself."

For the next thirty minutes Bill was so busy doing just that until he could hardly do more than notice his friend. But with Oliver's loaded guns handy, he was able to repulse the charge, and the Indians withdrew to a more respectful distance.

Bill took advantage of this and maneuvered the wounded Oliver down to the river, concealing him in a sandy depression where the smart weeds grew about two feet high, and lay down beside him. The Indians knew they were down there somewhere and used all sorts of ruses to find their exact location. They would shoot their arrows up and some came down near striking them.

Finally the Indians decided to

Over-Fatigue Invites Polio in Summer Months

Strenuous exercise or games causing extreme fatigue should be avoided during the hot summer months as another precaution against polio, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, through its local chapter, stresses among six simple health rules that should be observed in combating the disease.

Tests on laboratory animals carried out in experiments financed by March of Dimes funds, showed that where animals were strenuously exercised, twice as many of them exposed to the virus developed more severe forms of infantile paralysis than did those which had rested quietly in their cages. The studies indicate, the National Foundation points out, the wisdom of avoiding extreme fatigue as a worthwhile precaution in the polio danger months—June through September.

flush them out. One big brave with a long lance came crawling their way, parting the weeds with the lance as he came. Bill was in a dilemma. He knew that if he pressed that trigger all doubts of their whereabouts would be gone. But there seemed no alternative. His trigger finger began to slowly move, but paused suddenly.

A big rattlesnake, scared up by the Indian, came out rattling, looking back at the redskin. He coiled up near the two men but facing his back trail. The Indian, still not having seen his quarry, decided not to force the issue with this new enemy and turned back.

That night at Oliver's insistence, Bill drifted down the river and away from his foes; Oliver was able to later do likewise.

Bill (W. J.) Wilson, who was taking his first herd to market and had fallen in with Charles Goodnight and Oliver Loving on their New Mexico trail, made his way barefoot back to the approaching herds, three days away. The wounded Oliver Loving, who had been one of the first men to trail cattle from Texas, finally hailed some Mexicans and had them take him on to Ft. Sumner.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

For a number of obvious reasons, the desperate economic plight of England is of increasing concern to the American government and the American people. In the first place, she is our sole major ally abroad, and we have depended upon her for essential assistance in our social and political conflict with the Soviet Union. In the second place, we are spending an enormous amount of money in an effort to underwrite and stabilize the faltering British economy and our commitments for this purpose may still be further increased. Lastly, England is still the nominal head of a great world-empire even though the ties that bind have loosened perceptibly, which lies astride some of the earth's most strategic areas.

"Export or die" has literally become the theme of present-day England. And, so far, the results obtained have been depressing below anticipations. The American loan is being consumed at an alarming rate, and England's dollar credit in this country — with which she purchases many of the essentials of life — is going down and down. Unless conditions materially improve, it will be entirely used up in a very few years. It is, in brief, providing the English people with a minimum standard of living — but it is not expanding the export upon which a sound and self-sustaining economy may be built for the England of the future.

This failure is certainly not due to a policy of pampering the average Briton to his daily life. The English diet is still poorer than in wartime. Only a small part of the manufactured goods produced — such as textiles, motor cars, china, Scotch whiskey, silverware, leather articles, and the rest — can be sold in England. The great bulk of it, by law, must go abroad in search of more dollar credits. All the necessities and many of the luxuries are severely rationed. This is what the British call their "austerity program" and it fully justifies its name.

As a result, the vast majority of Britons, in the words of the London INS correspondent, "are waging their own individual battles to keep the wolf from the door." There has been a tremendous price inflation, and incomes have not kept pace. This is particularly true of the white-collar classes, who are trying to pay 1947 prices with earnings which are not much above the 1939 - 40 level. The buying power of the pound is only about a quarter of what it was seven or eight years ago. Worst of all prices still are going up, and the end is not in sight. To make the situation still more difficult, the quality of the manufactured goods available to the English people has gone down in most instances, which itself is a form of price rise.

The Labor government did not create England's terrible economic problem. That was the result of the incredible drains of the war, of her loss of foreign markets, of the shift on the economic power to the U. S., of the heavy cost of maintaining large military establishments now, and of various other causes. Any government would have had to face the same problem, and most authorities think that any government would have had to put something very much like the present austerity program into effect. There is, however, a definite feeling, which is shared to some extent even in left wing circles, that the Labor statesmen have bungled badly in many directions. Their program of socializing basic industry has not increased production nor has it made the rank-and-file of workers any happier. The coal mines — basic to the English economy — are the best example. Even if all allowances are made for the terrific weather of last winter and the consequent breakdown in transportation, it is evident that the situation is as bad or worse than under private management.

Telling criticism is made of the extent to which the Labor government has regimented the English people. Permits are required for everything — to buy supplies, to work, to travel, to change jobs. The average Briton carries a pocketfull of assorted documents, and his wife queues up interminably in search of rationed foods, which are always in short supply — having the necessary coupons is no assurance that you'll get what you want.

More important, some seem to feel that the Labor government may endanger some of the fundamental liberties of a people who began, centuries ago, to fight for individual freedom. English papers, notably the great London Times, have spoken of this. It is certainly true that certain Labor officials have shown a growing sensitiveness to criticism. It would be absurd, of course, to say that England has gone totalitarian, but the fact that this danger is discussed is of importance.

On the more optimistic side, observers of all political faiths uniformly report that the British people are convinced that they will "muddle through" time, as they have done so often in the past. They accept austerity as a necessary evil, and grumbling is generally good-natured. The man-in-the-street is in vague as to how England will win her greatest battle — battle against decline to a rate power — but he's confident she will.

Butane and Propane users! Now IS THE TIME TO INSTALL A LARGER Butane or Propane System

If your butane or propane tank is not large enough to last four winter months without refilling, you may be without fuel when you need it this winter. The Texas Butane Dealers Association asks every user of heating gas to take stock of his present system at once.

Many people have added new appliances—ranges and refrigerators—until they've outgrown their gas systems. The war developed new industries which use butane and propane gas on a year-round basis, while domestic users burn four to seven times more in winter than in summer—but your dealer can furnish you very little more gas in winter. To ease this high winter demand, heating gas users must tank-up with a full four-month's winter supply.

It's the age-old question of "stocking up" early. Farmers have always stored summer grain for winter, just as housewives do their summer canning. And it's "Winter-Insurance" to store your heating gas ahead. Your four-months supply will be in your own tank when you need it most. You'll also help your dealer make deliveries more economically and efficiently when road conditions are worst for gas delivery.

The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges you to drop in and see your local gas dealer as soon as possible. He knows butane-propane, and he will do everything to help you get ready for new winter—now. Before you buy any heating gas system, see your local gas dealer first!

Schroegler-Byrd Marriage Ceremony Read in Candlelight Ceremony Tuesday Evening

A beautiful candlelight ceremony at the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock was performed uniting Virginia Byrd and Harold E. Schroegler, of this city. The ceremony was read by Dr. Van Dyke, of San Antonio, a close friend of the Byrd family.

The ceremony at the altar of the church of which the bride's father is pastor, was backed with a vine-entwined lattice and an arrangement of evergreens was placed in front. A tall standard of large white tapers and standards were placed to flank floor baskets holding bouquets of white asters and pink roses. The space was decorated with standards holding tapers and baskets of radiolios and ferns.

In marriage by her father the bride wore a white satin wedding gown with long sleeves and a long full-length skirt. A long white tulle sash came at her wrists and tiny buttons closed the back. A large spray of pink roses and white camellias was applied over each shoulder. The finger-tip length skirt was edged with rare old lace and a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white bouquet of pink roses and white camellias with white flowers knotted in white satin streamers.

Joan Byrd attended her as maid of honor. She wore a dress of pale pink net with a blue sash and carried a bouquet of blue asters tied with white ribbons. Her bridesmaid and she carried identical bouquets of pink and white orchid asters with white ribbons. C. C. Mitchell attended the groom as best man and N. M. Mitchell as groomsmen.

R. S. Wilkinson, pianist, furnished the incidental music, the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist Mrs. Seth Davenport, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". Little Miss Nancy Jean Mitchell lit the candles.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Summer flowers in shades of pink were used for decorations in the living and dining rooms. Guests were greeted by Rev. and Mrs. Byrd, Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. Schroegler. Joan Byrd presided at the bride's register. Mrs. N. M. Mitchell was in charge of the gift display. Pink roses were used for a centerpiece on the lace-covered table, pink and white candles in crystal holders flanking each side. The three-tiered cake, iced in white and topped with a miniature bride and groom, was on a crystal plate placed in a fluff of white tulle on which were tiny pink roses and satin bows. Pink punch was served with the cake by Mesdames Mary E. Mitchell and J. W. McKee.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a sheer white wool suit, a large red picture hat and other accessories of red. Her shoulder corsage was formed of a large camellia from her bride-

Miss Byrd Honored With Shower Friday

A miscellaneous shower was the courtesy extended Miss Virginia Byrd, bride-elect of Harold Schroeder, by Mesdames R. S. Wilkinson, Seth Davenport, and J. H. Lochausen at the home of Mrs. Lochausen Friday afternoon from four until seven o'clock. Guests were greeted by the hostess who presented them to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. John W. Byrd. Mrs. Jimmy Hanson presided at the guest book.

Arrangements of summer flowers were used through the house and soft candlelight forming the only illumination made a very effective setting for the party.
