NUMBER 12

VOLUME XLV

LISTEN TO LUKE

This column had a let-down feeling the other day when we got a letter from a subscriber who was renewing his subscription to the Times. In the letter the subscriber said that we had let the Times down or words to that effect. Well, we appreciate those letters and it makes us think that we should get on the ball and do a better job.

There are times when we, like others, slip in our handling of the paper we have to do. When we are reminded of it we will endeavor to get back and go beyond what is expected of us. Yes, we thank the reader who reads our paper and reminds us of our failures.

Then we got another letter this week from a reader who was also renewing his subscription and he wrote encouraging words about the appreciation of this column's efforts to bring some of the facts before the public in a way that is facing to light. All that adds up to the undisputed fact that what pleases one does not always please another. The alternative, therefore, is to try to be sensitive enough to do our duty as a representative of the readers of this paper and endeavor to present facts and find fault where there is fault, praise where due and do all of this in a spirit of helpfulness.

Political views of this column are not intended in any sense to denigrate readers with our philosophy of government. We make no attempt or effort to change any readers' mind in partisan beliefs, there are so many good Democrats and so many good Republicans that it would be the height of folly for us to attempt to criticize them on that ground. Our criticism is always intended to be against any and all corruption in government of either party and at any level of government. Anything that is contrary to the best interests of the country will be strongly opposed by this column and it will be done without fear or without favor. There is not a man in any political office who can put his decisions above the laws of the land and the constitutional limitations.

The Senate committee investigating the fitness of Judge James McGranery for the office of Attorney General, after his evasive answers, was pushed into the corner and questioned for a yes or no answer to questions about the right of the President to use military powers in stepping outside of the law before he has the power given him by statutory enactment, finally answered, "No man would have the right to step outside the law."

There are limitations to the power of any and all public officials. It would not be America if there were to supercede the constitution were granted or assumed by public official.

Democrats of Texas have lined up strongly behind Governor Shivers in insisting on an uninstructed delegation to the national convention. If the national convention refuses to seat such a delegation it will be disregarding the wish of the majority and cannot expect the cooperation of that majority in accepting anything that a minority group would try to force down our throats. When a majority says what the people think they should have it and, in opinion, the majority of the people will get what they are after in this little fracas is over.

Bids Advertised For Highway Work On 90 East of Dryden

The bid calls for a complete reconstruction of the highway in a manner to put it in the same condition as the highway immediately east of Sanderson.

MANY AWARDS MADE TO FLOWER GROWERS AT SIXTH ANNUAL SHOW HERE

The garden at the home of Mrs. James Kerr was a perfect setting Saturday afternoon for the Sanderson Garden Club's sixth annual flower show. Specimen classes were displayed on the long front porch. Grass, trees and numerous beds of blooming flowers added enchantment to the display of arrangements and patio tables grouped about the yard.

Some damage was done to flowers by the hail last week, but, as usual, flower lovers were surprised at the large number of specimens and arrangements entered in the show. True artistry and imagination were noted in many of the arrangements, making the work of the judges difficult.

Punch and cookies were served during the hours of the exhibit from three to five-thirty. An arrangement of mixed blossoms in pastel shades formed the centerpiece on the table covered with a linen and lace cloth and placed under the shade of a large tree.

The judges, Mesdames H. H. Matthews, D. J. Sibley, Jr., and Frank Warren, were from the Fort Stockton Garden Club.

Mrs. J. W. Pate entertained the visitors with a luncheon at her home at noon Saturday.

The awards of the judges were:

The X-rays will be made free of charge by the mobile unit furnished by the tuberculosis division of the State Health Department in Austin. It will require only a few minutes to make the X-ray and it will not be necessary for anyone to undress to have the X-ray made.

The location of the X-ray unit and the time of the survey will be announced next week. Mrs. H. A. Smith is general chairman of the plans for the survey.

LIBERALS CONTROL TERRELL COUNTY DEMOCRATIC SESSIONS HELD THIS WEEK

Democrats of Terrell County have expressed themselves on the side of the liberals which are led by Governor Shivers in an attempt to control the state convention at San Antonio.

In precinct convention last Saturday afternoon there were 24 qualified voters present and resolutions expressing the desire of voters present to return to the honorable principles of the party as advocated by Jefferson were passed unanimously. A resolution urging the delegation to the state convention to insist on the adoption of the unit rule in both state and national conventions was also passed.

REV. JIM ZASPEL

Rev. Jim Zaspel will direct the music and bring special music on different instruments in the revival services at the Baptist Church to begin May 26. Rev. Zaspel is a graduate of the North Western Bible Training Schools. "He is well qualified to direct the music and to delight the hearts of those who hear him bring his musical and vocal solos," stated Rev. Claude Bridges, pastor.

Rev. and Mrs. Zaspel will arrive in Sanderson on May 21st and will be here through the entire time of the revival. Rev. Bridges urges all who will be interested in singing in the choir to be present for the first night on Wednesday, May 21, at 7:30 o'clock.

Eagle Nine Downs Wink 9-0 Here Saturday Afternoon

The Sanderson Eagles baseball team romped over the Wink Wildcats to the tune of 9-0 here Saturday afternoon in their 7-inning fray and Juan Olivares, Eagle hurler, lost a no-hitter on a scratch hit in the last inning.

The Eagles accounted for themselves in a commendable manner both in the field and at the plate.

All of the ball teams of the district have lost one game which puts competition on a very keen level. The defeat of Wink last Saturday followed a defeat by Fort Stockton who had lost to the Wink club the week previously. Marathon has lost a game and Alpine was defeated by Wink. Pecos lost their game with Sanderson.

The Marathon baseball team forfeited the game that was to have been played Thursday afternoon, putting the Eagles up a notch in the district standing with 2 wins and one loss.

Three of the district teams will be tied for first place following this week's games.

FREEMAN WELL SHUT DOWN FOR REPAIRS

Some repairs that were necessary for safety measures on drilling equipment at the Freeman well on the Roy Barksdale ranch near Dryden are being made, necessitating the closing down of drilling operations for two or three weeks.

Mr. Freeman stated Friday that the well was down over 8,000 feet and he was still very optimistic about the prospects of oil at the location.

In the county convention held at the courthouse Tuesday night W. W. Sudduth, county Democratic chairman, was named as delegate to the state convention. Greene Cooke was named as alternate delegate and they were instructed in accordance with the wishes of those present at the precinct meeting.

Governor Allan Shivers expressed his pleasure that the state-wide conventions on the precinct level had made their wishes to rid the party of corruption and fraud and wanted to "keep control of the party out of the hands of those who would weaken and destroy it."

Uninstructed delegates were requested in almost every precinct in Texas and that is interpreted as a victory over the "Loyalists" who are led by Fagan Dickson, a pro-Truman advocate.

For Marfa Lara allowed 5 hits, struck out 1, walked 2, and that team made 3 errors. Villareal was the catcher.

The V. F. W. will meet the Pecos Indians here Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and all local fans are urged to come out and witness the ball game. The young lads who comprise this year's team are making a good showing of their ability and promise their very best against the opposition.

THE BABE RUTH OF PROGRESS

A machinist out of work would be surprised to come across a classified advertisement in his local paper saying: "Wanted - Machinists. Bring your own lathe. Can start work immediately. Good wages. We prefer men who have extra lathes. Employment Office, Ajam, Mfg. Co." No matter how badly he needed work the average machinist couldn't take one of these jobs because the lathe in a modern machine shop cost from $10,000 to $100,000 and he has neither the lathe nor the thousands of dollars necessary to buy one.

Fortunately the workers in American industry do not have to supply the machine tools with which they work. But someone has to supply them. Here's an ad that would shock a steel worker looking for a job: "Wanted - Experienced open hearth man who can furnish his own open hearth furnace. Good pay. Steady work. Furnace must be in good condition. Phone 9-8765." One of the blast furnaces in today's modern steel mills costs about $12,000,000. No steel mill worker could buy one, of course. But someone has to provide them before the $15 to $30-a-day jobs are available in the steel mills.

Investors with enough surplus money to invest in corporation stocks are almost as important to a man working in an American industry as are a sound pair of hands or two good eyes. Corporation profits are equally important to the working man; they serve his welfare and his family's, they work for him like a second pair of hands.

The stockholders provide a big share of the capital with which to buy machine tools with which to construct the plant itself, with which to buy the raw materials and market the finished products. The other share of the operating capital comes from profits made by the company. U. S. Department of Commerce figures show that 58 cents out of every dollar of profit made by all American businesses last year went not to the owners of the industry, the stockholders, but to replace worn out machinery and other equipment, to expand the production through building new facilities, and for surplus or safety funds to tide the industries over any rough spots - and keep the employees on the job.

It requires an average of $10,800 in invested capital to provide each man or woman in American industry with a job. The average savings of an American is $1,120 - counting his bank savings, government bonds, etc. Thus, in effect, it takes the life savings of nine Americans to furnish the tools of one industrial job. Only a few thousand dollars invested in machinery and equipment makes a job in some industries, but in some, like petroleum, chemicals, and railroads - the necessary investment ranges on upwards, $20,000 or $30,000 or $40,000 per job. One million young men and women enter the nation's work force each year. At $10.80 each, that's more than 10-billion needed for industrial expansion each year. It must come from profits and stock sales.

Here's another sample - to make a railroad man roar: "Wanted - Railroad locomotive engineer. Good working conditions. We will furnish tracks. You bring your own locomotive. Good opportunity for man with modern equipment. Apply in person - AB&C R. R. Co." What engineer could buy a locomotive! Yet somebody must.

In our American business system, capital and labor and management are a team. Each is an indispensable part of industrial production. All three have a common interest in continuous production, in healthy profits, in attractive dividends, in the kind of economic freedom that gives an industrial ownership and management the opportunity to make decisions based on the best business judgment. In the long run the entire productive capacity of American industry stands or falls on the business soundness of the decisions made in its operations.

The American business system could not long withstand political management or control. Political controls upset the natural laws of commerce, and nine times out of ten government decisions involving the operations of business and industry are made on the basis of what's good politics, not on sound business judgment. Thus, today, with mounting Federal bureaucratic control in business and industry, the capital structure that has made possible such magnificent tools for American workers is endangered. Everybody's welfare is at stake, for as American industry goes so goes the nation. It is the Babe Ruth of American progress.

NEW PRESIDENT OF SANDERSON P-TA

Following the invocation by John W. Byrd, Mrs. F. T. Bader, program leader, presented Duke and Lynne Baker in piano solos.

Supt. Matt Bader gave an interesting summary of the year's work using for his subject, "How Do We Do?" He mentioned the evaluation as being one of the main events of the school year and also listed purchase of library books, the establishment of a central library in the elementary school and the hiring of a full-time librarian, the purchase of a projector and films, the intercollegiate events. Attention was called to the fact that while the enrollment was lower this year, with a smaller number of scholars entering school, the attendance was much better. Among several improvements planned for next year is the remodeling of the elementary school building or a new building.

The annual reports of the treasurer and historian were read.

Mrs. J. W. McKee installed the new officers to include Mrs. J. F. Tronson, president; Mrs. E. E. Kerr, vice president; Mrs. Herbert Brown, second vice president; Mrs. J. Miss Betty Ann Peavy and her fiancé, Thurman White of Winters, were honored with a supper Saturday night at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Stumberg with Mrs. C. G. Riggins and Mrs. Winnie Magill as co-hostesses.

The guests assembled at six o'clock and enjoyed informal visiting on the spacious lawn until they were invited into the dining room which was decorated in the bride-elect's chosen colors of gold and white.

Apple blossoms and white candles were on the larger table where the honored guests were seated. Calendulas and gold candles formed the centerpiece on the other tables.

Following the supper, a tea cart laden with gifts wrapped in the chosen colors was rolled in and presented to Mr. White. The spice shower provided many hilarious moments for the guests.

Dancing and card games were enjoyed until a late hour.

The guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Carle, Rodney Cathey, Norman Rath, C. W. Snowden, Elmo Searey, Aubrey Harrell, Temple Stumberg, H. L. Surratt, S. D. Harrison, Johnny Woodward, Campbell Kerr, Lee Petrosky and Homer Hill; Marshall Cooke, Edward Kerr, Miss Betty Jo Kerr, Miss Melva Gifford and Miss Betty Peavy; B. Christian of Winters and Thurman White.

It makes each drop of gas say uncle

ACCORDING to combustion experts, there's as much energy locked in a drop of gasoline as there is in a drop of nitroglycerine.

But the problem is to put that energy to work.

So Buick engineers aren't content just to mix that drop with air and touch it off. They've designed an engine that brings it catapulting into a cylinder head where it strikes a turbo-top piston—gets whipped into a churning, swirling ball of tight-packed energy.

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

It happens in a Buick Fireball 8 Engine today. It's a high-compression engine. It's a valve-in-head engine. But it's also a Fireball in performance as well as name.

And it puts extra power under the hood—and extra miles in the fuel back in the gas tank.

Now, power is great, but what goes with it?

Mister, that's something you ought to find out—and soon.

What goes with it is an automobile as sweet-handling, eager and willing as anything that ever made your pulse leap to a faster beat.

It's a car that seems to know what you want it to do—true and sure in its course on a straightaway—beautifully balanced on curves.

It's a car with Dynaflo Drive* to feed power with infinite smoothness—and a road-hugging levelness of ride that took a million in cold cash to perfect.

And it is, with all this, a very tidy bargain. Why not price it, drive it, know it for yourself? We'll be glad to arrange a demonstration.

As a Matter of Fact...

Out of all the newspaper and magazine columns I read, the ones I enjoy most are those that pack in a whole lot of facts—unrelated facts, but each one an interesting bit of information in itself.

These columns go something like this: "Did you know that humpback whales are addicted to smoking? That bees have been bred with red, brown, and buff-colored eyes?"

"Did you know that lead can be converted to gold—at a cost of $1,000,000 an ounce? That a 150-pound fat girl went on a diet and lost 401 pounds in 12 months? That a chrysanthemum has been developed that smells like a violet?"

From where I sit, maybe I'm a kind of "Johnny-one-note." My own columns always seem to revolve around one idea—a plan for us to make sure we respect the other fellow's rights—like the right to vote for your own choice or the right to enjoy a glass of beer now and then. I may not be in style, but I believe my one fact is worth repeating—and remembering!

 A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Proper Records Guard Spouse' Own Property

Texasans are generally aware that we have what is known as the "community property" system in this state, but many do not understand the significance and implications of this fact.

Most of the property acquired by a husband and wife, or either of them, during their marriage, belongs to them jointly and is referred to as "community property." In fact, the law presumes that all property acquired during the marriage is community unless the contrary is clearly proved.

Not included in this category is property owned by either husband or wife before marriage by gift or inheritance. Such items are regarded rather as the separate property of the individual spouse.

When the husband and wife divide their community property so that each will thereafter own one-half of it as his or her own separate property, the passage of a recent court, without amendment, such action, was not permitted by our laws. Now, existing community property may be so divided under certain circumstances.

However, an agreement by the husband and wife that future earnings or income will be separate property is invalid.

In contrast, it has always been possible to convert separate property to community property. This usually does not intentionally when separate property is sold or exchanged, and the parties fail to indicate clearly that the purchase money or the new property is to be the separate property of either the husband or wife.

Very often the money received from a sale of separate property is deposited in the bank account of the husband and wife, leaving or "non-marking" such separate funds with the community funds. This ordinarily results in the entire amount becoming community property through the inability of husband or wife to trace the separate funds at a later date.

The distinction between separate and community property is important for many reasons, and married persons owning separate property should normally exercise care to prevent its being commingled with the community estate. Lawyers say that separate bank accounts and proper records will help keep matters straight.

Failure to use proper safeguards can result in an alteration of the legal order of descent at the death of a person leaving no will, since the community property passes in one way and separate property in another. Or, one of the parties may lose his right to will what was once separate property to whomever he chooses.

Other consequences include the possibility that the separate property of one spouse may become subject to the debts of the community or of the other spouse. Or, if a divorce should occur, one of the parties may lose part of the separate estate during the division of the couple's various properties.
