SANDERSON, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1952

NUMBER 47

LISTEN TO LUKE

Last week this column had a shadow of tragedy hanging overhead as the lines were written. A definite planned subject for discussion was, to our feeble mind, thoroughly thrashed out and ready to be put into words when this certain of sorrow overshadowed my thoughts and last-minute column ideas were substituted. This week again...

Someday this column may get around to write words that can cause people to think of the causes of these tragedies. If readers could only heed the warnings of a better judgment there would be need for editorial comment. One of the duties of a newspaper is to print the news as such — not another duty, and just as printing, is to try to prevent happenings that make unpleasant news.

This column would go to any reasonable end to give praise where praise is due and place the blame where we think the blame should be — not to be smart, but to apply to be honest with ourselves and with our readers. Gossip can do a world of harm. As newspaper folk we try to get facts and, of course, have access to ways of getting facts that some people can't have or don't go to the trouble to get them. There are those, many of them, who will beat stories on the streets, as it were, when in reality they have no knowledge whatever of the facts. Eye witnesses' sometimes are tireless wrong and their "eyewitness" stories make for many misleading thoughts.

In the tragedy of the week here there is no doubt but that many misleading stories have been and will be circulated, and community harm will be the result. If there is one thing more needed another it is for us to connect our remarks to facts that are known to be facts.

There has been much written about Senator McCarthy and his accusation that there were between 100 and 200 un-American operatives in the State Department. So far, Senator Joe has been able to prove too much of his case. Regardless of the complexity of your politics, you will be impelled to agree that the Republicans applauded the Senator while the Democrats howled. It is possible that politics had some bearing on his failure to prove his accusations.

As time goes by, however, the Senator looks better in his accusations even though his methods at times were crude and his language ran wild.

The fact remains, according to United Press, the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board reports 351 persons have been fired from government employment on security or loyalty grounds. Either a lot of innocent people have been fired or Senator Joe was correct. Draw your own conclusions.

The people of West Texas should get busy and write to your Senators and Congressmen in protest of the President's requests concerning the use of wetback labor. It isn't necessary here to quote the requests for most everyone is familiar with them. When the administrative branch of our government is given powers that go over and above our Constitution and Bill of Rights the country will suffer a severe setback and will be another step nearer the totalitarian state.

Carpetbagging tactics will not be tolerated. If the Congress goes along with the President in these requests allowing immigration officers the right to make search and seizure in your homes and on your lands without former notice or without a court warrant there can be nothing but trouble in the end. There will probably be some officers attempt that in some homes and will be carried out feel first. We don't want that to happen in the United States but it will if that unlimited power contrary to the constitutional rights of free citizens is encouraged.

Some of the imported cheese we've seen lately smells like it was deported.

Several Changes Scheduled In Local Schools' Faculty

Several changes in the faculty personnel are being made in the Sanderson schools at mid-term. Bruce Spencer has been employed to teach the sixth grade, filling the place vacated by Miss Lula Belle Daniel who resigned at the end of the fourth month of school.

Mr. Spencer has had much business experience as well as experiences in other fields of employment. This is his first position as a public school teacher. He has had some experience as a college teacher, according to Supt. Matt Bader. He will coach the pee wee basketball team in addition to teaching the sixth grade. His home is in Bangs, Texas, and he holds a BS degree from Daniel Baker College at Brownwood.

Mrs. W. A. Davis, who is well known in Sanderson and taught here two years ago, has been employed to teach the fifth grade left vacant by the resignation of William Maybee in October. Mrs. Davis will assume her duties at mid-term. Mrs. Ted Baker has been substituting in the fifth grade for the past six weeks.

R. M. Turner, vocational agriculture teacher, will resign as soon as another man can be employed to take his place in the system. Turner accepted a traveling job and will take on his new duties in the near future. Mr. Turner has been in the system for the past year and a half and inaugurated the vocational agriculture program in the local schools.

A resignation has been received from Mrs. H. A. Finger, effective at mid-term. Mrs. Finger has been teaching the third grade and has been in the system for the past two and a half years. No replacement has been secured for Mrs. Finger at this time.

Supt. Matt Bader Attends Mid-Winter Austin Conference

Matt F. Bader, superintendent of the Terrell County schools, has just returned from Austin where he attended the annual mid-winter conference of Texas school administrators which was called by the Texas Education Agency.

Many school problems were discussed during the three days of meetings and workshops were held for nine of the major problems up for consideration. Much time was spent on such problems as new proposals for the certification of teachers, transportation and the operation of school buses, various school reports that are made throughout the year, new standards for the accreditation of schools, the place for vocational education in the school program, the economic index, the role of administrator in improving teaching of reading, how field audits are being carried on and the use of special service personnel in the schools.

Mr. Bader reported the conference as being highly successful and very informative. Much was also accomplished by the group of administrators in the way of shaping up certain school policies on the state level.

Rev. Jose Salas Moved to Ft. Stockton

Rev. and Mrs. Jose Salas and family left last week for Fort Stockton to reside. He will assume the pastorate of the Mexican Methodist Church in that city after serving the local church for two and a half years.

John C. White First State Candidate To Enter Political Race

JOHN C. WHITE

Austin, Jan. 7 — John C. White of Wichita Falls today became the first official candidate in the 1952 political arena.

In compliance with all requirements of the new election code in effect this year, White handed his filing fee to State Democratic Chairman J. E. Wheat of Woodville.

He also filed affidavits of loyalty.

In announcing his candidacy for a second term as Commissioner of Agriculture, White pointed out that during the 12 months he has held office these achievements have been made:

1. The department has been reorganized so as to provide more inspections and service than the office has ever previously rendered, and on less money.
2. A staff of trained and experienced personnel has been acquired on the basis of qualifications, and not political connections.
3. A market news service for poultry, fruit, and vegetables has been established, with the result of stabilizing prices and bringing many buyers into the state for Texas products.
4. Texas farmers were saved millions of dollars by the issuance of a correct estimate of the cotton crop as early as last August, when farmers were advised to hold their cotton.
5. Proper quarantines and controls were established and revised for protection against crop diseases and insect damage.

White commented that the Texas Department of Agriculture is the only agency serving farmers and ranchers that is directly responsible to the people.

"It is an elective office, a Texas-owned institution, deriving its regulatory powers from the Texas Legislature and it is not controlled by or responsible to Washington and its bureaus," the Commissioner said.

He added that "the Texas Department must continue to be the leader in a new era of agriculture, giving the greatest services with the least cost to producers and consumers."

"The duties of the department," White said, "are to enforce the regulatory laws relating to agriculture, including: checking all scales and weighing devices, protecting farmers against damage to crops from insects, plant diseases, making guaranteed analysis of insect poisons, making seed certifications and analysis providing marketing assistance and inspection, and grading of fruits and vegetables."

White grew up on a farm in Clay County, worked his way through Texas Technological College, and graduated with a degree in agriculture. Later he taught at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls.

"The commissioner is married and has two children."

POLL TAXES ARE PAYABLE THIS MONTH ONLY

January marks the last month for the payment of poll taxes in Texas, January 31 being the dead line for the payment in order to be eligible for balloting in any and all elections during the current year.

January also marks the last month when property taxes may be paid without penalty and interest which becomes effective on all unpaid taxes on February 1. Discounts were allowed only on taxes paid during October, November and December.

Poll tax payments are lagging with only 339 taxes paid and only twenty days left in which to obtain the necessary requisite for voting in any election in Texas this year.

Exemptions for those becoming twenty-one years of age this year and entitled to a free vote are available by obtaining a certificate during January.

Registration Rules For 18-Year-Olds Of County Listed

Boys who reach the age of 18, required to register with the nearest draft board, can register in Sanderson with F. M. Weigand.

The nearest draft board is local Board No. 14, Alpine, which has jurisdiction over Brewster, Jeff Davis, Presidio and Terrell Counties.

Mr. Weigand's services as registrar enables Terrell County boys to register in their own county without having to go to the expense and trouble of travel to Alpine.

A local board is maintained for the four-county area because one board can take care of it under present circumstances and thus help keep down the cost of government.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service Director, said today that "people should appreciate the service Mr. Weigand is rendering the people of Terrell County. He does this job as a patriotic duty to his country."

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

Maximum penalties that can be applied for failure to register is $10,000 fine or five years in prison, or both.

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE LAGGING

The net proceeds from the annual March of Dimes drive in Terrell County is $9,000.00, according to W. W. Sudduth, county chairman. He added that it was yet a little early to expect too much response from the public in the annual plea for funds, but he stated that he was expecting the public to respond generously to the drive without the letter reminders, which is an added expense to the local chapter. Jars for distribution over the business section of Sanderson and Dryden are expected daily and will be put out as soon as they come in.

Sudduth stated that he would appreciate the quick response of the public to the drive and if any of the county citizens had their contributions ready to be sent in he would appreciate them being mailed to him at Sanderson.

In going into the details of the need for a successful drive Sudduth stated:

"The high polio incidence in the nation for the past four years all March of Dimes funds being spent on the patient-care requirements of the boys and girls, men and women who have fallen victim to the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America.

"The work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that has been neglected because of this tremendous expenditure for patient care in the work of research. Patient care has always come first with the foundation and will always continue to do so. The thing to do, it maintains, is to eliminate the need for patient care by protecting man from ever getting polio at all.

March of Dimes has attacked the problem on a wide front. The fields of chemistry, biology, pathology, bacteriology, virology and others have been enlisted in this most massive peoples' attack on a single disease ever launched by a voluntary health agency.

It is encouraging to know that March of Dimes funds make it possible for scientists to say they are now more optimistic than ever in predicting the conquest of polio within the foreseeable future.

Day's Coffee Sales At Best Cafe Go To March of Dimes

Proceeds from coffee sales for the entire day Thursday, January 17, will be contributed to the March of Dimes Drive by the Best Cafe, according to L. H. Lemons, proprietor.

This has been the custom of the business for the past several years. Mr. Lemons stated. The Red Cross and other worthwhile movements have been aided by this method, he said.

Many patrons put extra change in the pot as well as fix the price they pay for the coffee they drink.

Other cafes of the town have also followed this system and usually they each select a different day in order not to interfere with the amount raised by a competitor.

County Prisoner Shot To Death In Attempted Attack On Sheriff

Carlton Eugene Stelter, about 25, was shot and killed here last Monday night about 9:00 by Terrell County Sheriff J. S. Nance. The sheriff was in the act of transferring the man to the jail cell on the third floor of the courthouse from the lock-up on the first floor when the shooting occurred. The man had been found guilty in county court Monday of aggravated assault and resisting arrest and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

Stelter, upon being arrested Sunday night at a dance, was charged with assault when he struck Sheriff Nance and resisted arrest but was taken to jail by the sheriff and Ranger Captain Gully Cowsert. After the conviction in the county court the sheriff was attempting to put the man in the main cells upstairs when he was allegedly attacked by the prisoner with a knife. The blade of the knife punctured the lapel of Sheriff Nance's jacket and ripped through the pocket over the left breast when he fired two shots from his pistol into the body of the prisoner.

Justice of the Peace E. E. Litton held the inquest after the shooting.

Stelter had come to Sanderson from Hot Springs, Ark., and had married a local girl on December 15. Following his arrest Sunday night he told officers that he had just completed serving nine months of a year-and-a-day sentence in the Federal Penitentiary in El Reno, Oklahoma, for an assault on a federal officer. He also told officers he had been discharged from the armed forces as undesirable.

He is survived by his young widow of less than a month and his father, E. Stelter, of Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Telephone Service Questions Answered By Area Maanger

P. M. Miller, joint manager of the Del Rio and Winter Garden Telephone Co.'s Alpine, Marathon and Sanderson units, was in Sanderson Wednesday of this week on a routine check of installations, repair and maintenance on the local board and answered several questions regarding maintenance and repairs to inform the users of the phone service here of his company's vigilance in maintaining satisfactory service to the area subscribers.

Miller stated that his office would handle all repair and maintenance service, regardless of how slight. He reported that the proper procedure for subscribers to follow if they had a complaint of any nature was as follows:

Mrs. Rose Finlay, local chief operator and cashier, was in charge of the functions of the local phone office, both in a financial and service way and all complaints should be reported to her by the subscriber. If the complaint is beyond her scope of responsibility and of a technical nature, the report will be forwarded to Miller who will devise every means possible, he said, to satisfy the subscriber's service needs.

Miller added that he would appreciate the cooperation of the phone subscribers and asked them to understand that his office was busy with the maintenance and repairs for the boards of all three towns in his district and that it might not be possible in every instance to attend to any trouble immediately. He added that several new operators had been hired in the local office and that every effort was being made to train the operators to perform their duties efficiently.

'Ranchers' Answers Found at Sul Ross', Magazine States

How Sul Ross State College at Alpine, located in the heart of the wide open spaces, is finding the ranching answers is described in the forthcoming January issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine. "All the questions out there date from the soil — or lack of it," states the article entitled 'Sul Ross Range Recovery Program.' "Out there, the folks may look in any direction and see nature's scars from misuse — from overgrazing, from erosion. "No region provides a more vivid example of the wrongs of the past. No region provides a more sensitive attitude toward its current challenge."

The magazine goes on to describe the fervency of W. E. (Bill) Williams, director of the division of vocations at Sul Ross, as he outlined the college approach, with the punch line: "We teach them about grasses." He then explained: "If our generation can comprehend the reason and the range depletion, it will have no difficulty understanding the needs. Therefore, our approach is fundamental." Originally through its Range Animal Husbandry department, Sul Ross undertook a distinctive service to the Big Bend country. Now, it combines the study of range plants and range management with the production, management and marketing of livestock, with full recognition to the conservation of all natural resources as a vital part of the combined study.

Thus Sul Ross moves ahead in its own geographical empire and in its own distinctive, forceful way.

From where I sit... by Joe Marshall
It's Slim's For An "Honest" Meal
Most people thought Slim Benson would probably go broke when he first started his system of letting customers figure out their own checks over at his big diner on the highway.
Slim trusts them to pay for as much as they eat—you simply tell Sally, his cashier, the amount of your bill. It works, too. Take the other day when Buck Harris told Sally his bill was 35¢.
Now I was right there with Buck and I knew all he had was coffee and pie which comes to a quarter. "How come thirty-five cents?" I asked Buck. "Had an extra cup of java the other day, Joe and forgot all about it—'til now he says.
From where I sit, most people are basically honest—and the goes for their opinions, too, even though they may be different than our own. I like a glass of beer with my dinner; you may prefer something else... but we all ought to be allowed to "figure it out" on selves.

Work of Odessa Social Security Office In Odessa Told

After 15 years' operation, old-age and survivors insurance is paying about $85,000 in monthly benefits to 2200 persons in the 18 county area serviced by the Odessa social security office.

Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa social security office, noting that the Federal insurance program commenced operations on January 1, 1937, described it today as a "national institution, reaching more people in this community than any other organized program for family security."

From its comparatively modest beginning in 1937, the system has developed in a decade and a half into the largest single insurance operation the world has ever known. In 1940, the first year in which monthly benefits were paid, total benefit payments for the year were approximately 35 million dollars; for the fifteenth year, ending December 31, 1951, total benefit payments were $1,900 million dollars, paid to nearly four and one-half million people.

The greatest increase in benefits occurred in the program fifteenth year. This, as Calvert points out, is due to several factors, and by the large number of people made eligible for benefits under liberalized qualifying requirements. Increases in benefit payment rates to retired workers range from 50 per cent to 100 per cent. For example, the minimum payment of $10 has doubled. The maximum payable to a retired worker in August 1950 was $46.50, this was raised to $68.50.

"Nearly everyone in this country has a stake in this contributory insurance system," says Calvert. Three out of every four persons gainfully employed or self-employed are engaged in work covered by the law. Sixty-two million people are now insured under the program, which is now providing life insurance protection to three out of every four of the nation's mothers and children.

"Eighty-five million people now living have made tax contributions to old-age and survivors insurance," says Calvert. "It is to employees, their employers, and to people who work for themselves that the Social Security Administration directs this report."

"Two main rules should be followed in cancer treatment. First, have an annual physical examination by a reputable physician. In this way incipient cancerous conditions can be discovered and by proper treatment the disease can be conquered. The second rule is to mistrust high promising statements of 'amazing new discoveries'."

Early Treatment Necessary In Cancer Cure

Austin, Jan. 8 — "While the span of human life has been lengthened 10 years during the last four decades, the disturbing fact remains that there has been a marked rise in death from cancer during the same period", declared Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, and urged that the public be on the alert to detect this disease.

"Cancer is not a hopeless, incurable disease. It is not contagious or in itself hereditary. There are thousands of men and women in this country who have been successfully treated for cancer. The great hope of cancer patients lies in their having treatment during the first stages of the disease. Cancer announces itself by symptoms that are frequently painless and apparently trivial, thus giving the disease an unseemly advantage. Early diagnosis is the one powerful antagonist.

"The danger signals can be classified as follows: Any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth; any unusual discharge or bleeding from any part of the body, such as vomiting of blood, passage of blood from the bowels, or un-

One note of caution about that pretty lingerie you got for Christmas! Be very careful not to wash the white nylon with colored items. White nylon is terribly susceptible to color and will pick up the slightest amount of dye.

Need a new lamp shade? It's wise to see it lighted before you buy. Then you can check to see it's thick enough to prevent the shape of the bulb from showing through. If the shade is colored, be sure it has an opaque white lining so that the light isn't tinted by the color of the shade.

These simple flavor tricks are worth knowing about. Mix vitaminized margarine with chopped green olives and spread on broiled hamburger steaks. Divine! Top cooked green beans with a mixture of margarine and finely chopped onion. The whole family will love 'em! Saute croissants in margarine with a clove of garlic till lightly brown and toss with green salads or soups for a gourmet touch.

Most everybody loves mashed potatoes but if you don't vary the flavor you're missing something special. For example add chopped onion or parsley or pimiento or grated cheese singly or in combination. For a completely different and delicious treat stir real mayonnaise, milk, grated lemon rind and salt in mashed potatoes and beat till light and fluffy.

Place citrus fruit in hot water a few minutes before peeling and marvel at how easily the outside and under skins will come off. It will be easier to separate into segments, too.

Well, Christmas is over. Nothing but the bills linger on — unless it's a few spots here and there on the table linen and on the living room table. Alas about now a colorful new hat is good for the 'go and if the budget can't see it — freshen up an old one with a pretty veil, a fresh feather or attractive flowers.

SPACE HEATERS

Because of their low cost, space heaters are most used to heat small homes in our mild climate. Improvements in design and construction have made them increasingly efficient. Below are listed some of the most popular types:

FIREPLACE
The fireplace and old-fashioned stove are the best known space heaters. Special air-chambers and warm air registers increase fireplace efficiency.

OIL OR WOOD HEATERS
Modern oil-burning stoves are a new streamlined in design and increasingly efficient. Even the old pot-bellied wood stove has been modernized.

RADIANT GAS HEATERS
Gas burning space heaters with radiant refractors are economical and satisfactory with either natural or butane gas.

CIRCULATING GAS HEATERS
Available in many styles and sizes from small single room heaters to large, vented wall heaters. All greatly improved in design and efficiency.

FLOOR FURNACE
One of the most popular of modern space heaters. Made for both gas and oil. Can be thermostatically controlled, and most types require no basement.

Sally says:

If your baby has reached the active age where there's danger of his tipping over his high chair, just put a large screen door hook in the back of the chair and a matching screw-eye in the wood-work of each room where you use the chair. Fasten the hook and the chair can't be tipped over.

If you dip bacon in cold water before placing it in the skillet, it will not curl when you fry it.

After cleaning fish, try washing your hands with hot water and salt. To remove onion odor from your hands use an unpeeled raw potato as you would a piece of soap and wash them in cold running water.

You can keep wool gloves and other small woollen articles safe from moths by storing them (clean) in glass jars with alpha lida.

Johnny says:

When you've finished painting and still have paint left in the can, paint a line on the outside at the level of the paint. Then, next time, you can tell at a glance how much and what color paint is in the can without having to open it.

A scrap of rough carpet tacked to a block of wood makes a fine "brush" for painting screen wire. Just dip carpet in paint and rub across the wire; it covers well and won't spatter.

When a light bulb has broken off in the socket it is sometimes difficult to remove without getting a nasty cut. The easy way is to push a cork against the metal socket and unscrew it.

Trim that old whisk broom almost to a point and you'll find that it is wonderful for getting dust and dirt out of hard-to-clean corners.

HEATING Your Home for MORE COMFORT

NEW, more efficient, and more compact heating equipment is now available. Gone are the days when your heating system alternately cooks and chills you. But, even with the most modern heating equipment, a truly comfortable home should be planned not only for efficient heating but also for efficient cooling. For a home that is to be comfortable the year 'round you should consider:

5 PRINCIPAL METHODS OF HOME HEATING

- 1. SPACE HEATERS
Available in wide range of types and sizes. Low in cost; suitable for mild climates.
- 2. WARM AIR HEATING
Available in both gravity and forced air types. Hot air furnace with ducts is best example. Basement required.
- 3. HOT-WATER HEATING
Also available in both gravity and forced circulation types. Water is more expensive, but no basement is required.
- 4. STEAM OR VAPOR HEATING
One or two pipe systems available. Latter, again, is more expensive but offers more even heating. Basement required.
- 5. RADIANT PANEL HEATING
The newest of systems consists of coils embedded in floors, walls, or ceilings. Requires careful designing.

CLIMATE
Climate is the first consideration in planning both heating and cooling. Are the winters severe or mild? How cold and how hot does it actually get?

TYPE OF HOUSE
The size and shape of your house has a lot to do with the type of heating system you need. Long, rambling houses demand one type, houses without basements another, compact and two-story houses still others.

ORIENTATION
Houses should be planned so that they are shielded from the brunt of winter weather. Main rooms will be easier to heat if they face south. Halls and less used rooms should be placed on the colder side and have fewer and smaller window openings.

CONSTRUCTION
How satisfactory and how expensive heating equipment will be to operate depends a great deal on how "tight" your home is; on whether or not walls, roof, and openings "leak heat."

INSULATION
By adequately insulating your house, you will save enough in fuel bills to pay for the installation, and your home will be more comfortable all year.
