Supervisors for the districts will be appointed to provide minimum personnel required under state law for making charter application and incorporating the district as a legal unit.

There will be a board of five supervisors who will work with state officials and the Soil Conservation Service in initiating work in the comprehensive plan required for the district.

Iraan scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, one in the

PILOT ESCAPES INJURY WHEN PLANE NOSES

Lt. Jack W. Thomas, U. S. Navy NAS, Dallas, narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when the F6F plane he was flying turned turtle on U.S. Highway 90, 5 miles east of Dryden.

Lt. Thomas had lost his bearings, he said, and was attempting to land on the highway when the accident occurred. The landing gear struck the gravel on the shoulder of the highway and turned the plane over nose first. The attempted landing was made at about 11:30 Tuesday morning.

The officer, enroute to El Paso from his home base at Dallas, was unhurt except for a slight cut on the head. He gave his home town address as Oilton, Oklahoma.

Lt. Thomas remained with the wreck until a wrecking crew and crash truck arrived to take the plane on to El Paso. Sheriff J. S. Nance and Deputy Sheriff B. F. Anderson, K. E. Dick, highway foreman and a Times representative went to the scene of the crash.

LOCAL WOOL HOUSE SELLS 1 1-2 MILLION POUNDS

J. T. Williams, local manager of the Sanderson Wool Commission Company, stated this week that the warehouse here was cleaned out of wool in recent sales. He stated that the wool, amounting to some one and one-half million pounds, was sold at from 46c to 50c for the average quality. He announced that all wool sold at these prices was the fall shorn wool.

As is a well known fact to all the ranchmen of this area, the wool output will be very short in the spring shearing due to the fact that so many of the ranchmen have cut their herds down to correspond with grazing facilities left for the winter.

IMPROVED PHONE SERVICE OFFERED FOR SANDERSON

Transition from the old-type magneto telephone system to the modern battery automatic system is in the making for the telephone users of Sanderson.

E. P. Seaman, field supervisor of the Del Rio & Winter Garden Telephone Co., of Del Rio, addressed the members of the Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon Wednesday and outlined the plans of the company for the change to the modern system.

The new telephone will eliminate the necessity of cranking and the use of a magneto box, explained Mr. Seaman. After lifting the receiver and giving the number to the operator connection is made automatically and the caller may hear the dial tone until the call is answered. This type service is more practical in a town the size of Sanderson than the dial system, assuring more rapid connections, Seaman said.

It was pointed out that for the past 18 years no increase in phone subscription rates has been put in effect, even though the company has been forced to meet higher prices for equipment and labor. There will be a slight increase in the cost of the service after the new system is installed.

The longest touchdown play was on a fumble intercepted by Chamberlain in the game with Marfa on the local field. The run was good for 83 yards. The shortest touchdown play of the season was in the game with Iraan when Smith got the ball from center with the nose of the ball just short of the goal line.

The highlight of the season was the defeat of the Marfa Shorthorns on the Sanderson grid 20-0. Marfa latter won the district pennant.

Senior lettermen who will not return to the Eagle squad next year are Jack and Frank Harrell, Walter Paul, Jimmie Harris and Bobby Cooke. F. Harrell lettered four years, J. Harrell 3 years, and Paul, Harris and Cooke 2 years each.

J. W. BUTTRILL'S LOSS HEAVY IN FIRE AT SABINAL

The railroad section house on the old Uvalde Road at the river crossing at Sabinal was completely destroyed by fire Saturday, November 6. Only a few pieces of furniture and some clothing were saved.

At the time of the fire, Mr. and Mrs. Buttrill and daughter, Joy, were occupying the house. They are former residents of Sanderson. Mr. Buttrill being a section foreman for the T&NO and transferring to Sabinal about four months ago.

The fire started about 2:30 in the afternoon and was caused by a kerosene oil stove in the bathroom. Being out of reach of city water no effort was made to save the building by the volunteer fire department.

The Buttrills are staying at one of the singing school dormitories for the present.

Mrs. Joe Kerr is the paternal grandmother.

ing in on the remainder of the road north. The class "D" specification means that the road bed will not be as wide, structures narrower and without the high speed curves as are put on class "A" roads. Generally speaking, there is very little difference to the motorist between the type designation other than the fact that it is not built for as high speeds as a highway with the "A" designation.

Plans are under way at the local highway department office for approval by the State Highway Commission and as soon as they are approved the contract will be submitted for bids. It is expected that it will be after the first of the year before the contract will be submitted for bids.

TURKEYS TO BE TARGETS AT SHOOT HERE SUNDAY

The Sanderson Fire Department will offer turkeys to crack-shot nimrods this Sunday at the Turkey Shoot range starting at 2 o'clock. It was announced this week by James Caroline, treasurer of the Fire Department. This is an annual affair put on by the firemen as a fund-raising campaign.

It has been the custom in the past to hold the turkey shoot just before deer season which would enable the hunters to limber up their shooting irons and sharpen their eyes, but since deer season was moved up this year to November 6, it was decided to hold the shoot closed to Thanksgiving.

The participants will shoot at the turkeys' heads at 100-yards range with the rifle of their own choice, excepting those equipped with scopes.

Funds raised at the turkey shoot will go to the Fire Department general fund.

SCHOOL FUNDS BENEFIT FROM OIL LEASE SALE

The permanent school fund of Terrell County was enriched by the recent sale of an oil and gas lease on its half of the mineral rights under 748.48 acres in Gaines County to T. C. Young of San Antonio. The consideration was a bonus of $2.00 per acre and annual rental of 25c per acre. The land is in league 308.

The deal brings to approximately 14,000 acres of land on which Terrell County through its commissioners has sold oil and gas leases. The county owns 15,084 acres of school lands in Gaines County from which it has been receiving both mineral and grazing lease income for many years.

All of the income from mineral leases goes into the permanent school fund which now stands at $59,500. The money is invested in government bonds and the interest is used by the schools for maintenance. Grazing lease income also augments the maintenance fund.

Dr. Cox Warns of Childhood Diseases

In a statement on controlling of communicable diseases by the Texas State Department of Public Health, Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, states that if every case of suspected communicable disease were seen promptly by the family physician and definitely diagnosed, thousands of susceptible persons would be protected from these disabling diseases.

"The theory that it is a good thing for children to have these catching childhood diseases and get them over with, has long been proven an error which may actually endanger a child's life," says Dr. Cox. "The longer he can avoid having these diseases, the better it is for him. Every child should be protected by immunization against all diseases where an immunity can be established."

Prompt diagnosis, isolation and good medical care give the patient the best chance for a satisfactory recovery without the serious complications that sometimes accompany even the milder forms of communicable diseases. Dr. Cox emphasized that obeying the public health laws regarding isolation and quarantine protects not only the patient, but helps to prevent the spread of the disease to other persons.

"The State Health Department", Dr. Cox said, does everything within its power to protect the health of the people of Texas, but the cooperation of each individual in protecting his own health and that of his community will do more than anything else to successfully check the spread of communicable diseases among our people."

A. T. FREEMAN BACK TO WORK AFTER INJURY

A. T. Freeman, brakeman for the T&NO, has returned to duty after convalescing from a head injury he received while in the yards at Alpine last spring.

Freeman suffered a head injury that crushed his skull at the base of the right side while on duty. It was never determined what object struck him but it was thought to be some protruding object from a car that was in the moving train.

Freeman's condition was considered serious for several weeks but surgeons replaced the fragments of bone and he says he feels fine now. His first run was made on the fifteenth of this month.

Mrs. Carlton White and her sister, Mrs. Grace Wheeler, are visiting relatives in San Antonio this week.

Thrilling Manhunt Behind "Big Clock"

Paramount's "The Big Clock" is set to go off next Sunday and Monday at the Princess Theatre, and is said to record thirty-six hours of the most savage, the most breath-taking manhunt Hollywood has ever filmed.

Co-starring Ray Milland and Charles Laughton, both of them Academy Award winners, "The Big Clock" offers a completely radical approach to the matter of suspense, a reversal of the usual murder story so different that it will make the most avid film-goer feel a though he were seeing a movie mystery for the first time.

Milland is the mainspring of "The Big Clock" for he is both the hunter and the hunted in the suspense-packed chase that twists and turns through the vast labyrinth of a modern skyscraper. The clock itself plays a vital part in the development of the sensational story.

Cast as the editor of a detective story magazine in a publishing empire tyrannically controlled by Laughton, Milland through a casual association with his boss's girl friend, becomes involved in her brutal murder.

Laughton, for personal and murderous reasons, orders Milland, who has a particular genius for tracking down criminals, to find the man known to have been with the girl just before she was slain. Thus, Ray finds himself in the unenviable position of the fox leading the dogs to the fox. Concurrently he makes a frenzied attempt to trap the real killer in a desperate race against the quick, silent death he knows Laughton plans for him.

There is a distorted notion abroad in the land today to the effect that the "tough" individual is the one who is mean and unscrupulous. There is the opposite notion abroad too that it is so easy to be good that only "sissies" are good. Needless to say, this idea is just as distorted and wrong as the first one. This overlooks the fact that the evil man is not strong but weak. It takes strength of character, tough moral sinew and power of determination to be good.

I am fully aware that conscientious people are sometimes taunted for trying to do what they know to be right, and as a means of ridicule they are called "sissies." These young people need to realize that it takes more strength to swim against the current than to drift aimlessly with it. The person who gives away to the taunting of the gang is the weak one, for he does not have enough courage to stand up for what he knows to be right.

The real tough person is the fellow who has the rugged character and tough moral fibre to stand up and take all the ridicule, taunting and persecution that may be brought against him because he dares to go against the majority and swim against the tide.

Of course, I do not want to discourage the weak individuals and leave the impression that because they have failed to stand for the right on previous occasions, there is no hope for them. There are many examples of morally weak individuals who have grown strong. Jesus Christ died for the weak and helps them overcome and forgives them when they fail.

I only wish I had the power of persuasion to make all young people realize that their way would be easier and their burdens lighter if they would just accept Christ and allow him to help them.

I close with this exhortation: "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth before the evil days come." -Ecc. 12:1.

the American people, by and by, are wary of spy scares. For a great deal of fun has been looked at the notion that gold streamed into this country by devious routes to finance Soviet agents and their American aides. Then, during the war, we developed a warm affection for the Russians' present defense of their island, and most of us felt in the postwar era the communist power and the capitalist power would live together on a basis of friendly co-existence and mutual resolve to spread the world back on its feet. A good deal of water has gone under the dam since then. And current Congressional investigations of spying and allied activities — even though many of the accusations may be exaggerated and some of them may be completely unfounded — in that the communist underground in the United States has been far more extensive and reached into far more places than anyone believed. As Life magazine said: "Some of the details of the underground were obscured by conflicting testimony, but the general pattern was clear. A list of those who have been accused of either being communist, fellow travelers, or sympathizers is a long one. It includes Assistant to President Roosevelt, official of standing in the State Department, a man who held an important war position in the Commerce Department, and others whose work was a knowledge of high-level confidential information. The principal witness — a woman who testified she had acted as a coordinator of information on behalf of a Russian with whom she was in love — she sometimes obtained information that it was necessary to photograph it on film to lessen the physical work — and this seems to have involved practically every ery employee and representative of the Soviet government — did not miss a single bet if they were able to help it. From the record so far written, it does not appear that anything so crass as bribery with money was used to any extent. If the evidence is to be believed, even in part, some of the informants were stirred by idealistic considerations — a feeling that Communism was the only road to justice and peace. It will be remembered that during the thirties Stalin officially dissolved the Comintern, whose objective was world revolution, and the Communist Party with this country abruptly changed its tune. It pledged itself to attain its objectives through strictly legal means, paid lip service to democratic principles and procedures, denied that it had any connection with the Kremlin, and went all out to appear homespun and respectable. Many people who fell for this have since disavowed their connection with the party and have become aggressively anti-red. One of these is at present a sen-was at least a modicum of information when really belonged to the secret category.

The general feeling seems to be that the government's crack-down on disloyal persons and the communist underground was long overdue — and that responsible officials were unbelievably lethargic in starting the work. As an example, one government employee held important jobs for four years in spite of constant objections by Naval Intelligence. It is significant that this man refused to answer when a committee investigator asked him formally if he was or had ever been a Communist. Many of the people called did the same thing: the constitutional grounds that to answer might incriminate them. It is a matter of record that communists and fellow take full advantage of our legal protections for the individual — protections which are totally non-existent in the Soviet Union.

The case of the Russian school teachers who don't want to go home for fear of being shot — has further complicated matters. It looks as if the Russians

Other people who served the Communist cause may not have known what they were doing — they just talked too much and at the wrong time. Finally there is a hard core of men and women whose loyalty, regardless of nationality, belongs to the Soviet Union, and who are willing to do practically anything to serve the cause.

Just how much really valuable and secret information did the Soviet agents get? The probability is that they didn't get a great deal. Some of it, indeed, was available to anyone who wanted it. And some of it, while classified, was of no particular importance. At the same time it is probable that out of all the mass of material which was correlated and sent to Russia, there dis trust their own people, as well as the Americans.

At any rate, the job of ferretting out the communists in the government is really under way at last. Several hundred Federal employees have either been discharged or have resigned after being investigated by the Loyalty Review Board, which has been assisted by the FBI. Many more are scheduled for investigation in the near future. And it's a safe bet that we aren't through with disclosures which will make big headlines in the newspapers.

The Outlook For Agriculture in 1949

WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO THE SHEEP AND WOOL INDUSTRY

By W. M. Pritchett, Agricultural Economist, Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas

The recent declines in prices of many farm commodities have aroused more than the usual amount of speculation as to what lies ahead for ranchers next year. Wool producers during recent months have seen wool prices rise rather rapidly to the highest level in many years, and then sag again. They are wondering why these changes happened and what can be expected next year. In this atmosphere of uncertainty, it is well to give consideration to the outlook for agriculture for next year.

If it should occur. We like to think that there will be peace in 1949 and that our East-West differences can be settled amicably. There is a strong possibility that there will continue to be a high degree of tenseness in the international situation next year and that peaceful relations may be strained greatly. Because of these conditions, government spending for defense and foreign aid is increasing, and it is the opinion of those attending the conference in Washington that it may continue to increase in the first half of next year. This spending would put more upward pressure on the agricultural prices. Government spending, high consumer incomes, increasing private domestic investments and excess of United States exports over imports are likely to keep business at a high level in 1949. Under such circumstances, demand for farm products likely will continue strong next year, and prices of farm products may average close to 1948 levels.

Now let's consider the outlook for sheep, lambs, and wool, which are subjects of particular interest to the sheep breeders. The most important fact with respect to these is the continued decline in sheep numbers. In the seven years prior to January 1, 1948, sheep and lamb numbers in the United States declined 37 per cent or to the lowest point since 1871. That a further reduction is indicated by the large numbers of ewes that were slaughtered. An estimated 15 per cent or more of the 1948 lamb slaughter is classed as "sheep", most of which were ewes.

The decline in sheep numbers has been due to a large number of factors. Lamb prices have changed from year to year since before the war, along with average prices of all meat animals, although lamb prices now are relatively lower than beef prices. Wool prices have risen slowly and have been a major factor in the decline in sheep numbers. Sheep numbers were reduced also, as cattle were substituted for sheep on ranges — a substitution made possible by unusually favorable range conditions in many areas and encouraged by a scarcity of herders as well as by the comparatively slow rise in wool prices.

In Texas, of course, the conditions of sheep ranges has been largely unfavorable. Many of the ranchers have reduced their sheep numbers because of lack of grazing. Of course, the competition of beef cattle and many crops has been partly responsible for reduction of sheep numbers in some of the farming areas of the state. In addition to these factors there were many others, such as shortages of farm labor and high prices for many meat animals, that induced many sheep raisers either to reduce or to liquidate their flocks.

After remaining close to support levels for nearly two years, wool prices received by farmers improved substantially in the summer of 1948. Purchases made in foreign markets by Russian and American buyers were largely responsible for the rise in the world prices of wools. The American buyers withdrew from the market when prices reached a comparatively low level. Later, the Russians wool buyers reduced their purchases and wool prices declined somewhat, as you know. There is a good opinion, however, that there will be sufficient activity in the wool markets to keep the average price to Texas growers substantially above the CCC purchase prices. Annual world consumption of wool now exceeds annual world production, and with the world supply of wool declining, prices of wool next year are expected to be relatively favorable.

The 1948 lamb crop of 20.5 million head was 8 per cent smaller than the 1947 crop and the smallest on records that begin in 1924. The native sheep states raised 6 per cent fewer lamb; the western states 9 per cent fewer. The abundant supplies and comparatively low prices of corn this fall will be favorable for grain feeding of lambs. If a near-record 23 per cent of the lamb crop should be reported on feed, the number would still be less than in any year since 1928, due to the small lamb crop on western ranges.

Now to sum up what has been said. The outlook for agriculture

WEEK'S NEWS

GRAZIANI GOES ON TRIAL—Former Marshal Graziani goes on trial in Rome on charges of collaboration with the Nazis. He is the highest ranking surviving fascist.

DISCLOSES SUPERSUBMARINES—Uncle Sam is building supersubmarines. Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin of the Senate Armed Services Committee reveals in an American Magazine article outlining our military strength. The Connecticut Republican says the supersubs are believed to be equal or superior to any afloat.

LITTLE STAR—Mary Jayne Saunders will be seen for the first time on the screen in "Sorrowful Lane" with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball. She is 6 years old and weighs all at 40 pounds.

FEEDER LAMBS—Lower prices for crops that compete with sheep raising, the possibility of acreage controls on some crops, probable improvement in the relation of lamb prices to beef prices, and continuation of some farm price supports in the years ahead. The chief unfavorable factor in the picture is the daunt condition of the pastures and ranges in many areas. Excepting the unfavorable weather factor, the outlook as viewed from the standpoint of the sheep breeder and wool producer is believed to be better off than it has been in a number of years. —TS&GR Magazine Office Supplies at the Times

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

It's Your Fight, Too!

Bing Crowley was "beefing" the other day about all that Our Town's doing in the way of sending food and clothes to Europe. Bing felt that those struggling democracies should look after themselves.

But most agreed with Judge Cunningham who said: "So long as any family or individual in Europe is helping hold the line for freedom—against the forces of intolerance—it's common sense, and common decency, to help 'em."

Because that's everybody's fight: To see that individual freedom is preserved in every aspect, big or little—whether it's the right to vote, or the right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer or ale with friends.

And from where I sit, no liberty's too small to overlook. Because the minute one small freedom is threatened, all the others are in jeopardy—just as the minute one small country loses freedom, all its neighbors are in danger!
