LISTEN TO LUKE

To date this column has heard very little on the suggested move to get driving instructions for the high school students who will shortly apply for driver's license.

Is it possible that parents think their youngsters don't need the instruction? Yes, they can possibly pass the test some way without my help. If they fail the first time they can keep trying until they will be able to pass. This column believes that most all of us could give some instructions on driving most of us know and fail to practice some very important rules of safe driving.

Last week a patrolling officer stopped some cars in Sanderson and gave them a slight warning. We were told, about the dangers involved in cars racing up and down streets and each trying to beat the other to a corner so they would turn and try for another corner. That is a bad practice for as much power involved in the machines that it could do harm to innocent people. There have been times when this columnist expected to see a car come piling through the bedroom window.

Boys and girls are just people and people have been known to show less judgment than anybody. I remember well how I used to get my favorite mount, bareback, at my back on his hips, and by using a stick to rub his weathers, could manage to get him to pitch little. This act of showing off for the girls is and has always been, a common practice for young males. The difference, though, is in the methods of transportation. I stood a good chance of getting my own neck broken, but seldom endangered the lives of other people.

The first norther of the season blew in early Thursday morning and sent the mercury into the fifties. Hay and feed in large truckloads coming through Sanderson in recent weeks bear evidence of the feeding that is being done by some area ranchmen. Drouth conditions have prevailed again this year and the lack of moisture in the spring and summer indicates a hard winter ahead for the ranchmen.

Shearing is almost completed in this area and most of the lambs have been sold.

Spotted Rains Over County; .49 Locally

The unsettled weather, showers and rain have brought Indian summer to Sanderson and some parts of Terrell County. Nights are again cool enough to call for light covers and the daytime temperatures are much reduced after a summer of unusually high mercury readings.

While the rain followed the usually spotted patterns, some ranches to the northwest and east have reported good rainfall from a half inch to one and one-half inches. Ranches to the south reported near one-half inch of rain.

Rain fell in Sanderson early Sunday evening and Monday morning gauging .49. The last moisture recorded here was .16 for August 12.

The first norther of the season blew in early Thursday morning and sent the mercury into the fifties.

Hay and feed in large truckloads coming through Sanderson in recent weeks bear evidence of the feeding that is being done by some area ranchmen. Drouth conditions have prevailed again this year and the lack of moisture in the spring and summer indicates a hard winter ahead for the ranchmen.

Eagles To Play Alpine Bucks Non-Conference Tilt Here Friday Night

The Sanderson Eagles will open their grid season Friday night when they meet the Alpine Bucks in a non-conference game at Eagle Field. The game will get underway at 8 p. m.

A large crowd of Alpine enthusiasts is expected to be on hand to force, if possible, their team's chances in their first venture into class A football. The Alpine athletic teams were placed in class A competition this year because of the increased enrollment in the high school there last year.

Junior, Pee-Wee Football Teams Begin Practice

Workouts began Monday of this week for the junior and pee-wee football teams of the Sanderson Elementary School.

Thirty-six boys reported to junior coach Robert Carle, and H. C. England, pee-wee coach, reported twenty boys out for his team.

This is the second year in which the boys of the elementary school are participating in organized athletics. An effort is being made to schedule several games for these two teams for this fall. Two games will be played in Alpine Saturday, September 15, beginning at 6:30. The following Saturday the four teams will again meet on the local field with the time set at 6:30 for the opening game.

The public is invited to attend these games and to encourage these young boys in their endeavor.

San Angelo To 'Show Off' Dam On September 16

San Angelo, September 13 — A visitor's tour of the North Concho Dam and Reservoir at San Angelo will highlight dedication ceremonies for the world's longest earthen-filled dam September 16.

Visitors at the ceremonies will be guided on a tour of the seven mile embankment that cost $16,200,000.00 to complete as a project of the U. S. Corps of Engineers. Ceremonies will begin at 2:30 p. m.

U. S. Representative O. C. Fisher will be featured speaker at the dedication. Others on the program will include Colonel Louis W. Prentiss, division engineer, Southern division of the U. S. Corps of Engineers and Colonel Delbert B. Freeman, district engineer, of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Gates at each end of the earth embankment will be closed to the public after Sunday. The embankment rises above the northern edge of San Angelo's city limits dwarfing the city's skyline. The dam's intake structure is taller than the highest building in San Angelo.

Closing of the flood gates will form a conservation pool with 27 miles of shoreline. The reservoir is designed to protect the City of San Angelo and other areas below the dam site from flood water. The conservation storage will be used for municipal and industrial needs and possibly for the irrigation of farm land.

Engineers concerned with the building of the dam, state and federal dignitaries and boosters of the project will be guests at the dedication ceremonies. The dedication site will be the down stream side on the north bank of the North Concho some four miles from down-town San Angelo.

The Eagles have suffered a few minor sprains and bruises in the pre-season work-outs but are expected to go onto the field in full strength Friday night. The team averages a little heavier this year than they did last and Coach C. W. Snowden stated early this week that the team had worked some of the kinks out of their offensive and defensive game in two scrimmages they held with a team from a neighboring town.

Snowden did not announce a probable starting lineup for the team this year, as the starters will depend largely upon whether the Eagles will be on the offensive or defensive when play begins. He stated that he did not have sufficient depth in substitutes to employ a two-platoon system of play this year but that he would use the reserves that he did have to good advantage so far as would be possible.

The Eagle fans are urged to be out at Eagle Field to give the football team a warming welcome and lend their support in the grid play this year. Coach Snowden stated that following last year's defeat of the Bucks at the hands of the Eagles, he felt sure that a good game was in the offing.

H. C. England has been assisting coach Snowden in the scrimmages due to the illness of Assistant Coach Norman Rath.

Sanderson fans will have the opportunity of witnessing five of the Eagles' frays on the home grid this year, according to the schedule, and the home games will be alternated equally with the out-of-town games, there being five of each.

The schedule this year has placed the conference games at the bottom end of the schedule for the locals with the exception of the Van Horn game on October 12, followed by a non-conference game with Del Rio on October 19. The remaining four games are all conference games.

Eagles who will be suited out for the Alpine game Friday night include: backs, Tommy Mansfield, Juan Olivares, Raul Flores, Rosendo Silvas, Willie Wolfe, Roman Zepeda, Jack Talbot, David Martinez, Glynn Chandler; guards, Douglas Attaway, Pablo Torres, Jimmy Talbot, Galor Cobos, Ruben Esqueda, James Clark, Roberto Arredondo; centers, Jimmy Harrison, Charles Stegall; tackles, Jack Savage, Bob Wilkinson, Leon Garza, Nicky Hahn, and ends, David Mitchell, Higinio Pena, Joe Nesmith and Frank Vasquez. David Flores is the team manager.

Longer Duck Season Set for 1951; Begins Nov. 9 for 50 Days

Austin, — The Federal Fish & Wildlife Service gave Texas three choices of opening dates for the 1951 waterfowl hunting season, but chose November 9 over the alternative dates of November 2 or 17.

The commission also had its choice of a straight 50-day season or a split season of 20 days each. The limits of five ducks per day and ten in possession were not affected by the varying dates. The goose limit is five per day or five in possession.

The ability to have a 50-day season beginning November 9 made the split season proposal less attractive for Texas sportsmen.

The 1951 season, extending as it does through December 28, will permit some holiday season shooting whereas the 45-day season in 1950 ended on December 17.

The early November opener will accommodate north Texas sportsmen while the more liberal period will permit south Texas folk to enjoy hunting after the bulk of waterfowl has moved on southward.

Counting Calories Made Easy; Losing Pounds Still Difficult

If you should put yourself on a 1,500-calorie diet, aimed at taking off about two pounds a week over two or three-month period, you should spend a definite amount of your calories every day for meat, poultry, fish and eggs. Since 1500 calories are unfamiliar items to reckon with for most people, they can be translated into a budget diet of $1.50, making 10 calories equal to one penny. And 470 calories or 47 cents would be the daily allotment for meat. Since most people eat an egg a day, you can count on spending 7 cents right at the start for that egg, leaving 40 cents for the rest of your meat program. If you eat three small strips of bacon, or two large ones, with your egg, you can knock off another 10 cents, and leave the breakfast table with only 30 calorie cents left for dinner and supper.

If roast chicken is on the menu for dinner, three thin slices of that chicken will take up 10 cents. One slice of chuck roast will cost 15 cents, one slice of rump roast will cost 17 cents and one slice of rib roast will cost 14 cents. If you do without that bacon for breakfast, eating just the egg, then you have that extra 10 cents to spend on a second slice of beef roast that you're having for dinner.

You can usually have your bacon if a lamb rib chop is on the dinner menu because that piece of lamb rib chop will cost only 10 of your budgeted pennies. A slice of roast leg of lamb will cost 12 cents and you can really cash in on lamb shoulder roast, getting 4 slices for only 29 cents.

Pork is about the highest of the meat cuts when you are reckoning by "calorie pennies." A slice of fresh ham will cost 34 cents and a slice of smoked ham adds another er 4 cents to total 38 cents. A loin pork chop nicks the budget for 29 cents and five little old spareribs tip the budget way over to the tune of 42 cents. Link sausages are, next to bacon, the cheapest of the pork items, costing 18 cents for three links.

Besides roasts, beef items run like this:

1 piece of corned beef, 10 cents; 4 slices of dried beef are 11 cents; one hamburger patty, 15 cents; one loin steak, 29 cents; one piece round steak, 22 cents; three pieces soup meat, 16 cents; and three pieces of stew meat, 33 cents.

A veal chop, medium size, will run about 11 cents with veal cut-lets costing 25 cents, roast leg of veal about 12 cents and veal stew meat about 11 cents for two slices.

Chicken, as mentioned before, is cheap, but duck is high, costing 32 cents for three slices as compared with 19 cents for three slices of chicken; turkey ribs 13 cents per slice.

Shellfish and fish are pretty cheap with the meat budget calls for quick economy. You can get about 5 oysters for 6 cents, half a cup of shrimp for 11 cents and half a cup of canned crab meat for 7 cents. Canned tuna runs real high, 28 cents per half cup.

Bass, codfish, perch, pickerel and pike run 10 cents per average portion, which is a piece about the size of a package of cigarettes. Haddock, fresh or smoked, will be 7 or 9 cents, and halibut will cost about 12 cents, whitefish 14 cents, and finnan haddock 16 cents for that same size portion.

There's still more meat to choose from, however, in the variety meats and meat mixtures. Bologna costs 10 cents per slice but the hot dog or frankfurter sausage runs only 8 cents, a slice of liver sausage and a slice of luncheon meat are also only 8 cents each.

Beef brains are 13 cents for two pieces, beef heart is 9 cents for two slices, beef kidney is 17 cents per half cup, and a piece of fried beef liver is 13 cents; calf liver, however, is 12 cents for two pieces. Beef sweetbreads and beef tongue run 18 cents for three-fourths cup of steamed sweetbreads and 10 cents for four slices of boiled tongue.

Brought to you each week by Sally and Johnny O'Mala

"FOUND" space already under your roof

Look around... perhaps you have an "extra" room right under your own roof. Here are three ways you can add a room by simple remodeling.

CONVERT A BREEZEWAY

Your breezeway may be nice... but, perhaps that space could be put to better use as a bedroom, a utility room, or a study. It's already roofed and may take no more than two simple walls to make it a room for year around use.

CONVERT A PORCH

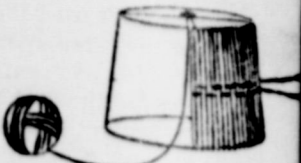

Enclosing a porch is often the most economical way to add a room to a house that is getting crowded. A fixed picture window and out-swinging casements will make it attractive for use winter and summer without sacrificing light or ventilation.

CONVERT YOUR GARAGE

If your garage is attached to your house, perhaps it's time to think about using it as another room. Here's a lot of valuable space already under roof and easily accessible. Costs for remodeling, even if you add a carport for the car, can be surprisingly low.

Sally Says:

If you have small children, you can save many a trip to the day care by putting a second screen door handle down where they can reach it.

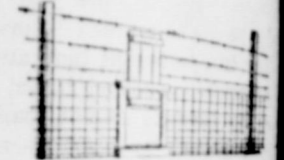

You can make a beautiful lamp shade from your old egg by removing the old covering and winding the wire frame with white cotton rag yarn. A color note can be added by weaving one or more strips of colored yarn around the shade.

If you have trouble pushing the curtain rod back into freshly starched or heavily worn curtains, try putting a small glass marble in the bent part ahead of the rod. The marble will roll through and prevent the rod from catching in the fabric.

Johnny Says:

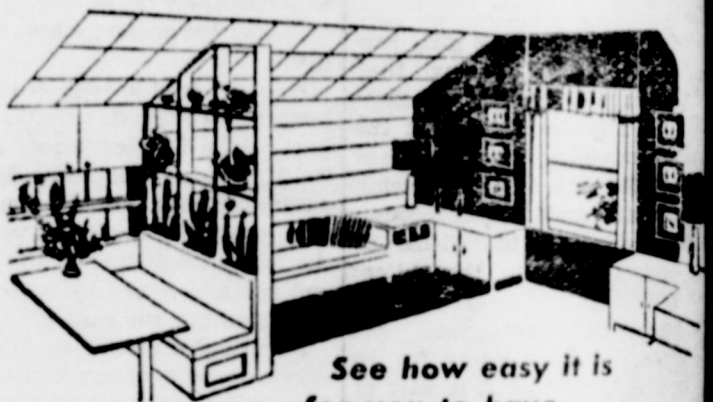

Here's an idea for an easy to build, foot-curler for sleep or long at one spot where you need to let them through a woven wire fence.

Make a frame with 2x4 sides with 1x4's nailed to both sides in front. These form slots in which the door can slide. Nail frame into place fastening each horizontal wire to frame behind you cut out opening. Window door slides easily up and down, needs no fastening.

REMODELING THAT "PAYS FOR ITSELF"

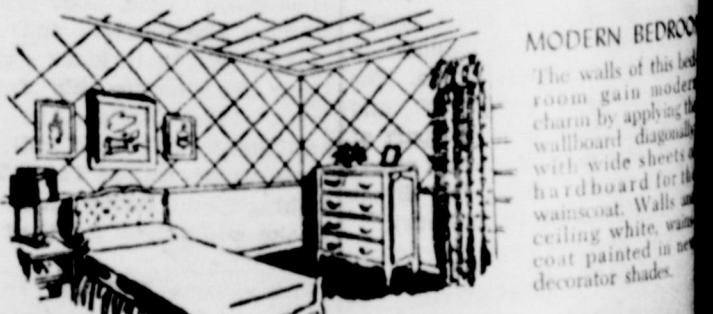

Many thrifty home-owners are finding that they can pay for needed remodeling by renting waste space that has been converted into a cozy, modern apartment. Perhaps you have just such space in your attic. Your lumber dealer will help you plan an efficient arrangement, show you how you can finance it so that your rent will make all, or most of the payments.

See how easy it is for you to have

NEW ROOMS FROM OLD

If your living room is too stiff and uncomfortable for today's relaxed living, if the children want modern rooms of their own, or if it's just that the whole inside of the house is getting shabby from wear... take heart, because there are new materials that will give you new, modern, livable rooms at amazingly low cost.

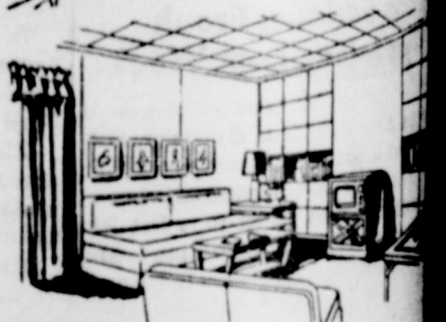

MODERN BEDROOM

The walls of this bedroom gain a modern charm by applying the wallboard diagonally with wide sheets of hard board for the wainscot. Walls and ceiling white, wainscot painted in decorator shades.

ALL PURPOSE ROOM

This livable all-purpose room illustrates how easy it is to use the pattern arrangements of wallboard to gain unusual effects... economically. It is easy to apply the units in different pattern arrangements.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Easy Makes His "Cat" Tread Lightly

Driving home on Three Ponds Road yesterday, I was flagged down by Easy Roberts' boy Skeeter. "Take it slow," he advised. "Dad's crossing this road with our tractor, just beyond the bend."

Around the curve I saw why Skeeter stopped me. Easy had laid two rows of old truck tires across the road, and was driving his new "Cat" tractor over them!

"More trouble this way," Easy explains, "but it does keep those tank tracks from tearing up the asphalt when I have to cross over to our other fields. After all, the roads belong to all of us—and I guess I'd get mad if someone else chewed them up."

From where I sit, Easy is my kind of citizen. He doesn't just give democracy lip service. He honestly believes it's his duty to consider the other fellow's interests. Whether it's the right to use the public highways or the right to enjoy an occasional glass of beer, Easy's out to protect his neighbor's "right of way."

LOOKING AHEAD
by GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Nearly every edition of every daily and weekly newspaper in the nation has several news dispatches on its front page reporting on activities or issues that involve the economic welfare of every citizen. Yet economics is a subject on which few people are well informed. In other words, a great deal is happening and a great many things are being proposed in our nation today, affecting our welfare and mine, on which only a comparatively few people feel really qualified to pass judgement.

This is a dangerous situation. It could permit drastic fundamental changes to be made in the American way of life and severe injury to our living standard. An awareness of this situation has led me to continually expand the Harding College National Education Program to get widest distribution of economic education materials. In the past 10 years general knowledge on what makes the American system tick has been vastly improved but ignorance of the simple basic facts of economics still extends to millions of Americans and constitutes a critical situation.

The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation last year commissioned the Brookings Institution of Washington to make a study of what's being done in our schools and elsewhere to improve the populations understanding of economics. After 10 months of work, Dr. H. G. Milton, Brookings president, and W. McKee, chairman of the Department of Economics of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., have just recently made their report to the Sloan Foundation. It begins by defining "economic education" as "helping people to gain understanding of the forces and factors that produce higher standards of living."

Here are some major Brookings findings of vital interest to every American.

1. Only a very small percentage of our high school students get a real grasp of the economic factors and forces that are responsible for higher standards of living. Scarcely 10 per cent take the equivalent of a semester course in economics.

2. Five out of six most widely-used high school textbooks devote some space to a description of the principal features of the capitalistic, socialistic and communistic systems. None of them, however, attempts a real appraisal of the merits of the several types of economic systems.

3. The most widely used single textbook was written by an author "who is clearly sympathetic with the regulatory trends of recent times in the U. S. — though he points out that too much government control may stifle business initiative."

4. The professional preparation of the economics teachers seems incredibly low. Indeed, a great majority of the schoolmen interviewed said that it was virtually impossible to get a person well trained in economics.

5. Only one out of every four college students completes one or more economics courses.

6. None of the textbooks most widely-used in American colleges gives a strong exposition of the virtues of free private enterprise. Instead most of them emphasize the shortcomings of private enterprise without stressing the good points. Some, while admitting the significant contributions of private enterprise in the past, question whether it can bring equally fruitful results in the future.

7. It is clear that the organized educational institutions have not adequately met the educational requirements for intelligent citizenship.

8. To fill the vacuum left by our schools (in the field of economic education) a growing number of private organizations have been experimenting with ways of doing the job themselves.

A number of these experiments have been ill-conceived and ineffective. Some have been outstanding.

These Brookings Institution findings present two pressing challenges to American education in this crisis: (1) To develop teaching staffs which will give our youth an intelligent appreciation of the American system and a love for the country. (2) To inform the public of the incomparable advantages of the American system and what makes it tick. These are responsibilities which are inherent.

I believe, in any American educational institution. If well done they will block the progress of the fifth column in America.

water from the Columbia River in the Pacific Northwest to California.

This may seem like a magnificent concept to those who aren't yet familiar with the real intentions of the powers-that-be in the Bureau and the Department of the Interior. But the fact is that this scheme, if ever put into effect, would be one of the surest ways to finally and completely destroy the rights of the states, to break down local control over local resources, to subject agriculture, and all other enterprise to the mercies of power-hungry bureaucrats, and to extend the deadly disease of socialism throughout the country.

Whoever controls water, controls any region's destiny. The political planners, naturally, would tie in their water scheme with flood control, irrigation, navigation — and last, but certainly not least, socialized electricity. In all truth, there is a good reason to believe that the last goal is paramount. The valley authorities, existing, and proposed, the Federal generating and transmission systems, the constant political attacks on the business-managed, heavily taxed light and power industry — all add up to the fact that there is a concerted, well-planned campaign solidly underway to destroy free enterprise in the electrical field, and to replace it with a socialized, tax-supported monopoly based on the British model.

In an editorial on the "ladder of rivers" idea, the Salem, Oregon, Capital Journal said, "The fact that the Federal debt of the nation is now over $257,000,000,000 does not in the least phase our bureaucrats who given leeway would direct our rivers into the ocean of debt, inflation and national bankruptcy, leading to the serfdom or a totalitarian state." That is a strong statement, but all the available evidence supports it. Today the electric industry is the prime target of the socialists — and if their campaign succeeds, other free enterprise will be destroyed in turn. The grandiose "ladder of rivers" proposal is just one of a master plan to create an all-clad political dictatorship here at home.

What are the Dollar Signs Saying?

MAYBE you've noticed that dollars don't seem to talk as loud as they used to in a lot of places.

But you ought to hear what they say about this Buick.

They say—here's the big thrill—big mileage—big power of a valve-in-head Fireball Engine—eight-cylinder performance at the price you'll pay for most sixes.

They say—here are size and room and comfort that are hard to match at anywhere near the price tag this Buick SPECIAL is wearing.

They say—here are such things as an oil filter, air cleaner, vacuum booster, built-in summer ventilation—not as "extras" but yours at no extra charge.

They say that "smart buy's Buick"—by a wide measure.

But a smart buyer will also let this dashing darling speak for itself.

He'll take the wheel and feel how it snugs to the road on turns—holds its course on the highway with big-car assurance.

He'll touch off the power of its Fireball Engine and get firsthand the lift of its nimble response.

And he'll find out how coil springs on every wheel level out what he thought were bumpy roads.

Want to know more? How about coming in first thing tomorrow?

with BETTER LIGHT for home study

Brighter light makes a brighter student. The right light for home study makes concentration easier... prevents eyestrain, fatigue and poor grades.

For easier, less tiring home work, the lamp on your child's study table should be 25 inches high and 15 inches from bottom of shade to desk top. It should be equipped with a wide, light-lined shade and a diffusing bowl that conceals the bulb and prevents glare. The bulb should be an inside frosted 150-watt bulb or a 50-100-150-watt three light bulb (turned to 150 watts when used for study). The lamp should be placed immediately to the left of the work papers or books and 12 to 18 inches from the front edge of the desk or table.

Let us help you select the right lamp and bulb if your present equipment does not meet the above specifications. See us about it today. Better light means better grades!

Law Limits Gun Confiscation By Game Wardens

Austin, Sept. 12 — The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission has reminded game wardens that guns of game law violators cannot be held indefinitely in all cases.

Here are the recent instructions on this subject.

"Any gun lawfully seized by the game warden may be held and used as evidence in the trial of the person arrested. If, pending trial, the prosecuting authorities decide it will be unnecessary to introduce the gun in evidence at the trial, the arresting officer of the prosecuting attorney should, on his own initiative, or upon demand of the owner, return the gun to the owner as soon as it is determined that the gun is no longer needed as evidence.

"If the gun is introduced in evidence, it cannot be returned to the owner pending final disposition of the case without a court order permitting its return. A case on appeal has not been finally disposed of.

"After the case has been finally disposed of, the better practice is to obtain the court's permission for return of the gun which has been introduced in evidence. Permission may be obtained either by the prosecuting authorities, including the game warden, or by the owner.

"In those cases where the gun is introduced in evidence, it remains in the custody and control of the court pending appeal. If the gun is held as evidence, but merely as an incident of an arrest, no court order is necessary to authorize its return to the owner. However, the gun should be returned as soon as necessity for retaining it no longer exists. For instance, if the gun was seized and is being held to prevent escape, as soon as the arrested person is released under bond or otherwise, the gun should be returned."

The Director of Law Enforcement pointed out that getting guns returned might not mean much to violators since abuse of the game code brings automatic suspension of hunting privileges.

Best way to get a move on

ASK any GMC owner about hauling performance.

For when it comes to packing home a pay load — he's got a lot of solid experience.

He knows what the right kind of horsepower can do for trucking profits. Whether he powers his load with a gasoline pickup model — or requires one of the sensational new GM-Diesel "Million-Milers" — he's right in the driver's seat for performance unexcelled by any other carrier in its class.

But he's not just "riding an engine." He'll tell you the way his GMC shoulders the load, year after year, is proof of perfect teamwork of axle, chassis and frame — truck-engineered to outlast anything on the roads today.

Want to profit by the same long-time benefits of GMC's truck-building experience? Let us recommend the right combination of hauling performance to fit your particular needs. For GMC's are made in the widest variety of engine-chassis-axle combinations, from 1/2 to 20 tons.
