Evangelist To Be Here August 27

Rev. Milton DuPriest, evangelist, who is now holding revival services in Shreveport, La., will be in Sanderson Monday, August 27 to begin a series of revival services at the First Baptist Church in Sanderson.

Rev. DuPriest addresses the foilowing letter to the citizens of Sanderson:

"I am a young chaplain in your Air Force reserves. Along with you, I have close friends and loved ones who are already fighting in this senseless Korean War. The outlook is apparently more pessimistic than most of us care to think about. Yet, to ignore it is no solution. The only possible way to cope with a problem of any kind is to face it squarely.

"More than likely you are ask-Mrs. Jim Powers, Mrs. John ing the same question I have asked, 'What can I do over here when the war is over there?' The American way of life defends primarily, freedom - Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion. But I have a conviction that we are in the present crisis because of these freedoms have been abused. For example, freedom of religion means to the average Adactive eedom from religion.

The destiny of the nations has always been in the hands of God, tgain aistory proves that at least one verse of the Bible is true; Blessed is the nation whose God s the Lord; But sin is a reproach to any people.' No nation has stood very long after deserting the Christian way of life, regardless of heritage or origin. On our coins we have a form of Christianity, but no more than that. It is printed 'In God We Trust', but then we trust the coin!

"Here is my conviction: The greatest contribution to world peace, to national preservation, to approach justification of the death and suffering of our friends and relatives in Korea, that you can make, is to get right with God.

"Beginning Monday, August 27, I will be in your town in a revival meeting at the First Baptist Church. We are praying that every person in Sanderson who belongs to one of the fine churches there will be a possessor as well as a professor of Christianity. We are and relatives will be saved. No one needs to tell you that this summer has been one of the hottest in many years.

And that means I've been working many extra hours every day for my customers-running their portable fans, evaporative coolers, attic fans and air conditioners almost around the clock—and providing the extra refrigeration and extra quantities of cold drinks and ice cubes they need.

Naturally some electric bills will be higher because of all this extra work—but the added cost is small compared to the comfort and health protection I bring. Think of the many extra hours I've worked and you'll agree I represent a real bargain in summertime better living.

LESSON FROM HISTORY

There once lived a popular political leader who seemed destined to change the basic economic and political concepts of his nation. He had been born to "blue blood," had attended the best schools, and as he'd grown into manhood he'd begun to show unusual talent as a speaker. What he said and the way he said it had a fascinating charm. He influenced people disarmingly.

When he rose to the administrative leadership of his nation, after holding other political offices, he was not displeased upon being described as a reformer. His mission, he said, was to improve the plight of the "common man."

Some critics considered the leader's program to be "socialistic" and in the long run dangerous to the "common man" as well as to all other citizens. But these voices were in the minority. They did not deter him. He carried popular support and begun to put his economic theories into practice. One of the early "reforms" was strict government regulation of prices and wages. Bureaus were set up in every section of the country to daily administer wage and price directives.

Soak the Successful

His philosophy on taxation was that most of the taxes should be levied upon the well-to-do; that the "common man" should pay very little. He succeeded in having kinds; even, for example, of ansuch a tax program established. In fact, taxes sufficient to provide a reserve fund were thus levied, and a social security program was established, providing numerous benefits: pensions for the aged, unemployment compensation, regular grants in all categories of welfare.

Within a few years, his administration was well along toward the full-fledged paternalistic welfare state in spite of the fact that a number of his own political colleagues wanted to call a halt. Year after year the government was assuming more control over business, industry and agriculture. Special benefits were provided for various groups. Seed loans and grants were made to farmers. An ambitious, costly program for reclaiming wasteland was carried on, Most programs were administered by bureaus with agencies throughout the country.

Playing God!

The leader's ego thrived. It was said he actually considered himself incapable of error or wrongomnivorous reader of books of all cient medical and botanical works. I have, moreover, dipped into treatises of agriculture and on needlework, all of which I have found very profitable in aiding me to seize the great scheme of Heaven." Yet, after a number of years, the reform ideas began to go sour, Both the "common man" and his incommon neighbor were in a sorry plight. The monetary structure of the government was giving trouble. The economic planning wasn't paying off. People became distressed when the peerless leader dabbled apparently without knowledge or experience, in the realm of foreign trade and exchange. They were shocked when his manipulation brought about a drastic change in money values. At one point he blithely "doubled" the value of metalic money by directive! Further serious trouble developed when his administration began to be plagued with dishon esty among officials who had golden opportunities for graft. Nation Falls

The country was weakened morally and financially. The impractical reformer was removed from office, his abortive reform programs cast off. Yet the effects lingered on; and so infectious had been his shrine alongside the great names of his nation's history. Later it was removed. Some historians Rev. J. W Byrd. subsequently termed him "imposter" or "charlatan"

His name was Wang An-Shih. He was the all-powerful chief-ofstate in China from 1069 to 1079 under the rule of Emperor Shen Tsung of the Sung dynasty. Historians are not in agreement on the extent of the injuries done to China by Wang An-Shih's 10 years of political-paternalism and economic planning. However, it is a matter of historical record that the people did not have the necessary moral and physical strength when many years later, the Godless hordes of Genghis Khan, bent on world conquest, overran and plundered the whole country from the northern border to the China Sea.

The lesson: Throughout the ages paternalistic governments have been fashioned by "peerless" political leaders, and when continued for long they have ruined nations again and again and again!
