LISTEN TO LUKE

Last week's paper announced the coming of Santa Claus on Friday, December 19, and while I have my own personal doubts about a lot of the facts concerning this information, I do know certain things, for sure, about the party connected with the alleged arrival of a big, fat, jolly old man who has only to be asked for some particular favor, and it will be done.

That fact is this: — The Lions Club originated the idea in Sanderson and every year have struggled along to try to see that some small child who believes in the actuality of the sainted figure has an opportunity to be thrilled by the sight or touch or word from the old man. This party is for the small children of the community and area to enjoy participation and for the adults of the area to enjoy by seeing the smaller children thrilled.

The jars which the club passes out to businesses to collect money to finance this project are, in some instances, placed behind some big picture or appliance or similar object on a counter or shelf and are seen by patrons of that business. Other businesses would rather that the containers were not left there in the first place. All this is the will of the business owner, and as it should be.

If the business owner or manager is in sympathy with the project, then he does his best to place a container where it will be seen by his patrons and even offers suggestion that his customers patronize the project, if they should desire, which is also as it should be.

The jars have not been patronized this year in a sufficient amount to begin to defray the expenses of the sponsoring club in purchasing some 600 celophane jars, oranges, apples, many

Funeral Services Here Monday For C. H. White, 83

Funeral services were held in the Methodist Church Monday afternoon at four o'clock for Charles Henry White, 83, with Rev. Olaf Hoggard, pastor, officiating. Interment was made in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Mr. White died in an Alice hospital Saturday afternoon following a lengthy illness. With Mrs. White he was taken to Alice five weeks ago to be with his son, Minton White, and family. He was admitted to the hospital for treatment and spent the time in Alice in either a rest home or in the hospital.

Born in Danville, Mo., on July 17, 1869, Mr. White came to Texas at the age of seven with his pioneer doctor father and family in a covered wagon, settling in Bentonville in Atascosa County. He taught school in Bandera in the early days and also served as postmaster.

On March 4, 1900, he was married to Miss Brewie Dollarhite of Lytle and they moved with their family to Sanderson in 1919, coming from Nogales, Arizona, where they had gone because of Mrs. White's health. Mr. White accepted employment with The Kerr Mercantile Co. and remained with the firm until his retirement in 1943.

Besides the widow, he is survived by two sons, Carlton White of Sanderson, Minton White of Alice; two daughters, Mrs. Jeff Pugh of Laredo and Mrs. Bill McElroy of Danville, California; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; a brother, Wood White, of San Antonio.

He was a life-long member of the Methodist Church, joining the church first in Lytle, Texas.

LIFE STORY OF WES HARDIN TO SHOW HERE

"The Lawless Breed" showing at the Princess Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday is the life story of John Wesley Hardin, probably the most colorful of all gunfighters of the early Southwest. The story for the picture is taken from the manuscript written by Hardin himself after he had served his time and became a respectable citizen.

Although he was the deadliest gunslinger in Texas and killed 40 men, allegedly, with his fast draw, he is said to have never shot a man except in self-defense.

The picture is coming to Sanderson as a region premier and offers a colorful and factual story of the life of a very colorful old-West character.

EAGLES LOSE 44-0 IN BI-DISTRICT GAME WITH HERMLEIGH

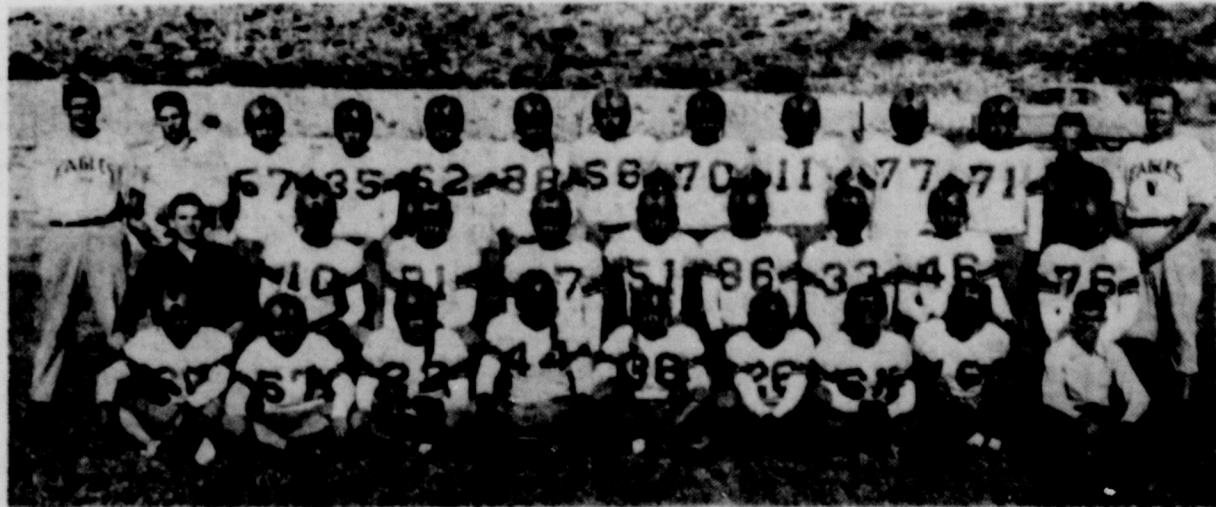

The Sanderson Eagles closed their 1952 season last Friday night in a bi-district game with Hermleigh played in Snyder. The Eagles ended up as district champions in an undefeated conference standing, but bowed to the might and power of the Hermleigh team in the post-season playoff.

The Eagles, under the tutorage of C. W. Snowden and Norman Rath, fought their way through some tough opposition in both conference and non-conference games and came out of the season with losses only to non-conference teams.

In the game last Friday night the Eagles were not able to make a dent in the powerful line of the Hermleigh team either on the offensive or defensive side of the game and ended up on the short end of a 44-0 score. The victory, most decisive for Hermleigh, put that team in the regional playoff against Melvin, last year's foe of the Eagles in the regional bout.

The Eagles failed to get beyond the 24-yard line in Hermleigh territory and the usual ground-gaining plays of the Eagles failed to materialize on too many occasions and seldom netting what had been average yardage previously during the season.

District 6-B Champions - The Sanderson Eagles -

In the front row: Glenn Chandler, Kenneth Stutes, Rosendo Silvas, Roman Zepeda, Raul Flores, Alfredo Calzada, Delis Chalam-baga, Higinio Pena and Manager Jimmy Caroline.

Eagles who wore the orange and black for the last time in the game against Hermleigh are Nessmith, Savage, Olivares, Arredondo, Silvas, Zepeda, Calzada, Hibbard, Caroline, Attaway.

Roman Escamilla withdrew from participation with the Eagles prior to the season's end.

TURKEY SHOOT SET FOR SUNDAY, 1 P. M.

The Sanderson Volunteer Fire Department has completed plans for its annual turkey shoot to be staged Sunday afternoon beginning at one o'clock at the usual site just north of the highway barn east of town. All shooters and turkey-eaters are urged to lend their support to the fund-raising and fun-furnishing scheme of the firemen.

An added attraction this year will be balloon targets, suspended on a string, offering an inviting target for some of the sharpshooters of the area.

Shooters are asked to bring their own guns and shells. No scopes are allowed for shooting at the targets.

Firemen are asking that the shooters observe the most strict precautions in the handling of firearms so as to keep a clean record of no accidents at the turkey shoot. They are asking that a gun not contain any shells until the shooters is actually in position to fire at his target and that no more than one shooter be in the ready position at one time.

Firemen will be on hand to caution any shooters or spectator of any dangerous or careless practice and earnest and willful cooperation is asked of those who attend the shoot.

Mr. Riggins has urged everyone to send in their check or money for the seals in the near future so that the sale may be closed during the holidays.

Dorsey Hardeman Addresses Group On Treaty Laws

The members of the Sanderson Rotary and Lions Clubs held a joint meeting at the Turner Hotel Wednesday to hear an address by Dorsey B. Hardeman, State Senator of San Angelo. There were several guests who were not members of either club at the meeting.

Joe Kerr, Jr., president of the Rotary Club, introduced the guests and Rodney Cathey, program chairman for the Rotary Club, introduced Mr. Hardeman.

The full text of Mr. Hardeman's speech, which was also delivered to the fourth quarterly meeting of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association in San Angelo, follows.

Ed. Note: The timeliness and text of the speech in our minds warrants its publication in full. Space may not permit the full context this week, and if not, it will be continued until next week.

My discussion of the subject is not intended as a partisan, political speech. I appear simply as an American citizen, intensely interested in preserving the blessings of liberty — unvarnished and unhyphenated — to my children and to those of my fellow-Americans.

There is a provision in our national constitution which forms the basis of my concern. The likelihood of its being prostituted from its original purpose, presents a menace which was not foreseeable at the time of its adoption.

I refer to Art. VI which reads, in part, that "... all treaties shall be the supreme law of the land ... anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding ..."

The accepted concept of a treaty in the constitutional convention of 1787, was as an instrument of purely international portent. That was before the days of Hiss, Acheson and Dulles. There never was any intention that a treaty should be made the basis of domestic legislation or affect fundamental rights.

Regardless of assurances of the United Nations crowd that the Draft International Covenant on Human Rights states only "standards and aspirations" (Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, "My Day" April 17, 1952), nevertheless, if it is ratified in treaty form, as is being urged, it ceases to be merely "standards and aspirations" but becomes "the supreme law of the land." This fact is too often overlooked.

It was an innovation in international law, as well as in the political thinking of the day, when the provision requiring Senate ratification of treaties was wisely inserted in Art. II of the Constitution. Theretofore, all treaties had been negotiated between "sovereigns" as the high-contracting parties, without further action being required. They were to be agreements between nations, deriving their force from the obligations of good faith, and never intended as rules to be prescribed by the "sovereign" to the citizen.

Unfortunately there is the ever-present urge to circumvent constitutional processes. Some Presidents, apparently, irked by constitutional limitations, have entered into so-called "executive agreements" to thus by-pass Senate action.

Such agreements in mid-Atlantic, at Teheran, Yalta and at Potsdam, gave the "green light" to Russia in Asia, permitted the encirclement of Berlin by the Soviets, against all common sense, and committed us to the UN war, but the U. S. fight in Korea. American boys were sent to the hell of war in the fulfillment of obligations imposed upon us by foreign powers — including our potential enemies in the UN.

which came into being following World War I, for the "purpose of sponsoring world legislation" and whose efforts to "achieve universality must be unrelentingly pursued", according to a recent statement of its alien-Director-General. A few of its conventions have been adopted by this country, but most of them have been so bad that even the President has refused to follow the recommendations of the State and Labor Departments and has refused to submit them to the Senate.

With this passing reference to the I.L.O., the dangers lurking in these world organizations become more apparent. They are largely composed of nations whose interests and concepts of government are entirely different, if not inimical, to the United States. By their rules, every nation, whether member or not, comes within their self-assumed spheres of jurisdiction.

Then comes the UN, organized as a body of nations co-operating to establish world peace, but not endowed with authority to legislate. It was intended to be a world assembly, providing for a forum for the discussion of international disputes and to devise ways and means of diplomatic settlements thereof. To that extent I am not necessarily opposed to it, but I am unalterably opposed to its efforts to meddle in the domestic and internal jurisdiction of this land of ours. That it has been a failure is attested by the subsequent alliances, such as NATO and ANZUS, evidently, in an effort by the United States to rid itself of the shackles of the socialist-communist-dominated UN.

An example of the impotency of the UN is the incident of the Russian charge that the US — not the UN — was engaged in "germ warfare" in the Korean "containment action". At long last, the US delegates proposed an impartial investigation of the charge. Ten of the eleven-member Security Council voted for it, but the Soviet delegate, Jacob Malik, vetoed it. Defeated, they then proposed a second resolution condemning "the practice of fabricating and disseminating the germs of untruth" — in other words, "lying". Malik announced that he would veto that one, also, and strolled out into the lounge. The Soviet could less afford to veto the second resolution than the first, because "lying" is the very bedrock of communism.

pounds of candy and nuts that go into the bags. All of which indicates that the parents of children, friends of children, and lovers of the spirit of Christmas giving in its pure form, are not in sympathy with the project and wish that it would be discontinued. That is the indication today. BUT, wait until December 19 comes and then see the enthusiasm of the children, the happy look on their faces and the joy expressed in happiness by even those who know the truth of the Santa Claus myth, but yet are grateful and joyful over the living spirit of Christmas, then see if there are any parents of children, or friends of children who are not in sympathy with the project.

Now, the sensible thing to do is to dig down and pull out a little odd change and drop it in the coffers to be collected to pay for the cost of this undertaking, and if you are not handy to one of the containers, mail in a check to Ruel Adams, treasurer of the club, or hand some change to a member of the Lions Club.

If we are to expect others to show an interest in the goings-ons of the community life where we are concerned, we are going to have to show a little amount of interest ourselves.

Which brings up another item: The F. F. A. boys are in the process of preparing projects to enter in the local livestock exhibit and, if possible, take their animals to other shows for both competition and sale, so that their efforts will reimburse, sometimes only in part, their efforts of several months.

Some of the fathers of some of the boys, and some outsiders, have worked hard and faithfully in the past to see that the local show was a success and to see that the boys, or a representative group, were able to go to one of the larger shows of this area. They have gone to the trouble and expense to do this because of their interest in either the boys, or the work, or possibly both, showing oftentimes as much interest as the boys, and more often much more interest than the daddys of some of the other boys.

The interested men are now in the process of organizing to work together with the boys to see that they have ways and means of taking their exhibits to other shows, very educational for those who intend to follow the livestock business, and very enjoyable for those who have worked long and hard to see that their project has been put in shape to exhibit locally and at other shows.

Details of money-making ideas have not been worked out. What they want now is ideas and help. What they want now is someone (plural) who will help see that the boys of the F. F. A. organization here are rewarded in some way for their efforts. Not that the boys have to be rewarded before they will work, because they have, until now, carried on with very little outside help. But rewarding them for their interest in the activities of the school, rewarding them for winning a name for the basic industry of this Great West Texas, rewarding them for noble efforts at self-reliance and self-sustainment in the operations of their projects.

Neither of the above items are big jobs, they just require a co-ordinated effort on the part of the people who live here and call this home. A community's life, progress and activities depend upon the unity of that community and a few people doing all the work from which we all reap benefits is not unity and it does not approach any degree of cooperation.

We have a few problems at home to worry about, besides those of the nation, and this non-political column would like to see co-ordination in putting over some of the very worthwhile projects that confront us right here at home.
