LISTEN TO LUKE

For some time this column has attempted to solve to our own satisfaction the whys and wherefores of the apathy of a great many people who fail to see the trend that has been creeping upon us.

There are those who think: "It can't happen to America." They presume to believe that this country has attained many of the blessings we enjoy because this is America.

Despite what you may think of some of the writings in this column, I must plead guilty to being an optimist. Yes, I am a long-range optimist. I try to view human progress in centuries rather than in years. Progress is not automatic, nor does my optimism believe me of a sense of urgency in working for human betterment; but a long backward glance at human races always reassures me. I am enthusiastic about life. Henry Chester has said, "Enthusiasm is the greatest asset in the world. It is nothing more or less than faith in action."

To some of those students who later attend colleges and universities there is a faint memory back in their mind somewhere about a group of men writing the Constitution. I can imagine that they picture a group of men gathered and hurriedly writing a document without giving much thought to the unborn generations. They probably think of them as hurrying to get it over with so that they could get their coffee, go play golf or go to the horse races or to where some big football game was being played.

No, the indictment for their failure to learn well what American history can prove to them lies with us all. We don't know what the schools are teaching, but we know the knowledge of American history would make for better citizenship if the high school graduates could know how this great country got to be so great. The progress of this nation has not been automatic. If we continue to progress it will be because we take time to evaluate our possibilities with a backward glance at the generations before us.

Optimism and enthusiasm can be deeply rooted and continuous only if they spring from an inner sense of the presence of God and faith in His spirit at work in the world. Fortunately for me, my work has been big enough to merit my full enthusiasm and make it "faith in action". I am thankful for past generations which have paid the price of human progress. I try not to take them for granted. I feel undying gratitude to those who, through much suffering, have brought us greater freedom, broader visions and better living conditions. Also, I like to show gratitude to those of my generation, particularly to those of talents different and greater than mine, who have picked up where others have left off and are carrying on toward that "far off, divine event toward which all creation moves."

Unless we take a look backward and realize that this great country didn't just happen, we cannot hope to go forward.

This column has taken the time and trouble to write to our attorney-general John Ben Shepperd, and the work he is doing in riding the work he is doing in riding Texas of those who would destroy the nation if he were not a man of vision, faith and enthusiasm. He has declared that he will not get into higher politics because he sees the need to finish the job he has started for the sake of Americanism and the safety of the people of Texas.

We need more men like John Ben Shepperd.

The less obvious a person's mentality, the more it is growing, and when it is brightest, it begins to shine.

Area Doctors Attend Seminar Wednesday In Fort Stockton

Twenty-four West Texas physicians engaged in the general practice of medicine attended a one-day seminar held by the Texas Academy of General Practice Wednesday in Fort Stockton at the Methodist Church Educational Building last Wednesday. Dr. Charles Oswald of Fort Stockton is a member of the board of directors of the academy.

Visiting lecturers were Dr. Ira Budwick, Dr. Jack Bernard, Dr. Walter Wollman, and Dr. S. Perry Rogers, all faculty members of the El Paso division of the University of Texas Postgraduate School of Medicine.

The medical seminar, one of a series jointly sponsored by the Texas Academy of General Practice and the University of Texas Postgraduate School of Medicine, is offered in the belief that continuing post-graduate medical education for its members will result in better medical service to the public.

"Courses are designed to fit the needs of the busy general practitioner, and are offered on a regional basis for his convenience," Dr. Oswald points out.

Completion of seminar courses partially fulfills requirements for continued membership in the Academy of General Practice, national association of doctors engaged in the practice of general medicine. In order to qualify for re-election each doctor must acquire 150 hours of post-graduate medical education every three years. Those failing to do so are dropped from Academy rolls.

As a result of these area seminars doctors practicing general medicine keep informed on current developments in medicine without leaving their practice and traveling to distant medical schools.

Dr. and Mrs. John E. Carter attended the meeting in Fort Stockton.

Mrs. Doris McCullar Employed by A.S.C.

Mrs. Doris Duke McCullar is employed in the local ASC office as principal clerk. She replaces Mrs. Cliff Elder who has gone to Marfa to join her husband who is employed by the ASC there.

Mrs. Elder came to Sanderson two months ago from the Sierra Blanca PMA office.

Big Big Electric Project Nears End

According to reports received this week the half-million dollar project of putting electricity into the Big Bend National Park will be completed by December 15, T. J. Hurd, manager of the Rio Grande Electric Cooperative, stated.

He said the completion will be celebrated with a program in the park's basin attended by park officials and officers of the co-op.

The electric lines will service the park area as well as 25 ranches in the Big Bend area, the manager said.

The new electrical service is expected to aid much in the development of the park as one of the main tourist attractions of the entire Southwest. Lon Garrison, superintendent of the park, stated by increasing the facilities available now at the basin as well as increasing the potentialities of additional services for guests' enjoyment and pleasure.

Some of the cabins in the basin are now equipped with electricity, furnished by a power generator, and it is expected that within the immediate future, all cabins will be completed. Lighted by electricity coming in from the power lines Park visitors will neither be restricted as to their use of lights or suffer the inconvenience of power failure due to generator trouble.

Some of the immediate plans for the use of the new electric power will be the installation of a pump at the springs near the basin area to furnish ample water supply to all of the cabins and for general use at the headquarters site.

Garrison and his staff of park rangers have repeatedly urged the people of this area to avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the near-by park during the fall and winter months, as well as in the spring and summer because of the agreeable climate that is prevalent in that area at the time of year when other national parks are closed for the winter. He also asks the cooperation of business men and others who daily come in contact with visitors in this area, to see that the traveling public is advised of the facilities to be found there.

Drivers Told To Boost Car Inspections

Motor Vehicle Inspector N. G. Black, who is in charge of the Vehicle Inspection Stations in Terrell County, said today that although inspection is progressing in the county and throughout the state, it would be well to keep the following information in mind:

With practically all of 1953 behind us, the state is 106 highway deaths behind the 1952 total for a period up to November 1. This decreasing rate may be held and even improved upon although the "deadly" holiday season is fast approaching. With winter and holiday travel only a weather change away, it would be wise for all who have not had their vehicles inspected to do so now.

The very essentials of winter driving — proper brakes, lights, horn and windshield wiper operation — are the backbone of the new Motor Vehicle Inspection program. We can, therefore, do our winter driving safely and with fewer operational worries, as well as avoid the last minute spring inspection rush, if we will have our vehicles inspected between now and Christmas.

Of all the cars inspected so far, records show that 58 per cent need some adjustment or repair. Seven per cent alone needed brake adjustments while 34 per cent needed headlight corrections. At the same time, total cost of inspection has averaged only $1.77 per car which includes the price of the inspection.

There are three inspection stations in Sanderson and motorists are urged to take their vehicles to one of the three stations for an inspection immediately to help the garage operators to be able to take care of everyone before the deadline.

Hereafter five directors will be elected each year for a term of three years and no director may succeed himself in office.

J. R. Hodgkins, secretary pro tem, acted as chairman of the organizational meeting and will act in that capacity until the directors elect their officers at the Friday night meeting. The group assembled last Thursday night represented a very clear cross section of the citizenship of the county, and it is hoped that the cooperation of the entire citizenship will be working with the directors for the ultimate good of the county as a whole through the activities of the Chamber of Commerce.

WE'D like you to see the low delivered price of the Buick pictured here to make a point about the big trade-in allowances we're giving today. The price you pay for the car itself — the local delivered price — is the first thing to look for when you're bargain-hunting. It's this figure less what you get on your trade-in that determines your real cost — the dollar difference you pay. That means — keep your eye on the dollar difference. The more car it buys, the better deal you make. So with our low delivered price and the high trade-in allowances we're giving right now — we think we have a whale of a buy for you. And when you check into things, we believe you'll discover this: You get more room and power for your money in this Buick than in any other car on the market. You get hundreds of pounds more automobile here — more strength in the brawnier frame, more durability in the heavier chassis, more safety in the thicker structural members — than in a long list of cars at this Buick's price or higher.

You also get a lot more in a Buick that the specifications don't show — more fun, more thrill, more comfort, more pride and pleasure. But why waste another day — with time growing shorter, winter coming closer, and your present car getting older? If you're looking for a real automobile at a real buy in a real deal — come look at Buick right now.

Jeanette Bell Is Bride of Rhodes Morris of Coleman

In a candlelight ceremony on Friday evening, November 27, in the Baptist Church at Van Horn, Mrs. Jeanette Bell and Rhodes Morris were united in marriage with the pastor using the double-ring ceremony for the recitation of wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bell of Van Horn and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morris of Coleman.

White mums and magnolia leaves were entwined in white latticework for the background of the nuptial space which was lighted by twin-branched candelabra holding blue tapers. The candles were lighted by Judy Bell, sister of the bride, and Susie Van Sickle of El Paso.

Given in marriage by her brother, Capt. Clarence Hunter Bell, who had returned the day before from a tour of duty in Korea, the bride wore a gown of white nylon net over taffeta. Her fingertip veil was of illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Joe Webb was the matron of honor and bridesmaids were Pat Todd of Midland and Gail Morris of Coleman. Hershel Wilson of Coleman was best man.

An informal reception in El Capitan Hotel followed the wedding.

After a wedding trip the young couple will be at home in Coleman. Mrs. Morris is a 1950 graduate of the Sanderson High School and attended Texas Tech and Texas Western College. She has been employed by a bank in Coleman.

Mr. Morris is employed by the Earl Morris Chevrolet Co. in Coleman.

Attending the wedding from Sanderson were the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Green, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Laughlin; also her cousin, John Green, Jr., and daughter, Beth, of Eagle Pass.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Seales and their son, Jimmy, of Iraan, were week end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chandler. Jimmy was winner of the state championship in a fiddle contest last year.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsa

A Case of "Moostaken" Identity

Slim Smith never had a chance to use his moose call until a trip north this year. Visited him yesterday to see what he'd bagged.

"First day out," he told me, "I picked up a trail. I sounded the call and waited. Then I heard a moose call. Sure enough, something came crashing through the brush. But it was another guy with his moose call. Boy, did I get my finger off the trigger in a hurry!"

"My last day there I picked up another trail. This time I got me a real moose. But you can bet I took a good look before I did any shooting!"

From where I sit, we could all learn a little from Slim's experience. Most of us are guilty sometime or other of being too quick on the trigger. Like the fellow who would deny me the right to an occasional glass of beer with my dinner. I say that kind of "aim" is way off!
