LISTEN TO LUKE

Cool weather and a very good one last Sunday morning made more smiles than a carnival. The weather has just gone through — we hope — an exceptionally hot summer and the change in temperature was welcomed to this part of the country. It goes without saying that the precipitation was more than welcomed. The rains did not cover the county completely but there was a good part of the county that received some where near a half inch up to an inch in some areas. Speaking of cooling off, there are times — especially after Mr. Truman has made what is sometimes referred to as a speech — that this column has to get off and explode to himself until a cooling-off period comes over him. One instance happened this week when a group of postmasters listened to him tell them how newspapers and magazines had been "simplified" on postage rates for long.

It is amusing to hear or read of these tirades and to note the display of ignorance or the total disregard for the truth that is usually expressed throughout the discourse. Mr. Truman was trying to justify the recent increase in mail and third-class mail rates. It is reported to have said that a 60 per cent increase in mailing rates for magazines and 30 per cent increase for newspapers would make them "pay their own way" through the mails. Mr. Truman stood true to form in his statement when he failed to tell the whole story of the deficit in the management of the postal service. It is a long story but it could have been told in its true light.

No mention was made of the fact that the post office department was operating in competition with the printing industry on an absolute subsidy plan. He failed to recognize the fact that none of the recommendations for increasing the service or for cutting non-essential spending in the department could have lowered the deficit. The post office department has been for many years one of the most loosely managed departments in the entire governmental setup. Yet in his zeal to curb the expense of the nation he knew of one way to hit hard and that has been the administration's policy in all matters — that is to raise the price.

If the intelligent readers of the nation's newspapers will see the noted excerpts of the President's speech to the postmasters it will be a surprise to many that such sensational statements could emanate from one who holds the mostalted office in the United States. The President of the United States draws a huge salary and an immense expense account and not

Rats Blamed As Vectors Of 6 Disease

Austin, Sept. 20 — Because of the economic losses they cause to industry and commerce and the annoyance they create in homes, rats have been considered a serious menace to mankind since long before their role as vectors of disease was understood. Today at least six diseases which are transmitted to man from the rat are known to medical science, according to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. These diseases include the dread plague, typhus, trichinosis, a form of jaundice, tapeworm and food poisoning. The whole history of the role rats play in the transmission of disease remains as yet unknown.

"It is necessary to public health that a continuous rat control program be maintained in every urban and rural area throughout Texas. This is of especial importance on farms where rats may flourish by feeding on grain and other farm products," Dr. Cox said.

The doctor pointed out that rats, like other living things, require food and shelter if they are to propagate and increase in number. Destroying their shelter and breeding places includes the employing of ratproof design in the buildings, the use of ratproof materials in construction, and providing for periodic inspection of the buildings to insure permanent safety. This program will force the rat out into the open where its destruction may be accomplished.

Of equal importance as a control measure is the elimination of all food supplies. This consists of storing all foods in ratproof buildings or in ratproof containers, the storage of disposal of garbage, and careful feeding of stock to prevent waste feed from being picked up by the rats.

By observing these control measures, the community will benefit not only in the eradication of a nuisance and economic menace but in improved health conditions and the prevention of rat-borne diseases.

Texas Crusade Asks Texans' Support In Communism Fight

Texans are being asked this month to show their hatred of Communism by supporting the Crusade for Freedom.

Lieut. Gen. Preston A. Westmoreland, chairman of Texas Crusade activities, expressed hope of "exceeding assigned goals in the drive to subdue the Communist forces seeking our destruction."

Texas has been asked by National Crusade Chairman Lucias D. Clay, to obtain 862,500 persons to sign pledges to "combat Communism" and $120,000 in contributions to maintain Radio Free Europe.

Radio Free Europe is a network of radio stations placed along the borders of Soviet controlled countries to spike Red lies, name Bolshevik collaborators and quislings, and expose plots hatched by the Kremlin and send words of truth and hope to millions trapped behind the Iron Curtain.

"The Crusade for Freedom" is doing the United States a timely and critically important service by refuting Communist lies all over the world," General Weathered said.

Texas Jaycees have adopted the Crusade as a statewide Americanism program and 137 chapters are carrying on Crusade drives all over the state.

The freedom drive is scheduled to run through September.

Eagles Lose Opener To Alpine, 26-6; Play Marfa There This Friday Night

The Alpine Bucks paced the Sanderson Eagles in their game here Friday night by a score early in the first quarter and followed up with a score in each of the subsequent periods to win by 26-6. Their win in the game was because of their successful pass attack as the Eagles showed the Bucks up in yardage gained on scrimmage plays and came close on first downs.

Following the first TD by the Bucks, Sanderson received on the west end of the field. Jack Talbot, Eagle right halfback, took off on about his own 5-yard line and selected the shortest distance between two points to race the length of the field to give the opponents a beautiful view of his heels and sidestepping. This was the only score for the Eagles and the attempted conversion of the extra point failed.

Sanderson had trouble early in the game with fumbles which were costly. The first fumble which was on the opening kickoff on their 28-yard line, set up the first Buck touchdown. Alpine made four futile attempts to carry the ball over after making a first down, with first and goal to go. Sanderson punted out, but got a bad break and a bad punt which put the ball out of bounds across the gridiron on the 9-yard line. Robinson carried the ball over for the first Buck TD. The second Alpine tally, in the second period, was by Hernandez, who caught a 15-yard pass and went the rest of the way by himself. The third Buck score, in the third period, was on a short pass from Smith to Richardson. Their fourth period tally was on a short pass from Smith to Davis.

Sanderson made a total of 243 yards running with the ball and lost 7 yards in running plays. The Eagles made 9 first downs, completed 7 out of 18 passes for a total of 44 yards and received 30 yards in penalties.

Alpine made 11 first downs, 129 yards running, completed 8 out of 11 passes for a total of 167 yards, lost 25 yards in running plays and received 15 yards in penalties.

The Sanderson defense against line plays was enough to cause the Bucks to take to the air in an attempt to get over the heads of the Eagles, as they were unable to go around, through or run over the Sanderson boys. The scrimmage line of defense brought in most of the Alpine plays, and permitted few of them to go into the secondary defense for the backs to stop.

Eagles who saw service against the Bucks were: Tommy Mansfield, Juan Olivares, Rosendo Silvas, Willie Wolfe, Roman Zepeda, Jack Talbot, Glenn Chandler, Jimmy Harrison, Charles Stegall, Galor Cobos, Ruben Esqueda, James Clark, Roberto Arredondo, Jack Savage, Nicky Hahn, Bob Wilkinson, David Mitchell, Joe Nessmith.

This Friday night the Eagles will go to Marfa to meet the Shorthorns in another non-conference game. Marfa has been elevated to class A status and the Eagles are expected to meet plenty of competition in this game.

FOOTBALL FILMS SHOWN TO LOCAL CIVIC CLUB FANS

The Sanderson Rotary and Lions Clubs will have the privilege of enjoying movie films of the Sanderson Eagles football games this year. The local clubs have been shown the Sanderson-Iraan scrimmage games and the first game of the Eagles this year against the Alpine Bucks.

C. C. Mitchell is taking the pictures of the local team with a 16-m. m. camera and the films are being processed and returned to Sanderson in time to show to the Rotary Club on the following Wednesday and to the Lions Club at their meeting on Thursday. The school has purchased a projector which can be reversed to show the spectators any plays they wish to see again.

The lighting as the Eagle Field is not sufficient to show minute details of the running plays, but are plain enough to afford a manner of constructive criticism from the coaches, C. W. Snowden and Norman Rath, when they are reviewing their game by film.

Contributions are being solicited from the members of the two civic clubs to help defray the cost of the film which is being purchased by the school.

Coach Snowden stated that thus far the films have been very helpful to the team and have afforded entertainment for some of the fans of the community.

Mrs. James Wallen of Del Rio visited here for several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Mary J. Wolfe, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Rusk and David made a business trip to Marfa Saturday.

The owners of the Dollar Steamship Line have discovered that borrowing money from the U. S. Government is often helpful but sometimes can be dangerous, too. Getting in debt to the government has cost them one of the most basic of human rights — the right to their own property. As collateral on a loan from the government they put up the stock and physical assets of their company. Now the principal and interest on their loan has been paid, but the government bureau refuses to return their stock and their steamships.

Upon being informed of what a Federal government bureau has done to the Dollar Line owners, almost any American would exclaim "Oh no! They can't get away with that in our country." But the sobering fact is — they have! The "Dollar Line Case" should be clearly understood by every American. An issue, according to some of the nation's best legal minds, is the question of whether a bureau of the Federal government shall be beyond the reach of the constitutional law when it seeks to override basic rights of the citizens.

The U. S. Secretary of Commerce and his bureau of the Maritime Commission, have been ordered by the U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington, second highest court in the land, to return the Dollar Line stock and property to the owners. Secretary Sawyer and the Commission have not obeyed the order issued last January. So unrelenting has been their defiance of the high court order that, in a unanimous decision the same court has assessed civil contempt judgments against Commerce Secretary Sawyer and eight other U. S. officials.

But through one of the most amazing series of legalistic blockades on record, they have escaped jail, have refused to sign over the stock as ordered, and they are in possession of the $68,000,000 ship line. It is not my intention to pass judgment on the conflicting claim of the Dollar Line owners and the Maritime Commission bureau. This nation's second-highest court has done that, finding the claims of the owners to be true and correct — even the U. S. Supreme Court has twice refused to intervene in carrying out of the judgement.

Here are the bare facts: In 1938 the Dollar Line owed the Maritime Commission $7,500,000, borrowed to build some of its big fleet of passenger liners. The company accused the Commission of withholding the normal mail subsidies due it and otherwise attempting to bankrupt the line and gain control through receivership. In order to forestall the bankruptcy they felt was being pressed upon them, the owners were obliged to put up 91 per cent of the line's stock as collateral and agree to the Maritime bureau taking over the control and operation of the company.

This was in August 1938. A short time later the nation's war broke out and the defense effort began. The steamship line, a tremendous asset to our nation at war, operated profitably and within five years the $7,500,000 indebtedness has been paid in full. The Dollar family asked for the return of their stock and property. The Maritime bureau refused. It said it would keep the company and the stock. The Dollar family took recourse of the law and went to the courts six years ago. The final determination was the Court of Appeals' unanimous decision last January ordering the Maritime bureau to return the stock and property to the Dollar family, and the U. S. Supreme Court's refusal twice, to halt this judgement.

One of the most stunning aspects of the case was an order from President Harry Truman, without precedent, actually directing the Secretary to defy the court's judgement. When Mr. Sawyer obeyed this directive and defied the court, he was in civil contempt and the court said: "Considered upon the plan of high policy and principle, we have the spectacle of a government which proclaims its adherence to the law as a governing force among men, not only refusing for six years to submit to its own courts — but endeavoring by every device to thwart and defeat the judgement of these courts after it has been rendered . . ."

In the American freedom system, the laws and the courts that administer them are the citizen's one great protection of his rights. If they can be defied and thwarted by a powerful individual or government bureau, or in any manner, freedom cannot exist. Powerful, well-entrenched government bureaucracy is a constant danger. Will we control it, or will it control us? That is the grave question of this day.

one dime of it is taken for income taxes. He writes letters — even abusive letters — without so much as paying a three-cent postage. We wonder who is "riding free" on the government.

It would be revealing to some people if they would take time out to read one page of the current Reader's Digest which contains a compilation of figures taken from Congressional records — true fact — entitled "One Out of Nine." The Reader's Digest is one of the many "slick" magazines mentioned by Mr. Truman which will now be paying 60 per cent more postage than they were.

The above was not written to place the blame for the rate raise on the President — Congress did that — but Congress did not make the flimsy explanation that came from the talk to the postmasters. Our Congressmen went at this task of bringing the post office department out of the red by starting at the rear end instead of getting at the base of the deficit. Any department store head can tell you that you can't kill your overhead by simply raising the prices. If congress had called in engineers and accountants to assist them in finding where increased services and where loopholes could be plugged and waste eliminated there could have been a solution that would have been in keeping with good business.

Our Congressmen must wake up to the realization that all of the ills of the government cannot be cured simply by legislating a raise in taxes or rates.

Did You Talk Him Out Of It? —

Austin, Sept. 17 (Spl) — Remember that last Highway Patrolman who stopped you for a traffic violation and warned you but didn't write you a ticket because you "talked him out of it?" Well, don't be so sure that you got off scott free!

W. J. Elliott, chief of the Texas Highway Patrol, announced today in Austin that every time one of his men stops a motorist and lets him off with a warning the officer makes out a warning ticket which contains the operator's name and address, his driver's license number, the vehicle type and registration, the date location and nature of the violation. The motorist doesn't get a copy of this ticket, Chief Elliott says, but a copy of it is forwarded to the headquarters of the Texas Department of Public Safety where it becomes a part of his permanent driving record.

And, here's the hitch — too many of these warnings, just like too many arrests or traffic accidents will bring the motorist up on the carpet to see whether his driving privileges should be revoked.

"Safe, sane and courteous driving that comes through observance of the traffic laws is the way to avoid this unpleasantness," says the chief.
