Car Thieves Flee Local Officers In Run Friday

Last Friday afternoon Sheriff J. S. Nance apprehended three youths driving a 1950 Chrysler Imperial bearing a Florida license. The youths were questioned as to the ownership of the car and told to follow the sheriff to the courthouse for further questioning. On the way to the courthouse the boy driving the Chrysler turned at an intersection behind the sheriff and attempted a get-away.

Sheriff Nance went back to the highway in an effort to pick up the car and after several minutes learned that the car had turned up the dead-end street that goes to the front of Herman Paul's house in the north part of town. Two of the boys jumped out of the car and headed for the mountain north of Austin Nance's house. The third boy stayed with the car and was there when Nance arrived. He stated that he was not implicated in any crime, but was merely a hitch-hiker. Detailed questioning failed to implicate the boy and he was released after furnishing much information as to the description of the two who had escaped and the identity of one of the youths.

The hitch-hiker was released Saturday afternoon.

Immediately following the escape of the two boys toward the mountain, a search by plane and horseback was begun but failed to show a trace of the boys. The search stopped late in the afternoon and a cordon was thrown out on the highways and watching the railroad yards but the boys nor a trace of them was ever found.

Found in the car were pictures, clothes and description of William A. Yates, of Homestead, Florida. The name of the other boy was not learned.

Contact with Florida officials revealed that the car was stolen in Miami and the license plates were stolen in Homestead, Fla.

Federal warrants have been issued for Yates and the unknown youth charging them with car theft and violation of the Dyer Act and the possibility of other thefts and minor charges. A five-gallon can and two rubber hoses, several cartons of assorted brands of cigarettes and chewing gum were found in the car.

Marfa, Butz School Win Junior-Pee Wee Cage Tourney Here

The Marfa juniors were winners of their division of the basketball tournament staged here in the local gym all day last Saturday. Butz school of Fort Stockton was runner up in the junior division with Fort Stockton winning consolation honors. In the pee-wee division the Marfa quintet was the winner, with the Butz five as runners-up and consolation bracket going to Fort Stockton.

The tournament was sponsored by the junior and pee-wee teams of the local schools and staged by Joe Mitchell, coach for the junior boys.

Sanderson won their first game in the pee-wee division from Fort Stockton by a score of 16-13.

In the junior division Sanderson lost their first game by a score of 21-19 to Blackwell School of Marfa. The Grandfalls pee-wees won over the Marfa pee-wees 11-8 and the second junior game ended up 32-22 in favor of Marfa over Fort Stockton.

The Blackwell School of Marfa and Butz School of Fort Stockton battled to a score of 2-22 with Blackwell on the long side of the score. The Grandfalls and Butz School juniors played a 35-15 game with Butz School as the winners.

Going into the consolation division, the Marfa pee-wees won over the Fort Stockton pee-wees 16-12 and the Fort Stockton juniors won over the Sanderson juniors 21-16.

In the pee-wee semi-finals the Grandfalls team won over Sanderson 28-16 and Marfa lost to Butz 17-16.

The pee-wee consolation bracket was won by Marfa over Blackwell 29-21 and the juniors consolation was won by Fort Stockton over Grandfalls 29-15.

The pee-wee finals was won by Grandfalls 21-15 over Butz School with the junior finals going to Marfa after their defeat of Butz School by 31-27.

According to Mitchell, the tournament was well attended at the afternoon and night sessions but he added that there was not near the crowd he had anticipated for the full day of thrills and fast action. All of the games were thrill-packed and gave an insight to the type of game to be expected in years to come by the participants of this tournament.

Winter Returns To Area With Snow This Week

Winter weather made its second debut into this area this week as the cold wave moved in on Terrell County early Tuesday evening bringing sleet and snow. Varied reports of the amount of snowfall came in from over the county and a valuable amount of moisture was the chief asset.

The cold weather took its usual toll in lambs and several ranchmen who had sheared goats last week suffered a sizeable loss in that line.

The weather remained at freezing temperatures all day Wednesday and the local streets and area highways were unsafe because of icy conditions. Thursday dawned some warmer with clear skies and sunshine.

There were several wrecks in and around Sanderson Wednesday due to the icy roads and only one person, a tourist, received injuries as a result of the mishaps.

The Sanderson schools closed Wednesday because of the icy road conditions making it unsafe for bus travel between Sanderson and Dryden.

Chandler Lamb Grand Champion In FFA Show

The Terrell County F. F. A. chapter, under the direction and advice of R. M. Turner, local vocational agriculture teacher, put on their first livestock and poultry show at the high school last Thursday evening. The show was well attended by local citizens who praised the work of the chapter in preparing the stock for showing.

E. L. Tiner, area vocational agriculture supervisor of Sul Ross College in Alpine judged the show and after each class champion was picked, he gave his reasons for picking that animal over the others according to their qualifications within that class.

In the poultry division, Jimmy Caroline won 1st prize and grand champion for his coop of 3 pullets and 1 rooster. Second place went to Douglas Attaway; third place Nicky Hahn; Pablo Flores, fourth; Manuel Maldonado, fifth and Colby House sixth place. All of the boys had three pullets and one rooster in the show. Colby House also had on exhibition five capons that he is raising.

Forty lambs were in the fine wool lamb division of the show. These lambs were placed in three divisions: choice, prime and good, and the champion lamb of the division was chosen from the prime section of the division, Glynn Chandler had the winning lamb in this division. His lamb was bred by Charley Chandler, Glynn's grandfather. Other lambs placing in the prime class were fed by Marion Powers, 2 lambs; Cy Banner, Gene Chandler, Tommy Mansfield; Glynn Chandler, 2 lambs other than the champion; Willie Wolfe; Charles Stegall, 2 lambs; David Mitchell, Don Kocian; Joe Neasmith and Odell Carruthers.

LISTEN TO LUKE

"I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I have nowhere else to go. My own wisdom, and that of all about me, seemed insufficient for the day"—Abraham Lincoln.

This column is not written by a minister — nor is it a sermon — but these words from the great man we honored this month should be very timely for all of us in the highest to the lowest citizen of the United States.

Once there was a powerful ruler who had some brass or gold or maybe it was aluminum gods built and told his followers that at a certain time they must bow down and worship the beautiful gods he had caused to be erected. We don't know the history of the incident well enough to know if he had those idols built by the PWA labor if they were erected by some best-plus contractor — maybe done by the AAA. At any rate Old Neb had the job done at government expense and those people found out they were bowing in the wrong direction. Before we do too much criticizing, we must take a look at our own condition. Neb (I can't spell Nebechadnezzar) had never had the political training of some of the leaders we have today. He was an amateur at making people bow down.

This financing for the emergency has brought in many pet party members that will have to be weeded out by Congress or saddled on to some people. It is time we call upon our representatives in Congress to get all the Nebs out of our governmental affairs. It would do a great deal of good for the country if we had them all wear out the heels of their trousers instead of the seat.

Before we bow down to the gods of selfishness and party warfare, let's take a look for a better way that will lead us from the political mess we are in and take us to a higher desire to live as we should and manage the affairs of our state on a level that will inspire other nations to emulate our example. We are strong — so was Neb — but things can happen unless we do an about face.

There are still people like Abraham Lincoln — we just aren't acting them to higher offices. Let's Daniel, our able attorney general, said at a club dinner recently that if the United States expected to remain a great power, it must draft people to high offices who do not seek political favors. There must never be another "do change horses in the middle of the stream" or the horse and all will go down.

Representative C. W. Wood has introduced HB No. 208 in the Texas House of Representatives, which would, if passed, prohibit all chiropractic advertising. This bill has several provisions and the above-mentioned is one of the many restrictions to be placed on the chiropractic profession.

We believe there should be restrictions governing all trades and professions but the privilege of letting people know you are in business is one that should be retained by all professions. At present, the medical profession term advertising as "unethical" but it is not prohibited by any law. If the chiropractors want to withhold advertising that is their business but it does not come under the province of the legislature to provide such restrictions on any profession.

There are laws now which prohibit advertising false claims concerning any item of merchandise or service. There is no board of chiropractors capable of determining that the medical profession should be restricted and the same will be true if the shoe is on the other foot.

There are some medical men who fail to render the service that is expected of them. Still it would be foolish for a law-making body to prohibit them from advertising their services. Class legislation will not do any matters so it would be a good idea if the present legislature should do a great deal of cutting in the proposed bill before passing it.

Saturday resident land owners in this area will vote on the feasibility of a soil conservation district.

RURAL ROAD FUND PROPOSED CHANGE RAPPED IN AUSTIN

A rural road financing bill now pending before the legislative bodies of the State of Texas would work a hardship on Texas property owners, according to word received here from several interested parties attending hearings and meeting in Austin this week. R. S. Wilkinson, Terrell County judge, is in Austin helping in the fight against passage of the bill.

The proposal would set aside present highway funds for farm roads. Half the surplus is now allocated to counties to pay their road bond indebtedness.

One representative said: "The property owners of Texas are about to catch it in the neck. If House Bill 226 becomes law, it will force a severe increase in property taxes in nearly every county in the state."

It is estimated that in Denison, Texas, the district of the legislative spokesman, D. B. Hardeman, that all the property owners in Grayson County will have to pay at least 15 cents per $100 valuation more in new taxes, and in Collin County the new property taxes will run from 20 cents on each $100 valuation.

It is understood that the proposal would eliminate entirely the lateral road fund paid to the counties each year. To Terrell County this means between $20,000 and $25,000 annually, according to a commissioner. Since Terrell County has only one farm-to-market road at present, and many county roads that come under the lateral road classification, this would mean that such funds as were available for the lateral roads would no longer be available and would revert to the construction and maintenance of farm-to-market roads.

Mr. Sudduth plans to convert the building into a modern funeral home and move the present facilities for the home from the O. T. Sudduth, Inc., building where it is now located. The building will have to be remodelled and decorated and driveways and parking space constructed for both front and back entrances.

City Areas Furnish Higher Percentages Of State Convicts

Huntsville, Feb. 14 — Texas cities continue to send more people to prison than smaller towns and rural areas.

In 1950, more than half of the new convicts sent to the State Prison system came from only 11 counties. These counties represent about forty per cent of the state's population.

These figures were revealed recently by Dr. Rupert Koening, director of classification of the Texas Prison system. He was assisted in the 23-year study by sociology students from Sam Houston State Teachers College who take course work inside prison walls under his direction.

In order of the most number of commitments the eleven counties were Harris, Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant, El Paso, Hidalgo, Travis, Lubbock, Jefferson, Nueces and Wichita.

They furnished 1,505 of the 2,995 prisoners committed during 1950, or 50.25 per cent of them. Based on 1949 population estimates, the eleven counties had a total population of 2,845,000, which was 39.35 per cent of the estimated state population of 7,230,000.

Lubbock and Nueces Counties on opposite ends of the state, were newcomers among the "few" counties which furnish the bulk of the state's convicts. All the others had consistently been in the group; although Travis County had not since 1947. Dropped from the 1949 "big commitment" list were Smith and Cameron Counties. Cameron County did rank fifteenth however.

The rank order of counties in number of commitments did alter somewhat when Hidalgo County sent its fewest number of convicts in one year since 1945 and Tarrant County broke recent previous records in number of commitments. El Paso County has dropped from third place in 1948 through fourth for 1950 to its fifth position for 1950.

Thus, for the first time in recent years, the 1950 number of commitments were in the exact order of the state's "big four" cities — Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

Harris County with its 418 commitments leads the state for at least the 23rd consecutive year (the compilation goes back to 1928), and sent the biggest number from any one county in a year in history. However, there were only six more commitments than in 1948.

Move Against Liquor Pushed By Methodist Church

Participating in a church-wide drive for commitments to total abstinence, the local Methodist Church recently had a special program showing the evils of intoxicating beverages. Rev. Olaf Hoggard, pastor, said. The program consisted of reproduction of recordings which quoted great men in all walks of life. The recordings were made from local voices and a projection machine was used to show illustrations.

Rev. Hoggard stated that the results of the service were encouraging and members of other congregations were present and many came to the altar eas testimony of their willingness to abstain from all alcoholic drink.

The drive, Hoggard said, is being carried on throughout the U. S. by all Methodist Churches. "If all professed Christians would make it the rule of their lives not to indulge in any form of drinking," the pastor continued, "there would be no doubt about the widespread influence for the abolition of the habit of drink as a social requirement."

V. Stidham, Odell Carruthers, Don Kocian, Tommy Mansfield, Jim Turner, Joe Nessmith and Cy Banner.

Boys placing lambs in the good section of the fine wool division were Cy Banner, Glynn Chandler, Jim Turner, 2 lambs; Odell Carruthers, Bob Wilkinson, 2 lambs; Willie Wolfe and Tommy Mansfield.

In the crossbred division there were only two classes: prime and choice. David Mitchell fed the top lamb in the prime division. His lamb was bred by his father, C. C. Mitchell. David had 3 lambs in the top bracket of this division, with the other entries being by O. V. Stidham, Charles Stegall, David Mitchell and Gary Vashinder, 2 lambs.

In the choice bracket there were two lambs fed by Charles Stegall.

Following the selection of the champion lamb in the cross-bred division Tiner chose the fine wool lamb fed by Glynn Chandler, top lamb in his division, as grand champion lamb for the show and awarded reserve champion honors to David Mitchell for his cross bred lamb.

There were six rams on exhibition at the show with no competition. The rams were all bred by John Harrison, father of the feeder.

Turner and the boys expressed their thanks to all those who had helped to make the show a success, especially to the parents and friends who came out to see their work, and to Mr. Tiner, for judging the show.

Turner added that he hoped that the knowledge and experience gained from the show this year would enable the boys to put on a better show next year and he hoped that the competition would be keener in all classes and divisions by the class being able to obtain their lambs earlier, and because of the possibility of the addition of calves to the livestock projects of some of the boys.

Turner left Wednesday with several members of his vocational agriculture class and eleven lambs which they were taking to the San Antonio Livestock Show to be held this week.

R. E. DICKSON
"He Made Water Walk"

On the rolling plains of West Texas, where an annual average rainfall of 20 inches creates the most serious problem for agriculture, Ray E. Dickson will be long remembered as "the man who made water walk." In his 36 years as superintendent of the Texas Experiment Station at Spur, this Texas A. and M. researcher led the way to full use of the country's precious rainfall through development of arroyo-pan terraces. He learned and then preached that the rainfall of the plains country was sufficient, if properly conserved. He proved that water conservation is the quickest way to soil saving. On the basis of his pioneering much of the work of the national Soil Conservation Service was established.

ability of establishing a soil conservation district in this county. Some of the land owners here have expressed their disapproval of the proposal, giving as their reasons that there is too much governmental meddling in the affairs of the private citizen. We are not qualified to express views intelligently on this subject. We, of course, believe that the soil and pasture land should be conserved, but the idea of additional governmental supervision still goes against the grain with us. We maintain that in most cases that have come to our attention, the men who tell you what to do and how to do it are less qualified than the man who has spent a lifetime on the range. Of course there are those who have made this a study and can, with a blank check banking account, do worlds of good to the range by certain conservation measures. Then there is the problem of having some "disinterested" parties tell you what you must do. The West Texas ranchman has long been too independent to fall back now and have the man with the whiskers tell him he can can or cannot raise castor beans on his own place. We saw where a Texas community has recently been given authority from Washington to plant a certain number of acres to castor beans.

There are some people under the Kremlin who have to get Little Joe's permission to plant certain things and that is what all this fighting is about.

The people of Terrell County have made a living a mighty long time without the help and advice of men in Washington and this column believes that it can still be done. If this column could say what to do we would suggest that the PMA office in the Terrell County courthouse be moved to some place where they feel they have to have the Uncle run their ranches and farms for them.

What the entire country needs more than anything else is a good old-fashioned feeling of self-security, self-sufficiency and pride.

Pro and con may be heard about the purported sum paid Veep Barkley by the citizens of Mineral Wells, Texas, when he spoke there last Friday night. This column contends that what the citizens of Mineral Wells pays a speaker is their business and what the Veep receives for nonsensical witticisms comes under the head of his business.

Now why are the people of the United States concerned about the fact that the Veep spoke in Mineral Wells for a fee? In the first place there is a job in Washington for him to do or else we don't need a vice president. Then in the second place transportation from Washington to Mineral Wells and return was supplied by taxpayers money. Mr. Barkley went to Mineral Wells as a business man to make a little extra money and to advance his personal ambitions. He had with him official personnel whose time was being paid for by the people of the nation.

Wear and tear on a high-powered plane, use of aviation gas, and crew which is badly needed in other parts of the country for the purpose of defense — if we are to believe our commander-in-chief — could have been left in Washington and used as it should have been.

Texas is no better situated now that Mr. Barkley has spoken. The people of the United States have paid the bill on the soldiers are

What's its Power?

FIREBALL!

(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result: a spectacular engineering phenomenon you feel the instant you touch toe to gas treadle. A rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, let loose their pent-up power every five inches a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see why. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, like this:

So the inrushing fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

And you get the thrill — and thrift — of this Buick "first" in every mile you drive.

More, you get a tried-and-true engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years.

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflow Drive.

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

Better see your dealer soon.

Survey of Schools To Be Made In Near Future

The Terrell County school system will use materials furnished by the Texas Education Agency to make a detailed survey of the Terrell County schools, according to Matt Bader, superintendent of the schools. More than 800 schools over the state are expected to take part in the school-community survey program.

This material is now being used by high schools with fewer than 100 pupils. If the results of the program are satisfactory, all high schools in the state may eventually take part in the survey, according to J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education.

Purpose of the survey is to gather information about the local community which will help school leaders in planning a better program for education for the school and community.

Because the good school is so closely tied to community life, many of the questions will be concerned with community resources Edgar said.

After the material has been collected by the teachers and pupils of Terrell County High School, a group of local citizens will be asked to examine the results in the light of their knowledge of the community.

Edgar pointed out that facts and figures alone cannot tell a complete story. People who know local conditions must express judgments in order to give the facts their proper meaning, he said.

Superintendent Bader recently attended a meeting in Alpine at which members of the Texas Education Agency staff explained the use of the study guides. It was pointed out at this meeting that collecting the desired material should give the pupils and teachers a new knowledge of their community and furnish a basis for a new understanding of such material studied in the school.

When all communities of this size have reported their findings the state education agency will have a body of information about education in Texas that could not be obtained from any other source. The rapid changes that have taken place in our social and economic life in the past few years have made available information out of date, officials of the agency said.

Teams of students will begin the community survey soon. The people of the town are requested by Supt. Bader to help supply the information requested. None of it will be made public as an individual report, he said. It will be collected into a general report on the entire community.

Pecos Dock Company To Distribute Feed To Area Ranchmen

Pecos, Texas, Feb. 14 — Anticipating completion of the newly-announced cotton oil mill now under construction in Pecos, officials of Western Cottonoil Co. this week established the present Pecos Mill dock as a new supply point for Paymaster Feeds.

As a result, ranchers and farmers in this area are now afforded a conveniently-located source of 41 per cent cake and meal, range pellets and other feeds, delivered f. o. b. the Pecos dock, and can secure feeds on short notice and in quantities to meet current needs.

"When our new Pecos oil mill begins operations in the fall, it would naturally have become a feed supply point for feeders of this area," a spokesman for Western Cottonoil Co. said. "By establishing Pecos as a supply point at this time, we think we can offer a greater service and convenience to feeders, even though this anticipates the opening of the mill by some months."

"Therefore, we are now in position to offer feeds f. o. b. our Pecos docks. This means more convenient availability of feeds as well as savings in freight costs to feeders; big feed consuming areas such as this are certainly entitled to this kind of service."
