LISTEN TO LUKE

We were asked this week to dig up some information on the controversial Tidelands Issue and present it for the information of those who were in doubt as to the real question involved and leave it to them for a decision. Here is our statement:

As a basis for annexation in 1844 the Republic of Texas offered all of its unced lands and minerals to the United States if that nation would assume Texas' $10,000,000 public debt.

This offer, in the form of a treaty, was defeated in the U. S. Senate partially because Texas lands were said to be "worthless." One Senator said, "Let Texas keep her lands and pay her own debts." And that is what was done.

The counterproposal made by the U. S. Congress in 1845 and accepted by the Texas Congress provided: "said State, when admitted to the Union . . . shall also retain all the vacant and unappropriated lands lying within its limits to be applied to the payment of the debts and liabilities of said republic of Texas; and the residue of said lands . . . to be disposed of as said State may direct."

Texas' boundaries, established in 1846 and in existence at the time the annexation, included the lands covered by the shallow waters of the Gulf three leagues from the shore of the same as the rivers, lakes and uplands within its territory. The area is described as "beginning at the mouth of the Sabine river, and running west along the Gulf of Mexico three leagues from land, to the mouth of the Rio Grande . . ." Texas Boundary Act, September 19, 1836.

Texas kept its part of the contract and paid its previous indebtedness, being the only state required to do so. The United States kept its part of the contract and Texas with full possession and enjoyment of these lands for years after annexation.

President John Tyler on December 4, 1844, stated, "We could not honor take the lands without making the full payment of all embraces upon them."

Judge Tom Clark, while Attorney General of the U. S., testified that the day he argued the California case in the Supreme Court, he led to the press a written statement: ". . . Texas had been an independent nation, a republic for ten years before joining the Union. As a republic it owned all of the lands within the boundaries, including the marginal area commonly called tidelands. The area extended into the Gulf of Mexico and was under the sovereignty of Texas during the Republic and was retained by it under the provisions of the Act of Annexation."

President Truman said at Austin, Sept. 20, 1948: "Texas is in a treaty with the United States by itself, it entered the Union by Treaty."

Interior Secretary Harold Ickes said October 14, 1949: "The tidelands of Texas were retained by Texas and have been retained by Texas."

Dr. Ross Maxwell, Park Superintendent, To Resign Nov. 8

DR. ROSS MAXWELL.

Dr. Ross A. Maxwell, Big Bend Park superintendent, has resigned effective November 8. He intends to devote his full time to geological research, finding it impossible to do that while devoting time to the administrative duties of the park.

Maxwell received his bachelor's and master's degrees in geology from the University of Oklahoma and his doctor's from Northwestern University in 1936. He came to Texas that year and began work in the park area, while it was operated as a state park. He became superintendent after the National Park Service took over the park officially July 5, 1944.

During the early 1930s, Maxwell made extensive studies of the park area geology and that of the Del Carmen-Fronteriza Mountain region of Coahuila, Mexico.

During his administration, advances in park facilities included: Sixty-two miles of hard surfaced roads built, increase of camp cottages to a capacity of 100, addition of many pedestrian and bridal paths and building of park headquarters and employees' homes at Panther Junction.

The number of persons visiting the park has grown from a few in the early years to an estimated 10,000 for 1952.

Alpine Boy Wins Top F. F. A. Honors

C. W. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cox of Alpine and Sanderson, has been awarded the highest degree that the national organization of Future Farmers of America can bestow — that of American Farmer.

The degree will be awarded at the National FFA meet in Kansas City October 14.

Young Cox entered Alpine High School in September 1946 at which time he entered Vocational Agriculture and initiated to the degree of the Green Hand by the Alpine chapter. He was elected as sentinel for the Green Hand chapter and served on the recreation, barbecue, chapter camp and father and son banquet committees during the first year.

He also participated with the local Chapter Cooperative activities. His projects that year included broilers, mutton and calf production with a total labor income of $114.14.

He had the same type of projects his second year and earned $193.10. He was raised to the degree of Chapter Farmer and served his chapter as parliamentarian. This year he purchased and mixed feed cooperatively, participating in the Alpine glamour show and constructed sheep panels for the Alpine livestock show.

In 1948-49 C. W. had five head of mutton, five calves for beef and ten capons. Cox lost 23c on his lambs, made $2.30 with the capons and $236.87 from the calves to give him a total of $328.94 for his labor income during that period. He was historian for his local chapter, member of Farm Skill team which won the district and area and participated in the state contests. He was committee chairman on the program of work which won National Chapter contests, on Dairy Judging team that participated at Abilene Christian College, Texas Tech and A&M.

In 1949-50 Cox was a senior in Alpine High School with five cows for his farming project. His labor income that year was $199.51. In the summer of 1950, C. W. left his cows on the ranch and worked in Alaska, continuing his study of agriculture.

Young Cox entered Sul Ross College in September 1950 increasing his ranching operations. He used the money that he had earned from his previous projects and borrowed additional funds to increase his projects to 65 goats for mohair and 22 ewes. This year his labor income was $1,687.80.

In 1951-52 Cox increased his goat production to 87 and added mares for colt production, his ewes remaining at 22 and cows at five. His labor income is unknown for that period.

Eagles Down Rankin, 7-6; To Play Van Horn There Friday

The Sanderson Eagles came through Friday night of last week with a win over the Rankin Red Devils to start their conference games for the 1952 season. Rankin had two conference wins under their belt and were rated as the biggest contenders for the Eagles in the current season.

One of the biggest crowds on record was on hand to witness a very closely contested grid game which furnished thrills up to the last whistle.

During the first period, both of the teams battled up and down the field, none seriously threatening to score, although with the tension what it was, anything was expected by the fans. There was a series of punts and the exchange of possession of the ball when the necessary yardage was short of that needed for a first down.

The second period opened as a continuation of the first, with both teams battling fiercely to bring the ball into range for a score. Sanderson broke into score position finally late in the second period after a pass out to Roman Zepeda by Juan Olivares. Zepeda carried the ball down to scoring position where he went across finally from the 1-yard line for the first tally of the ball game. David Mitchell kicked the extra point.

The first half of the ball game ended with the Red Devils in possession of the ball on the Eagle 4 yard line and trailing by a score of 7-0.

Rankin had piled up more yardage and more first downs than Sanderson had, but penalties had been assessed against Rankin at a time when they were most beneficial to the Eagles, often times furnishing the yardage needed for a first down.

The third period was scoreless with another of the thrilling grid battles being displayed. Determination was the keyword of both teams and both of the lines were operating in excellent condition defensively to hold the opposition to a minimum.

In the fourth quarter Rankin began a sustained drive down the field and wound up with their first touchdown by J. Yochim, quarterback for the Red Devils who ran over from the 4-yard line. The try for the extra point, a pass play, was no good and Rankin still trailed by 7-6. Sanderson lost the ball soon after the kickoff and Rankin went into the air to attempt to overcome the 1 point difference in the score but the final whistle caught up with them before they were able to penetrate deeply into the Sanderson end of the field.

The penetrations ended up with 2 for each team and first downs were 2 each.

This week end the Eagles will meet the Van Horn aggregation with their eyes set on a win to put them in the running for the district championship trophy. Almost all of the minor injuries that had plagued the Eagles in their game with the Red Devils have improved and Sanderson is expected to make a good showing against the Van Horn team. The football fans who possibly can be urged to make the trek to Van Horn and support the Eagles.

Texas Demos Going Strong for 'Ike'

Austin, October 7—Texas Democrats for Eisenhower are enlisting recruits by the thousands, says Claud H. Gilmer of Rocksprings, state chairman of the organization. The movement gathers momentum daily with steady appointment of Senatorial District Chairmen, and the volunteering of workers on the county and precinct level.

State headquarters opened in mid-September after a meeting in Austin of about 60 persons, representing the various senatorial districts of Texas. Gilmer was named chairman of the state-wide Democrats for Eisenhower organization, Tom Sealy, Midland lawyer who called the initial meeting, was elected as vice-chairman as was Miss Nan Proctor of Victoria.

Members of the steering committee are: Sam Aldridge, Farwell; E. C. Aycock, Fort Worth; W. R. Beaumier, Lufkin; H. E. Childs, Jr., Midland; Lester Clark, Breckenridge; Mrs. Charles K. Devall, Kilgore; Charles W. Duke, San Antonio; Charles E. Long, Jr., Dallas; Maston Nixon, Corpus Christi; Emmett Shelton, Austin; and John V. Wheat, Houston.

In accepting the chairmanship, Gilmer said, "I still consider myself a Democrat, but I cherish the conviction that a Republican victory will be good for the Democratic party in the long run. We have got to help take the national leadership of the Democratic party to the woodshed."

Since taking command of the Democrats' grass roots campaign for Eisenhower in Texas, Gilmer has lambasted the Trumanites at numerous organizational meetings in all corners of the big state.

In urging the Democrats to vote for Eisenhower, Gilmer follows the mandate of the State Democratic Convention. It was decided at that convention in Amarillo on September that the names of Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman would be placed on the ballot at the head of the Democratic ticket. But at the same time the delegates called upon Texas Democrats to vote for and support General Eisenhower and his running mate, Richard Nixon.

In opposing another four years of Trumanism, Gilmer and other Democrats for Ike have charged the administration with inexcusable mismanagement of the Korean war, with galloping socialism, and with wholesale corruption in the nation's capital.

Eisenhower gained a multitude of Democratic supporters in Texas with his stand in regard to the tidelands. He favors restoration of the title of the tidelands to the individual states, while Stevenson has indicated that he will follow the President's footsteps by opposing state ownership of Texas' submerged school lands.

Gilmer sums up the situation with this statement: "Texas Democrats for Eisenhower offer a place for Texans who don't wish to be told how they must vote but who, when given a choice between Trumanism and Texas, unhesitatingly choose Texas."

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

"RULES OF THE ROAD" EXPLAINED

With the death-laden Labor Day week end just past and the usual series of football week ends coming up, the thoughts of many Texans are turning toward traffic safety.

To obtain correct and authoritative information about driving is a simple matter. A letter or postcard to the Department of Public Safety, Driver's License Division, Austin, Texas, will bring an official publication, the "Texas Driving Handbook," to anyone who requests it.

Aside from considerations of personal safety, proper driving habits and observance of traffic laws will help prevent financial loss. This is true in spite of the fact that most people now carry liability insurance as a protection under the Texas "Drivers Responsibility Act."

Fault, or liability, is determined by applying the law to the particular facts of an accident. In Texas the law is in several forms—the statutes as enacted by the Legislature, the ordinances of each city and town, and the court decisions in cases similar to the one to be decided.

A negligent or intentional act is necessary in order to impose legal liability for damages. Where both parties to an accident are negligent, the court will very likely say that both are at fault, and that each must pay for his own damages.

Two of the most important legal rules pertaining to accidents are those having to do with "proper look-out" and "proper control." Driving in a lawful manner and complying with all ordinary traffic rules is not always sufficient. In addition, the driver is expected by law to be alert to all that is happening around him.

If an accident should occur and the driver has not been alert—he has failed to keep a proper look-out—he may be charged with "improper look-out" as a traffic violation and also held liable in damages to the other driver. The courts call a "proper look-out" such a look-out as a reasonably prudent driver would have kept under the same circumstances.

Of equal importance is the rule of "proper control." This rule means pretty much what those words imply—that the driver should have his car under such degree of control as to be ready for any emergencies as might arise. It may be broken even though no violation of ordinary traffic laws is involved.

For instance, a driver may be complying with the legal speed limit but still be driving at a rate of speed which is unsafe under the existing circumstances.

Even though legal speed limits are expressed in terms of a certain number of miles per hour, conditions may arise which prevent the driver from maintaining "proper control" of his automobile at that speed. On a rainy day on a slick street or highway, or in heavy traffic, the reasonably prudent driver will know that he should reduce his speed considerably below the legal maximum.

Mrs. W. R. Stumberg returned home Tuesday from San Angelo where she had visited with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Drake, for two days. She returned her grandsons, Whit and Rod, who had spent several weeks here.

RECENT RITES UNITE PAIR

MRS. PAT ADCOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Adcock are at home in San Antonio following their wedding in St. Peter's, Prince of the Apostles Church, in that city on Saturday, September 6. Their wedding trip was to New Orleans.

The bride was Miss Dorothy Jean Jenschke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfons A. Jenschke of that city, and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan A. Adcock also of San Antonio.

Mrs. Adcock has visited here frequently with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Lou Kellar, and with her aunt, Mrs. W. D. O'Bryant, Jr., and family.

She is pictured above in her wedding gown of lace and bridal white satin designed and made by her grandmother. The bodice was of lace with yoke of illusion applied with lace and beaded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The beaded motif was repeated on bands of lace on the bouffant skirt, ankle-length with a long train. The long sleeves tapered to points at the wrist. Her finger-tin veil of illusion was held by a neapiece repeating the beaded design of the yoke.

New Notes in Cooking

- Fresh celery leaves are not exclusively for the soup pot. Mince them fine, add creamed salt codfish or creamed finnan haddock and put into a potato shell. Bake, of course, to reheat and brown lightly.
- Defrost packaged frozen Fordhook lima beans. Toss with chopped chives or fresh green onions, a tablespoon or so of sour cream, seasoning of Ac'cent (pure monosodium glutamate) and salt. Cover and bake in very slow oven until tender. Perfect as a Sunday dinner complement.
- Lamb and vegetable stew getting a bit monotonous? Add canned red kidney beans seasoned with Ac'cent to harmonize with the flavors of meat, onion, carrots and potatoes.
- No reason why meat loaf cannot be handsome. Bake it in a buttered ring mold. Turn out on platter; fill center with the vegetable you planned to serve separately. Surround with cubes of cranberry jelly or parsley. Season meat loaf and vegetables with Ac'cent to assure full flavor.
- Homemade or canned hash becomes Texas Hash when you add a touch of chili powder and more than a touch of onion, green pepper, and chili sauce.

the legal right to its tidelands because it came into the Union voluntarily and as an independent country."

We do not suppose to rank ourselves or our readers in a higher intellectual level than our esteemed justices of the Supreme Court or the head of our government or he who aspires to head the government who has been reported to say that he intends to keep the tidelands issue open for agreement between the federal government and Texas.

In our opinion the question had no business coming up in the first place.

We once heard of another treaty that was spoken of as "a scrap of paper" and we had a scrap over the breaking of that treaty.

Texas, Arizonians, Rhode Islanders, yes, even people from Illinois and Missouri, should recognize right from wrong.

Last Friday night we witnessed a mighty close football game. Sanderson Eagles won by the single conversion point. It looked at times as if there would be a slugging match instead of a ball game.

This column wants to take some space this week to express some personal opinions on the manner in which the Rankin team tried so hard to win. This is not necessarily the opinion of the public of the Sanderson area. It is strictly this column speaking. The boys who played for the Rankin Red Devils are not to blame for the attitude taken. High school boys in Rankin are not different from the high school boys of Sanderson. They are not, inherently, unfair or unsportsmanlike in their conduct.

When the people of a town, the football fans, demand a winning team, then it is the duty of the coach to develop it, by some means or another. They are coached to win the game in any way possible. That isn't what football is for. That defeats the purpose of the game. It is against our principles.

When the day comes in high school football when those tactics which are unsportsmanlike and unbecoming to a gentleman, are to be employed in winning a football game, then it is time to quit playing football.

Sanderson fans heard some of the half-time coaching while the Red Devils were resting on the field. Sanderson fans heard many of the comments of the Rankin fans throughout the game. It left a bad flavor in their minds.

We won the game. Otherwise this criticism would not be written. Just some would think it was an alibi for the loss. Yes, we won the game and we hope the team will find fair play in any game will win in the long run.

We know of no other such team and group of fans in this district and we hope that we do not have such another occurrence this year. We think it very distasteful.

'Miss Wool' Entrants Urged by TS&GRA Ladies' Auxiliary

San Angelo, October 8 — Texas history will be made November 16. This is the date when the first "Miss Wool" will be chosen to reign over the 37th annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas. This organization, representing the more than 20,000 wool producers in the state, together with men whose businesses are affiliated with the wool industry, are sponsoring a State Wool Fashion Show in San Angelo November 10, during the association's annual convention.

To obtain models for this style show, the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce is conducting the contest throughout Texas. It is similar to the one staged for the Maid of Cotton. The girls will be selected from letters of recommendation, photographs and the completed application form.

In order to qualify for the contest a girl must be between the ages of 18 and 25, be unmarried, be at least 5'5" tall, wear a size 12 dress and be a resident of Texas. Eleven finalists will be selected by a New York studio from all applications received. One of these eleven will be "Miss Wool" and the other ten, her pretty maids.

The girl chosen as "Miss Wool" will be given a wardrobe valued at $2,000.00. This wardrobe is being especially designed for "Miss Wool" by 26 leading nationally advertised manufacturers. Besides winning the wardrobe, the girl will represent the nation's largest wool producing state at various functions given in her honor and will have complete newspaper coverage, television and radio broadcasts, and newsreels taken of her activities.

Available now at Chambers of Commerce throughout Texas are entry forms for the first "Miss Wool and Her Ten Pretty Maids" contest. All girls interested can get application blanks through their own Chamber of Commerce or by writing to "Miss Wool and Her Ten Pretty Maids", Box 712, San Angelo, Texas. All entry forms must be post-marked not later than October 16, 1952.
