LISTEN TO LUKE

The Fourth of July is a day for Americans. The day should cause every American to pause and consider the freedoms we enjoy because of that great Declaration of Independence which created for us those freedoms we enjoy. Our people are a free people today because of the brave and daring pioneers of freedom. This great year of decisions should be a challenge to every American if we are to perpetuate the freedom which this nation has enjoyed since 1776. This nation is now threatened from beyond our borders by Communism; but, more serious than this, is the threat to our freedom that comes from within our borders, within our minds, within our actions. This is no idle statement. Men of wisdom throughout our land are constantly warning us of this terrible threat.

Our Congressmen and officeholders of all levels have, in many cases, assumed an attitude of indifference to the wishes of the people and to the welfare of the nation. Too often public servants forget that they are the servants of the public. Too often they are guilty of thinking, or acting: "You elected me to this office, and I am going to conduct my duties in any manner I see fit. If you don't like it you can try and elect someone else, but for two years, or four, I'm doing things my way." The great fear within our minds is our failure to realize this, and the great fear from within our actions is our failure to do something about it.

Recently letters were distributed locally with an explanation of the man's idea concerning a bill before Congress seeking certain exemptions of deductions for expense on income tax returns, on the part of Congressmen. Income taxes should be uniform, in that persons of similar incomes could be authorized certain exemptions and deductions and taxed proportionally. There is no sense of equity for a man who pays $10,000 a year to be authorized exemptions not allowed a man earning $3,000 a year, especially if the $10,000 a year man is authorized these exemptions or deductions just because he happens to fall under the category of "Congressman." There is no reason for a man to claim away from his expenses in a $30-a-day home and $10-a-day meals just because he happens to be of a special group.

Because of certain circumstances a Congressman may be forced to maintain two homes. Because certain circumstances a Congressman may be forced to spend money for travel expense. We never have seen a Congressman forced to be a Congressman. If the work is too hard, expenses are too high, pay is too times too hard for a Congressman to live the type of life he would like to be able to afford has the opportunity every two years to not beg and plead to the public to send him to Washington so that he can do his job for his country. Most Congressmen were doing something when they went to legislating. Most of them either chopped on or sold newspapers at one or another, according to their campaign literature; and although

Price Daniel Takes Time Out To Save Revenue For State

Austin, July 2 — Attorney General Price Daniel this week interrupted his campaign for the U. S. Senate to carry on his fight to save the state's new gas tax revenues for building for rural roads and improving public schools.

This gas tax, which was sponsored by county judges, Texas Farm Bureau, and other farm and ranch groups, is being upheld in the courts by Attorney General Daniel against attacks made by some major gas companies.

As a member of the Legislature from rural counties in Southeast Texas, and as Speaker of the House in the 48th Legislature, Daniel has consistently fought for Texas farmers and ranchers in related programs.

Daniel is noted for his leadership of the Texas fight to prevent seizure of our tidelands. He favors an "immediate house-cleaning of dishonesty and disloyalty" in our capital, opposes big spending, extravaganzas and waste and wants taxes lowered at "the earliest possible moment."

J. D. Kelly Dies In Llano Wednesday

Funeral services will be held in San Antonio Saturday morning for J. D. Kelly who died Wednesday afternoon in the home of a daughter in Llano.

Mr. Kelly had a stroke six weeks ago and had shown little improvement, being hospitalized in Burnet for several weeks.

He is the father of Marvin Kelly and well known in Sanderson.

Sgt. Jimmie Harris returned home Wednesday from El Paso where he had been in a government hospital for several weeks for medical treatment.

We never found either occupation too lucrative, people are still existing who have not been able to afford to run for Congress. But they are not living in expensive hotels, eating expensive meals, entertaining the silk-stocking crowd and the like.

Times are hard for most of us who are in sympathy with the tax-burdened legislators, but we feel like if they have to stay in this old, creaky, leaky boat, they will start bailing or repairing quicker than they would if, by standing on the shoulders of their fellow passengers, they could keep their feet dry.

July Fourth is a day of independence, so we are going to be so in our thoughts and actions even when we are so dependent upon one another for our independence.

AMERICA ON ITS KNEES . . .

... not beaten there by the hammer and sickle, but freely, intelligently, responsibly, confidently, powerfully — — —

OUR FATHER IN HEAVEN:

We pray that you save us from ourselves.

The world that You have made for us, to live in peace, we have made into an armed camp. We live in fear of war to come.

We are afraid of "the terror that flies by night and the arrow that flies by day, the pestilence that walks in darkness and the destruction that wastes at noon-day."

We have turned from You to go our selfish way. We have broken Your commandments and denied Your truth. We have left Your altars to serve the false gods of money and pleasure and power.

Forgive us and help us.

Now, darkness gathers around us and we are confused in all our counsels. Losing faith in You, we lose faith in ourselves.

Inspire us with wisdom, all of us of every color, race, creed, to use our wealth, our strength to help our brother instead of destroying him.

Help us to do Your will as it is done in heaven and to be worthy of Your promise of peace on earth. Find us with new faith, new strength and new courage, that we may win the battle for peace.

Be swift to save us, dear God, before the darkness falls.

Shivers Hits The Road On Campaign Tour

Austin, July 1 — Allan Shivers took off his formal governor's coat this week to hit the hot July Texas campaign trails for 15 days of intensive travel before he leaves for the national Democratic Convention the week of July 20.

Shivers' jammed-packed campaign tour will take him over much of Texas — from small communities like Dime Box in Lee County to metropolitan communities of Houston and San Antonio.

His tour will start on July 4 following a busy week at the national governors' conference at Houston, where Shivers participated with 46 other governors in mapping out programs for continued improvements in state hospitals and schools, betterment of prison systems, highways, farm-to-market roads and educational systems.

Shivers, who has always spent much of his time visiting with the people and listening to their ideas for the betterment of state government, will hit the general areas of Stamford, Abilene, El Paso, Texarkana, Paris, Tyler, Waco, Corsicana, Mexia, Hillsboro, Temple, Brownfield, Lubbock, Lamesa, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland, Kermit, San Antonio, Houston, Baytown, Beaumont and Port Arthur from July 4 to July 17.

During the past several weeks the governor has been speaking and working more on precinct meetings than on his own campaign, devoting a great deal of time meeting in various communities with precinct workers who took the lead in May to assure Texas of an unopposed delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

Shivers pointed out in connection with his campaign tour that he has responded to the invitations of the people to visit in their communities during his campaign, as best he could, considering the brevity of the time available.

"I try to know at all times what Texans want, need and think," he emphasized.

Commencement Held Sunday Night For Vacation School

Commencement exercises at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night marked the close of the vacation Bible school conducted jointly by the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches for the past two weeks.

Following the procession, and the opening exercises, like what had been used daily by the pupils of the school, the audience joined in the worship service.

The three superintendents, Mrs. Irvin Robbins, Mrs. E. E. Farley, and Mrs. W. H. Savage, presented their pupils for memory work, songs and Bible readings to portray some of the work they had during the school. Certificates were awarded to 67 pupils.

The children, through their free will offerings, sent gifts of over seventeen dollars to the Presbyterian and to the Methodist Orphan's homes.

Air Conditioner Installed In Local Methodist Church

The air conditioning unit which was recently installed in the First Methodist Church auditorium was used for the first time Sunday and proved to be a welcome addition to the comfort of the worshippers in that church.

The ducts will be opened into Fellowship Hall in the near future for that portion of the building to also receive the benefit of the air-conditioning.

The unit which is of the evaporative type is erected on a steel scaffold on the south end of the church building. The air-conditioning has been installed as a memorial to the late Mrs. Chester Boyd.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas. A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas.

Our Declaration of Independence which was signed 176 years ago, is considered by lawyers as expressing a basic principle of our American way of life...

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charge him with numerous violations of that tenet. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judiciary powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount of payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation..."

"Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles."

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed..."

Some 5 years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.

HEALTH FOR ALL—

TB — A "CATCHING DISEASE"

Whether we refer to tuberculosis as "communicable," or "catching," or "contagious," it all counts about the same thing. The fact is that TB is spread from person to person — it is not inherited, nor does it flare up suddenly without source or cause.

Germ which cause tuberculosis, known as tubercle bacilli, are spread primarily by people. There was a time when a great deal of tuberculosis in this country had its source in infected cows, whose milk infected those who drank it, with TB. Although tuberculosis in cows has not entirely disappeared in the United States, the danger of human infection by contaminated milk has been reduced by two disease-fighting programs: the testing of cattle for tuberculosis and the pasteurization of milk.

Although we have made great strides against TB since the turn of the century, we have no cause to relax our guard against the disease. Tuberculosis kills more people in this country annually than all other infectious diseases combined, and it leads the causes of death from diseases among young people between 15 and 35.

One of the reasons why tuberculosis continues to be a serious public health problem is the fact

Teachers' Assn. Issues Warning To Texas Citizens

Texans must spend more of their state tax dollars on public schools or see their children handicapped by receiving an inferior education.

That blunt warning was issued last week in Austin by Miss Ruth Hillyer, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, who urged Texans to realize the seriousness of the situation.

Heavy annual increased enrollment in elementary and high schools, which is expected to continue at least through 1959-60, plus many antiquated educational plants now in use are the main reasons for the need of more funds.

The increased attendance makes necessary a minimum of 1,000 additional teachers each year. Miss Hillyer said.

That, plus the need to make it more attractive for teachers to keep them from going to better paying positions, makes it important that the next legislature provide additional funds, she added.

Local school districts cannot raise even half of the millions of dollars needed. The increase in the number of scholastic-age children in Texas is increasing by 50,000 annually and it is expected to continue to do so for several years. Of that number, at least 75 per cent will enter the public schools through each year until 1959-60.

"That means that even with teachers having classes of 30 pupils (the ideal proportion is 24 to one teacher), that an average of 4,000 additional teachers, and, of course, that many new classrooms, must be added each year," Miss Hillyer pointed out.

"Too, more adequate pay for teachers to keep them from leaving the profession and to attract new ones is a necessity.

"Texas teachers are 6 per cent below the average of all employed persons in the United States and there is already a heavy exodus of instructors. Retirement, death and the lure of more pay in other professions takes 3,500 annually out of our schools. In addition, we annually need those 1,000 additional teachers."

Texans must soon build more than a half billion dollars worth of class rooms to keep pace with the increasing enrollment, Miss Hillyer stated.

"Unless we do so, huge numbers of our children will be attending school half time, in double shifts. More than 17,500 are doing so this year and that number will triple next year," she added.

Miss Hillyer explains the need for more of the state tax dollar for schools by quoting a recent survey made by the teacher association. It disclosed that even if local districts increased assessed valuations and bonded themselves to the limit that they could raise only $259,383,889. That is less than half enough to provide adequate classrooms, let alone aid in increasing teacher remuneration.

Miss Hillyer also pointed out that schools now cost less than 2 cents more of every tax dollar than they did in 1939-40, the last year before World War II dissipated usual conditions.

Out of each tax dollar, 32.15 cents goes for public education now, whereas 30.31 cents was spent for this purpose in 1939-40.

"When we consider the enormous increase in attendance and the additional teachers required for this increase, the cost of public school education has not kept pace with other governmental costs. Texans realize the value of good education to the individual and to the state. I believe if the people are acquainted with the seriousness of the problem, they will insist that the proper support is provided."

'Rodeo' To Show Here On July 4 & 5

All of the color, pageantry and excitement of a real rodeo are captured in Monogram's action-romance, "Rodeo", which begins Friday at the Princess Theatre.

The picture, starring Jane Nigh, is played against almost entirely the background of a big rodeo layout, touring the southwest. John Archer is cast as one of the top bronc riders and Miss Nigh as a girl drafted by circumstances into being the inexperienced manager of the show.

Much of the picture was filmed on location at the famous Bonelli Ranch near Hollywood, where one of Southern California's most exciting rodeos is held annually.
